THE NATIONAL SOCIETY

OF THE

SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL

President General
Nelson A. McClary
184 La Salle St., Chicago, Illinois

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16, 1908.

No. 8

OFFICIAL BULLETIN

The OFFICIAL BULLETIN, issued about October 15, December 15, March 15, and May 15, records action by the General Officers, the Board of Trustees, the Executive and other National Committees, lists of members deceased and of new members, and important doings of State Societies. The following Societies distribute the BULLETIN to all their members: New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia, Louisiana, Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, and Iowa.

The Executive Committee deems a substantial increase of the membership of the Society its greatest present need. As a Society chartered by Congress, an important, patriotic line of work is being entered upon, and that this may be vigorously prosecuted and extended, and that the National and State Societies may exercise the influence which they ought, the Executive Committee urges upon all State Societies and individual members the supreme importance of additions to our membership.

BUFFALO CONGRESS, APRIL 30, MAY 1, 1908.

The Annual Congress for 1908 will be held at Buffalo, N. Y., on April 30 and May 1. The headquarters will be at the Iroquois Hotel. A preliminary program has been arranged.

The members of the Congress will meet at 9 a. m., Thursday, April 30, in the Open Assembly Room of the Iroquois for conference, distribution of badges, literature, etc.

At 10 o'clock the Congress will be called to order and, after addresses of welcome by the reception committee, greeting by the Mayor of Buffalo, and response by the President General, will proceed to the general business of the session.

On Thursday afternoon there will be an automobile ride about the city, in charge of a special committee.

On Thursday evening a reception will be given to delegates and guests and members of the Buffalo Chapter by Vice-President General and Mrs. Trueman G. Avery, at their residence, The Circle.

On Friday at 10 a. m. the Congress will reconvene in closing session.

On Friday afternoon will be given a reception of delegates, ladies, and visiting members, tendered by the Buffalo Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution through its Regent, Mrs. John Miller Horton, at her residence, 477 Delaware avenue.

On Friday evening a banquet will be given at the Ellicott Club in charge of a banquet committee of the Buffalo Chapter. Governor Hughes, who is a member of the Empire State Society, has signified his intention to be present at this function.

At 10 a. m. on Saturday morning a trip will be taken to Niagara Falls and through the Gorge. This excursion is for all delegates and ladies accompanying them. Return to Buffalo late Saturday afternoon.

The several railroad passenger associations of the country have been asked to grant the customary reduction in fare on the certificate plan, under which full fare would be paid to Buffalo and one-third fare for return to starting point. The Trunk Line Association covering New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, West Virginia, and Northern Virginia, and the New England Passenger Association, have already allowed this concession, and it is hoped that favorable action may be taken by the associations covering other regions.

The usual formal circular announcement will be issued as soon as final arrangements for the Congress are completed.

Delegates desiring information as to hotels or other local matters may address the Secretary of the Committee of Arrangements, Mr. Frank B. Steele, 414 White Building, Buffalo, N. Y., or Vice-President General Trueman G. Avery, Chairman of the Committee, 202 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

ADDITIONS TO MEMBERSHIP.

From June 1 to February 29, there was enrolled by the Registrar General a total of 542 new members, as follows: Massachusetts, 88;

Empire State, 73; Ohio, 42; Illinois, 38; District of Columbia, 35; Minnesota, 23; New Jersey, 20; Pennsylvania, 20; Colorado, 20; Iowa, 17; Michigan, 16; Indiana, 16; Maine, 15; Hawaii, 14; New Hampshire, 13; Washington, 10; Connecticut, 10; California, 8; Nebraska, 8; Rhode Island, 8; Vermont, 7; Maryland, 5; Kentucky, 5; Louisiana, 4; Kansas, 4; Oregon, 4; Arizona, 3; Utah, 3; Alabama, 3; Texas, 2; Missouri, 2; Virginia, 2; Wisconsin, 1; Montana, 1; Oklahoma, 1; Delaware, 1. This is an increase of 293 members since December 1.

PROCEEDINGS OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING, FEBRUARY 24, 1908.

A meeting of the Executive Committee, duly called by order of the President General, was held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, on Monday, February 24, 1908. The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock p. m. by President General McClary, who presided. Members of the Committee present were: The President General, Judge Stockbridge, Judge Beardsley, Dr. Clinton B. Batcheller, and Mr. Theodore H. Eaton, also ex-President General Pugsley and Secretary General Clark.

The proceedings of the meeting of October 1, 1907, were approved as printed in the OFFICIAL BULLETIN of October 15.

A report from Maj. Wm. Frye Tebbetts, chairman of the Committee on Organization, was read, showing progress made toward the establishment of State Societies in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Mississippi. A large number of letters have been written to persons known to be eligible to membership or interested in the work.

A report from Dr. Rufus W. Clark, chairman of the Committee on Education, told of the educational work in Iowa, Oklahoma, Oregon, Ohio, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota through the offering of prizes and medals for patriotic essays, through the distribution of circulars entitled "A Welcome to Immigrants and Some Good Advice," through the presentation to public schools of portraits of eminent Americans, and through assisting in patriotic celebrations.

Letters were received from the Trustees of most of the State Societies, in response to requests by the President General, reporting on their present condition and patriotic work proposed, suggesting methods for increasing the membership, and in general for the advancement of the national organization. These letters were carefully considered, and steps were taken to profit by the recommendations offered.

After discussion of the condition of the Chapters in the several States, it was voted that Judge Stockbridge be appointed a committee of one to prepare a resolution to be offered at the Buffalo Congress looking to the formulation of National By-Laws covering in general the organization of local Chapters under the authority of State Societies.

A report was received from Col. Ralph E. Prime, chairman of the Flag Committee, showing progress made in the enactment of legislation to prevent the desecration of the flag of the United States. The Executive Committee, on recommendation of the Flag Committee, thereupon adopted a resolution endorsing and approving the bills now before Congress, Senate Bill No. 565, and House Bill No. 220, for the protection of the flag, and the Secretary General was instructed to send copies of this resolution to the chairmen of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs and of the House Committee on Judiciary. The resolution to the Senate is as follows:

Resolved, by the Executive Committee of The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, That this Committee cordially approve and heartily commend to the Senate Committee on Military Affairs the Bill now pending before that Committee (Senate Bill No. 565) for the protection of the National flag, and respectfully, but earnestly, urges upon the Committee favorable action upon and the speedy enactment into law of this measure.

It was voted that fifty dollars be appropriated towards the expenses of the Flag Committee, and an order on the Treasurer General was authorized for that amount, to be paid to the order of Ralph E. Prime, chairman.

The Committee on Printing and Distribution of the leaflet "Information to Immigrants" (Commander John H. Moore, U. S. N., chairman; Col. Charles Lyman, and A. Howard Clark), appointed by the Executive Committee at the meeting on October 1, reported that 15,000 copies had been printed in English, and 1,000,000 copies in Italian, Yiddish, Magyar, and Polish, and that translations into German, Slovak, Croatian, Greek, Slovenian, and other languages were in progress. The Committee reported that the leaflet has been adopted as an official publication of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and that through the Division of Information of the Bureau of Immigration, it will hereafter be printed and distributed by the United States Government to immigrants en route to America and to aliens now resident in this country. The National Society will cooperate with the Government in the preparation of the leaflet in various languages and in its distribution to the best advantage. The Government editions of the leaflet will give due credit to the Sons of the American Revolution for its preparation.

It was voted that the President General, with another member to be selected by him, be authorized to visit Tennessee for the purpose of reviving interest in the work of the Society in that State.

A report was received from Gen. Thomas M. Vincent, U. S. A., showing progress by the Committee on Pension and Muster Rolls. It is estimated that after one year's more work of compilation the Committee may submit a definite report, and that the United States Congress may then be urged to make an appropriation to print "the genealogical and historical material connected with about 63,000 pensioners of the War of the Revolution."

The Committee on Publication reported that 2,000 copies of the OFFICIAL BULLETIN for July 8, 1907; 6,500 copies for October 15, and 6,000 copies for December 16, had been printed and distributed at a gross cost of $499.18, and a net cost to the National Society of about $400. Thirteen State Societies have subscribed to the BULLETIN for all their members, representing nearly half the total membership of the National Society. It was voted that the Committee on Publication consider and report to the Buffalo Congress, on the advisability, possibility, and cost of sending the OFFICIAL BULLETIN to every member at the expense of the National Society, and the possibility of mailing them as second-class matter.

Letters were read from Mr. Trueman G. Avery and Mr. Frank B. Steele, showing progress made in preparation for the Buffalo Congress. A provisional program was considered and approved subject to necessary changes.

The Committee then at 7.10 o'clock adjourned.

A. HOWARD CLARK,
Secretary General.

NAVAL RECORDS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

The Library of Congress has issued a volume of Naval Records of the American Revolution, citing the action of the Continental Congress in relation to the navy, and including an alphabetical list of names of some 2,000 vessels commissioned under letters of marque and the names of the bondsmen and owners in each case. This work may be purchased at one dollar a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

DOINGS OF STATE SOCIETIES.

✓ THE ALABAMA SOCIETY held its fifth annual meeting at Mobile on February 22, when Maj. William Frye Tebbetts was re-elected President. It was decided to award gold medals as first and second prizes for essays by any public school pupils in the State on The Revolutionary War and the Future Effects of Immigration on the Nation.

✓ THE ARIZONA SOCIETY held its twelfth annual banquet at Phoenix on February 22. The toasts were: "Liberty and Law," "Patrick Henry, the Father of the Republic," "The Siege of Yorktown," "The American Navy," and "Our Presidents." Officers were elected as follows: President, E. E. Ellinwood, Bisbee; Vice-President, Isaac T. Stoddard, Phoenix; Secretary, C. F. Leonard, Phoenix; Treasurer, Lloyd B. Christy, Phoenix; Historian, Rev. J. W. Atwood, Phoenix; Chaplain, Rev. Winfield Scott, Scottsdale.

✓ THE CALIFORNIA SOCIETY, on January 14, 1908, elected as President, George C. Sargent, Crocker Building, San Francisco; senior Vice-President, R. M. Sims; junior Vice-President, J. S. Manley, died January 28; Secretary, J. Mora Moss, 930 Green street; Treasurer, Edwin Bonnell; Registrar, Col. A. S. Hubbard, 565 Fourth avenue; Marshal, Edward M. Adams.

The California Society has offered a prize to the member who brings in the most new members during the year. The prize to be a badge of the Society or the remission of dues for three years.

A banquet was given by the Society on February 22, when a movement was launched to erect in California a monument to George Washington. A subscription fund was started and a committee was appointed to solicit contributions.

George C. Sargent, President of the Society, reminded the diners that there was no monument to George Washington within the State, and that the perpetuation in stone of the memory of the great American patriot on the Pacific Coast was greatly to be desired. He predicted that it would be easy to arouse public interest in the project, and that there would be no lack of funds.

There were more than 100 Sons and Daughters of the Revolution and invited guests at the banquet, which was an elaborate affair given in the white and gold room of the Fairmont.

The honor guest was Prof. Henry Morse Stephens, who delivered an address after the dinner on the subject "George Washington, the Great Peacemaker."

THE COLORADO SOCIETY has held meetings each month since October. Patriotic exercises and a banquet were held on February 22. The Society is specially interested, and is making every effort to increase its own membership and to stimulate recruiting throughout the country. Special endeavors are in progress to secure new members in Wyoming and New Mexico to form nuclei for new Societies in those States.

It is announced that the Travelling Banner presented by the Colorado Society is ready to be awarded at the Buffalo Congress to the Society numbering one hundred members or more that shows the largest percentage of gain during the year. The Colorado Society itself withdraws from competition.

THE CONNECTICUT SOCIETY held its nineteenth annual dinner at New Haven on February 22, when over 250 members and guests were present. Among the speakers were President Louis B. Curtis; Governor J. Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, and President of the New Jersey Society; President-General Nelson A. McClary, of Chicago; Hon. Gifford Pinchot, of Washington; Hon. Everett T. Lake, Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut. Mr. Curtis spoke of several historic sites in the State to be marked with suitable memorials, and urged members to renewed enthusiasm in behalf of the Society. Governor Fort's address was on "Washington and the Constitution of 1787." In conclusion he said, "For 120 years the constitution has stood the test of three foreign wars, of a civil strife, and a period of expansion. Every people looking for freedom the world over take our constitution as a model. France follows us; Mexico follows us; Switzerland follows us; the South American republics all follow us; Cuba, the island republic of our creation, follows us; Panama follows us. All hail the memory of Washington! extol the constitution! Our inheritance in liberty is rich indeed. Let us rise to the full height of the nobility of the citizenship in such a republic."

Mr. McClary spoke of "the real patriotism, the practical patriotism necessary to free institutions. The subjects of an absolute monarchy may be patriotic; they often have been; but their government will not necessarily fall even if they are somewhat lacking in this respect. Citizens of a free country must be patriotic, or their government will become a farce, and anarchy, more to be dreaded than despotism, will prevail.

"A corner-stone of free institutions is fair regard for the rights of others. Practical patriotism forbids wealth to oppress poverty and forbids poverty to violate the rights of property. The corporation which sells goods that are not as represented or which resorts to unfair methods of competition is unpatriotic. The labor unionist who withholds his full efficiency or denies to his fellow-laborer the right to work is unpatriotic. The farmer who thinks his neighbor should hold his crop for a certain price and enforces that opinion by violent methods is unpatriotic. Regard for the rights of others is not a natural attribute of mankind. The golden rule is not the rule of the savage or of the ignorant. Fairness of this kind results only from education, self-discipline, and growth. It is for this reason that free institutions are impossible to any people below a certain standard of education and intelligence. Our common schools are a recognition of this fact, and it is because of this fact that the absorption by this country of ignorant foreigners more rapidly than they can be assimilated constitutes a menace to the institutions founded by our fathers.

"I would not be understood as advocating the exclusion of the aliens now coming in such great numbers. I believe that they have the natural right to thus better their condition and we need them industrially, but I would emphasize the necessity of reaching them, educating them and their children, and giving them something of our American point of view."

In the course of his address Mr. Pinchot said:

"Besides all their other great qualities of loyalty, vigor, and devotion to ideals, the people of Connecticut have one distinctive mark. Sometimes it is called faculty, but whatever we call it, it is the capacity to make the best use of what you have. It is the inventiveness, the intelligence, and the perseverance to get the best results from the opportunities at hand. There is just beginning a great movement throughout the United States to inoculate all the other States and Territories of the Union with this particular capacity of Connecticut people in its application to our natural resources."

"In the last analysis, the well-being of any community depends on the character of its natural resources and the character of its people, as expressed in their institutions and conduct. I shall speak today about the conservation of natural resources, and shall say very little about the conservation of institutions or people, although the two are essentially one great movement. The question is, 'How shall we use what we have for the best welfare and greatest happiness of our people, both for today and tomorrow?' Whether that question applies to forests, soils, mineral fuels, or other natural resources, or whether it applies to law, institutions, and opportunities, it is in its essence the same. It is a problem of foresight in dealing with natural resources, and of fair play in dealing with men and laws. The two great phases of the great problem which is being worked out under the far-sighted statesmanship of President Roosevelt are foresight and fair play."

THE DELAWARE SOCIETY on December 17, 1907, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, John Bancroft, Wilmington; Vice-Presidents, James H. Hughes, Dr. George W. Marshall, T. F. Bayard; Secretary-Treasurer, David B. Ferris, 603 West 8th street, Wilmington; Registrar-Historian, Lawrence B. Jones; Chaplain, Rev. Joseph Brown Turner.

THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA SOCIETY on January 16 held a "Lafayette meeting," the occasion being "ladies' night," when nearly three hundred members and guests were present. An address was delivered by Rev. Dr.

Samuel H. Woodrow on "The Influence of Early Settlers Upon National Life." Dr. Woodrow analyzed the nature of the immigration which gave its specific character to each of the colonies that formed the original thirteen States, laying stress upon the religious life which, whether through steadfastness or schism, led to extension of settlements on either theocratic or republican principles, and tracing the influence of each. Thus the various traits which go to make up the Americanism of real Americans were followed back to their fountain heads, and the speaker suggested that a fusion of them all lead to the best results.

Hon. W. E. Andrews, auditor for the Navy Department, then pronounced a eulogy on Lafayette, telling of the love for liberty which prompted the young noble to leave court and cross the seas to help the struggling colonists, in spite of the objections of his family. The speaker had with him and exhibited to the interested audience, the warrant issued by the Treasury, drawn in favor of Gen. Lafayette, and endorsed by him, for $200,000, in appreciation of his services during the revolution.

Justice A. B. Hagner spoke of Lafayette and his patriotic service to America and urged that Sixteenth Street in Washington City, extending from the White House to the border of Maryland, in which State Lafayette was made a citizen in 1784, should be renamed Lafayette Avenue.

On February 22, at the annual meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Thomas H. Anderson, Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, 1531 New Hampshire Avenue; Vice-Presidents, Justice A. B. Hagner, E. B. Moore, Commissioner of Patents, and W. A. De Cindry; Recording Secretary, Henry P. Holden, 1217 I Street; Corresponding Secretary, J. E. Fenwick; Treasurer, Philip F. Larner; Registrar, A. D. Spangler, 72 S Street; Assistant Registrar, Chester M. Clark; Historian, Selden M. Ely; Librarian, Paul Brockett, and Chaplain, Thomas S. Childs.

The Society has appointed a special committee with Gen. Thomas M. Vincent, U. S. A., as chairman, to make every effort to secure legislation by Congress for the protection of the National flag, and to this end urges the enactment of identical bills now pending before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs (S. 565) and the House Committee on Judiciary (H. R. 220).

THE HAWAIIAN SOCIETY has added fourteen new members to its roll since the Denver Congress. President Effinger writes:

"We have a greater problem before us, in proportion to our size, than any other Society, in that in these Islands we have more of a mixed population than in any other State or Territory; and that we are trying in every way to reach the children of the public schools, Japanese, Korean, Chinese, Porto Rican, Spanish, Hawaiian, Italian, and all the others, whose parents were brought here by the planting interests, and who are now by their birthright full fledged eligibles for the suffrage.

"By the observance of our patriotic anniversaries, and the dissemination of patriotic and historical literature we shall hope to inculcate in these children of our 'Happy Isles' that which will make them useful citizens of our great Republic.

"It is not too much to ask that we 'The Cross Ways of the Pacific' be especially in your care and attention.

"We are in the position of a buffer between the Asiatic and Caucasian civilization. We do not know how long before this buffer will cease to exist and these Islands become the theater for a struggle in which you may assume correctly that the Hawaiian Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will not be found wanting!"

✓ THE ILLINOIS SOCIETY has been active in arranging for a wide distribution of the leaflet "Information for Immigrants" among the masses of aliens in Chicago, and particularly among the foreign elements in the night schools.

✓ THE IOWA SOCIETY is active in the study of American history. At the December meeting of the Ben Franklin Chapter at Des Moines, Mr. Alson Secor read a paper on the Revolutionary Press, in which he reviewed the history of the newspaper press in the old world and America, and showed its power in this country in preparing the people for the struggle for freedom and in keeping patriotism alive during the long contest. Papers announced for monthly meetings from January to May, included the following topics: "The Women of the Revolution," "Philadelphia and the British," "Private Life and Character of John Paul Jones," "Washington, the Man," and "The Surgeons of the Revolution." "The Old Continental," published monthly by the Iowa Society, records much of importance to the membership.

There has been issued in the name of the Society an attractive invitation, bearing the badge in colors, addressed to persons known to be eligible to membership, and calling upon them to affiliate with the Society in its patriotic work.

✓ THE KANSAS SOCIETY at its annual meeting at Topeka, January 15, re-elected last year's officers. On February 22, its annual banquet was held, at which sixty-five were present.

✓ THE LOUISIANA SOCIETY at its annual meeting in December, opened a campaign for "a proper appreciation of American citizenship," and to this end named a membership committee for the purpose of canvassing the State for new members. At the same time it arranged for the distribution among all aliens who come to Louisiana, of pamphlets showing the duties, opportunities, responsibilities, privileges, and meaning of true American citizenship. President Peter F. Pescud and other officers were re-elected. The annual banquet was held on February 22, when addresses were delivered by President Pescud who presided; by Vice-President Edward Rightor on "Our Country;" by Prof. Alcée Fortier on "Lafayette;" by Louis A. Lagarde on "The Common Cause," and by T. D. Miller on "Washington."

THE MAINE SOCIETY held its annual meeting and dinner at Riverton on February 22. The officers elected included: President, Hon. Frederic E. Boothby, of Portland; Senior Vice-President, Judge Oliver G. Hall, of Augusta; a Vice-President for each county; Secretary, Rev. Joseph Battell Sheperd, of Portland; Registrar, Nathan Goold, of Portland; Treasurer, Philip F. Turner, of Portland; Librarian, Albert R. Stubbs; Historian, Hon. A. F. Moulton, of Portland; Chaplain, Rev. William G. Mann, of Westbrook.

A committee was appointed to ask the legislature to take measures that shall lead to the preservation of the graves of Revolutionary soldiers. The Board of Managers was made a committee to increase the membership. Retiring President Fellows delivered an address on the principles of the American Government, and in conclusion said:

"No aristocracy should creep into this organization, but such as may legitimately come from superior merit of usefulness. To make the sacrifices of these ancestors worth while is the duty of the descendants of the American Revolution, if there be a real reason for any organization based on birth. The Sons of the American Revolution should be students of American problems, the tariff, socialism, finance, suffrage, the legal system, and all problems connected with the welfare of society at large. There are a few in our colleges and universities making special study of these problems. It is a hopeful sign that these students and scholars are being listened to more and more in the conduct of practical business and government. But instead of the few confined to educational institutions, or at the head of some influential organizations, there should be a vast army of students of all these social problems. This army should include every member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Sons of the American Revolution should include every individual whose eligibility may be established, and the real honor of the Society would not be in its numbers, in its birth, in distinction of any kind other than in usefulness to the Nation."

✓ THE MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY has rigorously protested against the proposed changing of the name of historic "North Square" in Boston to "Scigliano Square." On February 11, there was formally presented to the Bostonian Society by the Massachusetts Society a portrait of the Revolutionary patriot, James Otis. This portrait was painted by Gilman Page, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

On February 22 the members of the Society assembled at the State House in Boston and were tendered a formal reception by Compatriot Governor Guild. At the Hotel Vendome the Society listened to an address by Rev. Dr. Frederick E. Emrich, on "What Can the Sons of the American Revolution do for the Pilgrims of the Twentieth Century."

Dr. Emrich dwelt particularly upon the reverence which foreign-born people of America have for the name of Washington, illustrating by the fact that in the morning, before he came to the meeting, he had seen among his treasured relics an engraving of George Washington, which was one of the first purchases of his father when he came to America.

It was not the descendants of the Puritans alone, he said, to whom the country was indebted for the preservation of the Union. It was the men who fought under Siegel and Shields and Kearney and Sheridan, and others like them, of foreign lineage, who saved the country.

"I would put on the walls of our school houses the pictures of Kosuth, Lafayette and other great men of foreign lands from whence many of the pupils come, so as to make them happy, for thus they will become more sincere American patriots, for they will be no less Americans because they love the memory of their own lands; the spirit of loyalty to their own parentage will make them reverence more the American people.

"In other States they are just beginning to open night schools for the benefit of immigrants and their children, but thank God Massachusetts has many such schools, in which thousands of men and women, as well as children, are learning the English language and the American system of government, citizenship and civilization.

"There is nothing better for the Sons of the American Revolution to do than to help in opening the door, trusting to our Heavenly Father who is able to work all things for good, and will.

"Sons of the American Revolution—Be true to the traditions of the past—that America has liberty for all in its system of education, a standard of true religion, and a reverence for God, man, and democracy."

Others who spoke were Vernon A. Field, of Chelsea; Secretary George W. Mehaffy, of the Boston Y. M. C. A.; Rev. Lewis W. Hicks, and Pelham W. Ames, of California, Vice-President General of the National Society.

The Massachusetts Board of Managers appointed a special committee on recruiting, and sent out notices to each member of the Society inviting him to send to the Secretary the names of eligibles. The result up to March 1 was the enrollment of eighty-eight new members.

Five hundred dollars has been appropriated from the treasury of the Massachusetts Society, provided the additional sum of $1,500 required could be raised by subscription to build a Bay in the "Cloister of the Colonies," now building at Valley Forge in connection with the Washington Memorial Chapel.

An appropriation of $250 has been made toward the preservation of the Royall mansion at Medford, and there is in contemplation the erection on April 20, in the Old South Church, Boston, of a tablet descriptive of that edifice.

THE MINNESOTA SOCIETY reports a net membership of 496. The annual election and banquet took place on December 26. It was voted to send the OFFICIAL BULLETIN to all members during the year, and that the Secretary make a personal appeal to each member to bring in one or more new members by "asking if such member can or will use a set of application blanks if sent to him." The officers elected included: President, Hon. Charles Keith, of Princeton, Minn.; Vice-Presidents, Ellis J. Westlake, of Minneapolis, and James P. Gribben, of St. Paul; Secretary, Charles H. Bronson, 48 East Fourth Street, St. Paul; Assistant Secretary, Harry C. Judson, of St. Paul; Treasurer, Edward S. Stringer, of St. Paul; Registrar, Charles Stees, of St. Paul; Historian, Rev. Edward C. Mitchell, of St. Paul, and Chaplain, Rev. Dr. Maurice D. Edwards, of St. Paul.

In educational work the Society has made especial effort in the celebration of Washington's Birthday, by the children of the public schools. Five hundred children on one occasion joined in patriotic songs. Arrangements are made with the street cars to take the children to one of the churches, and under efficient leadership, good results have been obtained. It is intended to have the same plan extended among the schools throughout the State, and to have appropriate addresses, together with the singing of patriotic songs.

THE NEBRASKA SOCIETY has prepared a series of contests among the pupils of the high schools of the State. There was appropriated $25 to pay for two prizes to be awarded in Lincoln and Fremont for the best essays on "The Causes which Led Up to the War of the American Revolution." The officers elected at the annual business meeting on February 22 were: President, Ralph W. Breckenridge, of Omaha; Vice-Presidents, Paul W. Kuhns and Jefferson W. Bedford; Secretary and Registrar, Pressly J. Barr, Omaha; Treasurer, John F. Flack, and Historian, James Richardson.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE SOCIETY has appointed a committee, with Mr. Fred W. Lamb, of Manchester, chairman, to arrange for the distribution of the leaflet "Information to Immigrants" among the foreigners in the factory cities and towns of the State. A bill is pending before the United States Senate Committee on Library (S. 44), introduced by Mr. Gallinger, appropriating $40,000 for the erection of an equestrian statue of Major General John Stark in the city of Manchester.

THE NEW JERSEY SOCIETY, at its annual meeting on January 3, elected the following officers: President, Governor John Franklin Fort, of East Orange; Vice-Presidents, Edward S. Atwater, of Elizabeth, and Andrew W. Bray, of Newark; Secretary, Col. James R. Mullikin, 312 Belleville avenue, Newark; Treasurer, Capt. Oscar H. Condit, of East Orange; Registrar, John Jackson Hubbell, 810 Broad street, Newark. The net membership in good standing on January 3 was 367. Special efforts are being made to secure new members, 20 having been added between June 1 and March 1. A committee was appointed to consider terms and conditions under which male members of the Society of Children of the American Revolution might be admitted upon their attaining the age of 21 years. Full proceedings of the meeting have been distributed in pamphlet form.

The New Jersey Society united with the other patriotic societies of the State in celebration of Washington's Birthday at the capitol in Trenton. An elaborate program had been prepared by the local committee, which was fully carried out.

The anniversary was observed first through the gathering and services by the several societies at their respective headquarters. The Society of the Sons of the American Revolution established its headquarters at the Windsor Hotel, where the members assembled and enjoyed a social hour. At 11 a. m. it proceeded in a body to the First Presbyterian Church, where the joint religious services were held. Rev. Dr. Henry Collins Minton, pastor of the church, conducted the services, which opened with "Hail, Columbia," "America," and a "Patriotic Hymn," composed by Hamilton Schuyler, and sung by the entire congregation. The sermon by Dr. Minton was a learned discourse on the national traditions which have been handed down to us by our Revolutionary fathers. He said that our forefathers based this government on a profound moral scale, and as such it has been handed down to us of this generation. He characterized the United States as a Christian nation, and that this heritage was the outcome of the Revolutionary days, when our forefathers lived in an atmosphere of right living. In conclusion, he urged that the aim of all truly patriotic Americans, under whichever banner or society they rallied, should ever be to hold forth to those who turned their faces to this land of Christian and constitutional liberty, honor for God's laws and for those of the Republic.

At the close of the sermon the Societies proceeded to the State House, where a salute of twenty-one guns was fired by a detachment of the Sons of Veterans, by order of the Governor (the President of the New Jersey Society, S. A. R.), and under the direction of the military authorities of the State. An address was made by Hon. Clement H. Sinnickson, who presided, in the absence of Governor Fort, at the meeting of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., in New Haven. The following program was rendered at the State House: Prayer. "Recessional," Rudyard Kipling, sung by Miss Newkirk. "Roll Call" of the following Societies: Society of the Cincinnati, Colonial Wars, Colonial Dames, Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the Revolution. Presentation of the flags of the several Societies before the presiding officer, accompanied by the several color-guards. This was a very beautiful ceremony, and elicited a burst of patriotic enthusiasm which lasted for some minutes. The address delivered by Professor Winthrop M. Daniels, of Princeton University, dealt with the life of Washington and the mission of patriotic societies. It was a masterly presentation of the more salient characteristics of the life of Washington.

THE EMPIRE STATE SOCIETY is working for the increase of its membership along the line of personal application, and had secured 73 new members up to March 1. Measures are under consideration for a wide distribution among the masses of foreigners in New York of the leaflet on "Information for Immigrants."

Over three hundred were present at a meeting at the Hotel Knickerbocker on February 18. It was "Ladies' Night." Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, gave a lecture on "Oliver Cromwell and the Rise of the Five Liberties of New England."

A leaflet of general information on the work of the Society, marked No. 1, was issued under date of February 1.

In a circular distributed to the newspapers of the State, the Empire State Society records its protest against the proposed action of the State government to locate a State prison on the former site of Forts Montgomery and Clinton, "a spot made sacred by the blood of our patriotic dead":

"We but express the opinion of scores of other historic and patriotic societies and earnest legislators when we most emphatically condemn this apparently needless affront to the sentiments and wishes of every citizen who reveres the memory of those who on this spot sacrificed their lives for the sacred cause of liberty.

"On the west shore of the Hudson, just opposite Anthony's Nose, in October, 1777, were located Fort Montgomery and Fort Clinton, and they were in the immediate command of Gov. George Clinton and his brother, Gen. James Clinton; and across the river at this place was stretched on booms of logs the famous iron chain of the Revolution, and for its protection there was a little two-gun battery, located a short distance up the hill. Such was the situation when, on October 4th, the British general—Sir Henry Clinton—sailed up the river from New York with more than three thousand troops and landed at Ver Planck's Point—a few miles below Peekskill—then the headquarters of General Putnam, who commanded all the highland posts. The British deceived our forces by a feigned attack, and on the 6th, in a dense fog, crossed over the river to Stony Point, marched around west of the Dunderberg and Bear Mountain, and fell upon Forts Clinton and Montgomery, demanding their immediate surrender, which was unhesitatingly refused.

"Although hopelessly outnumbered, our small garrison of six hundred Continental troops made a fierce resistance until half their force and one hundred and forty of the enemy had christened the ground with their blood. The forts were taken, the chain across the river was broken, and the Hudson opened to the British fleet. Governor Clinton fled at night to Putnam's camp, while his brother James, badly wounded, made his way with great difficulty over the mountains to his home at New Windsor. Some American vessels, anchored above the chain, and unable to escape, were burned by their crews, their flaming hulks furnishing a great light, by which our fugitive garrison found their way over the mountains to the settlement beyond. Such, in brief, is the story of that bloody and eventful fight, and its record is a most important part of the history of this State, and the places made famous by heroic deeds should be preserved as sacred for all time. Here heroes died that we might be citizens of a free and honorable country, and we need to possess more of their spirit of self-sacrifice and patriotic devotion.

"In this hurried, restless, greedy age, let us not forget that there is a moral force in history holding men, whether they will or not, to the results of their actions, and this force is as relentless as it is eternal, and from it there is no escape. May all our legislators in Albany take heed of this, especially those whose ancestors fought in the Revolution. Let each one remember that he is now inscribing his own leaf in the great volume of mankind, and if he, by his political action, now does anything that militates against the best interests of his State or its historic places, those who shall come after him will be sure to recall his acts and hold him and his memory to a just reprobation.

"We urge that the press and the public insist that no State prison shall desecrate this battlefield christened by the blood of our Revolutionary heroes, but for all time it shall be preserved as a hallowed shrine."

✓ THE OHIO SOCIETY is working on the principle, learned by experience, that the best way to increase the membership is to give the members work to do. Eight thousand copies of a pamphlet has been distributed to foreigners with the view of educating them as to the American form of government. The graves of many Revolutionary soldiers have been located within the State, and under provisions of the State law bronze markers have been placed on these graves at the expense of the county commissioners. A copy of the Ohio law has been sent to the president of each State Society, with a view to furthering the enactment of a similar law in other States. There are nine local chapters in Ohio, and two more are in process of organization. Forty-two new members have been enrolled since June 1.

The Society publishes at intervals an official bulletin recording items of national and State importance in connection with the work of the Society.

THE OKLAHOMA SOCIETY reports that much material can be utilized in that State, but the deep interest in business affairs and in matters pertaining to the admission of the territory as a State of the Union has diverted immediate attention from the objects of this Society. The condition is changing, however, and it is hoped that plans now being formulated will be fruitful.

THE OREGON SOCIETY has accumulated a library of books on Revolutionary history. Prizes have been awarded to school children of the State for essays on patriotic topics. The competition has been interesting, and many of the essays show merit.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Oregon Society was held on February 22. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Wallace McCamant, Portland; Vice-President, Stephen A. Lowell, Pendleton; Secretary, James F. Ewing, 610 Spring street, Portland; Treasurer, A. A. Lindsley, Sherlock Building, Portland; Registrar, Willard H. Chapin, Portland.

THE PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY held its annual meeting and banquet at Pittsburg on February 22, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, R. W. Guthrie, 434 Diamond street, Pittsburg; Vice-Presidents, W. L. Jones, James Denton Hancock, Edward King, Moses Veale, S. E. Gill, A. A. Horne, A. J. Logan; Secretary, F. G. Paulson, 515 Wood street, Pittsburg; Treasurer, Ogden Russell; Registrar, W. L. Jones; Historian, W. A. Stanton; Chaplain, Rev. J. H. Bausman.

The banquet was the most successful in the history of the Society. The speakers were Hon. Hannis Taylor, ex-Minister to Spain from 1893-1897, counsel for the Spanish Claims Mission, and also Professor of International Law in the George Washington University; Mr. Dwight M. Lowrey and Major Moses Veale, of the Philadelphia

Chapter. Dr. Taylor spoke on "The Political Genius of the Revolutionary Epoch, Pelatiah Webster." He said:

"The truth of the Revolutionary period has not all been written. In history we are constantly making discoveries that enable us to read the story of bygone days with a truth and accuracy of which our forefathers had no conception. The discovery of the Rosetta stone in the delta of the Nile opened up the whole history of Egypt. As we study and compare, throw out the false and retain the true, we arrive at a real knowledge of our heroes' claims to greatness. Some names, indeed, remained for centuries in oblivion until at last truth conquered and enshrined them forever in the hall of fame. So I may hope that the name of Pelatiah Webster in the years to come may receive from every American citizen that veneration to which his achievements so justly entitle him."

Mr. Lowrey's topic was Washington's interest in the internal improvements of the nation:

"The best tribute we can pay to a great man gone, is to heed the counsels of his intelligence, and take to heart the lessons of his life, applying them all to the problems of the present. The keynote to the character of Washington was his brooding love for American nationality, and his faith in the future of a united American people.

"He was never troubled with doubt as to the functions and duty of government to promote the general welfare, where common interests were involved and a common advantage was to be gained. On one great question he took an early and decided stand, a question which is forcing itself every day more insistently on the attention of the American nation—the question of the avenues of commerce by land and water. What I have now particularly in mind is the improvement and development of both inland and seaboard waterways."

Major Veale responded in an appropriate manner to the toast "Washington," in which he outlined the salient features in the character of the Father of his Country.

The president of the Society calls attention to the importance of well-defined plans for patriotic work such as would attract general attention, and thereby increase the growth and efficiency of the societies.

THE RHODE ISLAND SOCIETY, at its annual meeting in Providence on February 22, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Hon. Charles Warren Lippitt, 7 Young Orchard avenue, Providence; Vice-President, William Chace Green, Peace Dale, R. I.; Secretary, Christopher Rhodes, 290 Benefit street, Providence; Treasurer, Arthur Preston Sumner, 29 Weybosset street, Providence; Registrar, Francis Eliot Bates, Oak Lawn, R. I.; Historian, Edwin Aylesworth Burlingame, 359 Brook street, Providence; Chaplain, Rev. Samuel Heber Webb, 21 Adelaide avenue, Providence; Poet, John Prescott Farnsworth, 42 Tobey street, Providence.

Retiring President George Franklin Weston in his address said:

"Our mission should be to plan a campaign of education along civic lines for the foreigners who come to our shores. Last year 1,328,000 immigrants came to this country, more than enough to make five cities the size of greater Providence. It sometimes seems remarkable that there is enough of the old Yankee stock left to assimilate this yearly influx. No greater work could be undertaken as the Society's own than that of making immigrants good citizens. See to it that no unworthy traditions attach themselves to our body."

The president read as a part of his address the pamphlet prepared and distributed by the National Society, containing information for immigrants.

The report of the secretary, Christopher Rhodes, showed the admission of 14 new members during the year and the loss of 16, making a net loss of 2 and a present membership of 291.

At the annual dinner on the same date the speakers were Edwin Aylesworth Burlingame, historian of the Society; Hon. Patrick J. McCarthy, Mayor of Providence; Hon. Carroll D. Wright, William Chace Greene, poet of the Society, and W. H. P. Faunce, president of Brown University.

The topic of Mr. Wright's address was "The Public Conscience," in which he pointed out that a close study of the actual conditions of the past and of the present day warrants the assertion that crime has not increased in nearly as great a proportion as the population, and that the character of the American people is not now so debased as would appear from many public statements.

Mayor McCarthy said:

"The Sons of the American Revolution and all citizens have a rich heritage to guard and cherish. Good government alone will perpetuate our Republic, good government is the best system of politics and policy, and good government is possible only with honesty, patriotism, and a high sense of public duty actuating the men elected to national, State, and municipal office."

President Faunce, of Brown University, contrasted the characteristics of Washington and Lincoln, describing them as men utterly unlike, yet to both of which types this country offered a full career.

"It is one of our first duties," he said, "to keep the way open from the very bottom of the ladder to the top for every American boy that is born. America asks of every man, not where he comes from, but where he is going to.

"The real question before us is whether we can preserve the splendid initiative of our forefathers and at the same time enter into the corporate effort and responsibility that the conditions of the present day require. Every man is today a member of the whole body we call our common country."

The Society has been particularly active in the distribution of the leaflets on "Information for Immigrants" among the many foreigners in the factory cities and towns of the State.

✓ THE UTAH SOCIETY on February 22 elected the following officers, all resident in Salt Lake City: President, John Walcott Thompson, 47 Commercial Block; Vice-President, Russel Lord Tracy, 11 East First South street; Secretary, George Jay Gibson, 47 Commercial Block; Treasurer, Edward Vernon Silver; Registrar, William Dalton Neal, 290 Centre street; Historian, Morris Latimer Ritchie; Chaplain, Frank Bray Stephens.

✓ THE VIRGINIA SOCIETY held its annual meeting in Richmond on February 22, at which its officers were re-elected.

✓ THE WASHINGTON SOCIETY held its annual meeting and banquet in Seattle on the evening of February 22. After the banquet Reinhold Loewe and Melville Monheimer, two of the three successful contestants in the oratorical contest held recently at the Washington High School, Seattle, under the auspices of the Society, delivered their orations.

Ezra Meeker presented his plans for marking the Oregon Trail and described his trip to Washington. The Society unanimously endorsed the undertaking, and also the bill in this connection before Congress, introduced by Congressman Humphrey.

The annual election resulted as follows: President, Judge C. H. Hanford, of Seattle; Vice-Presidents, Walter M. Bosworth, of Tacoma, L. L. Rand, of Spokane, and Dr. S. J. Holmes, of Seattle; Secretary, Augustus Armstrong, of Seattle; Treasurer, Augustus V. Bell, of Seattle; Registrar, Walter B. Beals, of Seattle; Historian, O. A. Byers, of Seattle; Chaplain, E. Lincoln Smith, D. D., of Seattle.

✓ THE WISCONSIN SOCIETY has held monthly meetings for the transaction of business and the reading of papers on historical subjects, the meetings being attended by prospective candidates as well as members of the Society.
