National Society
Sons of The American Revolution

The Message of the President General.

MY DEAR COMPATRIOTS:

I wish to avail myself of this occasion to express to the membership of the Sons of the American Revolution my appreciation of the great honor conferred upon me by the recent Congress at Asbury Park, New Jersey, in unanimously electing me to the highest office within the gift of our great Society.

It will be my desire and ambition to promote to the highest degree the welfare of our Society. This can only be accomplished, however, by the co-operation of every chapter and chapter member throughout the United States. The President General can accomplish little or nothing without this united support and co-operation. I therefore appeal to you, Compatriots, to join with me, and the splendid body of officials with whom I am associated, in a united effort to increase the membership of our organization and to carry on the various branches of patriotic work to which the Society is devoted and for which it was organized. Not only will our efforts be devoted to greatly increasing our membership during the coming year, but to the observance of those patriotic obligations which the membership of our Society are pledged to carry on.

May I bespeak for our committees the support of every society and chapter member in our organization. These committees have each undertaken a great work, of which you will be from time to time advised, and in which your co-operation will be solicited. Let no Compatriot fail in his duty to aid in carrying out the objects and purposes delegated to these important committees.

A special committee has been selected and appointed to superintend the work of clearing the indebtedness of our National Headquarters. Every member of the Society will be solicited to have part in this great work. The committee has been given the slogan "Burn the Mortgage at the 1931 Congress." It is to be hoped that every Compatriot will appreciate the obligation he owes the Society of assisting to the extent of his means in completing this important work.

Let us all unite and work together to make this a banner year in the history of our Society.

JOSIAH A. VAN ORSDEL,
President General.

The Sons of the American Revolution Magazine

With this new Volume and its first issue THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE makes its bow under its new name and title and it is hoped that the change may be fully approved by all our compatriots and friends.

The decision to abandon the name THE MINUTE MAN and the selection of the new title has not been made hastily, but after much deliberation and careful consideration by the Executive Committee over a period of months, and the possibility of this change has been apparent to all who have followed the brief references to this matter in the reports of the Executive Committee meetings for some time past. This new title, it is felt, will immediately convey to everyone who sees our publication exactly what it is and in whose interests it is published, and while the former title was sentimentally appropriate and satisfactory, it has been apparent that it did not always convey to any but those directly associated with the organization the fact that it was our Official organ of publicity and contact with each compatriot.

A brief glance over the history of our publication may not be inappropriate at this time.

The first publication was dated October 15, 1906. The title reads "National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution," followed by the words "Office of the Secretary General," the date, and the name of the presiding officer "President General Hon. Cornelius A. Pugsley, New York." Below this are the words forming a sub-title "Official Bulletin." There was no Volume or number designated.

This announcement follows:

"Acting upon a resolution offered at the Boston Congress, the General Board of Managers appointed Mr. H. V. A. Joslin, Dr. Moses G. Parker, and Mr. A. Howard Clark a committee to consider a method of publishing Society news of interest to the entire organization. The committee met at Worcester, Mass., on August 10, and agreed upon a plan which has been approved by the President General, to issue from time to time as may seem expedient an OFFICIAL BULLETIN." There follows a few more words describing the type of information desired, similar to that which we print on our present title page. This first issue had four pages only, of reading matter, giving brief notices of some activities, and a memorial list, but included the names of new members from May to October, 1906, covering about seventeen pages. The second issue is dated December 15, 1906; the third, March 15, 1907; the fourth, May 15, 1907. Not until the beginning of the third volume, in May 1908, were the volumes and issues numbered. The size of these first issues measured 7½ inches by 5 inches. There were practically no illustrations. The contents differed very little except in quantity to the information disseminated with regard to our state societies and chapters at present, but there is a constant enlargement as the successive issues appear.

It will be recalled that during this time and until 1921 it was customary to publish a Year Book which contained the proceedings of each Congress of the National Society, Executive Meeting Minutes, the officers of each state society, and the records of all members accepted during the entire year. The publication of this Year Book became a very heavy financial burden upon the society, with relatively small distribution, as it only went to one or two officers of each state society and to the National Officers and Executive Committee, so that the information contained reached comparatively few members of the society at large.

In the spring of 1921, at the Congress held at Buffalo, N. Y., the decision was reached to do away with the Year Book, and enlarge the Official Bulletin, which was to contain the information previously printed in the Year Books, and thus convey to every compatriot all the official news and information of the Society, and the first issue under these conditions was published June 1, 1921, and the first at the hands of the present Editor. The size was slightly enlarged, the pages now measuring about nine inches by five and a half. There was no cover on this issue.

It was immediately apparent that the large size and contents of this Bulletin necessitated a cover, and with the following issue of Volume XVI, a cover was provided, which proved a most acceptable improvement and our Official Bulletin began to take on the semblance of a magazine.

The next important change was to alter the name to THE MINUTE MAN and when this was decided upon, a cover design appropriate to the name was authorized, and we appeared in new dress and title, with the issue of December, 1923, as THE MINUTE MAN, OFFICIAL BULLETIN, NATIONAL SOCIETY SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION. This was Volume XVIII, No. 3.

It is not necessary to continue the story, as all except our very newest compatriots are familiar with this later history of the magazine. It is the belief of the writer that our little publication has a place in the hearts of our compatriots all its own, and that more interest in our society, more familiarity with its aims and purposes, more cooperation with state and national executives and their efforts to make our society grow and be useful in promoting an abiding faith and loyalty to the great constructive principles of our country's Constitution and institutions, has developed throughout our membership, and, it is hoped will continue to grow and be fostered in the years to come.

Your continued loyalty and cooperation are besought for this new era in our published history, and the wish is expressed that THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE may ever be to our compatriots a messenger of patriotism, a true contact between National Society and the compatriot both at home and abroad.

THREE NEW STATE FLAGS

With the acquisition of the state flags of Maryland, New Hampshire and Texas, which were presented to the National Society at the 41st Congress, National Headquarters is now the proud possessor of eight beautiful state flags, which will add greatly to the festive appearance of Headquarters when on dress parade, and to all occasions of ceremony in which the National Society has a part.

Deep appreciation of these generous gifts is felt by all National Officers and the Executive Committee, and as was said on a previous occasion, "We are always in a receptive mood," and the hope is expressed that other state societies will soon follow the example of Connecticut, Maryland, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas, and that another year will see us well on the road to a complete collection.

Brief Biographies of Newly Elected Officers*

JOSIAH A. VAN ORSDEL

President General

HON. JOSIAH A. VAN ORSDEL, Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, elected Vice-President General for the Middle States District at the Congress at Swampscott, Mass., May 20, 1925, is a native of Pennsylvania, was graduated in 1885 from Westminster College, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. After completing his law studies he went to the West, where for three years he engaged in business in the State of Nebraska. In 1891 he settled in the practice of law at Cheyenne, Wyoming; in 1892 he was elected county and prosecuting attorney at Laramie County, Wyoming, and on completion of his term of office in 1894 was elected a member of the Wyoming House of Representatives, where he took prominent standing as the acknowledged floor leader. In 1905 he was appointed by the Governor chairman of a commission to compile, revise and codify the laws of Wyoming. The work of this commission resulted in the Revised Statutes of 1899.

Justice Van Orsdel held the office of Attorney General of Wyoming from 1897 to 1905, when he was appointed by the Governor an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the State to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice Knight. His career on the Supreme Court was terminated in 1906, when President Roosevelt appointed him Assistant Attorney General of the United States. This was followed in December, 1907, by the appointment to his present position on the Federal Bench, which, of course, is for life, or during good behavior.

Justice Van Orsdel is a member of the American Bar Association, from which body in 1903 he was appointed the Wyoming delegate to the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists held in St. Louis, Missouri. He is also an active member of the American Law Institute; a member of a number of clubs, and has been for many years a ruling elder in the Presbyterian Church.

The Justice is a jurist of the old school—a conservative from principle. He is a firm believer in the principles upon which this Republic was originally founded, and that only by a strict adherence to the letter and spirit of the Constitution can a strong government be maintained, and the security of our free institutions assured.

The new President General has for many years past taken great interest in the work of the S. A. R. He completed, in 1924-25, a most successful term as President of the District of Columbia Society. He served as a member of the Executive Committee during the terms of President General Depew and President General Rowley.

In assuming the duties of this office, he promises his untiring energy and service in promoting the better organization, growth, and development of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

James Romeyn Danforth, elected Chaplain General by vote of the 41st Congress of the National Society, was born in Woodstock, Illinois, July 7, 1868, the eldest of six children. His father was James Romeyn Danforth, long pastor of the Central Congregational Church in Philadelphia. His mother, Alice Haven, was the daughter of a professor in the Chicago Theological Seminary.

Our Chaplain General prepared for college at Eastburn Academy, Philadelphia, graduated from Amherst in 1868, and from Yale Divinity School in 1891. After a period of study abroad, he was ordained and installed as pastor of the Congregational Church in Mystic, Connecticut, in 1892. He subsequently held pastorates in St. Albans, Vermont, and Auburn, Maine, and since 1913 has been pastor of the First Church of Christ, a Congregational Church organized in 1642, in New London, Connecticut. *In the nearly three hundred years of the history of this church Dr. Danforth has been its twelfth pastor.

During his first pastorate in Mystic, Chaplain General Danforth joined the Connecticut Society of the Sons of the American Revolution through the service of Captain Daniel Emerson, of New Hampshire troops and since his residence in New London he has been Chaplain of the Nathan Hale Branch, S. A. R. He holds membership in several fraternal orders and is at this time the Governor and Chaplain of the Connecticut Society of the Order of Founders and Patriots.

While residing in Mystic, he married Prudence Mary Langworthy. They have two daughters and two sons.

CONSTITUTION DAY OBSERVANCE

Again the call is sounded for the Compatriots to remember the anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States which has been so excellently remembered during the past twelve years by our fellowship and kindred organizations.

It is an opportunity to serve our Country with wholehearted strength, and it is the hope of the Chairman of the Committee that each Compatriot will immediately be prepared to answer any call made upon him to participate in the preparation for the celebration on September 17th next, and throughout the entire week in which the anniversary occurs.

Eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty!

DAVID L. PIERSON,
Chairman.

Suggestions and Comments

By action of the 41st Congress, S. A. R., we are committed to further the legislation to provide for a suitable memorial to Comte de Grasse. This has been introduced into Congress by Joint Resolution, and is known as H. J. Res. 347.

Summer is the time for placing Revolutionary Grave Markers. Let every Chapter try to locate and mark one this summer. Send to National Headquarters for new circular and file your ancestor's Grave Record now.

Use your S. A. R. MAGAZINE as a book of reference and instead of writing to ask, look first to see if the information you desire does not appear in print. General officers' names and addresses are always to be found on the second cover page; National Trustees, and Executive Committee, preceding the Frontispiece; Purposes and Objects of the Society and Past Presidents General on third cover page; State Society and Chapter officers in this issue are on pp. 142-151; New National Committee appointments pp. 11-14; all but this last item are printed in each issue. Date when copy for the following issue is due and acceptable is also published in every issue on the Title Page.

It will be of special interest to compatriots of the Illinois and District of Columbia Societies as well as our membership generally, to learn that Judge Paul Linebarger, legal adviser to the Chinese National government for eighteen years, returned to China in April to take up his appointment as attorney general to 400,000,000 people.

In 1907, when he was a United States judge in the Philippines, he resigned to become adviser to Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who was forming the new government. He remained in this position until 1925, when he was driven out by communistic influence.

Judge Linebarger was summoned back to China by Chiang Kai Chek, present head of the Nationalist government.

SUPPLEMENTAL FEES MUST BE PREPAID

State Officers, particularly the Secretaries and Registrars are hereby formally notified that hereafter, and effective immediately, all charges for filing supplemental applications, and for engrossing names of extra ancestors on membership certificates, are to be prepaid, by order of the Executive Committee.

It should not be necessary to repeat, but it is done for the purpose of making this matter entirely clear to all concerned, that the charge for filing a supplemental claim is $2; and for engrossing the extra ancestor's name on a certificate, fifty cents. When a supplemental claim accompanies the original application and is accepted, or if such claim is received and accepted before the membership certificate is completed, the extra ancestor's name is automatically added to the certificate, as it is obviously impossible for the Registrar General to enter into correspondence over this matter which would indefinitely delay the certificate orders. Therefore the state officers having these matters in charge are notified that all such charges should be explained to the applicant, and collected for in advance, at the same time the initial fees and dues are collected, and forwarded with the applications.

Hereafter no supplemental applications will be given consideration at the hands of the Registrar General unless accompanied by the above fees.

PUT IT IN YOUR BUDGET

These remarks are addressed particularly to the officers of the State Societies of ALABAMA, ARIZONA, ARKANSAS, GEORGIA, IDAHO, KANSAS, MAINE, MONTANA, NEW MEXICO, OKLAHOMA, SOUTH CAROLINA, SOUTH DAKOTA, WASHINGTON, WISCONSIN, AND WYOMING. In other words, those societies which had no representation at the 41st Annual Congress of the National Society at Asbury Park.

In nearly every issue of THE MINUTE MAN for the last year recommendation was made that every state society plan and provide for at least one representative at the National Congress this year, and this same thought was stressed in the messages of the President General, the report and communications of the Secretary General and other officers at various times during the course of the year past.

Again this thought is presented to you and you are urged to begin to plan now for a representative next year. The stimulus which attendance at the Congress gives to the one who goes will be transmitted to the compatriots of your state, even though indirectly, and a difference in enthusiasm, a desire to cooperate and to promote the work in your state will result inevitably.

It is suggested that your Society put aside for this purpose a small sum each month, so that a representative may be sent from your state, with expenses partially, if not wholly paid. It is as important for the benefit of your organization, that a representative be present at the Congress as that some other undertaking be achieved by your Society.

This year, one of the societies included above received one of the Traveling Banners presented for increase of membership, but no one was present to receive this banner on behalf of the state society and a proxy had to act. This is a situation which should not be permitted to occur.

THE ZEPPELIN WREATH

One of the unique features of the 41st Congress which is not recorded in the official record was that in connection with the dropping of a wreath in honor of Baron Von Steuben by Commander Hugo Eckener of the Graf Zeppelin as the great airship passed over the Berkeley Carteret Hotel at Asbury Park on the night of June 2, as it began its flight back to Germany after its historic trip to South America from Seville.

The happy thought of having this unique suggestion carried out was enthusiastically agreed to by Dr. Eckener who was communicated with at Lakehurst as he was preparing for his start back to Germany, and a fine wreath, carrying the official ribbon of the Sons of the American Revolution was provided and as the Graf Zeppelin sailed over Asbury Park on its way up the coast to New York, all the delegates and ladies in attendance at the brilliant reception in progress in the ball room of the Berkeley Carteret Hotel went out onto the lawn when the signal was given that the Zeppelin was approaching, and as it sailed overhead a flash of light was seen as an opening in the cabin permitted the lowering of the wreath which was attached to a small parachute. A thrill pervaded the entire assemblage at the majestic sight of the huge dirigible sailing so gracefully overhead, and so low as to seem almost to graze the tower of the hotel. The wreath was found upon the roof of the nearby solarium, not more than a short city block distant from the hotel. The card it bore read:

"In commemoration and honor of Baron Von Steuben who aided America's Cause in the Revolutionary War Dr. Hugo Eckener, Commander of the Graf Zeppelin presents compliments to the Sons of the American Revolution."

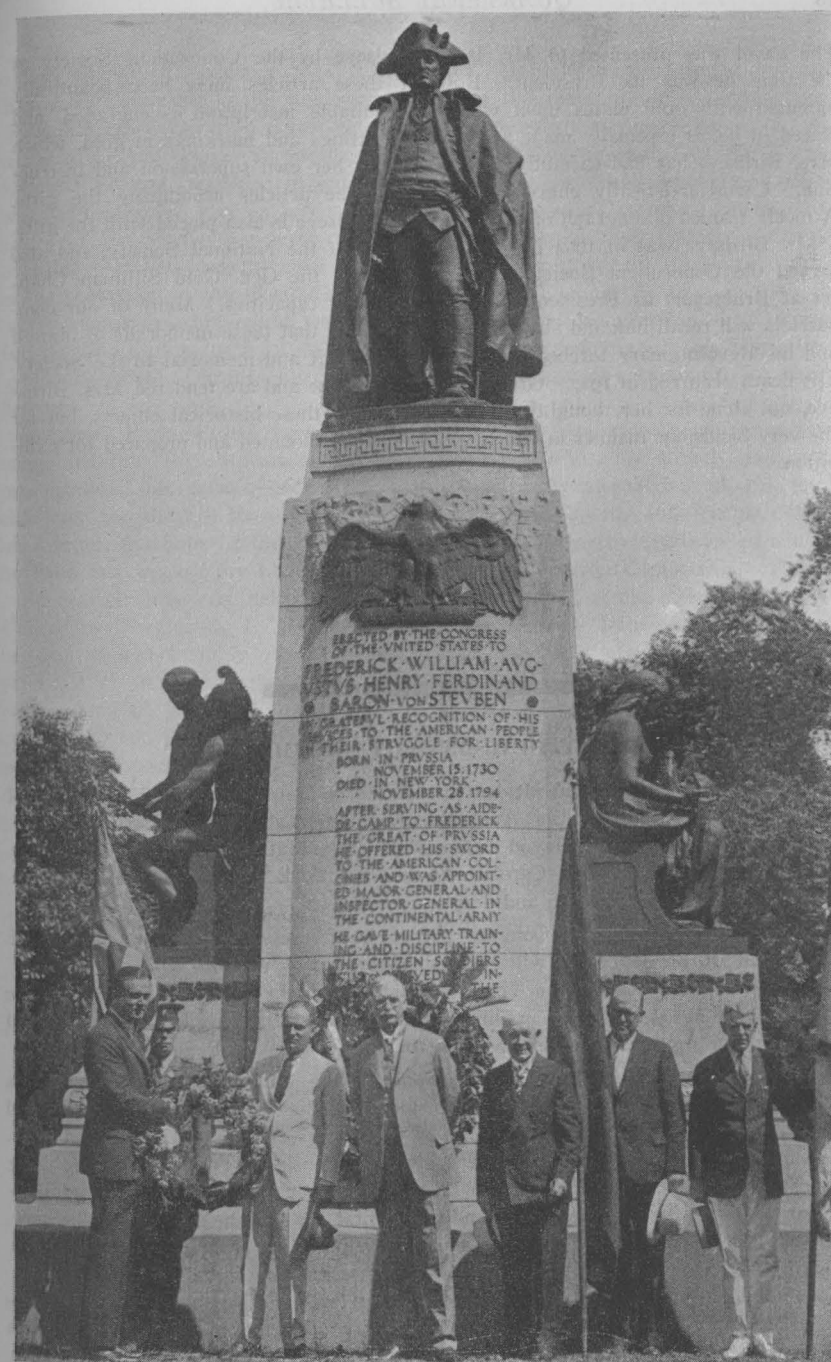

The wreath was placed in the custody of the Secretary General, who brought it to Washington, and on Monday, June 16, it was placed with formal ceremony on the statue of Baron Von Steuben in Lafayette Park, this being the nearest date to Flag Day for which suitable arrangements could be made.

Hon. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, President General of the Sons of the American Revolution presided over the ceremonies, and briefly described the occurrence. The Secretary of the German Embassy, Baron Wolfgang Puttitz, representing the German Ambassador was present and presented the wreath to the Acting Secretary of War F. Trubee Davidson, who placed it upon the statue of General Von Steuben. A number of interested spectators witnessed the ceremony. The wreath was later brought back to National Headquarters S. A. R. for preservation as an article of historical interest.

HISTORICAL RELICS FOR HEADQUARTERS

In loving memory of our late compatriot of the Connecticut Society, Hon. Isaac Washington Birdseye, there have been presented to National Headquarters by Mrs. Birdseye, some valuable and interesting relics, which will be of historical value to the generations to come.

A silver watch, presented to Captain Joseph Birdseye, Great Grand Father of Isaac W. Birdseye, marked with the name and date is the first of these gifts. This watch was presented to Captain Joseph Birdseye for bravery on the field of battle in the Revolutionary War. There is also a gavel made from a beam in the house of the Birdseye family, which was built by Captain Joseph Birdseye.

Placing Wreath from Graf Zeppelin at Statue of Baron von Steuben in Washington.

The gavel was presented to Mr. Isaac Birdseye by the Connecticut Society at the time he was its President. Both of these articles have been beautifully mounted with gold plates upon which the suitable inscription is engraved, and placed in boxes especially made and with all fittings and markings in gold, which Mrs. Birdseye has had carefully prepared under her own supervision and instruction. Cards artistically engrossed describing the articles accompany the gifts. A nicely framed photograph of Mr. Isaac W. Birdseye is also placed with the gifts.

Mr. Birdseye was in 1904 Treasurer General of the National Society, and also served the Connecticut Society as President, and the Gen. Gold Silliman Chapter at Bridgeport as President and in many other capacities. Many of our compatriots will recall him and all will be glad to know that these memorials of himself and his Revolutionary forebear are a permanent gift and memorial to the Society. His death occurred in 1927. Grateful thanks are due and are tendered Mrs. Birdseye, not alone for her thoughtfulness in presenting these historical objects, but for the very handsome manner in which they have been mounted and prepared for exhibition.

In Memoriam

PARK MATHEWSON—LOYAL COMPATRIOT

The one unforgettably sad incident of the Forty-first Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution at Asbury Park was the sudden passing of our beloved compatriot Park Mathewson, who but a few years since went to North Carolina from New York and had in the Societies of both states made a lasting and deep impression.

No one who attended the Congress seemed to take more delight and joy out of it and all of the delegates will remember the happy way in which he carried out his part in presenting the Traveling Banners to the successful states. There was a spirit of unselfishness in this that was characteristic of his whole life and it was never more exemplified than on this his last day with his friends.

Park Mathewson's interest in the Sons of the American Revolution began many years ago when he became a member of the Empire State Society and for years he was Editor of the Bulletin of this state society, and of other publicity. He never failed in his work and was always enthusiastic and reliable. Moving to North Carolina a few years ago he took a personal interest in the establishment of this state society and attended the first meeting held to form the new organization in Rocky Mount in January, 1928. With a number of others he drove over from Raleigh and his advice and counsel was most helpful in the formation of this society. His interest did not lag, for being elected Vice President he worked constantly for the building up of this new organization and was elected the second President of the North Carolina Society following Harrison Gray Otis, the organizer and first President. Upon the resignation of Mr. Otis from the office of Vice President General of the South Atlantic District, because of his change of residence to Wisconsin, Mr. Mathewson was elected by the Executive Committee to fill this vacancy, and in this office did such far-reaching work that the Congress had just elected him unanimously to that office for a full term, at the last session Wednesday afternoon at Asbury Park. That the North Carolina Society succeeded in winning all the three Traveling Banners in 1929 was unquestionably due in large part to Mr. Mathewson's efforts. During the past year Mr. Mathewson never missed a chance to display these banners and it is probable that the banners have never traveled to so many meetings as while in the possession of the North Carolina Society.

The crowning achievement was in securing the next Congress of the Society for North Carolina to meet in Charlotte, and the acceptance of this invitation by the Board of Trustees filled the cup of our compatriot's happiness to overflowing.

To know Park Mathewson was to love him. His happy and genial temperament; his spirit of enthusiasm and loyalty to his friends, his church, and our organization; his capacity for work and achievement; and above all, his fine character and the life he lived, all endeared him to his family and friends. We, his friends, the Sons of the American Revolution, and the communities in which he lived and worked are better to have known this beloved Compatriot.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, June 7, at the little Community Church in Douglaston, L. I., the former home of Mr. Mathewson, and where he had labored lovingly in the upbuilding of this little church. It was the privilege of the Secretary General, his lifelong friend, to attend the services, representing the National Society, and to speak briefly in tribute to the beloved departed friend and Compatriot. The State of North Carolina was also represented by a special deputy.

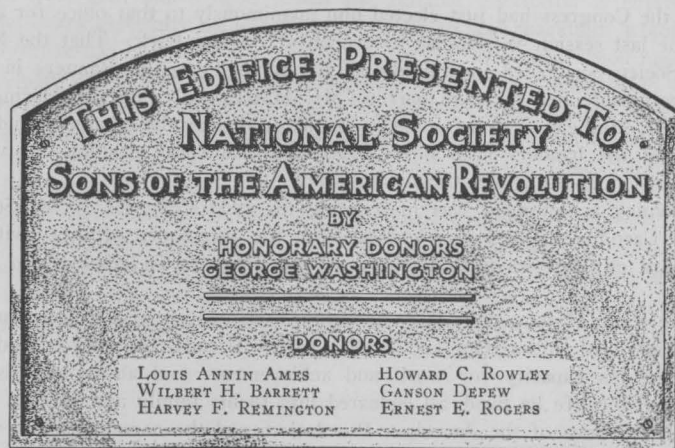

JOHN H. BURROUGHS

The announcement at the first session of the Forty first Congress of the passing of our honored Compatriot John H. Burroughs of New York brought sadness to the hearts of many delegates who had known and loved this loyal Compatriot.

Mr. Burroughs was formerly Vice President General of the National Society and for many years served the society as Treasurer General. His services in the latter capacity were of unquestionable value and his devotion to the National and to the Empire State Society of outstanding loyalty.

Upon unanimous resolution, the Congress passed a vote of deep sympathy and ordered a wreath provided for the funeral service.

To future generations, descendants of these compatriots, here will be an everlasting memorial to those that assisted to make this great project a success.

Minutes of the Meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution

Held at National Headquarters, Washington, D. C., March 21st and 22nd, 1930

Present:

Howard C. Rowley, President General, California, presiding.

Ganson Depew, New York; Ernest E. Rogers, Connecticut; Rulef C. Schanck, Pennsylvania; Loren E. Souers, Ohio; Josiah A. Van Orsdel, District of Columbia.

Frank B. Steele, Secretary General; Francis B. Culver, Registrar General; George S. Robertson, Treasurer General.

The President General called the meeting to order at 10 a. m. March 21 and thanked the members for their attendance.

The Secretary General presented the minutes of the last meeting as printed in THE MINUTE MAN for January, 1930, and upon motion of Mr. Souers the minutes were accepted as printed.

The Secretary General then read his report since the last meeting of the Executive Committee.

The President General brought up the subject of changing the name of the quarterly bulletin of the Society in continuation of the consideration of this at the October meeting of the committee.

After some discussion Mr. Souers moved that the name of the quarterly magazine be changed. Motion adopted.

The President General strongly favored the use of the name, the "S. A. R. Magazine" using the present cut, spelling out S. A. R. into the full name.

The matter was discussed at some length and it was moved by Judge Van Orsdel: That the name of the quarterly magazine be changed to SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE.

Mr. Souers moved to amend the motion by adding that the exact design be left to the determination of a committee to be appointed by the President General.

Justice Van Orsdel accepted the amendment and the motion as amended reading as follows was unanimously adopted:

THAT the name of the Quarterly Magazine be changed to "Sons of the American Revolution Magazine" and that the space now occupied by the words "Minute Man" be used by the word "Magazine", and that the present title design be retained but so moved as to permit the printing of the title about the figure of the Minute Man in such manner as shall be determined by a committee to be appointed by the President General.

The President General appointed Justice Van Orsdel and Secretary General Steele such committee.

The matter of the change of address of members was brought up by the President General and after some discussion it was moved by Mr. Schanck:

THAT each Chapter Secretary notify the State Secretary and the State Secretary notify the Secretary General of removals from that state to another, and that in turn the Secretary General notify the State President of the state in which the member has located.

The motion was adopted.

Recess was taken until 2:00 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The matter of the new membership in Ohio was brought up and it was moved by Justice Van Orsdel:

THAT to cover the expenses of the Ohio Society it be reimbursed for the expense incurred to the full extent of the initiation fees that have been paid into the National Society on the applications of Ohio S. R. members coming in to S. A. R. and on such further applications as may be received before the next meeting of the Executive Committee on account of such members of the S. R. This not to include supplementals.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

The matter of the Far Eastern Society was brought up by the President General and discussed at length and it was moved by Mr. Souers:

THAT the Charter of the Far Eastern Society be revoked for failure to make any reports for several years to the Registrar General of the National Society as required in the By-laws of the National Society.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

The Secretary General was directed to advise Dr. Austin Craig that the Charter of the Far Eastern Society had been revoked, and to communicate with the members of the Far Eastern Society as to their future status.

After some discussion it was moved by Justice Van Orsdel:

THAT Section 2 of Article II of the By-laws be amended as follows:
"Whenever any State Society shall have become defunct by the surrender, forfeiture, or revocation of its charter, any member thereof may, upon application made within one year after such State Society so became defunct, accompanied by a certificate by the Secretary General that the applicant was at the time of the surrender or loss of such charter a member of such State Society, be admitted to any other State Society, or any Chapter thereof, without payment of any admission fee, subject, however, to acceptance of such applicant in due form by the State Society or Chapter to which application is made."

The President General brought up the subject of societies in foreign countries and our own dependencies referring especially to the Society in France, the Hawaiian Society and the one proposed to be formed in England. The President General expressed himself as opposed to these societies that are far from the jurisdiction of the National Society and which can not know what we are doing or we what they do. After considerable discussion the Secretary General was directed to write to the Society in France asking for a report from that Society to be made before the Congress in Asbury Park.

The matter of forming a society in England was on motion of Mr. Schanck laid on the table.

The Hawaiian matter was discussed. It was reported by the President General that the Hawaiian Society had without consent of the National Society or without consultation with its officers dissolved itself and that there had been a protest over that from some of the members of that society.

The Secretary General was directed to correspond with the Hawaiian Society and the individual members residing there with the idea in view of reviving this society.

The President General brought up the question of the policy that should be pursued with states that were delinquent in their dues.

The Treasurer General reported that there were but three then in arrears.

The President General reported that he had authorized the Registrar General to have new blanks printed in order to get more correct reports from the states in the future.

The President General brought up the matter of advertising in the magazine and his proposed new advertising rates, and after some discussion it was moved by Justice Van Orsdel:

THAT the rates suggested by the President General be adopted and that the Secretary General be authorized to place advertisements in the New York and Washington papers according to his judgment to ascertain whether or not he can secure someone to take this work on commission.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

RECESS TO 8:00 P. M.

The President General brought for discussion proposed amendments that had been sent out by the Secretary General and as proposed by the California Society, the District of Columbia Society, and the Utah Society.

After a full and careful discussion the Executive Committee approved all of the suggested amendments to the Constitution and By-laws excepting that which would amend Article I, Section 2 of the By-laws in relation to an appeal from the decision of the Registrar General and disapproved the Utah and District of Columbia proposals.

There was a full discussion of further proposed amendments to the By-laws and the following amendments were proposed by the Executive Committee and the Secretary General was instructed to send these proposed amendments to the State Presidents in accordance with the provisions of the By-laws.

Amend Article XVI, Section 4, of the By-laws of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution by adding the following:

"Such State Societies shall be so admitted, organized or reorganized, and shall always exist, under charters from the National Society, which may be granted, and may be revoked, altered, or amended by the Board of Trustees."

Amend Article XIX by striking out and repealing the whole of Section 4 of said Article XIX; and further, that Section 5 thereof shall be numbered Section 4 and Section 6 be numbered Section 5.

The President General brought up the matter of the proposed L'Enfant Memorial. The President General was requested to write the officers interested in this memorial and express the interest of the society but to state that this society of the S. A. R. could not take over this project.

There was a partial report of Mr. Millsbaugh, Chairman of the Committee on Membership which was discussed at some length.

Recess at 11:15 P. M.

SATURDAY, MARCH 22ND, 1930.

Meeting called to order at 9:30 A. M.

A written report of the plans for the next Congress at Asbury Park was received from the Chairman, Thomas W. Williams, who was unable to be present. There was a general discussion of the plans and it was felt that they were in excellent shape at this time.

Mr. Souers read a report from Chairman McCrillis in reference to the activities of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety, which report asked for certain funds to be raised to carry on the work of the Committee.

The Executive Committee after some discussion advised Mr. Souers to write Mr. McCrillis that the Executive Committee thought it best to put this subject before the Congress for its consideration.

The President General brought up the question of Honorary Donors to Headquarters Building Fund.

The Executive Committee authorized the President General to advise Col. Ames that the question of Honorary Donors is a difficult problem to pass a resolution on and it is deemed simpler to decide each question as it arises by the Executive Committee on reference from Headquarters Fund Committee.

The Committee were the guests of the President General at luncheon at National Headquarters.

Recess at 12:30.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Session resumed at 2:30 P. M.

Meeting was called to order by the President General.

It was moved by Mr. Schanck:

THAT the Treasurer General be authorized to transfer certain funds from the Headquarters Fund to the General Fund of the Society to reimburse this fund for money advanced.

The motion was adopted.

The Treasurer General expressed the view that too much stress had been laid on the Donorship for the Headquarters Fund and not enough for smaller donations. The President General felt that any amount should be solicited.

The Registrar General brought up the matter of the Society in France, stating that papers have been received but not proper certification. It was moved by Justice Van Orsdel: That these papers from France be sent back for proper certification.

The motion was adopted.

It was moved by Mr. Schanck:

THAT supplementals and engrossing applications be accompanied by the proper fees before the work is done by the Registrar General.

The motion was adopted.

The matter of repairs to the fence in the rear of the Headquarters was brought up by Justice Van Orsdel, Chairman of the House Committee and it was moved by Mr. Souers:

THAT the House Committee be authorized to repair or replace the fence in the rear of the Headquarters in its discretion and the amount to be charged to the Headquarters Fund.

The motion was adopted.

The Secretary General reported on the bills in Congress to exempt the Headquarters property from taxes and urged the members of the Committee to do all in their power to assist in this matter.

A vote of thanks was tendered the President General for his hospitality at luncheon on March 22, and for his careful attention to details in presiding over this meeting.

Meeting adjourned sine die at 3:45 P. M.

When the question was put to a vote, all the members of the Committee voted in the affirmative except that the President General requested that the record show that he voted "No."

The subject of a design for an official book plate for the Society was discussed by the Secretary General and the members of the Committee, and at the suggestion of Mr. Van Orsdel the determination of the matter was deferred until the fall meeting of the Committee, which will be held in Washington.

Synopsis of Proceedings of 41st Annual Congress, National Society, S. A. R.

Held at Asbury Park, N. J., June 1-4, 1929. First Session, Convention Hall, Monday, June 2, 1930 at 10 a. m.

The new Convention Hall, at Asbury Park, hardly completed, was opened for the first time to this Congress, and presented a very attractive appearance as the officers, delegates and guests of the Congress assembled. When the assembly call was sounded by the bugle, the National officers with their guests, and preceded by the Color Guard and the Minute Men of Concord in Continental uniform, appeared at the entrance and proceeded to the platform amid prolonged applause. The colors were saluted and President General Rowley called the Congress to order.

The delegates and guests, still standing, sang "The Star Spangled Banner" led by the Chorister General. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Dr. George P. Eastman, Chaplain of the New Jersey State Society, Sons of the American Revolution, acting in the absence of the Chaplain General, Rev. Thornton Whaling, D. D.

The President General announced the appointment of the Committee on Credentials for this Congress, consisting of Compatriot George Robertson of Maryland; and the President General called upon the Chairman of the Credentials Committee for information as to the attendance at this Congress.

Compatriot Robertson, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, reported in attendance 150 delegates and 85 ladies, constituting a quorum for the transaction of business.

THE PRESIDENT GENERAL. In view of the report of the Chairman, a quorum is declared to be present, and this Congress is open for the transaction of business of the Society.

Burleigh, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Asbury Park, extending official welcome to the Congress, in the absence of his Honor the Mayor, C. E. F. Hetrick.

Hon. Arthur N. Quinn, spoke in behalf of the State of New Jersey.

Mrs. C. Edward Murray, Regent of the New Jersey Society, Daughters of the American Revolution presented a message of greeting and of good fellowship from her organization, recounting some of the striking events of the Revolution which occurred within the State of New Jersey, and the dedication of memorials by her Society upon those historic sites.

Also Miss Amy Powell, Corresponding Secretary to Mrs. Percy Quinn, President of the National Society of the Children of the Revolution. She read a letter of greeting from Mrs. Quinn.

These speakers were introduced by Mr. Frederic de Garmer Hahn, President of the New Jersey Society, who also introduced Mr. Charles Marsh, President of the Revolutionary Memorial Society of New Jersey. The Past Presidents General of the Society were called by name and rose from their seats on the platform as their names were called, greeted in each case with applause by the delegates and guests.

The first and last stanzas of "America" were sung by the assembly.

The President General expressed the thanks of the Congress to the distinguished visitors and guests of the forenoon, and his appreciation of their presence.

The President General then presented his annual address to the Congress, as follows:

Annual Report of the President General, Howard C. Rowley

COMPATRIOTS:

A year ago, in responding to the result of the election by your delegates at the 40th Congress of this Society in Springfield, Ill., I thanked you for the honor you had conferred upon me and accepted the responsibility that came with it. I have found both throughout the year. For the privilege which your courtesy brought me, I shall be always grateful, and have in turn the hope that my stewardship in the responsibilities may have been satisfactory to you. I feel that we have made good progress during the year in most of our affairs and added some new substance of importance, also, for future development.

I desire to pay a deserved tribute to the efforts and cooperation of those associated with me this year, whom the Society elected to office, and those whom I have called into service as chairmen of our important committees, for their active and effective participation. No executive head of any society could have had more willing and well-intentioned service from the administrative officers than I have experienced.

I thank especially the Secretary General, Registrar General and Treasurer General for their cooperation and consideration, which I have more than usually needed this year, on account of the distance of my residence from our headquarters. I thank, also, the Executive Committee of my selection and which the Board of Trustees confirmed. They have been a real pleasure to your President General to work with throughout the year. We have found ourselves in substantial agreement in almost all problems and operations.

The opportunities of the office of President General of this Society, when actively accepted, require considerably over half of the executive's entire time, in my experience, and a material personal effort and expense. The one-year period of office in our organization, which is quite proper under several important considerations, is at the same time, however, too short for the accomplishment of really large purposes. It is, accordingly, my thought that it is necessary that we pursue our effort at development of our Society and its processes through a continual building upon the past, under the same general idea and inspiration, as often as these may be found satisfactory. And we must, so far as possible, avoid definite changes and reversals merely for the sake of such.

I shall be, in the course of this report to you, speaking quite frankly, and I ask that you will understand that I am solely intending thereby to give the Society the result of the best thought in its interests that I have, out of this experience in your affairs and for whatever value you may find my conclusions to be.

I have the pleasure of reporting to you that every individual suggestion, motion and resolution of last year's Congress of this Society and its associated meetings and all other matters of authorized reference to your executive this year have been finally completed, finally rejected or are in the course of operation, so far as they can be pursued to this time. I am of the opinion that many worthwhile suggestions are, in such organizations, too frequently passed on to the increasing burden of the files, without material thought, and as a consequence the values are not always gotten out of the thoughts expressed and the work done. I have therefore, endeavored this year to salvage the most possible in these things. I am able to report to you now that the President General's desk is clear, and thoughtfully so.

You will hear during this session of our Society from all of the officers and committee chairmen and they will, in their respective duties and spheres of operations, report to you as of the progress during the year and the results. It would be a work of supererogation were I to even summarize these showings here.

The crystalization of much thinking and a considerable experience, both locally and nationally, in the affairs of this Society, with the culminating opportunities of a year's service at its head, give me as the outstanding conclusion of our general need this finding: Too many of the members of our Society are lacking, in more or less degree, an understanding of the responsibilities upon them individually of the honor to them which membership in this Society brings. It should be entirely obvious to every Compatriot that the claim of importance in his ancestry which he makes in applying to join the Society, and through which he has the opportunity to become a member of it, does not of and by itself indicate any importance to the individual member. Quite the contrary is the fact. It imposes upon him a responsibility and a duty!

It should be fully realized that what we are here for is to individually contribute, to the extent of our abilities and opportunities, in the maintenance and development of those things in our national inheritance which we, in joining, claim to have been works of distinction in the lives of those who thus furnished us with the privilege we ask in this association. This theory applied in practice in the affairs of this Society means, therefore, that our members need understandingly to realize that they are under a requirement to contribute to this Society and are not members merely for the purpose of being informed and entertained by the Society.

We have many everywhere throughout our State and Chapter groups who seem thoughtlessly to feel that the operation of this Society is one entirely for the officers and executive heads of the various groups, who should provide for the individual members more and better facilities for benefits to them. The exact reverse is the case. A fuller realization of this is what I believe to be an outstanding requirement with many of us.

In the realm of the machinery of our operations, I have come this year conclusively to an opinion which is the reverse of one that I have previously held, in a major matter. I desire to express to the Society, thoughtfully and frankly, the opinion that its machinery of organization must be more definitely centralized in the routine requirements if it is to satisfactorily progress. I have not always held this view but am convinced of it now. The Sons of the American Revolution is an organization which comes out of a national event. Its purposes and its most important operations must, obviously, be concerned with national and general considerations and the local opportunities are restricted to the detail operation of its general activities, or to the smaller and less important interests. Membership in this Society is national, but for convenience in securing members and in operation, we are grouped in State Societies, and the latter are subdivided into Chapters.

I am strongly in favor of States' rights for such things as properly pertain to local, as distinguished from general concerns. I believe, however, our mistake in the past has been that we have felt many things to be local which are not so. We are needing a re-allocation of the authorities, and it is my finding that in a number of important matters the opportunity of the national executive and the administrative officers to authorize and require uniformity of processes in the State Societies, as the latter do (or should) from their Chapters, is essential to the substantial building of our structure. The details of this thought are numerous and I do not suggest them at this time, but ask your early, unprejudiced consideration to this opinion.

I take the opportunity of this report to refer to one of the necessities on which an increased centralization of our machinery must be based in order that the whole membership everywhere may have complacency in such a program. That is the need for full and complete proportionate representation of all State groups under the size of their memberships, at all meetings of the National Society. We have that at present in theory. In fact, however, we do not have it and cannot under our present rules. Our By-Laws provide the opportunity for proper delegate representation of the memberships in State groups at meetings of the National Society. There is no State group that can always be represented fully. Many State groups, however, are usually represented rather completely. But because of the size of the country over which our membership is spread and the cost in time and money for delegates to travel to the annual Congresses or any other meeting of the Society, which for the most part (and very properly) have been and will be held in the more populous sections and in the vicinity of the sights and scenes of our reason for existence—the American Revolution—this is not possible for a material number of our States.

I have in two official reports as a Vice-President General representing the Pacific District of our Society, referred to this need as a suggestion. I come again to it now in this report as an absolute requirement, if our purposes are to be advanced through the incentive of local interest in operations and if we are to have the advantages of the establishment of more centralized direction, which I am convinced is so essential.

I am fully aware from a thoughtful experience in these matters of some years, of the possible objections and difficulties of arranging our National By-Laws to provide for actual and in fact complete proportionate representation of the entire membership of this Society by States, at its meetings. I am also quite convinced that it can be done satisfactorily, if and when the membership may authorize its detailed consideration. Not until we have such, I believe, shall we find this Society in a position to obtain the wholehearted and effective cooperation of all of its groups into the most effective whole. And, in my opinion, unless we have such in the near future, we shall find a progressive lack of interest and a consequent lack of effectiveness in the Society developing in many of our States, particularly, of course, those numerous States west of the Mississippi River, because of their distances and costs of participation most of the time, under our present rules. Our present situation in that matter is in no way to be considered the result of any lack of sincere, good intentions by any, but comes out of our especial circumstances. I am in the hope that the detailed consideration of these two needed improvements in our machinery, and which are inter-dependent, may at some early date be authorized.

Your President General this year adopted for himself a particular process of operation with thoughtful purpose to supplement previous operations under this title. The work of our Society easily groups into two major sections—one concerned with the machinery routines and business affairs of the Society, and the other with the social contacts and general encouragement of our inspirations. Your immediate President believed that the latter had been, during the terms of several of his recent distinguished predecessors, quite fully and very ably covered, and had the opinion that one year of rather concentrated service to the machinery of our organization and its business affairs was necessary and would prove a fruitful field for his time and thought. As a consequence, the President suggested to all of the Vice-Presidents General early last fall the necessity for their more actively carrying on than heretofore, as the representatives, each in his own territory, of the National Society, in the social and inspirational contacts. I believe that it is much needed that we encourage this aggressively and progressively, in a territory of the size which this country covers, in which our Society is so widely scattered out. It is impossible for any one head of the National Society to do justice to the values of personal local contacts even were he to exclude every other need in his office. It should be obvious that the Vice-Presidents General can much more effectively do this and they should not only generally assume this responsibility but operate it.

It will probably have been noticed that in the appointment of committees for our Society last summer I very definitely re-arranged our previous practices, and in a number of committees whose opportunities are general throughout all of the States provided a chairman to represent the National Society and gave him as his members of the committee, the Presidents of the State Societies. This process was not quite as complete as the full plan would contemplate but I put it into effect in material part and am in the hope that the idea will be continued and enlarged to its logical completion so far as all committee operations properly coming under the thought are concerned. I believe this has worked satisfactorily this year and should work more and more so as it may be continued and be better understood.

The basic idea in providing that State Presidents should automatically be members of our general committees is not that these officers should themselves do all the work, but that they are in a position to appoint the best talent for the purposes within their own States and surround themselves with local sub-committees under their chairmanship that will be the most effective because of their personal knowledge of local conditions and local personnel. The State Presidents are, obviously, the ones through whom the National officers and National committee chairmen need to make their contacts with the State groups. The other system has provided (to my mind) a valueless duplication of anticipated effort and is lacking in practicability, notwithstanding having some other values, but which I personally consider less important.

The outstanding development of this year's administration, I believe to have been the inauguration of our Committee of Correspondence and Safety. Out of the authority of our 40th Congress a year ago, under several resolutions which go together into the one general subject of national defense (in which in its broad aspect I include both our physical defense and the defense of our institutions), the President General appointed a special committee to develop a program for our more active work in this field. That committee, under the chairmanship of Compatriot Benjamin N. Johnson of Massachusetts, a member of our present Executive Committee, formulated a plan which the President put into the hands of Compatriot Arthur M. McCrillis of Rhode Island, as chairman, to operate. I have denominated this committee our Committee of Correspondence and Safety, which has both historical significance and covers the entire range of the needs in matters concerned with the defense of the realm. The details of the organization of this work to this point have appeared in several issues of our quarterly magazine throughout the year and will come to you more completely through several presentations at this Congress. I consider this one of the most needed opportunities that this Society has, and the organization of machinery within our Society for the purpose of carrying on more directly in this field than heretofore has been one of my hobbies for several years. I consider both the Society and myself fortunate in having secured the interest of Compatriot McCrillis of Rhode Island in this matter.

I desire to express the hope that this annual Congress of our Society will concern itself substantially with what we can and will do during the coming year and the future, and as little as possible with what may have been our shortcomings in the past. An annual meeting should be a time of resolution for re-dedication to the tasks that are ahead. Our best values in this annual meeting will be the deliberate planning of exactly what we want to do and arranging to do it. Someone has said, the past is a dream; the future is a vision. We have today before us, and in that day may we plan to get the values of our vision.

PART II.

During the early part of this term we published and distributed the new Constitution and By-Laws adopted at the Springfield Congress, which substitute for our previous documents and their amendments. Our documents now are in excellent shape and under good theory in general. Our set-up in some particulars, however, brings a confusing mixture of State and National opportunities, which in practice works to cross-purposes at times. I do not go into these particulars at this time. There will, however, come before this Congress at an appropriate time some amendments that are suggested, concerned with changes found to be necessary in matters of varying importance, out of experience in questions coming up this year, which could not easily have been thought of in advance and so were not included in the new draft of our documents as presented at the 40th Congress. The details of those matters will come before you through a committee appointed for the purpose.

In the matter of our financial status, I have pleasure in reporting to you that conditions are (in my opinion) more satisfactory than might have been expected. In agreement with the recommendation of the report of the Committee on Official Reports, which was so ably presented to our 40th Congress, a budget was adopted in advance of the year's operations. I was successful in having prepared, gone over in detail and accepted by the Executive Committee, a complete and balanced budget for the ensuing term, before midnight of the day of adjournment of our Congress. I believe that is the best we have done in that matter. No budget can be made absolutely in advance of all expenditures, however, inasmuch as our fiscal year ends March 31, and many expenditures have to be authorized and paid out between that time and the meeting of the Congress and their results come into the following term. But from the time of the Congress forward until March 31 of the next year, it is possible to budget our operations. I suggest to the incoming administrations that they continuously proceed under the system of this past year and arrange and accept a pre-payment budget with the close of each Congress. This will necessitate each incoming President General appointing his budget Committee practically immediately upon his election.

Our By-Laws provide the opportunity for a Comptroller. As the immediate President proposed to himself take the responsibilities of this year's budget, he assumed the duties of Comptroller personally. I have much satisfaction in reporting to you that we have not only lived within the budget which the Executive Committee approved, but from the Treasurer General's statement for the fiscal year as of March 31 last, this year's administration has provided a net cash balance on the black side of the ledger to the Society of between two and three thousand dollars better than the requirements the budget made. This result was accomplished notwithstanding acceptance of the budget anticipation of initiation fees from new members of $1,000 more than was actually received (because the budget expectation was for 200 more members than came in). The particulars in these matters will come to you through the Treasurer General and Finance Committee reports.

Our financial condition is not, however, as good as it ought to be, because we should have (if this Society is to do the work that it ought to do) a definitely greater income. Many of our members scattered throughout the country seem to have the idea that the dollars of the National Society in its comparatively small income are of an elastic sort and can be stretched indefinitely. There was last year suggested by the retiring President General a possible consideration to an increase of income to the National Society from the per capita tax, but no such consideration has been actively before us this year and cannot be except under an amendment of the By-Laws. Personally, I do not suggest it at present, even as acceptable as I think it ought to be. There are two other suggestions of opportunity to increase our income that are being considered, and one of them is at present being actively developed. In the latter I refer to the policy of making the quarterly magazine of the Society as nearly self-supporting as possible, through advertising—which policy was endorsed in reports to the 40th Congress and has the agreement of the Executive Committee and the President General. I have been working to develop a plan for this promotion, and we are just now launching it actively, with the hope that we may progressively reduce the publication cost to the Society of its quarterly magazine, through increasing its advertising income. I have, with the consent of the Executive Committee, changed the advertising rates in our magazine for this purpose and worked out a detailed technical program which the Secretary General's office is at present aiming at.

The progress during the year in the various subdivisions of our work will come to you during the Congress from your other officers and the chairman of the several committees concerned. I shall not take your time to summarize these operations here and shall refer to but two, and briefly.

We had the services of our efficient Compatriot Frederick W. Millspaugh of Tennessee in heading our Committee on Increase in Membership this year. I want to pay a deserved tribute to Compatriot Millspaugh's efforts and ambitions in that work this year, which have been outstanding. Notwithstanding this, however, the chairman of our Committee on Increase in Membership is not able to report as large results as he had hoped. Our increase in new members is not this year up to the very reasonable quota set by the committee's chairman. There are several reasons for this, which undoubtedly will be presented in Chairman Millspaugh's report. It is my personal opinion, however, notwithstanding the great importance of increasing membership, that we are even more concerned with the values in the members that we have. In any choice between a large inactive membership and a small active membership, in any society with which I should be concerned, I should immediately choose the latter. And so, while I very much hope we shall be increasing our ranks from really good material, I am even more interested in the effectiveness of the members that we already have.

One other committee that I shall refer to here is that of our National Headquarters Funds. The results in that during the year have not been sufficient for the satisfaction either of the committee's distinguished chairman, Past President General Ames, nor your President. The messages I have sent you through our quarterly bulletin published during the year have posted you upon this and other matters as I see them. The minimum progress needed in collection of funds for our Headquarters is being made and during the year one extra payment on the capital investment was possible. But, despite the liberality of a few, the membership as a whole has not accepted and liquidated its responsibility in this matter as it should. Past President General Ames will undoubtedly in his report give you both the details and his personal opinion.

In addition to the messages that I have sent you quarterly during the year, you have also had unusually full reports of the transactions of the Executive Committee. Unfortunately, the issue of our magazine for April was in press at the time of the holding of the spring meeting of the Executive Committee, but the details of that will come to you in the July issue and were presented to the National Board of Trustees on Sunday afternoon. The Executive Committee's operations during the year have been, so far as my experience goes, unusually voluminous and we have had a number of problems of importance and difficulty, both in policy and technicality, to deal with. For the details of these Executive Committee matters through the last session of the Committee under my chairmanship, as of Sunday noon, I refer you to the detailed records in our magazine, issues of July, 1929, January, 1930, and July, 1930, to avoid repetition here.

I desire to recommend to the attention of the Society and the thought of its incoming officers, consideration of reducing both the size and expense of our Certificate of Membership. The President believes our present membership certificate is entirely too large to be satisfactory and entirely too expensive to be practical. We are allocating under our routine now 40 per cent of the entire initiation fee coming into the Society from new members to the certificate cost fund. This is very much out of proportion (in my opinion) and I believe a dignified, substantial and satisfactory certificate of a much smaller size would be more acceptable to most members and more practical from a financial standpoint, without the loss of any values that we have in that matter. Our Executive Committee of the current year has disagreed with me in this, to the extent of an ample majority, so that consideration of such was abandoned. I still cling to my idea upon this and suggest it for further thought.

I am asking, also, that the incoming administration use whatever powers of persuasion it may have already or that it may develop, with the State Societies, to cause them all to issue, at least quarterly, a State bulletin to their memberships, and in uniform size, appearance and name, with the necessary local change of course, in the latter. Some of our States are doing notably well in that particular, some others doing fairly well, and others doing nothing at all in the way of regularity of information to their members in State news and instructions. To my mind, the section entitled "Events of State Societies" in the quarterly magazine of the National Society does not cover the ground satisfactorily, nor very valuably, in this matter. The States should be encouraged to issue their own quarterly (at least) bulletins to their own members, and when and if every State is so operating such material as might seem valuable for dissemination in other States could then be reprinted from the State bulletins rather than as is our present system.

One other thing in regard to the State Societies. I believe that the officers of the National Society should encourage many of the State Societies to increase their dues income per member. We have in many States much complaint from individual members that their State Societies are not doing this, that or the other thing, which it is thought they should be doing. In very many cases this is largely, if not entirely, the result of a lack of funds provided by the members to their State Societies with which to operate. This is an issue that should be actively considered by every State Society, and our members in each State group should provide their officers with money enough to do some substantial work with, and if then their officers do not do it, there is (and only then) reasonable cause for complaint. Under the almost negligible membership dues in many of our State Societies, no especial activity is possible and such States are consequently providing the grounds for their own members' complaints. The few dollars a year that any maximum consideration would suggest for our members to pay as dues to carry on this patriotic work is a trifle as compared with what most of them continually expend upon so many other and less important things.

I am in the hope that a consideration of the presentations in this report may have some value, at least, to the future of our Society, which so much interests me.

Respectfully submitted,

HOWARD C. ROWLEY,

President General.

Should there be more than one candidate for any office the method of conducting the election shall be as follows:

The President shall appoint four tellers. The Chairman of the Committee on Credentials shall first call the names of the General Officers, who will each cast their ballot in a ballot box—a secret ballot.

The Chairman of the Credentials Committee shall then proceed to call the States in alphabetical order, and as each State is called, he will announce the accredited delegates from that State, and each delegate will deposit his ballot when his name is called. Should there be a challenge against the right of any person to vote, the challenge shall be presented when his name is called and before his vote is cast.

These rules may be suspended by unanimous consent and must be suspended on motion supported by a two-thirds vote.

Resolutions not originating in committees must be presented to the Committee on Resolutions not later than time of adjournment on second day of our session of Congress.

These gifts were accepted with deep appreciation and a resolution of thanks tendered Mrs. Birdseye.

GROUP MEETING OF OFFICERS OF STATE SOCIETIES, TUESDAY, JUNE 3RD.

Present: Richard H. Stacy, President, Massachusetts Society; David L. Pierson, Secretary, New Jersey Society; Frederic D. Hahn, President, New Jersey Society; Erdis Robinson, President, Ohio Society; Charles A. Holden, New Hampshire Society; D. A. Hunting, New York; William A. Graham, President, North Carolina Society; Park Mathewson, Vice President General, South Atlantic District; Robert P. Boggis, Secretary, Western Reserve Society of Ohio; J. A. Piper, Secretary, Nebraska Society; James M. Breckenridge, National Trustee for Missouri; Sam P. Cochran, National Trustee, Texas; G. Leslie Ryder, President, St. Petersburg Chapter; Ezra C. Potter, Vice President General, North Mississippi District; James Hall Long, Vermont Society; Lewis A. Rice, President, Lawrence Everhart Chapter, Maryland; Howard C. Rowley, California; Frank B. Steele, Washington, D. C., Presiding.

Owing to the unusual length of the regular sessions of the Congress the attendance at this group meeting was rather disappointing in that many of the delegates did not join the meeting. However, a very interesting round table discussion was held and the meeting was presided over by Secretary General Frank B. Steele. Many interesting and constructive suggestions were made and it was requested that note be made of them and they be brought to the attention of the new President General.

Various procedures in the matter of collecting dues were discussed and several of the delegates present gave the process in their own state societies.

Mr. Steele then spoke of the lack of response to communications on the part of some of the state officers and after a general discussion Mr. Breckenridge of Missouri stated that in his opinion the only remedy was in personal contacts.

The matter of state representation at the Congresses was brought up and there followed a full discussion as to how each state and especially the distant ones could be fairly represented. Proxies and other alternatives were suggested and it was agreed that this matter should receive serious attention.

It was stated that great care should be taken in selecting the officers for state societies and another delegate brought out the suggestion of making an intensive effort to render the local chapters more active.

Many other topics of interest were discussed informally and it was agreed by the officers present that the meeting had been most helpful.

The meeting was adjourned by Secretary General Steele.

THIRD DAY

WEDNESDAY, June 4, 1930.

The Congress was called to order by the President General at 10 a. m., and in the absence of the Chaplain General the invocation was pronounced by Rev. John H. Willey, Chaplain of the Montclair Chapter of the New Jersey Society.

One stanza of the Star Stangled Banner was sung.

The report of the Committee on Comity was presented by Colonel Louis Annin Ames, Chairman. The report was received with enthusiasm by the delegates and on motion of Mr. Williams seconded by Mr. Adams, it was voted to accept the report made by Colonel Ames for the Committee on Comity, and that that Committee be continued.

Adopting the recommendation of Chairman Ames of that Committee, Past President General Adams moved, Mr. Williams seconding the motion, that the Convention elect Compatriot Loren E. Souers as a member of that Committee to fill the vacancy. The motion being put, it was unanimously agreed to, and Mr. Souers was elected to that office.

The report of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety was presented by Arthur M. McCrillis and the report was referred to the Committee on Official Reports. Chairman Millspaugh, of the Committee on Official Reports, immediately reported that it had examined with much satisfaction the report of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety and recommended its immediate acceptance by this Congress. Mr. Millspaugh moved its acceptance, which motion was seconded by several.

On motion of Colonel Ames, to amend the motion so that the Congress would not only accept but approve the report, which was duly seconded, the Committee on Official Reports accepted the amendment, and the motion as amended was put and carried unanimously.

The following resolution was presented for adoption by Mr. McCrillis:

"RESOLVED, that the Committee of Correspondence and Safety be and the same is hereby authorized by the Congress to solicit funds for the prosecution of its activities for the coming year, from individual members of the Society, State Societies and local Chapters, to an amount not exceeding $5,000, or such sum in excess thereof as may be authorized by the Executive Committee; providing, however, that the fund shall be carried as a special account by the Treasurer General, and that the disbursement of said fund shall be under the control of the Treasurer General upon vouchers of the Chairman of the Committee."

The Congress having suspended the rules and granted consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution, and the resolution being duly moved and seconded, the question was put and the resolution was unanimously adopted. The work of the Committee was discussed by Mr. Hahn, Mr. Depew, and many of the delegates, and voluntary subscriptions were made for carrying on the work in the manner authorized by the Congress, amounting to over $3,000.00.

The report of the Committee on Official Reports was presented by its Chairman, Frederick W. Millspaugh, Tennessee, as follows:

Report of Committee on Official Reports

ASBURY PARK, N. J.,

June 4, 1930.

MR. PRESIDENT GENERAL AND MEMBERS OF THE 41ST ANNUAL CONGRESS:

All the written reports presented to this Congress by the various officers and committees have been studied by your Committee on Official Reports, which moves that they be received with the following concurrences and recommendations. Your Committee wishes also to commend without exception the industry and the intelligent work of those who have been privileged to serve you as leaders during the year that is coming to its close.

As a whole, the activities of the state societies, as reported by the Vice-Presidents General, have been well planned and ably carried out. They prove the value of placing directly upon the president the full responsibility for the success or failure of the state society. Attention is invited to the group meeting held in the Central District and suggestion is made that other districts consider holding such a meeting during the coming year, which will result in concerted planning of patriotic work and the fostering of friendships. Attention is called also to the decision of the Michigan Society to discontinue holding its annual meeting in the same city year after year—a wise decision and one commended to all state societies. As there is much in the reports of the Vice-Presidents General that is duplicated in the reports of other officers or chairmen your Committee suggests that the incoming Administration consider an abridgment of the subjects to be covered in the reports of the Vice-Presidents General.

The report and records of the Treasurer General have been considered by themselves and also in connection with the verbal report of the Chairman of the Budget and Auditing Committee. These gentlemen, with the President General, have achieved noteworthy results and deserve the highest possible commendation for the business practices and economies that characterize their year's work. The Society is unquestionably in splendid financial condition and there should be no apprehension for the future if the policies of the past year are continued.

The Chancellor General recommends that state societies and chapters become incorporated by law. Your Committee recommends that the incoming Executive Committee consider such action if deemed for the best interest of state and chapter organization.

The three recommendations of the Committee on Increase in Membership are concurred in, and there is hearty concurrence in the recommendation of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization that the Congress reiterate its approval of representation on the American Coalition Board under the conditions outlined. The activities of the Immigration Committee during the past year have been in splendid conformity with the oft declared sentiment of the Society. The case at issue between the Registrar General and the Genealogist General, as outlined in the report of the latter, has been closed by the furnishing of additional information to and acceptance of the application by the Registrar General.

With respect to the report of the Constitution Day Committee, if you will allow me to say this personally, Constitution Day and the thought of our beloved Compatriot David S. Pierson are to me one and the same. Constitution Day! Can there be more splendid commendation for carrying out the recommendation made by your Committee? Your Chairman thinks not. [Applause.]

The report of the Patriotic Education Committee is clear, comprehensive and extensive. It will be published in the Sons of the American Revolution magazine, and is commended to your careful scrutiny.

The report of the Committee on the Observance of the 200th Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington is timely and is also commended to your study.

The report of the Committee on Good Citizenship Medals would indicate a growing demand for this most excellent service, and is heartily commended by the Committee.

The report of the Committee on Ceremonies and Colors has been particularly thoroughly prepared and your Committee on Official Reports recommends that it be referred to the Executive Committee.

Your Committee has studied the annual address and report of the President General with full appreciation of the gratitude which the Society feels toward its leader during the past twelve months. He suggests with tact and courtesy that the state societies increase, as far as practicable, the use of state bulletins or magazines, and in that your Committee concurs. The President General suggests also a review by the state societies of the state dues and membership fees with the end in view that the states finance their operations adequately, and in this suggestion your Committee heartily concurs. He urges uniformity, as far as may be practicable, in the administrative operations of the state societies, and in that your Committee concurs and recommends the subject to the consideration of the incoming administration.

Your Committee fails to concur in the suggestion of the President General that there be a change in the method or basis of state and chapter representation in the legislative body of the National Society. As any such change would require amendment of the basic law and as no such amendment has been proposed to or can be acted upon by this Congress, your Committee does not express any opinion whatsoever as to the merit or lack of merit of the suggestion.

The report and address of the President General, as well as of the Secretary General, the Registrar General, and the Historian General, present much for the thoughtful study of the officers and members of the Society. These reports will be printed in the S. A. R. MAGAZINE and so be available for the close study they deserve.

In closing, your Committee on Official Reports commends most heartily the President General for his painstaking attention to detail, his untiring service, and his clear record of constructive service.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK W. MILLSPAUGH,
Chairman.

On motion of Mr. Millspaugh, seconded by Mr. Adams, it was unanimously voted that the reports of all officers and committees submitted to this Congress be accepted, and that the Society continue, as recommended by the Committee on Immigration, its association with the American Coalition upon the same terms as in the past.

Upon motion of Colonel Ames, seconded by Mr. Adams, it was voted that the report of the Committee on Official Reports be received and accepted, and its recommendations adopted.

The Committee on Resolutions, through its Chairman, Judge Offutt, reported the following resolutions, which upon motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. Pierson, were adopted:

COMMITTEE RESOLUTIONS ON IMMIGRATION—No. 1

WHEREAS, the fact that the nations of the Western Hemisphere are not affected by the immigration laws of the United States, and

WHEREAS, the application of restrictions imposed by such laws upon nations of the Eastern Hemisphere have largely increased the volume of the unlawful immigration into the United States from countries adjacent to it on its northern and southern boundaries, and

WHEREAS, the volume of lawful immigration from countries in the Western Hemisphere into the United States has so far increased in volume as to seriously lessen the opportunity of American labor to secure useful and remunerative employment, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution urges the formulation and adoption of laws more effectively regulating immigration of persons from countries of the Western Hemisphere into the United States.

COMMITTEE RESOLUTIONS ON IMMIGRATION—No. 2

WHEREAS, the judicial and administrative machinery for the adequate administration of the National Immigration and Naturalization Laws has, by changed conditions both of law and in the number and character of aliens applying for privilege of permanent residence in the United States of America, become archaic and inadequate, and

WHEREAS, as a result of insufficient funds, it is becoming increasingly difficult for the Immigration Service of the United States Department of Labor to efficiently administer existing immigration laws, and

WHEREAS, as a result of these conditions many aliens, whose number is being constantly augmented by the unlawful entry of others, are at present resident in the United States in defiance of its laws, and

WHEREAS, the conditions resulting from these violations of our immigration laws are placing a steadily increasing burden upon the National and State Governments, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution that it urges such revision and amendment of the laws providing the judicial and administrative machinery for the administration and enforcement of the naturalization and immigration laws of the United States as may be needed to secure the prompt and efficient administration of such laws, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that it urges the appropriation of funds sufficient to secure the adequate administration of our immigration and naturalization laws; to prevent the unlawful entry of aliens into the United States of America, and to secure the deportation of persons unlawfully residing therein.

COMMITTEE RESOLUTIONS ON IMMIGRATION—No. 3

WHEREAS, the existing laws of the United States of America relating to the immigration of aliens are not applicable to the natives of its dependencies, and

WHEREAS, it is desirable that there be some reasonable regulation of the immigration of persons from such dependencies in to the United States in order to exclude those who, as a result of mental or physical disability or moral character, are undesirable, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution urges the formulation and passage of legislation by the National Congress regulating the immigration of persons domiciled in or natives of dependencies of the United States, into the United States of America.

COMMITTEE RESOLUTIONS ON IMMIGRATION—No. 4

WHEREAS, it is reported in the daily press that certain forces are moving to amend the National Immigration Act of 1924 so as to extend to certain Oriental races the privilege, excluded by that Act, of permanent residence in the United States of America, and

WHEREAS, it is the sense of this Congress that any such amendment would be unwise and detrimental to the welfare, security and best interests of the people of the United States of America, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution is opposed to any change in the Immigration Act of 1924 which would permit immigration into this country of persons who by its laws are ineligible to citizenship therein.

The Committee on Resolutions through its Chairman, Mr. Offutt, returned to the Congress the following resolution and recommended its reference to the Executive Committee. The author of the resolution, Compatriot S. S. Smith, of Minnesota, having accepted the recommendation of the Committee on Resolutions, upon motion duly seconded, it was voted that it be so referred to the Executive Committee, viz:

RESOLUTION PERTAINING TO THE PATRIOTS' CALENDAR

WHEREAS, Compatriot Ben Palmer of Minneapolis, Minnesota, through great labor, research and erudition, has compiled a publication known as the Patriots' Calendar, a copy of which accompanies this resolution, and

WHEREAS, this Patriots' Calendar consists of the recital and assignment to each day of the calendar year of the important event or events in American History which have transpired upon that day, and,

WHEREAS, this Patriots' Calendar with the continuity of appropriate music is well adopted for a 15 minute radio program and when introduced with a statement connecting it with the Sons of the American Revolution tends to promote the objects of our Society, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in Congress assembled, do sponsor and adopt said Patriots' Calendar and do recommend to the several local and State Societies that said calendar be distributed and its message day by day be broadcasted whenever and wherever possible on its several stations and chains through our country.

On the favorable report of the Committee on Resolutions, and the motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. Jones and unanimously carried, the following resolution was adopted:

RESOLUTION IN RE DE GRASSE MEMORIAL

WHEREAS, the Comte and Admiral de Grasse, the day after the capitulation at Yorktown, read the words to him of General George Washington: "The surrender of York, which has brought so much glory and advantages to the allies, and the honor of which belongs to Your Excellency"; and

WHEREAS, the Immortal Leader of the American Revolution a few months later again wrote to the Comte and Admiral de Grasse: "Your timely intervention has given to America independence and liberty," and added: "I would were I able to express to you and to the officers of the French Army and Navy the gratitude of the United States"; and

WHEREAS, in one hundred and forty-nine years since the great Victory at Yorktown, the United States have nowhere erected to de Grasse either monument or memorial of gratitude and have merely chronicled his name upon the Yorktown monument; and

WHEREAS, it is being proposed, and with the approval of leading Patriotic Societies, in Washington, D. C., some Avenue shall be named after the Comte and Admiral de Grasse; and it is further proposed that upon such Avenue there be erected a fitting memorial to the Comte and Admiral de Grasse, of whom the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick declared that "On the skill, courage and devotion of that officer depended the fate of our War of Independence,"

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, in Congress assembled, that the Society hereby expresses its approval of the efforts thus being made to testify to the national gratitude of the United States for the brilliant services to this country of the Comte and Admiral de Grasse, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this action be communicated to the Congress of the United States and to such committees and commissions as, under direction of the Congress of the United States, have charge of the plans for such a memorial.

The Committee on Resolutions, through its Chairman, Judge Offutt, favorably reported, and upon the motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. Jones, the Congress adopted, the following resolution:

RESOLUTION IN RE HISTORIAN GENERAL'S DUTIES

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Historian General shall, as a part of his official duties, collect and file at the National Headquarters, copies of the Federal and State laws and regulations concerning the issue of headstones or markers for the graves of soldiers, sailors or marines of all wars, and concerning the supervision and upkeep of such graves; and be it

RESOLVED, that the Historian General shall cooperate with the State Societies to the end that each State shall have, as soon as possible, adequate laws and regulations to insure the marking, supervision and perpetual upkeep of such graves; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Historian General is requested to make a full report on these matters to the Congress in 1931.

The Committee on Resolutions through its Chairman, Judge Offutt, reported that it had received, but not in the form of a resolution, a communication from Compatriot Read of Massachusetts, urging that this Society should establish a bronze tablet as a marker, on the gate of the entrance of the cemetery in Paris where lies the body of General Lafayette, and the Committee recommends reference to the Executive Committee of the Society. On motion duly made and seconded the Committee on Resolutions it was adopted and the matter referred to the incoming Executive Committee.

Upon the motion of Mr. Barrett, seconded by Mr. Johnson and unanimously carried, the report of the Resolutions Committee in reference to the support of the American Library Association was adopted.

The Committee on Resolutions reported favorably a resolution submitted by Compatriot Lecky, of Virginia, and explained that it involved no financial obligation on the part of the Society but amounts to an endorsement of the idea that there should be appropriate recognition of the anniversaries of notable events in the Revolutionary War. The resolution so reported was moved by Chairman Offutt, seconded by Mr. Earnest and was unanimously adopted by the Congress, as follows:

RESOLUTION IN RE REVOLUTIONARY ANNIVERSARIES

WHEREAS, on October 19th, 1931, the United States of America and the State of Virginia propose to recognize by appropriate ceremonies the siege and the surrender of the British forces at Yorktown, and

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has authorized the President of the United States of America, when in his opinion it shall be appropriate, to extend to such Governments and individuals as he may determine an invitation to unite with the Government and the people of the United States in a fitting and appropriate observance of those events, and

WHEREAS, there is now pending in the Congress of the United States a joint resolution providing for the participation of the United States in those ceremonies and authorizing an appropriation of two hundred thousand dollars therefor, and

WHEREAS, it is peculiarly fitting and appropriate that the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, on the roster of which are found the names of many descendants of soldiers who fought in the American forces at the siege and surrender at Yorktown, and

WHEREAS, the State of Virginia is taking active steps to mark that anniversary by appropriate ceremonies at Yorktown; therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, first, that a Committee be appointed by the President General of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, to cooperate with the Government of the United States of America and the State of Virginia and such patriotic organizations as the President General and the Executive Committee may in their discretion determine, in the appropriate observance of those events, memorable and fateful in the history of this country;

Second, that this Society endorses pending legislation looking to the appropriation of funds adequate to a fit observance of those historic events.

Upon motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Compatriot Kuhns and unanimously carried, the following resolution was adopted with the recommendation of the Resolutions Committee:

RESOLUTION IN RE DISPLAY OF THE AMERICAN FLAG

WHEREAS, it is the custom in many of the foreign communities of our land to display foreign flags, either in mass or individually without a display of the American Flag, and

WHEREAS, all of those who have come to our shores receive equal protection under our laws and live, work and prosper under our flag and should pay it proper and decent respect, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, by this Congress,

(1st) That, although we do not question the sentiment which impels the reasonable display of the foreign flag, yet we do believe that propriety and respect for the flag which protects the foreign born, should impel at least an equal display of the flag of the adopted country. We therefore recommend that it be the policy of this Society that State Societies and local chapters do all in their power to call attention to and invite all persons of foreign birth that an equal display of the American Flag be made by them with the flag of the land of their birth.

(2nd) That although this need and probably should not be a subject for legislation, at this time, yet our Society can do much toward eliminating this disrespect by means of crystallization of public sentiment and by education.

(3rd) That this resolution is not intended to cover cases where foreign flags are displayed on such occasions as may be authorized or dictated by the rules of diplomatic courtesy.

The Committee on Resolutions further reported and recommended the adoption of the following resolution, which upon motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. Hickman, was unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTION IN RE RECOGNITION OF SESQUI-CENTENNIALS

WHEREAS, the signing of the definite Treaty of Peace with Great Britain of September 3, 1783, also the adoption of the Constitution of the United States on September 17, 1787, are epochal milestones in the life of our Republic;

RESOLVED, the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, in forty-first annual Congress assembled, recommends to the Government of the United States, patriotic and other societies, appropriate commemoration of the Sesqui-Centennial of each of these events.

Upon the favorable report of the Committee on Resolutions, upon motion of Chairman Offutt, seconded by Compatriot W. J. Askin of Pennsylvania, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTION IN RE BENJAMIN FRANKLIN ANNIVERSARIES

WHEREAS, the citizens of Philadelphia this month are starting the erection of a Memorial to Benjamin Franklin which, combined with a Museum, will be a well deserved and long deferred tribute to the memory of Dr. Franklin, and

WHEREAS, the 1923 Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the 1926 Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution have recommended celebration of Franklin's Birthday, January 17, especially in the schools, though without any public holiday,

RESOLVED, the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, in forty-first annual Congress assembled, commends Philadelphians on their patriotic plan and wish them success in their efforts.

RESOLVED FURTHER, the President General shall appoint a committee of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution to properly celebrate important anniversaries in the life of Benjamin Franklin.

The Committee on Resolutions favorably reported and upon motion of Mr. Offutt, seconded by Mr. Park Mathewson, the Congress adopted the following resolution:

RESOLUTION IN RE PATRIOTIC PROGRAMS

BE IT RESOLVED, that the S. A. R. MAGAZINE carry suggestive appropriate programs, exercises and addresses for each ensuing holiday recognized by the S. A. R., which occurs between the publication date of the Magazine and the ensuing publication date in order to encourage and assist State Societies or Chapters in preparing programs for their celebrations or meetings.

The following resolution, prepared by the Committee on Resolutions and favorably reported, upon motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Colonel Ames, was adopted:

RESOLUTION IN RE GOOD CITIZENSHIP MEDALS

WHEREAS, the Good Citizenship Medals movement has resulted in calling to the attention of our young people lessons of loyalty, patriotism and love of country, and

WHEREAS, this work, only in its beginning has already shown its usefulness, now therefore be it

RESOLVED, that we earnestly recommend to all subordinate Chapters that they push this work forward, for wherever one of these medals has been given a lasting impression for good citizenship has been made upon the minds of young people and this impression will bear fruit in the days to come.

The Committee on Resolutions reported favorably the following resolution which had been formulated by the Committee, and upon motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. Williams, the resolution was unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTION IN RE MOUNTAIN SCHOOLS

WHEREAS, there is need of educational work for and in the interests of the boys and girls of the Mountain Sections of some of our States, and

WHEREAS, the effect of such work for these young people cannot help but be very beneficial to future generations, now therefore be it

RESOLVED, that the National Society of the S. A. R. in Congress assembled, recognizing the usefulness of work along these lines, suggests to Chapters and individuals of our Order that here lies a real field in which to render a service to boys and girls who need help in procuring and who have little opportunity to obtain an education.

Upon motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. McCrillis, and unanimously carried, the following resolution was adopted on recommendation of the Resolutions Committee:

RESOLUTION IN RE COMMUNISTIC ACTIVITIES

WHEREAS, the toleration of such activities is inconsistent with National Sovereignty and abhorrent to Americans who approve the principles expressed in the Constitution of this Society, now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, commends and indorses the proposed Congressional investigation and directs its Committee on Correspondence and Safety to cooperate with and aid such investigation and to place at the disposal of the Investigating Committee any relevant facts known to it, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that should such investigation reveal the existence of such activities, this Congress urges the Federal and State Governments to promptly adopt and enforce such measures as may be necessary for their suppression, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that should such investigation disclose that such activities are being fermented or encouraged by any foreign nation, this Congress urges the adoption of appropriate Federal Legislation forbidding any trade or other relations with such offending nation or its nationals by the American Government and its nationals.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this Resolution be sent to Hon. Hamilton Fish, Chairman of the Congressional Investigating Committee.

The Committee on Resolutions favorably reported, and on motion of Judge Offutt, seconded by Mr. Hartshorne, the Congress adopted the following resolution:

RESOLUTION IN SUPPORT OF AMERICAN LEGION EDUCATIONAL WORK

WHEREAS, in every State there are many orphaned children of men who died in the service of their country in the World War, and

WHEREAS, these children through the loss of their fathers' aid will be forced to go to work before obtaining a proper education unless assistance is given, and

WHEREAS, the American Legion has instituted a program to obtain such aid in addition to the small Federal aid which is now given, from the State Governments, State institutions of high learning, and patriotic organizations, now therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, by the National Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution that the National Society approve of the American Legion's war orphan educational program and request that its State Societies and local Chapters cooperate to that end by

3. If possible, adopt for educational purposes such war orphans in their respective communities.

On motion of Compatriot Kuhns of Ohio, duly seconded, the Congress extended its thanks to the Resolutions Committee for its valuable work.

Thereupon, a recess was taken at 12:50, the Congress to reconvene at 2 p. m. in the ball room of the Berkeley-Carteret Hotel.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

The Congress resumed its session pursuant to recess, in the ball room of the Hotel Berkeley-Carteret, and was called to order at 2 p. m. by the President General. On motion of Colonel Ames, duly seconded, it was voted that the report of the Committee on Resolutions as a whole be adopted, and embracing each of the Resolutions which have been adopted separately.

The special order of the day, new business, the presentation of amendments to the Constitution and By-laws, being called for, Mr. Loren E. Souers, Chairman of the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution and By-laws recommended changes in the Constitution and By-laws as follows:

Upon the proposal of the California Society, to amend Article III of the Constitution by adding a Section 2, as follows: "Section 2. The members shall be grouped in State societies."

After full discussion and an opinion by the Chancellor General, the proposal, upon motion of Colonel Ames, seconded by Mr. Johnson, was amended by transfer to the By-laws, and when so amended, was, on motion of Mr. Souers, seconded by Mr. Jones, adopted by a vote of more than two-thirds of the Congress, viz:

Amend Article II of the By-laws by inserting "Section 1. The membership of the Society shall be organized in State societies." And that the present sections of Article II, numbered, respectively, 1 to 9, be hereafter numbered, respectively, 2 to 10.

The Committee on Amendments recommended the following change in the Constitution, as proposed by the California State Society:

Amend Article V, Section 1, of the Constitution so that the first sentence shall read, after the word "two-thirds" in the third line as printed in the 1929 edition, "of the members of the Board of Trustees voting upon the question, which vote may be taken by mail. Provided, that votes by mail, to be entitled to be counted, shall be in the hands of the Secretary General not later than the expiration of the thirtieth day after the date of mailing to the Trustees."

The amendment as proposed was amended on motion of Colonel Ames, seconded by Mr. Souers, to substitute the words "received by" for the words "in the hands of"; and on motion of Mr. Barrett, seconded by Mr. Souers, by adding at the end thereof the words "and, providing further, that not less than twenty-one members shall have voted."

Thereafter, upon a vote of more than two-thirds of the Congress, the amendment as amended was adopted, adding at the end of the first sentence in Article V, Section 1,

Provided, that votes by mail, to be entitled to be counted, shall be received by the Secretary General not later than the expiration of the thirtieth day after the date of mailing to the Trustees, and provided further, that not less than twenty-one Trustees shall have voted.

The amendment to Article I, Section 2, proposed by the California Society, providing for an appeal from the action of the Registrar General, was, at the request of the President of the California Society, and the consent of the Congress, withdrawn.

The Committee on Amendments, through its Chairman, Mr. Souers, reported, recommending the adoption of the amendment proposed by the California State Society, to Article II, Section 2, of the By-laws, as follows:

Amend Article II, Section 2, of the By-Laws of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution by adding thereto the following paragraph:

"Whenever any State Society shall have become defunct by the surrender, forfeiture, or revocation of its charter, any member thereof may, upon application made within one year after such State Society so became defunct, accompanied by a certificate by the Secretary General that the applicant was at the time of the surrender, or loss of such charter, a member of such State Society, be admitted to any other State Society or any Chapter thereof, without payment of any admission fee; subject, however, to acceptance of such applicant in due form by the State Society or Chapter to which application is made."

Upon motion of President C. A. McMillan, of the Kentucky Society, seconded by Compatriot Skinner of Illinois, the amendment as reported was amended by inserting the words "in good standing," after the words "a member" and before the words "of such State Society."

The amendment as amended was thereupon adopted by the Congress, by a vote of more than two-thirds, and as amended reads as follows:

Whenever any State Society shall have become defunct by the surrender, forfeiture, or revocation of its charter, any member thereof may, upon application made within one year after such State Society so became defunct, accompanied by a certificate by the Secretary General that the applicant was at the time of the surrender, or loss of such charter, a member in good standing of such State Society, be admitted to any other State Society or any Chapter thereof, without payment of any admission fee; subject, however, to acceptance of such applicant in due form by the State Society or Chapter to which application is made."

In lieu of an amendment proposed by the California Society, to Article XVI, Section 2, of the By-laws, the Committee on Amendments, through its Chairman, Mr. Souers, reported with favorable recommendation a similar amendment, which upon motion duly made and seconded was adopted by the Congress by more than two-thirds vote, viz:

Amend Article XVI, Section 2, by adding to the end thereof, "In case of a vacancy from any cause in the position of Trustee representing a State Society, the President of such State Society shall automatically become the Trustee from such State for the unexpired term of office."

The Committee on Amendments reported, recommending the adoption of an amendment to the By-laws proposed by the California Society, as follows:

Amend Article XVI, Section 4, of the By-laws of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution by adding the following:

"Such State Societies shall be so admitted, organized or reorganized and shall always exist, under charters from the National Society, which may be granted, and may be revoked, altered, or amended by the Board of Trustees."

Its adoption was moved by Mr. Souers, seconded by Mr. Cox.

Upon motion of Mr. Hartshorne, seconded by Mr. Skinner, the amendment was amended by adding at the end thereof the words "subject to appeal to the next Congress," and, so amended, was adopted by the Congress by more than a two-thirds vote, and as amended reads as follows:

Such State Societies shall be so admitted, organized, or re-organized, and shall always exist, under charters from the National Society, which may be granted, and may be revoked, altered, or amended by the Board of Trustees, subject to appeal to the next Congress.

In substitution for an amendment proposed by the California State Society, to Article XVII of the By-laws, which amendment as reported and recommended by the Committee, was thereupon adopted by more than two-thirds vote of the Congress, viz:

Amend Article XVII, Section 1, by adding at the end of the section: "In case of a vacancy from any cause in the membership of the Executive Committee, the President General shall fill such vacancy."

Chairman Souers, for the Committee on Amendments, reported that the Committee did not recommend the adoption of the amendment proposed by the Utah Society, restricting the eligibility for reappointment of members of the Executive Committee, and upon a vote being taken the amendment failed to pass.

At the request of Vice-President Kenneth S. Wales, and in his absence, Past President Earnest of the District of Columbia Society, requested permission to withdraw the amendment proposed by that Society to Section 4, of Article XIX, relative to exemption from payment of dues, and there being no objection, permission to withdraw the amendment was granted.

The Committee on Amendments reported, through Chairman Souers, recommending the amendment proposed by the Executive Committee, to repeal the whole of Section 4, of Article XIX, reading as follows:

Any member who has paid dues continuously for twenty years and having reached the age of seventy years or older shall be accorded life membership and shall be absolved from further payment of dues.

And to renumber Sections 5 and 6, respectively, as Sections 4 and 5, respectively. After discussion, upon motion of Mr. Souers, seconded by Mr. Johnson, the amendment repealing this section was adopted by more than a two-thirds vote.

The Committee on Amendments, in substitution for an amendment to Article XIX, Section 3, proposed by the California Society, reported and favorably recommended, an amendment to Article XIX, as follows:

Amend Article XIX, Section 3, by adding at the end of the section: "Provided, That in the case of failure of any State Society to meet its annual dues as in this section required, the Executive Committee may extend the time for payment to the end of the next succeeding meeting of the Board of Trustees, who may by a two-thirds vote accept the recommendation of the Executive Committee for a further extension of time for payment or a cancellation of such dues or a portion thereof."

The adoption of the amendment so recommended was moved by Mr. Souers, and seconded by Colonel Ames, and was thereupon adopted by the Congress, by vote of more than two-thirds in the affirmative.

Chairman Millspaugh was recognized, to complete the report of the Committee on Official Reports.

[The report is printed in full on page 45.]

The Chairman recommended the adoption of the committee's report. [Applause.]

Vice-President General Wales temporarily presiding.

President C. A. McMillan, of the Kentucky Society. I second the motion and move that it be adopted and approved by a rising vote.

The motion being put, the delegates responded unanimously by a rising vote with prolonged applause.

President General Rowley resumes the Chair.

A resolution was presented by Rev. Frederick E. Whitney, President of the Newburgh Chapter of the Empire State Society, which was received at this time owing to his late arrival at the Congress, looking to the establishment of a State or National Park at Temple Hill, New Windsor, Orange County, New York, to commemorate the spot, made sacred as the birthplace of the Great American Nation, the United States of America, where Washington at the close of the American Revolution before his assembled troops declaimed the proffered honor of being made King of the American Colonies, thereby laying the foundation of the greatest Republic on the face of the earth in this or any other time, United States of America.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Resolutions, who reported immediately recommending reference to the Empire State Society, which report was received and adopted.

The following telegram was received and read at this time from the President of the United States:

The PRESIDENT GENERAL. So far as the immediate president knows all of the business of the Congress has been completed except the installation of his successor. Is there any Compatriot present who knows to the contrary? [No response.] The President General will receive the incoming President General.

Past President General Rogers and Past President General Ames, whose appointment as a committee to escort the new President General to the chair had been earlier announced, proceeded up the aisle with President General-Elect Van Orsdel. [Applause.]

Mr. ROGERS. Mr. President General: Sir, we present the newly elected President General of the Society, Josiah A. Van Orsdel.

The PRESIDENT GENERAL. Compatriot, in the name of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, I bid you most hearty welcome.

Acting Chaplain General WILLEY. Compatriot, will you raise your right hand? Do you accept this election?

Compatriot VAN ORSDEL. I do.

Acting Chaplain General WILLEY. Do you pledge yourself with this acceptance to abide by the Constitution?

Compatriot VAN ORSDEL. I do.

Acting Chaplain General WILLEY. And to serve its interests in every way?

Compatriot VAN ORSDEL. I do.

Acting Chaplain General WILLEY. And by every means possible to stimulate in others love of country, our flag, and other patriotic institutions? Do you so pledge yourself?

Compatriot VAN ORSDEL. I do.

The PRESIDENT GENERAL. Mr. President General-Elect, I now have great pleasure in investing you with the insignia of your office and in doing so it occurs to me that the western part of this United States is to be congratulated. The western part of the United States elected a President General from the West, and we are going to claim you from Wyoming, so that we shall claim that the West has been twice honored. We are very much obliged to the Society for that.

Acting Chaplain General WILLEY.

Almighty God, may Thy benediction extend into the life of this Thy servant who honors Thee, this our Compatriot whom we honor, and thus induct into this high office with its grave responsibilities and its sacred trusts.

In this office may the only ends he seeks be the good of this Society, the honor of the flag, the integrity of the Nation, and the glory of God. And may he ever enjoy the consciousness that he has the unqualified backing of his compatriots and the favor of Heaven. And may he and his loved ones ever abide within the supervision of the Divine Oversight. Amen.

PRESIDENT GENERAL VAN ORSDEL'S ADDRESS OF ACCEPTANCE

Compatriots, ladies and gentlemen, it is with a profound sense of appreciation that I express now my thanks to this Society for what I consider the greatest honor that has yet been bestowed upon me. [Applause.] And I feel highly honored that this has occurred at this Congress and in this place. My paternal great grandfather, through whose record in the Revolutionary War I am entitled to membership in this organization, was born in New Jersey and was mustered into service over here in Middlesex County. [Applause.] And my paternal grandfather, also of the Revolutionary Period, was born in the State of New Jersey.

I feel, therefore, a deep sense of appreciation when I realize that after a century and a half I come back here to receive this great honor at the hands of the descendants of the historic men of the Revolution.

And now I pledge you that I will give you the best that is in me during this administration, and I beg of you every cooperation. I hope when I ask you to serve upon some committee that you will not be abounding in excuses. I ask you to join in and let us make this a splendid administration, and make it one that will prove for the upbuilding of our great Society.

I also pledge you that I will do everything in my power to uphold the splendid ideals for which this Society stands. I will not take the time at this late hour to outline any particular plan for my administration. One thing I do wish to emphasize here: That is, let us make a concentrated drive this year to clear off the debt on our National Headquarters. [Applause.]

I am going now to appoint the Committee on Headquarters, and I am going to start them with all the power that is necessary to organize the campaign to the end of clearing off this indebtedness and to this Committee I wish to give the slogan "Burn the Mortgage at the 1931 Congress." [Applause.]

I will now name this Committee, and I request them to meet before leaving Asbury Park, and organize their campaign. They are an organizing committee. They are not appointed to get out and raise the money; but they are going to organize in every state committees to carry on this work, and on this Committee I have the honor of naming Colonel Louis Annin Ames as chairman. [Applause.]

Ganson Depew, of New York. [Applause.]

Ernest E. Rogers, of Connecticut. [Applause.]

Rulef C. Schanck, of Pennsylvania. [Applause.]

Ernest Judson Clark, of Maryland. [Applause.]

I think you will agree that if that Committee cannot raise that money, we cannot find the committee in our organization that can.

Compatriot ROWLEY. Mr. President General, I have invested you with the insignia of your office and now I hand you the symbol of your authority. [Handing official gavel to the President General.] I have had a very pleasant year of service to the Society, and I want to give my thanks to the officers and all the members for their very wholehearted cooperation in my term, and I thank you all very much. [Applause.]

Colonel AMES. Mr. President General, I have not the slightest doubt that the first motion that the newly elected President General would like to put before this Congress is a vote of thanks for the sincere manner in which the retiring President General has conducted his administration and the impartial way in which he has despatched the duties of his office.

Mr. EARNEST. I second that motion.

The question was put and the motion was carried by a rising vote, amid loud applause.

A vote of thanks was presented by Vice-President General Wales, which having been amended by Mr. McCrillis to include the National Defense Committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for the loan of its exhibit, and to the Massachusetts Color Guard for its splendid service, the motion was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS, the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution has at its 41st Annual Congress held at Asbury Park, New Jersey, enjoyed not merely the warm hospitality of the New Jersey Society but the exceptionally charming and appropriate surroundings and equally charming and appropriate assistance of many civic and other organizations, all of which have made its stay both enjoyable and profitable, now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution that the Congress hereby express its heartfelt appreciation to the following organizations among others, for their hospitality and effective assistance in effectuating the affairs of the Congress:

The General Committee of the New Jersey Society.

The Chamber of Commerce of Asbury Park, New Jersey.

The City of Asbury Park.

The Hotel Berkeley-Carteret.

The Daughters of the American Revolution.

The American Legion Posts of Asbury Park, New Jersey, and East Orange, New Jersey.

The Society of Colonial Dames of New Jersey.

The Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

The National Defense Committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that our especial thanks are due to the Continental Color Guard of the Massachusetts Society for its colorful helpful and patriotic aid in the ceremonies at the Congress; also the Color Guard of New York Chapter.

The invitations of Charlotte, North Carolina, and St. Petersburg, Florida, as the meeting place for the 42nd Congress, having been presented to the Congress, were automatically referred to the Board of Trustees for decision. There being no further business to come before the Congress, the President General, at 6:10 p.m., declared the 41st Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution adjourned sine die.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK B. STEELE,
Secretary General.

The Delightful Social Features of the Asbury Park Congress

Our New Jersey compatriots are to be congratulated upon the many outstanding delightful features of the Congress held at Asbury Park. From the time the first delegates began to arrive the Officers and Chairmen of Committees of the New Jersey Society were present to make the stay of their guests comfortable and happy and rarely have the details of our Congress been so well handled.

As usual the Congress held its Annual Church Service on Sunday evening and this was particularly colorful because of the participation of the Color Guards from the New York and Massachusetts Societies, the latter being costumed in the Continental uniforms which added much interest to the parade to the Church from the hotel. The wonderful stand of colors of the New York Color Guard and the American Legion Corps made a picture that will be remembered for many years.

The service was held at the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Asbury Park and was beautiful and inspiring. Unfortunately Chaplain General Thornton Whaling, D. D., was prevented by illness from attending the Congress, but the service was impressively conducted by the pastor of the Church, Rev. Edwin Forrest Hann, D. D., and the Rev. George Parker Eastman, D. D., Chaplain of the New Jersey State Society S. A. R., who read the sermon prepared by Dr. Whaling. The Pledge to the Flag was led by President General Howard C. Rowley. The singing of the choir of the church was a feature that impressed the delegates and guests with its beauty and perfection.

Monday noon a special feature was added by the New Jersey officers not previously announced, by having a delicious luncheon served at the Berkeley Carteret Hotel to which delegates and ladies were invited, and on Monday afternoon a delightful tea was tendered the visiting ladies by three New Jersey D. A. R. Chapters.

On Monday evening was held the official reception for President General and Mrs. Rowley. This was given in the ball room of the hotel and was a beautiful affair. President General and Mrs. Rowley headed the line and the guests were presented by President Frederic de Garmer Hahn of the New Jersey Society. The receiving line included all of the National Officers and Past Presidents General and their wives. At the conclusion of the formal reception a Grand March was held in which all of the guests participated, and was followed by dancing. Before the reception the President General and an official party were entertained at dinner by Past President General Adams, Chairman of the Reception Committee.

A unique event of this evening was the passing of the Graf Zeppelin over the hotel about 10:30 and the dropping of the wreath in honor of Baron Von Steuben, described elsewhere in this issue. At the signal all of the guests hurried to the lawn and saw the majestic airship sail over the building and drop the wreath as agreed. Later the wreath was exhibited to the guests amid much enthusiasm.

On Tuesday a charming luncheon to the ladies in attendance was given by Mrs. C. Edward Murray, State Regent, New Jersey Daughters of the American Revolution and Miss Isabelle Hudnut, President of the Colonial Dames of New Jersey. This took place at Ashley Lodge, Brielle, about twelve miles down the coast from Asbury, and was a beautiful spot. The reading of original poems by the Reverend Dr. Wilson of Trenton following the luncheon was a delightful climax to this lovely affair.

Tuesday evening the banquet took place in the ball room of the Berkeley Carteret and was a most delightful and inspiring occasion. Some four hundred or more guests participated and the details and arrangements were as perfect as any the society has held for many years. After the dinner was served President Hahn of the New Jersey Society who acted as Toastmaster, introduced the speakers and in happy manner called upon each in succession. The first of these was of course President General Howard C. Rowley, whose address was a sincere and urgent appeal to the compatriots to lend their efforts toward making this great organization an effective force in this country.

The address of the Hon. Adrian Lyon, Past President of the New Jersey Society, was a most interesting and eloquent review of those stirring events of the Revolution which took place on New Jersey soil. His topic, "New Jersey, the Belgium of the Revolution," was well chosen and the speaker showed how this hardy state stood the brunt of many battles that deeply affected the result of the Revolution. The final address of the evening was given by President Arthur M. McCrillis of the Rhode Island Society S. A. R., who is Chairman of the National Committee of Correspondence and Safety. Mr. McCrillis took for his topic, "The Enemy Within Our Gates," and in developing his subject brought out facts and information that seemed almost incredible, but were substantiated in every particular. The delegates and guests were deeply impressed with the speaker's forceful presentation of the radical propaganda that is being constantly carried on in this country and that this situation must be met by organizations like ours and every effort made to prevent further advancement of the Communistic movement.

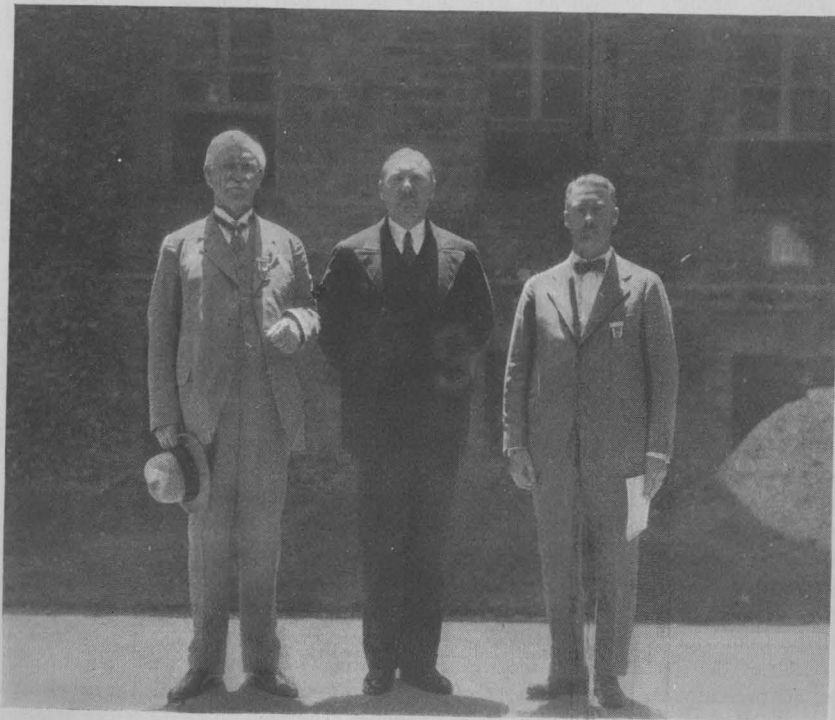

Each of the speakers were received enthusiastically and made a fine impression on all present. A male quartette of the East Orange American Legion Post sang delightfully at intervals during the banquet program.

Wednesday was entirely taken up with the business of the Congress and the evening devoted to meetings of the Board of Trustees and Executive Committee, and on Thursday came the crowning feature of the entertainment of the New Jersey Society in behalf of the attending delegates and guests.

Promptly at nine o'clock in the morning the buses were filled and the start was made from the Hotel, five or six de luxe vehicles overflowing with a happy party started on the Historical Pilgrimage. The first stop was at Freehold, where the battle Monument dedicated to the heroes and heroines of the battle of Monmouth stands. There the party witnessed one of the most interesting scenes of the trip. The splendidly drilled cadet corps of the Freehold Military Academy turned out and gave a short review in front of the Monument as the buses passed slowly around the green. The earnestness and perfection of the drilling of these young lads was most inspiring and the cadets were enthusiastically applauded by the entire party. In Freehold the party saw St. Peter's Church, 200 years old, used by the British as a hospital during the battle, and along the roadside as we continued was noted the well where Molly Pitcher drew the water for the soldiers, and beyond, the point where Washington met Lee in his disastrous retreat and the famous rebuke was given.

The next stop was at old Tennent Church and the cemetery in which are buried the remains of many Revolutionary soldiers. It was here in this beautiful and historic old church that one of the most touching incidents of the trip and of the whole Congress took place. The delegates had been informed before embarking for this historical tour, of the sudden death of our beloved compatriot, Park Mathewson, and upon assembling at the Church, all were asked to be seated within, and after a brief historical review of the church and the historic events connected with this locality by Secretary David L. Pierson, President Frederic Hahn called upon our newly elected President General, Judge Josiah Van Orsdel, to say a word in memory of Mr. Mathewson. Judge Van Orsdel in a few appropriate words announced the passing of our compatriot and then with bowed heads the assembly reverently repeated the Lord's Prayer and everyone present was deeply affected by the sad simplicity of the occasion.

The route then took the party to Princeton which was reached about noon and there rested for about two hours of interest and refreshment. An inspection of the beautiful new College Chapel was followed by a gathering in historic Old Nassau Hall where the guests were addressed by Dr. Radcliffe Heermance, Dean of Freshmen, who gave a brief address on the history of Old Nassau, and its famous use during the Revolutionary War. A delightful al fresco luncheon was served following this at the old Princeton Inn, also interesting historically and most attractive. After luncheon the party re-embarked and visited the Delaware Crossing without getting out of the buses, then on to Trenton and the Old Barracks where the last stop was made, and much of interest inspected. The return to Asbury Park was made without stop and the party arrived in good time for rest before the dinner hour.

Again we must repeat that too much praise cannot be given our New Jersey compatriots for their delightful hospitality and the perfection of arrangements, and this combined with the perfect weather conditions will make the 41st Congress a lasting memory as one of the finest ever!

Washington's Headquarters at Chadd's Ford

Mabel Lorenz Ives, Upper Montclair, N. J.

When Washington came marching up from Wilmington to block Howe's move on Philadelphia, he quartered at the homely unpretentious inn kept by Friend Benjamin Ring just outside the Quaker village of Chadd's Ford. It lies close to the road, a small plain field-stone house, now plastered over, with two front rooms, a kitchen wing behind, with not overmuch sleeping space for commander and aides, though marching and many letters rarely left them sleepless however cramped their quarters. The house is now a miniature museum of Revolutionary relics, with maps and guides and other helps, and with its kitchen equipped with all the deft devices of the old-time cook. A mass of purple violets, clumped at the doorstep, lends a true touch of Pennsylvania beauty to a visit in the month of May, as ours was made. But Washington's was in September.

It was late August, however, when after three stormy weeks at sea Howe landed at Elkton, fifty miles south of Philadelphia. He seemed in no hurry even yet to take Philadelphia, "the rebel capital," and then push three hundred miles northward to reinforce Burgoyne up the Hudson. Two weeks he took to reach the Brandywine—three and a half miles a day is not a high average for an army—and there found Washington barring his way.

Washington chose his position with his usual care. To his left the Brandywine was a torrent flowing between high cliffs; there lay the Pennsylvania militia under Armstrong. To his right was a forest, watched for two miles upstream by Sullivan's men. In front lay Chadd's Ford, an inviting crossing now protected by entrenchments and swept by Wayne's artillery, while Greene waited with the reserve, mostly Virginians, on higher ground behind.

With the British regulars coming, those were nervous days for raw recruits. Lafayette was housed a few rods up the road at the tiny stone house of Gideon Gilpin, still standing. (Forty-eight years later when the Marquis returned as guest of the nation, he revisited Chadd's Ford, scene of his first important engagement, and stopped to pay his respects to his former host while Gideon lay on his death-bed.) Other young warriors there were, of later note: that Light Horse Harry Lee, twenty years old, whose mother the boyish Washington had admired, and a tall black-eyed youth named John, one of the great minds of America, a later Chief Justice, son of Colonel Thomas Marshall of the Third Virginia Regiment.

When Washington and his staff went out to choose a position along the Brandywine and to dispose the army at the best ford, Lafayette in compliment was allowed to go along as a volunteer. He was still at Benjamin Ring's, talking things over afterward, when word came of Cornwallis's approach. He begged the commander to permit him to go with General Sullivan to the front. It was his first battle. Washington said Yes. So out of the Ring house strode that gallant pair, the Marquis and Major de Gimat his aide.

This was Pulaski's first battle too—his first on American soil. Born in Podolia a scant thirty years before, too proud to put up with Catherine of Russia's high-handed interference with the Polish kingdom, he had followed his father in forming the famous Confederation of Bar and became ultimately commander-in-chief of Polish patriot forces. But in 1772 Poland was partitioned among her neighbors, a shock which for the first time turned Polish minds to national education; and Casimir Count Pulaski found himself at twenty-five an exile upon pain of death.

Homeless, fatherless, friendless, he had come now, a man without a country, to fight elsewhere for freedom.

Washington turned him over to Hamilton as interpreter, for Hamilton had special skill in handling the foreign officers, partly from his ready command of French, more because of his innate grace and sympathy. But melancholy and distinguished, supremely haughty yet of pitiful appeal, Casimir Count Pulaski was not an easy charge to handle. Indeed he flew at Hamilton in a rage that day before the fighting was half over.

Washington's army mustered 11,000 men. It is doubtful if Howe brought up his whole complement, so that except for skill and discipline the opposing forces were not unevenly matched. At daybreak on the 11th General Knyphausen at the head of his Hessians marched straight for Chadd's Ford, keeping Wayne's gunners busy. Cornwallis meanwhile filed off by the Lancaster road to try the same flanking movement that had won them the battle of Long Island. It won them the battle of the Brandywine too.

First the Hessians crossed the Street road, in front of which they had been halted, rested their muskets on the fence, as Lafayette recalls in his memoirs, and delivered the first fire on the American outposts. Then came a furious attack from the whole British column. Shortly the engagement became general.

The Americans gave ground. For Washington, when he at length had certain word of Cornwallis's approach, dared not with his half-trained army throw himself across the ford on Knyphausen's division, since if he failed to rout them, he would have doughty Cornwallis at his back. He turned Sullivan's division, however, toward the foe, a slow and clumsy movement owing to imperfect practice but enough to save his army from surprise and rout. Then he retired. Greene's infantrymen ran four miles in forty-two minutes, threw themselves into the fight, and kept the regulars from cutting the army in two. Wayne and Armstrong followed last of all.

In helping to cover the retreat, Lafayette was wounded in the leg, at a spot out the Dilworth road now marked by a monument. The retreat of Sullivan's men looked to the Marquis so much like panic that he threw himself from his horse, the better to rally them by voice and example. He did rally them enough to check for the moment their headlong flight, giving Lord Stirling time to form his brigade on a rise of ground in the rear and open fire on the advancing foe. Battle proved so engrossing that the young warrior did not heed a musketball in his leg below the knee. "There's blood running from your boot, my dear Marquis," said an officer by his side. "So there is," he returned cheerfully. "Help me mount my horse, Gimat." So he remounted and continued with the troops till his fellow officers compelled him to stop and tie up the wound with his crimson sash of office. Colonel Stewart of New Jersey then stripped off his own scarf and placed it about Lafayette to indicate his rank, the wound not being properly dressed until late that night when Lafayette stopped at an inn in Chester, now known as the Washington House. The scarf, even the blood stains, may still be seen at Fraunces Tavern in New York City.

Pulaski too could not keep out of the fight. Seeing the enemy about to cut off the baggage, he begged the loan of thirty cavalymen of the Life Guard, picked up a few scattered dragoons on the field, charged in the old romantic manner, and secured the waggoners' retreat, his sword waving and his hussar cap towering in the thick of the melee. Four days later he was granted a cavalry command.

That night the British camped in Washington's position at Chadd's Ford.

Howe's superior skill had won an important battle. William Williams, member of congress from Connecticut, old Governor Trumbull's son-in-law, and one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, probably voiced a not unprevailing opinion when he wrote from Philadelphia, "It is an awful frown of Divine Providence."

Never will the square front room see such another gathering—Armstrong and Greene, Wayne and Sullivan, Lord Stirling and Lafayette and Pulaski, and among the aides a future Secretary of the Treasury, a future Governor of Maryland, with Washington, whether he spoke or whether he sat silent dominating the scene. Friend Benjamin Ring would find the British better pay, perhaps better company, but not, surely, better men.

And Washington, testing the temper of his army, was in no wise dismayed. The Americans were retiring in good order; he was able to report them in good spirits and still full of fight. He had lost a battle, it is true, but could he not still delay Howe a fortnight on the Philadelphia road?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Ives has for some years been making an exhaustive study of the various "Headquarters" of General Washington throughout the course of the Revolutionary War. This has proved a task far greater than she imagined when she first became interested in the subject. Her collection of stories is not only unique but will be a valuable addition to history.)

Reports of Officers and Committees to the 41st Annual Congress, 1930

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL

MR. PRESIDENT GENERAL, NATIONAL OFFICERS AND DELEGATES TO THE 41ST CONGRESS S. A. R.

GENTLEMEN:

With the cycle of another year, we find the time for accounting our stewardship again at hand.

While we have nothing spectacular to report, it is felt that our Society has steadily advanced along all our lines, and as the specific functions and accomplishments of the several committees will be detailed by the respective chairmen, they will not be rehearsed in this report.

Our close attention to pending legislation with reference to Immigration restriction and other patriotic matters, and in cooperation with the American Coalition with which we are affiliated, has been continued and some progress has been made. At least we are alert and prepared at all times to take necessary steps to indicate to our legislators the sentiment and policies of the society when necessary and have kept in close touch with the situation. The Secretary General has attended many Congressional Hearings and has from time to time reported the existing situation in the magazine. Among other matters, we were glad to be of some service in the efforts to have the Star Spangled Banner recognized as our National Anthem, legislation for which has passed in the House of Representatives within the past few weeks.

The establishment and originating of the new national Committee of Correspondence and Safety has been considered by many as one of the outstanding developments of our work this year and a really progressive step. This has been fully outlined and described in the pages of THE MINUTE MAN, and more of it will be heard at this Congress so I will only add that very general approval of the creation of this committee has been expressed and it is expected that our society will now be recognized as doing something more than giving verbal expression of approval to efforts of others to counteract the radical influences among us, and will in the future be actively engaged in resisting all the subversive elements which need combating in concrete form. The committee as you know, is ably officered with compatriot Arthur McCrillis of Rhode Island as Chairman.

Our Membership Chairman has worked very hard to make this a banner year and excellent response has come from many quarters, but it is felt that the proper cooperation has not been accorded in certain states where we have a right to expect most. Our membership in a majority of the states is composed of men well past middle life and the death rate is quite appalling, so that constant activity and alertness is essential to counteract inevitable loss from this cause. Much more constant and vigorous effort for increased membership should be exercised in every state organization. The loss from members dropped because of delinquency in dues has also been rather appalling this year, and is an indication that something must be devised to make the collection of dues more prompt and effective. Many are reported dropped who are very shortly reinstated, and this becomes a burden to local, state and national officers, merely from the clerical standpoint, not to mention the actual cost in renewing stencils for the mailing list which is no small expense.

To offset these losses it is a pleasure to report that many states have been active in the organization of new chapters, and it is safe to say that where such has been the case, the dropping of members is either immaterial or is fully offset by the new organizations formed. New Chapters have been formed in the states of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia, Texas, Kentucky, New Jersey, Florida, and others are under way or in contemplation to a gratifying extent.

We have to report as an encouraging sign also, the reorganization of the Hawaiian Society during the past few weeks, this group having been practically defunct for some years. The nominal officers finally took action to disband a few months ago, giving no notice, however, to the National Society until after the action was taken. Almost immediately, through the efforts of Compatriot Edwin A. Cooper of Honolulu, reorganization was undertaken and we have every reason to believe that a successful and active Society will result. The last communication from Mr. Cooper was very encouraging and reported a number of members of the former society willing to cooperate, a number of eligible prospects being lined up and a meeting planned for which has before this time been held.

Correspondence relative to the establishment of a chapter at London has occurred during the year, and it has not been considered best to give too much encouragement to this, though this opinion may be revised later. We hope also for more cooperation in the future from the Society in France and some indication of this has been recently received.

Very little has been done this past year with reference to building up some of our weaker societies, which in my humble opinion should be a definite policy of the Society, and I hope more consideration may be given this coming year to this matter of definite organization work on the part of the National Society.

The importance of our National Headquarters as a center for administrative activities of the Society has been and is being increasingly demonstrated. Our building has been the meeting place for the two mid-year meetings of the National Executive Committee in October and March, and for the second annual gathering of the Americanization Conference originated a year ago by Mr. Brewer of our own Americanization Committee. This has been an excellent stimulus to work along these lines, and in cooperation with that done by other organizations, helps to extend the work and to prevent overlapping of effort. Our Headquarters has also opened its doors socially on one or two occasions this year, as formerly.

In another way National Headquarters has functioned very actively more than ever before, and this is in the matter of direct communication or circularization of the officers of our state and chapter units. Communications on behalf of the Committees on Membership, Patriotic Education, Flag Day Observance, National Headquarters; of our Tax Exemption Bill; resolutions passed by the Executive Committee; official notices of Amendments to be proposed at this Congress and other matters have been issued from the office of the Secretary General in the course of the past twelve months, totaling something over 1,500 communications, in addition to the usual correspondence, which has been of increasing volume ever since our Headquarters has been established. It will be admitted, I am sure, that this is a practical, useful and proper function of our Headquarters offices.

With reference to the contributions to our Building Fund, this is entirely a matter for the Chairman of our Headquarters Fund Committee and the Treasurer General to report. It is sufficient to note here that the essential payments have been made for the year, with I believe, one additional $10,000. It has been necessary to pay the real and personal tax assessments, inasmuch as up to the time these were due our Tax Exemption Bill had not passed, and it is not likely that a retroactive clause will be included if we have favorable action. Up to the writing of this report, this matter was hanging by a thread and while not an impossibility, it looks very doubtful if we can secure action of any kind during this session of Congress.

The Secretary General has had the pleasure of representing the Society at Portland, Maine, on February 22, and en route to keep that engagement, was delightfully entertained at meetings of the Empire State, New Jersey and Massachusetts Societies, mention of which has occurred in the magazine. A trip to Newark and Asbury Park in behalf of details of arrangements for this Congress was also made, and attendance at a meeting of the American Coalition in New York in the early fall was a profitable expenditure of time and effort in behalf of our interests in patriotic legislative fields. On many other occasions of patriotic interest your Secretary General has had the privilege of appearing as a speaker or in representative capacity and has considered these occasions ones of both pleasure and obligation. The most recent of such occasions was at the annual Congress of the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution when it was my special privilege to be designated to represent the President General and to convey his greetings.

The final words of my report are of course properly devoted to THE MINUTE MAN as so much of the duty of the office of the Secretary General is devoted to its editing and compiling. It is my pleasure to announce that our cost of publication this year has come well within the Budget allowance of $12,000. By careful conservation and editing of the material for publication, it is felt that there has been no serious omission of news or of the essential official information which it is our obligation to present; it has also been possible to include some historical articles of interest, and some constructive addresses on topics of general interest, and to furnish sufficient illustrations to add to the general appearance and satisfaction. I do not wish to overlook the valuable assistance and cooperation of Mr. Culver as Editor of the Genealogical features and as Librarian, all of immeasurable value.

I have however, to announce now, a very radical change which will be put into effect with the next issue, namely, that by motion of the Executive Committee in March, the title of our publication is to be changed and it will in the future be known as THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE.

This change has been under contemplation for some time and was decided upon after much deliberation and it is felt that the new title selected will immediately convey to member, advertiser, and casual examiner, exactly what our magazine is and in whose interests it is published, which will work for a distinct advantage both to the society and to the magazine. While our former title was most appropriate from a sentimental point of view, there have been many considerations advanced for this change and it is hoped it will be fully approved.

A second decided change now being instituted is with reference to advertising. An advance in our all too reasonable rates has been decided upon and new rate cards and contract forms have been prepared. We have also made a tentative arrangement for an advertising solicitor. We are indebted to the advice and counsel of our President General for the decisions reached in respect to these matters, as one who has had much experience in the publishing business. It is of course too soon to report any progress with respect to this arrangement, but we are hopeful of sufficient success to demonstrate the wisdom of this plan and of the ultimate benefit to the society. Mr. T. Wright Williams, Jr., of New Jersey, is to act in the capacity of Advertising Solicitor for the immediate present.

Our arrangements with Mr. Williams will not alter to any degree the desirability of our own members making an effort to secure appropriate advertising for our magazine, and with this in view a letter to two officers of every state and chapter in the society was issued recently urging cooperation in this, and again suggesting that each state society make itself responsible for one page of advertising in each issue of the magazine, a plan I have advocated for several years. If all or even one half of our states would do this, our magazine would be able to expand tremendously, and it does not seem unreasonable to expect this cooperation. Our advertising this year has greatly increased and has exceeded $1200.00, and this would develop still more as our circulation enlarges. Please make a determined effort to take this suggestion to heart and see what you personally can do. Whether or not you are among those who read the magazine from "cover to cover," as many of our members do, you will agree I know, that as the one important contact between the National Society and the individual compatriot, as well as the larger and smaller group units, this is the thing which needs the combined and individual support of each and all.

And, speaking of the magazine, I am venturing to take just one more moment to quote from a letter which came in response to the letter on advertising recently issued, for to my mind it expresses not just one member's feeling about the magazine, but a sentiment shared by many. Our compatriot is a prominent member whom most of you know and he wrote as follows:

"I have your circular letter calling attention to the general advertising rates in the Sons of the American Revolution Magazine, formerly THE MINUTE MAN.

"I am pleased to note the change in name and also the determination to maintain the high standard of the magazine, for in my judgment, if there is any one medium which is alive and which enables the several members to maintain intelligent contact with the National Society, the State Societies, and their several branches, it is through this very magazine."

May I add that your officers feel that response to the letter referred to with regard to advertising may be a test as to what if any, cooperation may be expected from our state and chapter officers. Something over seven hundred letters were issued. To date few replies have been received. Have we, or have we not a right to expect a large return?

Before leaving the matter of the magazine entirely I desire to mention the Index to Vol. XXIV which accompanied the April issue, and to state that we now have an index to Vols. XIX through XXIV, which are available on request. It is my hope to continue this work gradually until all volumes are completely indexed.

In closing I wish to say that with the President General at the extreme of our country and National Headquarters almost at the other, I feel that details of administration have been allowed to suffer in no degree and that great credit should be accorded Mr. Rowley for the very great detail of correspondence which he has conducted, the excellent grasp of all features of the society's functioning, attention to detail, and fine judgment and cooperation he has given to all departments. His experience in the business world has been of very practical value to our society and his attention to technical and business details of the society has been extremely helpful. He has traveled across the country about seven times to conduct the business of the society and has spared no expense, time or effort to make his administration an impress of value to the general history of the organization, which will not cease with his retirement. Personally, the contacts have given all the pleasure possible and I desire to pay my public tribute and acknowledgment of the favors and good fellowship which the year has brought.

Respectfully submitted

FRANK B. STEELE,
Secretary General.

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR GENERAL, 1930

Your Registrar General has the honor of submitting his report for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930, which is as follows:

The total membership on our rolls at the close of the previous fiscal year (1928-1929), based upon returns from 47 State Societies and upon estimated figures in the case of two Societies not reporting, amounted to 20389 (as revised).

The total membership at the close of the present fiscal year, based upon the returns from 46 State Societies and upon estimated figures in the case of two others not reporting, was 20653—a net gain of 264 members for the twelve months just ended. This gain will, doubtless, be reduced appreciably by losses in membership on the part of the two delinquent Societies.

On account of the regrettable illness of Dr. Clearwaters, former Secretary-Treasurer of the Indiana Society, the records of that organization are in such a state that an accurate report will not be available for several weeks hence. In the case of the Wisconsin Society a complete, detailed report has not been received, and for that reason our basic figures for the previous year must be submitted, without any allowance for losses which are, without doubt, considerable.

However, as our President General maintains, "quantity" is not the sole test of the growth of an organization but, rather, "quality", both in the personnel of our general membership, in the efficiency of our State officers in the administration of their respective local offices, and in their earnest and active coöperation with the National Society.

The number of new members admitted during the present year was 1521, per contra 1608 for the previous year—a difference of 87. Conspicuous in the enrollment of new members were Ohio (with 185), New Jersey (with 170), Connecticut (with 112), Iowa (with 94), and New York and Pennsylvania (with 90 each). Ohio has the distinction of "taking over", ninety former members of the Sons of the Revolution in that State during the past fiscal year, with more to follow.

The deaths reported amount to 431; resignations, 167, and members dropped for non-payment of dues, 979; as a partial offset to the figures for resigned and dropped members we should credit 170 reinstatements. Seven State Societies have each a membership of over 1000; namely, New York (2278), New Jersey (1706), Massachusetts (1600), Connecticut (1369), Pennsylvania (1298), Illinois (1291), and Ohio (1040).

Comparing these figures with those of the previous year, we find that New York still maintains the lead, New Jersey has passed Massachusetts, Connecticut has passed Pennsylvania, and Ohio has entered the lists as a member of the "Big Seven" group.

The number of supplemental applications approved during the year amounted to 392; there were 91 permits issued for the purchase of the Society's insignia. Certificates of Membership have been issued free of charge to all new members, as prescribed by our present Constitution and By-Laws. This feature is meant to include all such members as may have been admitted from the Societies of the Children of the American Revolution and the Children of the Revolution.

In the year's necrology we note particularly the following deceased members: Carl M. Vail, Past President of New Jersey Society and former Vice President General, April 21, 1929; Hon. Henry Roberts, Connecticut Society, Ex-Governor of Connecticut, May 1, 1929; George F. Burgess, Connecticut Society, former Vice-President General, August 18, 1929; William Scott Parks, District of Columbia Society, former Registrar General, September 25, 1929; James D. Hancock, Pennsylvania Society, Past President General, October 11, 1929; Frank M. Mills, South Dakota Society, National Trustee, October 21, 1929; Hon. James W. Good, Illinois Society, Secretary of War, November 18, 1929; Hon. William Howard Taft, Connecticut Society, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and former President of the United States, March 8, 1930.

The department of "Notes and Queries", instituted and edited by the Registrar General for several years past, continues to attract the readers of the S. A. R. Magazine. It is believed that many of our compatriots have been assisted in their genealogical researches by this "open forum" method of disseminating information relating to family history. The Editor receives, not infrequently, testimonials from people who say that they look forward to the publication of this feature in each issue of our Magazine.

The "Library Page" of the S. A. R. Magazine, in connection with the "Notes and Book Reviews" section, both edited by the Registrar General in his, at present, quasi-official rôle of Librarian at the National Headquarters, has been the means of enlarging our collection of books on history, genealogy and biography. Three hundred volumes were donated during the past fiscal year, making a total of 1050 valuable books, pamphlets and pedigree charts in our possession. Since the appointment in 1928 of a Committee for National Headquarters Library, under the chairmanship of Past President General Wilbert H. Barrett, five hundred volumes have been received; an amount nearly equal to the total number of books on our shelves from the beginning of our Society in the year 1889 to the year 1928.

The work of the Registrar General's office has increased appreciably during the past year, but it has been performed, without any cessation of effort, in a systematic manner which may explain the fact that our National Society's records are always kept up to date. A great amount of correspondence, of course, has been carried on relating to genealogical questions. In every case where it has been possible to do so, the Registrar General has gladly supplied the desired data or has given advice as to how the same may be obtained through the inquirer's individual effort.

In the matter of applications for membership, the Registrar General has permitted no other consideration than the value of the evidence submitted by the applicant to influence him in making his decision with respect to the applicant's eligibility. Every paper has been carefully examined and, wherever an error was detected, an attempt has been made to correct it before accepting or rejecting the claim.

During the past year, two of our Societies, outside of the natural confines of the United States, have temporarily been rendered hors de combat, but their places will be filled by a young and growing organization known as the "Society in France of the Sons of the American Revolution." The roster of this Society during the next fiscal year will show, among others, such names as Compatriots de Chambrun, de Rochambeau, de Luppé, de Broglie, and de Tarlé, among the most prominent citizens of our sister Republic of France; and of Messrs. Cudebec, de Neveu, Peixotto, Hamilton, Skinner and W. J. Askin, Jr., who are veteran S. A. R. members residing in or near Paris.

The "Traveling Banner", originally a gift to the National Society from the Colorado Society in 1907, and presented annually to any State Society (numbering one hundred members and upwards) which can show the largest percentage of net gain in membership over the previous year, has been won by the Iowa Society, which commenced on April 1, 1929, with a membership of 423 and ended the present year with a membership of 488—a net gain of 65 members, or 15⅓%.

The "Syracuse Banner", awarded annually to the State Society enrolling the greatest number of "new members", has been won this year by the Ohio Society with its enrollment of 185 new members. New Jersey is a good second with 170 new members.

The "Ohio Society Banner", presented annually on behalf of the Ohio Society to the State Society reporting the largest percentage in the enrollment of "new members" of thirty years of age or under (this percentage being based upon the ratio of such members to the total membership on the roll of said State Society at the close of the fiscal year), has been awarded to the Oklahoma Society, with a record of 5½%.

In conclusion, I may make the observation that if any of your National Society's officers have been in danger of falling into the rut of the perennial office-holder, or liable to be infected by a state of intellectual "dry-rot", they must have been hopeless cases, indeed, not to have been regenerated through the active and energetic prophylactics of our President General, Howard C. Rowley. A man with a multiplicity of ideas about the conduct in a business-like way of the various branches of a great patriotic Society, he has interested himself personally in every phase of our organization's activities. If he has deemed it advisable to give a helpful suggestion here and there, he has not hesitated to offer it. I am sure that all who have been brought into contact with Compatriot Rowley recognize his zeal, his sincerity of purpose, his mental acumen, and agree that he has been and will continue to be a valuable asset in the councils of our National Society.

Tabulated reports of the State Societies appear in the statement appended hereto.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS B. CULVER,
Registrar General.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 29, 1930.

MR. PRESIDENT GENERAL AND MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION:

Before closing my report for the year, I desire to draw the attention of the members of the Society to some extremely important facts which are contained in the figures and statements which I have just submitted to you.

First and foremost is the fact that this year has been the first year in the history of the Society in which a budget has been established in the beginning of the year and rigidly held to. At the meeting of the Executive Committee held immediately at the close of the last Congress, a budget which was printed in the July "Minute Man" was submitted and adopted and your President General has seen to it that your officers and committeemen have held to the amounts which were accredited to the various accounts to such an extent that it is with a great deal of pleasure that I can say that in the comparison of the budget with the cash receipts and disbursements which I have just read, we have lived within our budget to the amount of $2,127.21;—this even with the fact that our entrance fees fell off considerably and some unlooked for expenses arose.

The report this year shows a considerable gain in our balance over the beginning of this past fiscal year; this, is not all an operating gain, and a comparison should be made with the balance of the Society as of April 1st, 1928.

During the fiscal year 1928-1929 considerable money had to be advanced from the National Treasury to help cover interest charges and other expenses incident to the purchase of the Headquarters Building. This money has been returned from the Headquarters Fund to the National Treasury during the past fiscal year and a comparison of the two years is, therefore, in order.

On April 1st, 1928, we had a balance of $6,447.18 in the general account and on April 1st of this year the report shows a balance of $5,631.85. To this should be added the interest now standing at the Illinois State Bank and the Broadway Savings Bank, which was not withdrawn during the year, amounting to $62.09, making our actual accrued balance on April 1st of this year $5,693.94. If this is taken from our balance on April 1st, 1928, it leaves a difference of $753.24 which is the net reduction of our balance during the past two years.

When the fact is considered that during that period your National Treasury has maintained the Headquarters Building out of its funds and has not as yet had any assistance from the maintenance fund which is to be created to care for the maintenance of our Headquarters, it certainly proves that our Society has been run on a truly businesslike and economical administration.

No work of the Society has suffered over this period but expenses have been carefully watched to see that no item was unnecessarily exceeded.

I would like to mention in closing that your President General has, following the precedent of past years of his predecessors, during the past fiscal year operated his administrative work, his office and his entire traveling expenses, which included three trips all the way across the country besides other incidental traveling, at no cost or expense to the National Society, and to this extent we are indeed deeply indebted to him for his great aid in helping us to keep down expenses.

Allow me to close by expressing to you the very great honor which I have felt in having been able to serve you during the past year as your Treasurer General.

Respectfully submitted,

G. S. ROBERTSON,
Treasurer General.

REPORT OF AUDIT AND FINANCE COMMITTEE

MONDAY, June 2, 1930.

MR. PRESIDENT GENERAL AND COMPATRIOTS:

It is a very great pleasure to say just a word or two in making a report after hearing that financial report of our Treasurer General.

When your President General asked me to be Chairman of the Audit and Finance Committee, in Springfield, we immediately met, made out a tentative budget and submitted it to the Executive Committee. After it was acted upon by the Executive Committee I expressed my opinion to the Committee that if the amount of disbursements was exceeded by the national officers I would direct that the bills be not paid. Evidently your President General, the Treasurer General, and all the officials, have taken the matter seriously because now they come in with this most excellent and satisfactory report showing that they have lived within their means,—not simply that but they have lived within their means by more than two thousand dollars.

Before this session of the Congress and with the advice of the Treasurer General your committee engaged a certified public accountant in Baltimore, Mr. John Oliver, to audit the accounts of our organization. We all know, for it is common report, that in patriotic societies and other organizations they are not operated financially as business organizations; but I believe that you compatriots after hearing this report today of the Treasurer General, will realize that our organization at the present moment is functioning successfully financially.

The strength of any organization is in its finances, and may I say that I do not know of any organization that is living within its means and operating with economy more than is our own. I say that from experience. Your President General has come East several times during the year, has attended National Congresses, at great expense, coming from the Pacific Coast, and at no expense to the Society. Nor has any previous President General in this organization from the beginning as I understand it taken a cent for expenses or remuneration, in any way, shape, or manner. They have given that as their individual contribution to the success of the Society, and the small amount set up in the budget for "traveling expenses" is to pay the travel of the Secretary General, the Treasurer General, and the Registrar General, when sent out on official business of the Society. These accounts have been audited and I present as part of my report a signed report of the certified public accountant, Mr. Oliver, of Baltimore.

In addition your Treasurer General has made a complete report, so that it is not necessary for me to go into details, because he has submitted every detail which I could possibly give. I wish to add, however, in behalf of the Treasurer General that the certified public accountant after auditing the accounts, in speaking of their accuracy made this unusual report: "I wish to take this opportunity to commend the neatness and accuracy with which the Treasurer General has kept the records of the Society."

Now you men know who have dealt in finance all your lives, in addition to having an accurate account it is no small pleasure to have laid out before you books that are complete and neat, and to have them commended by the auditors.

After commending your President General and Treasurer General may I say this: that your Audit Committee renews the recommendation of a year ago that in accordance with section 2, Article IV of the revised Constitution of our Society there may be an organizing secretary, a librarian and a comptroller, to be elected by the Board of Trustees, and to hold office during the pleasure of that Board. Your President General informed me at the beginning of the year that he would act as comptroller, and before any bill was approved or paid he would see that it was completely audited. He has done that. He has kept our organization not only within its estimated receipts but as I said before he has saved a very commendable amount. But whoever may be President General in future, I believe it is desirable that we have a comptroller; and may I say it is not necessary to have a paid comptroller but some man, living in Washington or nearby could go into Headquarters once a week or so and conduct that work as a part of his sacred and patriotic duty. And I suggest that the Board of Trustees according to this privilege elect a comptroller without pay who will perform that duty continuously and carry on in the future as our President General has in the past.

Therefore in concluding this report I will say that it is a very great pleasure to have worked with our financial officers in their official capacity and I commend them for their very successful operations in the year just ended.

ERNEST E. ROGERS,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE HISTORIAN GENERAL

FELLOW COMPATRIOTS:

I have the honor to submit the following report:

On account of the approach of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of Washington's Birthday and the notable interest being taken therein, we report marked interest being taken in historical research and the preservation of the landmarks made sacred by the deeds of our patriotic ancestors.

This is an important era in the life and progress of our great nation. Influences are abroad to undermine our basic laws and destroy our beloved institutions, and the Sons of the American Revolution with other patriotic societies must meet evil forces and by united effort preserve the flag which remained unsullied for more than One Hundred and Fifty years.

By what means can we hope to accomplish results? The Radio seems to provide one of the best instruments whereby we may build up our organization. By this marvelous invention we may reach out to the homes of our land and there at the fireside awaken the patriotism that will kindle into flame the love of country that nothing can quench.

Another way to do good work for your Chapter is to divide into small groups, and send these to the homes where a few patriotic citizens, descendants of soldiers of the revolution, may assemble, and interest those who are eligible to join your chapter, and aid in our cause.

Another way is by interesting the children of the public schools, by encouraging them in writing essays on historic or other subjects local or general, and give medals or other awards, so that there may be inspired love of country, good government, and splendid citizenship.

Another help we have found important, is the use of the Yale or other pictures of historic events and thus through the eye reach the millions of children of our schools, who will soon become the citizens and voters of the United States.

During the past year our Chapter has used these means to upbuild our country's institutions with marked interest and success.

Your Historian General has prepared a series of sketches and addresses to be used over the radio. These touch upon such Colonial and Revolutionary war subjects as are of special interest to many sections of our country, their purpose being to awaken interest and love of home, country, state, and nation, and aid the general purpose of our organization.

At the last congress in Springfield a resolution was adopted approving the marking of the site of Fort Necessity, Washington's first battle ground. The FORT NECESSITY CHAPTER at Uniontown, Pa., has followed this up with a bill introduced by Hon. Samuel A. Kendall, Congressman of the District, and after the inspection of the grounds by the Assistant Secretary of War and he has recommended an appropriation of $25,000 for such a memorial.

Respectfully submitted,

MONROE M. HOPWOOD,
Historian General, S. A. R.,
Uniontown, Pa.

REPORT OF CHANCELLOR GENERAL

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 2, 1930.

As Chancellor General, I respectfully submit the following report for the past year. Irrespective of a large amount of correspondence with various officials of the National and State Societies, I would particularly call the attention of the Society to the following matters of interest, not only to the Society, but to the individual members:

I. The desirability of the incorporation of our State Societies and Chapters was called to the attention of the compatriots by a bulletin from the Chancellor General appearing in an issue of the "Minute Man." As to what proportion of our State Societies and Chapters took this businesslike step, no information is available, but undoubtedly there are many who have not done so. Their attention is, therefore, urgently invited to the fact that the individual members of a local Post of a similar patriotic organization, the American Legion, were personally sued for $75,000, and barely escaped a verdict against each of them for that amount, solely because an accident occurred in the conduct of their activities, the which they had not protected themselves against, by incorporation. Such accidents, such losses, may occur at any time. While there is no reason why the State Societies or the local Chapters should escape liability, there is every reason why the individual member should not be held personally liable. This incorporation is both simple, and inexpensive, costing in New Jersey the sum of Six Dollars. Verbum sapienti satis est.

II. On May 31, 1929, an opinion was rendered, that the Executive Committee of the National Society could not fill a vacancy in the Board of Trustees, due to death, disability, or resignation, since trustees were not officers, within the meaning of Article XVII, Section 4 of the By-Laws. Further, it was determined that a resignation as trustee, by one who was Past President General, could not affect such status as Past President General. Finally, it was determined that the Vice President General, who was a member of the Board of Trustees, by election as well, could vote on such Board, once as an elective trustee; again, as a Vice President General.

III. On June 19, 1929, it was determined that where a member's application was approved during the administration of one President General, but the certificate was issued during the term of another, the President General then in office, not the preceding President General, should sign this certificate.

IV. On July 23, 1929, an important question of eligibility for membership, as to which the Genealogist General and the Registrar General differed, was solved, this question being of general interest to all members. The question arose under Article III, Section 1, making those persons eligible who were descendants of those who were "unfailing in loyalty and rendered active service in the cause of American Independence, * * * as a recognized patriot who performed actual service by overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain." The ancestor in question had been a Justice of the Peace, who had sworn in various officers of the Continental Forces, had convicted a party for speaking treasonable words against the Continental Forces, and had bound over another man to the Grand Jury for speaking against Congress and the Continental Currency. It was determined that the mere holding of a municipal or other similar office, not specifically included by other provisions in our eligibility clause, would not of itself bring the ancestor within the required conditions, as such ancestor might have performed the duties of his office with perfect satisfaction, and yet have done nothing to show "active service in the cause of American Independence," to show that he was "a recognized patriot," or to show any "overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain." The conclusion was reached, that the above applicant was eligible.

V. On October 15, 1929, the President General was advised as to the power of the National Society over delinquent or insubordinate members of State Societies.

VI. On February 8, 1930, the difficult question arising in many State Societies, as to life membership, was considered, and ruled on. It was there determined, that Article XIX, Section 4 of the By-Laws, creating such life membership, not only creates same in the National Society, but in the State Societies as well. This is due to the fact that the National Charter, the National Constitution, and By-Laws are primary, the membership in the National Society is primary, the membership in the State Societies is secondary, derivative, and dependent upon that in the National Society.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD HARTSHORNE,
Chancellor General.

REPORT OF THE GENEALOGIST GENERAL

MR. PRESIDENT GENERAL, AND COMPATRIOTS OF THE 41ST CONGRESS OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION; LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is an honor, in whatever capacity to address so distinguished a gathering of patriotic men and women, and it is particularly pleasing to do so in a section of the country so replete with historic memories of the events which occurred here during the days of our country's struggles for liberty.

Aside from the benefits one derives from its business councils, attendance on these Congresses affords its members an opportunity to meet, to know, and to love so many outstanding men from every section of a country, which is now, and may it please God, ever continue to be, one United States of America.

In the annals of the office of Genealogist General the past year must be marked as an historic one—for the reason that at last he has been permitted to function in the duties appointed to him by your Constitution. The case in question was an Appeal received from Boswell B. Hodgkin, who claimed eligibility to membership in the S. A. R. in the right of an ancestor, one GEORGE BOSWELL, a Justice of the Peace of a Virginia Court—which application had been rejected by the Registrar General, the Hon. Francis B. Culver. The appeal for the applicant was filed by Hon. Norman M. Couty, at that time a Vice-President of the Kentucky Society.

(Editor's Note: At this point the Genealogist General continues with an exhaustive discussion of his position with reference to the difference of opinion between himself and the Registrar General in the interpretation of the Constitutional provision with regard to eligibility to membership in the Society, which was decided in favor of the Registrar General's position by decision of the Chancellor General. As this entire matter has previously been published, space cannot be given to its repetition here.)

In view of the importance of this matter I would urge that this Congress appoint a Committee of unbiased men, to study the whole question of eligibility to membership, and report at the next Congress.

Before concluding I wish to say that in differing with the views of my distinguished colleagues, I wish in no way to impute any but the best of motives to them, as I have for them only the highest respect and regard.

Respectfully submitted,

W. MACFARLANE JONES.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PATRIOTIC EDUCATION

TO THE PRESIDENT GENERAL AND THE NATIONAL CONGRESS, SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION:

Your committee repeats the recommendations contained in its report adopted by the Springfield Congress as set forth in the July, 1929, MINUTE MAN, and asks all compatriots to re-read them.

Last February a questionnaire was mailed to all State Societies and local Chapters to ascertain what they were doing toward carrying on along these lines. Not enough answers were returned for a complete survey. New Jersey and Missouri reported activity along all lines mentioned therein.

HISTORY TEXT BOOKS.—In accordance with the resolution adopted by the Springfield Congress, President General Rowley has appointed a committee to study the history text books now in use, and report its findings to the Executive Committee. It is a big task and voluntary help will be appreciated. The best results will be obtained by specifically pointing out any objectionable features and inducing the publishers to make improvements in new editions—there has been a noteworthy improvement in the last year or two, not so much radical propaganda.

This committee hopes to be able—after making a painstaking study—to name the text books which will give the student the best well rounded knowledge of American history without bias or propaganda except that in favor of our form of Government and our American ideals.

LEGISLATION.—We again recommend that each State Society appoint a committee on legislation to co-operate with the D. A. R. and American Legion, in securing the passage of laws:

First: To elevate teachers from the status of mere employees to the dignity of public officials by having them take the Oath of Allegiance as prescribed in the bill which was prepared by the D. A. R. and herewith submitted.

Second: Any legislation in behalf of the Citizens Military Training Camps and Reserve Officers Training Corps which may be needed in its particular State.

HIGH SCHOOL, ORATORICAL, AND ESSAY CONTESTS.—These have proved to be an unqualified success wherever tried out, many more were held this year than in the past. We urge all state and local societies to hold these contests, they create considerable local interest in the society and encourage the study of the events leading up to the adoption of our form of government. Local Chapters will find generous compatriots who will donate the prizes if chapter funds are too low; and the local newspapers will gladly give the publicity.

NATIONAL ORATORICAL CONTESTS.—The outstanding patriotic activity of the past year has been the widely advertised National Oratorical Contest sponsored by leading newspapers. It has roused great interest. In the State of Washington alone six thousand high school students took part; "at a time when radicals are decrying our system of government and striving to tear down what it built, it is a wholesome thing to have millions of students give themselves patriotically to the study of the history of our governmental institutions * * * their intensive study will ever after influence their habits of thought."

We ask every compatriot and every President of State and local Societies, as a matter of patriotic duty, to write officially a few words of appreciation to the editor of the sponsoring newspaper in his State, and do it now, not postpone and forget it. This will encourage the continuance of this noble work. If every compatriot will spend a few minutes of his time in writing encouraging words to these editors, and to the magazines publishing articles on American historical events, he would be surprised to know how much they will be appreciated.

CITIZENS MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS.—These camps are doing a fine patriotic work in character and health building as well as giving some military training needed for our national defense. The young man learns the meaning of discipline, team-work and fair play; he has his baseball, basketball, handball, tennis, swimming, or whatever form of athletics most appeals to the individual. The aim of the camp is to develop the boy in both mind and body as a coming citizen of the Republic. President Harding said, "I hope every young man who can arrange it will attend one of these camps. In this way he will increase his worth to the Nation, and obtain individual benefits of priceless value to himself and the community in which he lives." These camps should be sustained in every way and each compatriot can and should help make them a success. He can visit the camps; write letters to the local newspapers and without delay canvass his list of young men friends and urge them to attend and get the benefit of a month of outdoor vacation free of all expense. We need to see that the quota of each camp is filled.

SCHOOLS.—We urge the officers and members of the local chapters to take an active, friendly interest in our public schools;—visit them;—be ready to serve on boards and committees; give grammar school medals; show a live interest in the education of our future citizenry; if they have anyone who can make an interesting address on a historical anniversary, offer him to the superintendent. An historical picture marked "Presented by — Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution," hanging on the wall of a schoolroom will exert a good influence. The cost need not come from the meagre dues, there are compatriots generous enough to subscribe the little sums needed to buy medals and pictures, if the matter is brought to their attention.

CONCLUSION

The success of the Society depends upon the patriotic work it is able to perform. It has been a standing reproach, that we accomplish little of a constructive nature. This is the stock excuse of members who drop out. We decided at the Springfield Congress, to become active in the field of Patriotic Education, as outlined in the report of this Committee.

If we are to succeed in this great work we must all do our bit, both members and as officers. There are but a few compatriots who would hesitate to give their lives for our Country. We ask them to give just a little of their time, to help make a success of the Patriotic Education of our coming citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY DENTON MOORE,
Chairman.

THE TEACHING OF AMERICAN HISTORY

American History is the story of American discovery, American settlement and American development, clearly stated in a simple and connected manner, in good literary form, properly illustrated, to assist in making real, in our day, the life and activities of our past.

The truth of history—for all truth is consistent—should, so far as possible, be based on original data, stated without prejudice, interpreted in the light of its own day; but in the language and spirit of our day.

In the statement and teaching of such connected truth, the leading events and motives of our country, our people and our several localities, should be stressed, rather than the minor details and foibles. In other words, constructive accomplishments, rather than destructive attempts, should be emphasized in the writing and teaching of history.

The same principles should also govern publishers and those on whom rests the responsibility of the selection of the histories and writers of history.

While the writing and teaching of local history, collected, published and taught in the same manner, is desirable and necessary to promote pride and patriotic sentiment in family and community, such local history should not overshadow the history of the nation—but local history should contribute to those facts and events, which when correlated and restated, broadens our grasp of American history as a whole, and awakens within us a greater love for our home and country and emphasizes our privileges and duties as American Citizens.

GEORGE S. GODARD,
Vice-Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION

Your Committee on Immigration and Naturalization reports that during the past year there has been much activity in Congress by way of the introduction of bills looking toward the repeal or modification of the Immigration Act of 1924. A number of bills were introduced seeking the repeal or amendment of the National Origins Provision of the Act of 1924. Without stopping to name the various acts or review their provisions, we are able to report that none of them have been enacted into law, and we feel assured that there is no prospect of their being passed at the present session of Congress.

To stem this tide, however, has called for very active and energetic work on the part of the various patriotic organizations. Special effort has been directed toward urging the enactment of what is known as the Johnson bill in the House of Representatives, H. R. 10343, extending the quota provisions of the Act of 1924 to the countries of the Western Hemisphere. This bill has been favorably reported to the House, and we had reason to believe early in the session that it would be enacted into law, but it met with strong opposition, principally by the railroads and other interests in the Southwest, who are interested in the importation of Mexican labor. At the point, however, when we felt that we were about to overcome this opposition, a Joint Resolution was introduced in Congress providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate labor conditions in the Southwest, with especial reference to the demand for Mexican labor. Of course, the purpose of this resolution was apparent; namely, to delay further action on the Johnson Bill. It seems, however, to have largely failed in its purpose.

A Senate bill introduced by Senator Harris, applying the quota provisions of the 1924 law to Mexican Immigration, passed the Senate without amendment on the 13th of May, and is now pending in the House. While the provisions of the Harris bill are not as satisfactory as those of the Johnson bill, we regard its passage as a very great victory, for the reason that it will enable the friends of the Johnson bill in the House to either substitute that bill for the Senate bill or to amend the Senate bill in such manner as to embrace the most desirable features of the Johnson bill. The action taken by the Senate gives us renewed assurance of early action looking to the restriction of Mexican Immigration, if not at the present session of Congress certainly at the coming short session.

A measure which has caused no small degree of anxiety on the part of the patriotic organizations, is House Bill 3547, introduced by Representative Griffin, which would permit aliens, unwilling to perform military services in time of war, and who refuse to take the oath of allegiance to defend the United States, to become naturalized citizens. Hearings have been had in respect of this measure by the committee of the House, but there is little or no danger of it becoming a law.

Another bill which has had the endorsement of the patriotic organizations is Senate Bill, No. 1278, introduced by Senator Blease, providing for the voluntary registration of lawfully admitted aliens. It is the opinion of your committee, and we have so urged upon the committee in charge of the bill, that it should be so amended as to require the compulsory registration of all aliens.

In compliance with a recommendation adopted at our last Congress, the Chairman of your committee had the honor of being designated by the President General as your representative on the American Coalition Board. This Board is a body composed of representatives from some seventy patriotic societies and organizations throughout the United States. The policy of the Coalition is not, on its own authority, to take any action that would be binding upon its constituent members, but to recommend such action as it deems advisable to take in relation to patriotic matters, leaving to each member society the determination of whether or not it will adopt the recommendation of the Coalition. On matters which have already been indorsed and approved by our Society, it was felt that active and decisive action could be taken directly by the Coalition without reference back to the Society. Inasmuch as on matters affecting Immigration and Naturalization this Society in the past has taken a very definite and decisive stand, your representative on the Board found no difficulty in joining with the other Societies in combined action through the medium of the Board.

The President of the Board, Mr. John B. Trevor, of New York, is entitled to the thanks and commendation of all Societies connected with the Coalition for his splendid leadership and the great service he has rendered sound Americanism, both in the expenditure of time and money and in organizing committees of which he was the leader to wait upon the committees of Congress and urge action on the respective measures along the lines to which this and other patriotic societies are devoted and committed.

Your committee unqualifiedly indorses the policy and method of operation employed by the Coalition Board, and is convinced that the various societies acting in conjunction through it can be very much more effective than by acting individually. Your committee, therefore, recommends that the membership on this Board be continued by the appointment by the President General of a representative thereon for the coming year.

Your committee is of the opinion that much more can be accomplished through united co-operation with other patriotic organizations, than by individual effort; and by supporting our friends in Congress in upholding the splendid law of 1924 and the measures for its extension and improvement, rather than to indulge in ill-timed suggestions, however meritorious, which do not appeal to the wisdom of Congress, and which may embarrass our friends in securing desirable legislation.

Your committee avails itself of the opportunity in this report to make special mention of the splendid support of the cause of Immigration which has been extended during the past year by our Compatriot, Representative Albert Johnson, Chairman of the Immigration Committee of the House of Representatives; and also to Professor Roy L. Garis of the Department of Economics of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee, for the able articles which he has prepared and published through the Saturday Evening Post and other periodicals, supporting the position of this and other societies in respect of the restriction and regulation of Immigration.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSIAH A. VAN ORSDEL,
Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON AMERICANIZATION OF ALIENS

TO THE 41ST CONGRESS, SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

COMPATRIOTS:

The Committee on Americanization of Aliens has functioned to a lesser degree in some respects this year than heretofore. Not so much in the way of circularization and publicity has been attempted by the committee but there has been more active correspondence between the chairman and various State and Chapter officers than any period during the past few years, indicating a continued interest and a somewhat increasing activity throughout the Society.

The Chairman has had the opportunity to present the message on Americanization before a large number of organizations, both within and without our Society. Several of these have been before Service Clubs where it is highly desirable to create interest and co-operation.

Again this year, another conference of delegates from other patriotic societies interested in Americanism was held at our National Headquarters. Despite the fact that the meeting was called on the day of the convening of Congress and that there was a terrible sleet and rain storm in Washington, the conference was well attended and constructive action was taken toward a further amalgamation of efforts in this particular field of patriotic endeavor. It is hoped that if another conference can be held sufficient groundwork has been laid for the adoption of a definite program which will be put into operation by many societies. We feel that we are moving forward in this line and although results may be rather slow in accomplishment the leadership of our Society in Americanization work is being well established.

We are in great hopes that the Committee for next year will receive a great impetus as a result of the work of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety. If this Committee is permitted to function as it should, and we trust that nothing will be put in the way of a most thorough arousing of our entire membership to the imperative action demanded of them, the necessary consequence of this education must be an increased interest in Americanization work.

If this new Committee proves beyond a question of doubt that untoward things are being done by all classes of persons in all kinds of positions the obvious duty of all members of this Society, at least, is to counteract these abortive efforts. Teaching the alien and his children what the real America is and means and stands for; inculcating in their understanding a love and reverence for the land of their adoption; dissipating the erroneous impression which the Communists are circulating that the poor and unfortunate have no standing in the economic world or at the bar of justice; contradicting the specious lies that are being spread abroad concerning our great characters and their accomplishments; guarding the schools against the teaching of radicalism and anti-Americanism; and arousing in the consciousness of all citizens an individual responsibility which will make them better and truer citizens and patriots than they have ever been before—these things at least are the field of Americanization and as we appreciate their application and strive to put them into effective accomplishment so we are upholding our faith with the Fathers and are making our Society a supremely useful, not ornamental, Patriotic Organization.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY F. BREWER,
Chairman.

REPORT OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP MEDALS COMMITTEE

June 2, 1930.

MR. PRESIDENT AND DELEGATES TO THE 41ST NATIONAL CONGRESS OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

GENTLEMEN:

It is my pleasure and privilege to report to you today the continued success and a much greater distribution of our Good Citizenship Medals this year, and this report will be most brief.

It is unnecessary to go into any detail with respect to this most effective field of work, as so much has been presented in the pages of the magazine that I would be merely repeating. If there is anyone uninformed present, descriptive literature is available and I shall be glad to give details personally to anyone interested.

In the early fall a personal letter was written to each state president, as a member of my National Committee, urging a wider distribution than ever in his own state, or the inauguration of this work if the medals had not previously been offered. An excellent response was the result and I am happy to say that in several outstanding instances, including North Dakota, Indiana and New Jersey, the state society as such originated the work with enthusiastic response from the membership. West Virginia, too, deserves special mention, for while the medals have been given in this state before, through the personal generosity of President Bowers, 250 medals were purchased for a state-wide distribution by the society. My letter also stressed the extension of this work wherever possible to the rural schools and smaller towns, and this suggestion has also been given attention at the hands of many of our chapters, and the awards extended throughout the counties in many cases.

Because this is the time when our shipment of medals is at its height, and the orders are still coming in daily, it is difficult to give exact figures of our distribution this year, but as evidence of the great increase, I have been obliged to place a second order for 1000 medals during the year, the first time this has occurred since we began this work; 500 of this order are already nearly gone. I hope to publish an appendage to this report in the July issue of THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE, as we must now call it, a statistical list of the states offering medals and the number in each up to the date of publication.

Up to the time of leaving National Headquarters we had shipped 1438 medals since my report of last year, and the State of West Virginia was leading in the number (268) purchased. Texas next with 141. You will appreciate the fact, of course, that these figures include the many instances of personal purchases and presentations made by individual compatriots, who find this one practical opportunity for personal effective effort in patriotic education and Americanism. The bulk of the large orders, naturally come from the state societies as such, and it is my ambition that every state society should embrace this work as a permanent and definite policy of its yearly program. I am beginning to feel that my ambition may possibly be realized before many years.

Again I must emphasize, as always, that our Good Citizenship Medal Awards find their most successful results when offered strictly in accordance with our "Plan"; or, explicitly for the qualities of character or good citizenship which they are designed to inculcate, rather than for scholarship acquirements. Also, when they are given to grammar grades or Junior High Schools, as suggested, rather than the academic grades. Nevertheless, we do not discourage the other features or grades, if, in the best judgment of the local promoters, these are considered more feasible.

One interesting innovation this year was the presentation through the interest of the Tennessee Society of thirty-six of our Medals to as many boys and girls of Florida who, through a contest instigated by Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman from Florida, in her congressional district, had won a trip to Washington. They had been selected by a special committee for demonstrating essentially the same qualifications required by our Medal Plan, and Mrs. Owen was greatly pleased to have the medals presented to them. It was my pleasure to make the address at this presentation at the request of Mrs. Owen which took place in the office of Vice President Charles Curtis on April 16.

The National Society, again this year as for several years past, has given about forty medals to the D. A. R. National Committee on Patriotic Education to be placed in the southern Industrial Schools which are endorsed by the D. A. R.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK B. STEELE,

Chairman,

Committee on Good Citizenship Medals.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INCREASED MEMBERSHIP

The aim of the Committee on Increase in Membership has been to carry out the recommendations made to the Springfield Congress by the former committee. Those recommendations were, (a) to stimulate the small state societies, (b) to bring about a 25% increase in the number of new members, and (c) to investigate the reasons for gain or loss in membership.

At Springfield the Congress was informed that in the year then closing five state societies had admitted no new members. This year the Hawaiian Society is the only one to report such failure. A year ago the Congress was told that nineteen state societies, with a membership of more than 1,900, had admitted a combined total of only 68 members. This year those same nineteen states have admitted 117 new members, so it is plain that progress has been made in the stimulation of the small societies. Many of them have developed superb leadership, which insures future prosperity.

While your Committee regret that a 25% gain in new members was not secured, the Committee has no apology to offer for itself. At the beginning of the year the Chairman notified the Vice Presidents General, and they the state societies, the minimum that represented a fair share of each state in the undertaking. In similar fashion monthly statements were mailed, showing the number of new members enrolled in each state society, and the subject was kept continually before the state leaders.

This Society is not the only organization in the country that has experienced a falling off in the number joining it. Other patriotic societies had a similar experience last year. Large fraternal societies report the same thing. Asked to explain this falling off a compatriot in a mid-western state wrote that "Many reasons are advanced, but most of them are only excuses."

The head of a powerful fraternal body last winter stated that "During the past year I have come to the very definite conclusion that the success or failure of any chapter is purely a question of effective leadership. Speaking absolutely impersonally and with no desire to criticize anyone, I must say that the responsibility for the success or failure of a chapter rests unavoidably upon the shoulders of its president. If he is enthusiastic and efficient, so will be his chapter." Another officer of the same body stated very frankly that loss in membership was "the result either of lack of effective leadership or a failure on the part of the officers to enthuse the members. We must agree that a loyal, active and devoted membership is essential to progress. The highest qualities of leadership are those which inspire the rank and file and secure their support. It is not the man who does everything himself, even though he may do it superexcellently, who is the greatest leader. DIRECT RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF AFFAIRS AND FOR PROGRESS IN ALL LINES OF ENDEAVOR RESTS UPON THE PRESIDENT, BUT THAT RESPONSIBILITY IS SHARED BY THE OTHER OFFICERS TO THE EXTENT THAT THEY GIVE AT ALL TIMES AN EARNEST AND INTELLIGENT COOPERATION."

That is plain speaking, right to the point, and your Chairman does not take exceptions to any of the conclusions stated. The success or failure of any state society depends squarely upon its officers and the responsibility cannot be repudiated.

Your chairman, with the agreement of members of the Committee, wishes to make the following recommendations for the work of the committee during the coming year:

- (a) A monthly statement should be furnished each state society showing the number of new members registered.
- (b) As soon as practicable each state society should be furnished with a statement showing the enrollment of new members each year for the past five years.
- (c) Each state society should be asked to consider its past record and to consider whether improvement is advisable.

Respectfully submitted,

F. W. MILLSPAUGH.

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE AND SAFETY

TO THE PRESIDENT GENERAL AND NATIONAL CONGRESS, SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION:

One year ago at our National Congress in Springfield, Illinois, resolutions were adopted authorizing the President General to appoint committees "to prepare a definite preparedness program" and "to plan an active program for the counter-action of un-American activities."

President General Rowley appointed as a Preliminary Committee to prepare plans, Benjamin N. Johnson, Massachusetts, Chairman, Compatriots Souers, Ohio, Brewer, New Jersey, and McCrillis, Rhode Island. The report of this committee to the October meeting of the Executive Committee was accepted and the appointment of a National Committee of Correspondence and Safety authorized. Your chairman accepted his appointment November 19th, Compatriots Souers and Brewer shortly thereafter and Compatriots Lee, Millsbaugh and Hadley at later dates. It was not until the January issue of THE MINUTE MAN that we could present to the membership, Our Purpose, Our Plan, the Co-operation Desired and a statement of the needs for our work. Reference is made to the January MINUTE MAN for full details.

Our Purpose may be paraphrased "To arouse to a realization of dangers that we may act to preserve the fundamental ideals and institutions of the United States."

Our first task was to establish channels for the dissemination of information through the written and spoken word. For this we requested each State Society and Chapter to appoint a Director of Correspondence and Safety. Directors have been appointed by 35 of the 48 active State Societies and many of the Chapters. A list of Directors is presented herewith as Exhibit A. To secure these appointments has required a vast amount of correspondence and consumed much of the time of your chairman.

Our Objective is to conduct a nation wide speaking campaign to carry information not only to our members but to the public. In this we propose to co-operate with other organizations.

There are, however, many other worthwhile activities which properly come under the scope of work for this committee. Each State Director will naturally major on that which most appeals to him.

Time prevents reference to the work of all the Directors but we cite that of a few as examples of the diversity of interest and needs for action.

Captain Richard V. Goodwin, New York Director, is setting up a Speakers' Bureau, has personally made a number of addresses and has taken an active part in the anti-Radical activities in New York City. Captain Goodwin with Mrs. Brosseau, Past President General of the D. A. R., and Police Commissioner Whalen addressed a Mass Meeting of about two thousand in Jamaica, New York, held under the auspices of the D. A. R. He also spoke to about 300 members of the Insurance Square Club of New York and the club adopted a resolution endorsing our work and pledging their co-operation. The Empire State Society after hearing Capt. Goodwin's report and address at its Annual Meeting heartily endorsed the purpose of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety and pledged its full support.

Col. Franklin Blackstone, Pennsylvania Director, by authority of the Board of Managers of the Pennsylvania Society, sent a petition to each delegate representing the United States of America at the Naval Conference at London (attached hereto as Exhibit B).^{*} He also secured the deletion from a radio broadcast of a "misrepresentation of historical facts" which seemed "to belong to an insidious type of propaganda intended to undermine the respect, esteem and love for the 'Star Spangled Banner' as the American national anthem." Col. Blackstone suggests that all Directors of Correspondence and Safety be watchful of this peculiar type of propaganda by radio stations in their area.

Col. Henry Dickinson, Tennessee Director, is setting up a Speakers' Bureau, has enlisted the co-operation of a group of military officers, who are guarding against Boring from Within in the State troops, R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. C. and has published in a Nashville paper a valuable article on subversive activities.

Compatriot Ross H. Currier, Massachusetts Director, has submitted a report on subversive organizations operating in 17 cities of his state. He lists 33 communist, socialist and pacifist organizations in Boston. This includes the Headquarters of the New England Soviet "Sunday Schools." He also lists 35 labor groups many openly communistic.

Your Committee is under deep obligation to the Daughters of the American Revolution and to Mrs. William Sherman Walker, Chairman of its National Defense Committee, for valuable advice and assistance which includes the gift of quantities of printed matter and the loan for this Congress of the valuable Exhibit in Room A-3. Mrs. Walker has been ever ready to answer questions, furnish information and give not only of her personal aid, but also to enlist that of her associates in the various states.

All the members of this Committee have shown an unusual interest and been active in carrying on the work. The Chairman desires to take this opportunity to express to each member his appreciation and thanks.

We now beg permission to change from a Report to a Plea for the future support of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety.

In starting upon this national defense and anti-radical work, our National Society undertook a real task, undoubtedly the greatest it has ever attempted.

The Communists are efficiently organized and are directed by a group that are past masters in mass and mob psychology. They are ramifying in directions that are bound to result most fatally to the welfare of this country; that is, in schools and colleges, to produce leaders and in the unthinking mass, to produce followers. Most intelligent people in this country do not realize the seriousness of this situation and will never become alive to it until they are told specifically what has been and is being done.

Your Committee feels that nothing can be accomplished without ample funds.

Since his appointment, the middle of last November, your Chairman has devoted an average of three-quarters of each day or six hours daily, to the work of this Committee. No man should be asked to give so much time.

The first requisite is a competent Secretary-stenographer, one able to read, classify, index and file the mass of material which comes in, giving the Chairman a digest. (It is not unusual for the Chairman's daily mail to bring in 100 letters, pamphlets and clippings. As more State Directors become active the quantity will increase.) The secretary, of course, should be able to answer much of the detailed correspondence without dictation. With such a secretary the Chairman should be able to carry on efficiently by devoting but a few hours daily to this Committee's work. Correspondence with each Director requires individual attention. It cannot be handled by circular letters. Obviously the needs and dangers in different states are not the same. The work of the four State Directors cited above shows the varying interest.

There should be funds to subscribe to all the subversive publications, and those of patriotic character dealing with pacifist, Red and Pink propaganda, also for books and magazines.

The item for postage should be large. We should send a weekly bulletin to State Directors. As an example the action and warning of the Pennsylvania Director in regard to misrepresentation of historical facts in radio broadcasts should have been immediately transmitted to all Directors.

Printing and multigraphing call for a sum limited only by the cash available. We should furnish for distribution at S. A. R. meetings all over the country reprints of such subversive documents as: The Rebel Guard, The Young Pioneer, Smash The Boy Scouts, The Negro Worker, and numerous others such as those now being shown in the Exhibit. If our main objective, a nation-wide speaking campaign, is to be reached we must prepare, print and mail to every Director outlines of speeches with source material.

The above requires a larger sum than can possibly be supplied by the National Treasury. Your Committee, therefore, requests permission to solicit from the membership or the State Societies the sum of $5,000.00, as a special fund for the work of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety, this sum to be administered by the Treasurer-General and all documents, books and files to be the property of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

A herculean task is before us. We are called to defend Our Country. Having set up the organization for carrying-on, shall we abandon the fight because our 20,000 Sons of the American Revolution cannot, or will not raise $5,000.00, or shall we respond in the spirit of our ancestors of '76?

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR M. McCrillis,

Chairman,

HARRY F. BREWER,

LOREN E. SOUERS,

CLIFFORD S. LEE,

REPORT OF FLAG COMMITTEE

Your Flag Committee pleads for a higher sense of appreciation by the American people of that emblem of our Country—the Flag.

It stands for the spirit of America. Love and loyalty are intangible things except as they may be impressed upon us by the attitude of the individual concerned. So is love for the great emblem of the nation intangible, except as it may be expressed by the visible indication and outward attitude that the citizen of America shows by his love, tenderness and respect for the flag.

Conceived in the midst of trouble and tribulation and borne as a battle flag in many a conflict, it has always come forth with honor to the citizenry which it represents.

It stands for peace, but not peace at any price—It stands for fair dealing toward all mankind, and represents all classes, creeds and previous conditions of servitude. It stands for a Government of the people, by the people and for the people. It stands for the courage to do the right, as we see the right. It stands for fair America wherever it floats.

In foreign lands, it protects its children—at home, it insists upon equal rights and protection to all who live under its folds. It must and shall receive our fullest fealty—It expects nothing else.

Unnecessary as it would seem, to preach this gospel to our own great fraternity, yet, just as the great forces of nature—God's handiwork in this universe, are prone to become common-place in our eyes and to be taken for granted, so our great national heritage as exemplified in the flag becomes common-place and thankless in the minds of many.

We believe then, that the Sons of the American Revolution should subscribe to a simple, yet unforgettable code of practice toward our National Emblem, which shall not only freshen our sense of respect and appreciation, but that it will be an example to those citizens who are not of our number.

1st. In order that this love and respect be instilled in the future citizens, we must continue to insist that there shall be no school-room in the United States where the flag is not properly displayed, nor shall there be a school house in the nation from which the flag does not float.

2nd. Every court room in America and every Governmental Building, whether State, County or Municipal, shall display the flag.

3rd. Students every where shall be informed by proper instruction of the history of the flag—the meaning of its colors and arrangement; the correct time and manner to display it and the proper courtesies due it. Our school system is practically silent in reference to these facts. No day should pass in the school room without a salute to the flag.

4th. In various parts of our country are large alien populations. It is quite customary for them to display a foreign flag freely, without an American flag in sight. We do not quarrel with the sentiment which impels them to display their native flag, but we do insist that the flag under which they work and live and have the fullest protection shall have at least an even break with the foreign flag. We therefore maintain that it should be the policy of this Society to insist by moral influence or legislation, that no foreign flag be displayed, either in mass or individually, without an American flag being displayed at its right, except on such occasions as may be authorized or dictated by the rules of diplomatic courtesy.

5th. That members of all Chapters be continually on their guard to see that no citizen in their community maliciously or contemptuously desecrates the flag, that all citizens receive information and education as to the proper display of the flag and to foster the reverence and respect which is due from all citizens to this—the beautiful Flag of our Nation—the Stars and Stripes.

Respectfully submitted.

MILES S. KUHN,
Chairman.

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE ON CEREMONIES AND COLORS

CEREMONIES

As Chairman of the Committee on Ceremonies and Colors, I wish to report that during the past year we have endeavored to plan a formal church service which may be brief as well as impressive.

This form of service has already been submitted to the Secretary General for the approval of the Society and we trust that an opportunity of inaugurating the same will be offered at the next annual Congress.

COLORS

Five state flags have been presented during the past two years to the National Society. These have come from Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut and North Carolina.

We hope before another year goes by that many of the other state societies will avail themselves of this privilege so that before long the National Headquarters will have a complete set of state flags.

The Secretary General will be glad to furnish specifications as to the size and cost of these emblems, as it is very essential that they are all of uniform size.

We have found that the Travelling Banner, presented to the National Society by Colorado in 1907, is in very poor repair, and we recommend to the Executive Committee that proper steps should be taken to have this flag repaired or replaced.

Respectfully submitted,

R. P. BOGGS,
Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTION DAY OBSERVANCES

An organization to become effective, no matter what its realm of activity might be, must have a varied, constructive and continued program or it will surely fall by the wayside. Our Society, for instance, almost at the very day of its inception, began the crusade against the misuse of the Flag of Stars and Stripes. It was the pioneer in the Flag Day anniversary and thirty years ago it started the Americanization movement, under the direction of General Anderson, of Oregon. These and many other worthy objects have given us an opportunity to do worth while things for the uplift of our country.

Thirteen years ago we inaugurated the observance of the greatest anniversary in our American life, and which has had far-reaching influence in its many ramifications. Constitution Day, since its first general observance on September 17, 1917, has found a responsiveness not only in our membership but many other organizations have found it a medium of activity for the strengthening and advancement of the Government of the People for the People.

Increasing power has brought corresponding responsibility. More and more we realize the need of this annual reconsecration to the high ideals of the Founders. Opportunely, it seems to me, Constitution Day came into being, at the advent of our participation in the World War. As the years have accumulated and the immense amount of attention directed to our Fundamental Law has demonstrated the value of the work involved, the wonder is that Constitution Day was not observed from the time of beginning. One can visualize the tremendous amount of misunderstanding that could have been averted and perhaps the Civil War would not have occurred.

Constitution Day comes at a happy time of the year, at the conclusion of the vacation period, when the individual, if at any time in the twelvemonth should be in a frame of mind to perform patriotically.

Compatriots have responded nobly in many of the States each year till on the last anniversary the entire country and into the far reaches of every part of the world, where there is a group of American citizens, a contribution was offered to the safeguarding of the instrument that gave us our existence as a nation.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty!

Among the many organizations joining with us was the American Bar Association, the Americanization Committee of which worked through the Congressional Districts, not only for the celebration of the day but of the entire week. We are indebted to Hon. F. Dumont Smith, Chairman of Hutchinson, Kansas, for his excellent leadership in this particular movement.

"The Story of the Constitution," a most praiseworthy presentation from the pen of Senator Smith, and "A Handbook on the Constitution," also issued by the committee, are among the very best products for the enlightenment of the people and for their guidance.

Appointed Chairman of the Committee on Observance of Constitution Day for 1929, by President General Rowley, on March 30, I immediately directed myself to the task of preparing plans for the campaign. An innovation was adopted by him in the make-up of the committee, which worked very advantageously. Instead of a long list of 200 or more prominent members serving with the chairman, as in other years, an ideal committee was constituted by drawing upon the Presidents of State Societies.

In my letter of notification of this appointment a request that immediate organization be made in each State followed. Replies were received from nearly all, volunteering whole-hearted service, and thus an impetus was given the movement at the very beginning.

Our President General gave himself freely to the cause which grew into sizable proportions before the summer had far advanced. To him I am deeply indebted for the fine spirit of helpfulness in many ways. Several of the Presidents worked along with the chairman through the summer months, eschewing vacation and thinking only of the objective.

Several thousand programs and other literature, including the leaflet, "Our Government—How Founded," first printed in 1928, were issued to the Societies and Chapters, and an immense amount of correspondence was carried on by your Chairman.

Encouragement was given by many organizations, including the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, President General, writing that "Our Chapters have all been notified to celebrate Constitution Day, especially giving it newspaper publicity. This day should stand side by side with the Fourth of July. I congratulate the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution upon the program prepared."

Special mention should be made of the work done by the D. A. R. in Rhode Island, Virginia, Illinois, New Jersey, and Missouri, in each instance faithful assistance being given. In Illinois the interest became so keen that the chairman was invited to visit Kahoka and organize a new chapter of our Society. In Springfield, Ill., the women performed grandly.

Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and other Service Clubs held some form of observance during the week and the Constitution Educational Association of Chicago distributed many thousands of circulars all in harmony with the supreme thought of the occasion.

Features were the enthusiastic responses of the Governors in many of the States to the request for a proclamation, calling upon the people to observe the day by displaying the Flag of Stars and Stripes, etc., church services on Sunday, at the opening of the week; the ringing of Church bells at noon, on September 17, the chimes in Old Trinity, New York, pealing forth in patriotic melody, and the bells in many universities also being rung. Our Flag was profusely displayed by citizens eager to express their fealty to the Founders of our Government and their masterful production.

Innumerable forms of remembrance of a most laudable character were reported to your chairman, but the program of the California Society, under the direction of Vice President General Herbert M. Lee, of San Francisco, was the one outstanding feature of a great constructive and original idea. Enlisting the services of the publisher of the San Francisco Chronicle, and with the aid of a number of Compatriots, he brought about a unique, historical and pre-eminently Constitution Day observance, having no equal in several respects in all the years of our activities. Beginning August 19, 1929, the newspaper, one of the most widely circulated and influential on the Pacific Coast, carried a front page story daily for five weeks, till after Constitution Day. Forty-nine prizes—fifteen in cash, totalling $250.00, with a first prize of $100.00, and thirty-three bronze medals were offered to the students of the San Francisco High Schools for the best essay on the Constitution. Our Good Citizenship medals were used with reverse side in blank, so they could be suitably inscribed for the occasion. A framed picture of the signing of the Constitution of the United States was offered the High School attended by the prize winner.

Headings running the width of the newspaper, not once, but every day, announcing the contest with news matter in great abundance, and illustrations, often taking the entire space of the first page, made a fine ensemble as the contest continued with enthusiasm at a high pitch throughout the campaign.

It is needless to say that the entire State was patriotically aroused as it had not been for many years. It was simply marvelous!

Thirty-three schools entered the competition and 1,092 students of the San Francisco High Schools submitted essays to the judges, President General Rowley and Vice President General Lee being among them. The award was made on September 26, the first prize going to a young man, T. J. Trodden, of the St. Ignatius School, and who broadcasted his essay on the eve of Constitution Day. All the participants were guests of the Community Playhouse, San Francisco, when the motion picture, "America" was given.

Recommendation is strongly made that this most successful initiative by our Compatriots on the other side of the Continent be adopted by other Societies. It has a most beneficent educational value.

Reports received from the various State Societies indicate a vast amount of action in the preparation and carrying out of the celebration. In New England, the Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut Societies combined in a Constitution Day Luncheon at Hartford; New York Chapter provided a Mass Meeting at the Sub-Treasury in that City; Independence Hall at Philadelphia was the scene of another Mass Meeting, under the auspices of the Philadelphia Chapter; North Carolina Society reached practically all the schools in the State; Tennessee, Ohio, and Michigan Societies, had very extensive programs of varying character; the Illinois Society, held forth in its annual luncheon; the Minnesota Society, Montana Society, Arizona Society, Nebraska Society and Colorado Society, were all very active, and so it was practically in every State of the Union, under the direction of S. A. R. leaders. In Western Pennsylvania Colonel Weaver H. Rogers, President Pittsburgh Chapter and a host of others assisting him reached a population of 2,500,000, by broadcasting several timely messages, including one by Compatriot John L. Walker, President of the Pennsylvania Society, and also a vast amount of publicity was secured throughout the week. West Virginia and Maryland too, added their share.

Peace Trees were planted in Sioux City, Iowa, and in Orange, N. J.; broadcasting of the message was quite general, and in my community of the Oranges we opened the week with afternoon services at the Old First Church in Orange, over 200 years old, and closed with the dedication of the million-dollar City Hall, East Orange on September 21st.

I have been informed that the Americanization Committee of the American Bar Association has arranged for a national broadcast by eminent Americans of a Constitution Day message, during the week next September.

I am recommending that bronze tablets be placed upon public buildings in honor of the framers of the Constitution, which will be a constant reminder of our heritage and an appreciation of the noble act of our ancestors.

We also should have literature to distribute to Compatriots and others upon call, not by hundreds, as was the case last year, but by thousands.

The co-operation of our Sister Society, the D. A. R., should again be invited and the members of the D. R. too. They were invited this year, but failed to respond, so far as I am aware.

It is also recommended that steps be taken to acquaint the official committee on the 200th anniversary of Washington's Birthday, that Constitution Day is on the calendar of patriotic remembrance. In the last issue of the Minute Man, the official program announced an event for each month, but no mention was made of the 17th of September. This should be rectified.

Every possible urge is made, Compatriots, for a wider and deeper-seated national contribution for this year. Enlisting the co-operation of the churches and schools will be a great help.

Why not have a mass meeting on the steps of the National Capitol at Washington? Not only would it be well attended but also helpful in overcoming many forms of indifference prevailing throughout the country. Perhaps the President might see his way clear to deliver the address.

Created in the fiery furnace of battle, and nurtured amid the sacrifices and perils of an unyielding reconstruction period, this great nation of ours should hold the permanent affection of every individual claiming the protection of its kindly and strengthening offices. It is a possession of the highest order, the keystone of the American accomplishment being the adoption, promulgation and fastening the Constitution of these United States into the lives of the people.

It is the duty of every citizen to espouse whole-heartedly the glorious privilege of relationship to the Fundamentals upon which we have erected our outstanding American system and being so well sustained in these teeming days of the Twentieth Century.

Quite fortunate are we, descendants of Revolutionary War forebears, in the opportunity that has come to us to safeguard the ideals they bequeathed us and the generations following and which are in our possession for a brief period of time only.

How shall they be transferred to posterity?

Respectfully submitted,

DAVID L. PIERSON,
Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OBSERVANCE OF 200TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

TO THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Your Committee appointed at the Congress last year on the Observance of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington in 1932 begs leave to report as follows:

The Chairman of your Committee is Executive Secretary of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. It is with regret that his official duties in Washington prevent his attendance upon this Congress to make this report in person. He advises that the work of the United States Commission is progressing rapidly. Two Associate Directors were appointed in March, Colonel U. S. Grant 3d and Representative Sol Bloom of New York. Headquarters of the Commission have been established in the Washington Building in the City of Washington, where the activities of the Commission are being conducted largely upon the lines suggested in the address made by Mr. Page in the House of Representatives, February 22, 1930, a copy of which is hereto attached.*

It is to be understood that the plan of the celebration outlined in this address has not officially been adopted by the United States Commission, but the Associate Directors are proceeding as far as may be possible to arrange the celebration accordingly.

The United States Commission is desirous of enlisting the active interest of every National and State organization and every Civic Body in the celebration, and to have them take some part therein. Naturally, it will be expected that the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will participate in this nationwide celebration in a distinctive manner, but it will leave to the Society itself to determine what its contribution will be.

Just as an illustration of what might be done by our Society is furnished by the action of the Engineering Council of the United States, which decided to undertake as its contribution the restoration of the Locks at the Great Falls of the Potomac River which were designed and built by George Washington. This restoration to be in the nature of a memorial to him. Just what distinctive contribution ought to be made by the Sons of the American Revolution is not plain. Whatever it is, it should be in the nature of a National Memorial while at the same time State and local societies would be expected to share in the celebration locally in connection with the general program which will extend throughout the greater part of the anniversary year.

It is suggested that members of the Society give this proposition of a National Memorial their serious consideration and submit suggestions between now and the meeting of the next Congress in 1931 to the Secretary General of the Society, to be published in the S. A. R. MAGAZINE so that members may obtain a cross section of opinion as the most desirable plan. Such suggestions will be considered carefully by your Committee and a recommendation made at the meeting of the Congress next year. This would afford nearly a year in which to perfect and carry out the plan in time for the celebration in 1932.

It is thought that with the cooperation of each member of the Society we can evolve a plan which will fittingly do honor to the memory of George Washington, and at the same time demonstrate that the descendants of our Revolutionary for-bears are not unmindful of the debt of gratitude we owe to the man whose vision and mighty deeds made possible the establishment of the American Republic.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON GOLF EVENTS

The Golf Events Committee was created two years ago, its object being, as stated by the first chairman of the Committee, Colonel Franklin Blackstone of Pittsburgh*:

"to increase cordiality among S. A. R. members who play golf and to increase membership by securing into the Society as members golfers who meet the membership requirements and who are otherwise not interested therein."

The principal event of the first two years of the activities of the Golf Events Committee has been the competition for the Forsyth-Blackstone trophy, which has been won both years by the Pennsylvania Society. This cup, as you of course know through the columns of the MINUTE MAN is played for by individual competition each month during June, July, August and September, each Compatriot playing over his own course with other Compatriots or friends, the gross scores handicaps being submitted to the Official Scorer at National Headquarters, Captain Warren J. Clear. The twelve best scores submitted each month by the members of a State Society go to make up the team score for the month, and at the end of the four months play, the State Society which has won the most monthly contests has its name engraved on the cup and is entitled to its possession until the next year.

During the 1929 season the Pennsylvania Society again proved to be the most active, seventy-three scores being turned in for consideration in the National Tournament. Other Societies represented are as follows: California 10; District of Columbia 3; Mississippi 4; Kentucky 2; New York 2; Virginia 1.

Captain Warren J. Clear, of the California Society, now of Washington, D. C., was the S. A. R. individual champion and winner of the Forsyth-Blackstone S. A. R. Golf Trophy for 1928. Compatriot J. Denniston St. Clair, of the Pennsylvania Society, is the 1929 champion.

The Pittsburgh Chapter conducted two excellent tournaments in 1929, one at the Chartiers Heights Country Club, near Pittsburgh, and the second at the Butler Country Club, Butler, and the Washington, D. C. Society has already had its first tournament this season at the Congressional Country Club.

A new development in the golf activities of the National Society during the past year was the entrance of the California Society. Under the leadership of Vice President General Herbert M. Lee of San Francisco, and Chapter President Edwin E. Cox of Los Angeles, the California Society grasped the possibilities of golf as a means of membership cordiality, both for compatriots and eligibles.

As an example of what may be done toward furthering the acquaintance of members of nearby local Chapters in a locality, the New Castle, Pa., Chapter conducted a delightful invitation tournament and dinner at the New Castle Field Club, and has issued a challenge for a foursome special match to any Pennsylvania Chapter. The idea was advanced that the match be played in two divisions, one at New Castle and the other at the home town of the accepting chapter, or in the event of more than one acceptance the second division to be played at the State Society Tournament.

* Colonel Blackstone's report was published on page 459, April, 1930, MINUTE MAN.

The Pennsylvania Society Championship tournament, held at the Pittsburgh Field Club, near Pittsburgh, on Monday, September 9th, is an outstanding example of what may be accomplished. Forty-two players participated, and at least seventy-five compatriots and their ladies attended the dinner in the evening.

Reports of these events have appeared from time to time in the issues of THE MINUTE MAN, and mention cannot be made at this time of the individual winners.

At a meeting of the Pennsylvania Society Golf Committee held on November 22, 1929, an Advisory Board on Golf Events was elected as follows: Chairman Franklin Blackstone; Secretary Vernon A. Swartsfager; Official Scorer A. Westervelt Wall. At this meeting it was decided to recommend to the President General that the Season of 1929 Rules for the National S. A. R. Tournament be continued in 1930 with the following changes.

- (a) In addition to State Society Teams, several Nationally prominent members be requested to organize special teams to compete against the Pennsylvania Society team for the Forsyth-Blackstone Cup, (such as Past President General Depew organizing the "New Headquarters Team" or Vice President General H. M. Lee the "Pacific Coast Team", "Gulf Coast States", compatriots John Hobart Cross; Fletcher B. Bouton; Sidney B. Miner; Box 709, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Garrard Barrett, George A. Wilson, Jr.; J. D. Roe and R. G. DeLoach, Greenwood, Mississippi). This plan would not prevent competition of State Society teams but would eventually encourage it.
- (b) Each team to consist of an unlimited number, and the usual procedure should be continued of computing the twelve lowest net scores as its official team score. However, should any State Society have a sufficient number of compatriots participating to entitle it to a state team, which is twelve, players could count their scores only on one team and not on both a state team and one of the special teams.
- (c) Men eligible for S. A. R. memberships may participate in tournaments but their scores will not be computed on teams unless they are admitted to membership on or before the close of the season, which will be October 31, 1930.
- (d) It was recommended that a new chairman be appointed for the 1930 season, preferably residing in Washington, D. C., and that all score cards be sent to National Headquarters in Washington in order that the activities of the National Committee on Golf Events may be centralized there.

As a result of these recommendations the Chairman of the Committee on Golf Events wrote letters to the Presidents of all the State Societies announcing the rules for the competition for the Forsyth-Blackstone Cup during the present season, and asking that compatriots known to be interested in golf be requested to take charge of the golf activities in each Society, with the purpose in view of permitting competition for the National Trophy, and also arranging for local matches between teams from nearby chapters. A complete description of the conditions governing the competition will be found in the April issue of THE MINUTE MAN. By this means it is hoped not only to make members of neighboring chapters better acquainted with each other but to give the younger members of the organization something in which they can take a keen interest and also attract their associates to the Society through the opportunity thus presented for participation in local tournaments.

Respectfully submitted,

AMASA M. HOLCOMBE,
Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PRINTING

May 15th, 1930.

MR. PRESIDENT GENERAL AND COMPATRIOTS:

Your Printing Committee has the honor to report that the requirements for printing of letterheads, envelopes, circular matter, etc., as enumerated below, have been very carefully and promptly taken care of for the past year and between the Enterprise Press of New York and Judd & Detweiler of Washington, D. C., very favorable estimates (in competition with others) have been obtained.

Orders have been placed and filled during the past year for stock of 20,000 letterheads and 16,000 envelopes, of which quantity 1250 envelopes are carried over and paid for.

Expense incurred by your Printing Committee for the past year total $1109.72 from which is to be deducted the following items of stock on hand: Application Blanks, Information Pamphlets, "Our Government" Folders and Grave Marker Folders, amounting to $245, reducing the total above given to $864.72 as against $2018.27 printing expenses in 1929. One item, however, of MINUTE MAN envelopes charged in 1929 will not appear this year as paid, but will be carried forward to next year and this reduces the difference about $300 and makes the total cost for printing $853.55 less this year than last.

The various items of printing specifications consist, besides letterheads and envelopes for officers and executives, of Special noteheads, Buff letterheads and envelopes, Constitution Day folders, Special letterheads and envelopes for Mr. Brewer, Order forms, Letters to Trustees, Pamphlets of Information, Application blanks, Order books (Registrar General) Reprints of reports for distribution, Posters for Annual Bills, Circular letters—Membership Committee, National Headquarters, Correspondence and Safety—Grave Marker folders, Constitution Day Circulars, "Our Government" folders, Applications for Registrar General, Bills for Annual Dues and Credential Blanks.

Much printing is done in the course of the year by our Society which is not for supplies of stationery or other routine purposes of the Society, consisting of imprinting application forms and membership cards, the cost of which is fully covered by payment from the several state societies and in some cases at a profit to the Society. These various items are not comprehended in this report.

While the report of the printing of THE MINUTE MAN would come under another head, yet it is the pleasure of your Printing Committee to pass upon it for your information. The cost for printing and accessories incidental thereto of THE MINUTE MAN aggregates this past year $11242.17, $2159.77 less than last year the reduction being accounted for by an additional amount of advertising and by an item of $700 refund by Judd & Detweiler for overcharge on stencils.

Another printing item that while it hardly belongs to the report of the Committee on Printing, and which doubtless should be referred to in a report of the Headquarters Campaign Committee under the heading of printing items, totals $485.98, as against $527.31 for last year.

As referred to in the report of Committee on Printing last year, much of our printing work during the last two or three years has been augmented by cuts, dies, etc., that have been produced at a great cost originally and now being used to good advantage in our printing and should be usable for some years to come.

Your Printing Committee again desires to express its appreciation most highly of the cooperation that it has had during the past year from the office of the Secretary General.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS W. WILLIAMS, Chairman,
FRANK B. STEELE,
GEORGE ROYCE BROWN.

REPORT OF LIBRARY COMMITTEE

When this Committee was first appointed there were in the Library about 550 books, which had accumulated during the National Society's existence. Since that time, up to the beginning of this fiscal year, about 500 books have been added, 300 of these during the last year, making the present total 1050.

This result has been accomplished chiefly because of the interest and activity of the Acting Librarian, Francis B. Culver, Registrar General.

In a section of the S. A. R. Magazine, gifts have been requested from state societies and individuals, and acknowledgments made.

No argument is necessary to convince the membership of the importance of adding to this collection as rapidly as possible.

The committee recommends that the method for increasing interest so far used in the magazine be continued; that a card index be arranged according to approved standard library methods and kept up to date, and that the Library be made as easily accessible as possible and that the membership be invited to visit and make use of it, and that Board of Trustees be requested to make an appropriation, even if small, for use in securing some needed additions.

Respectfully submitted,

WILBERT H. BARRETT,
Chairman.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Reports of the Vice Presidents General will be published in October issue.

The Sesqui-Centennial of Kings Mountain

One of the outstanding celebrations in the series of 150th Anniversaries which occurs this year is that of the Battle of Kings Mountain, which was one of the very important events of our Revolutionary period and is to be commemorated with appropriate ceremonies on October 7th next.

It is now certain that this Battleground will be designated as a National Military Park by Congress and the necessary appropriations forthcoming, and the citizens of the communities, especially at Gastonia, Charlotte, Spartanburg, York, and other North Carolina towns, in the vicinity of Kings Mountain are making suitable preparations for one of the finest and most elaborate observances possible.

It has been 150 years this year since the fearless mountain men, gathered largely from the mountain sections of East Tennessee, North and South Carolina, under the command of Campbell, here met and defeated the crack English forces under Ferguson and turned the tide of the Revolution. Except for the erection of a monument on the battleground in 1909 under a special act secured by Congressman E. Yates Webb, no official recognition has been given this famous battle by the government.

Beginning with the capture of Charleston in 1780 and continuing with an almost unbroken succession of victories through South Carolina, the English forces, trained and toughened soldiers, were rapidly conquering the southern part of the 13 original colonies for King George. The future looked black indeed. It was then that Campbell, Sevier and other patriotic leaders assembled an army of pioneer backwoodsmen and concentrated them for an attack on Ferguson's troops before they could form in conjunction with Cornwallis's army, then near Waxhaw, N. C. It was at Kings Mountain where these mountain men met and defeated the British in a combat which wound up in a hand-to-hand conflict with bayonets. From that day to the final victory at Yorktown the tide ran in favor of the Americans. Kings Mountain was truly the "Turning Point of the Revolution." As such it deserves to be a national military park and, belated though the recognition is, it will be acclaimed as a just and merited recognition by the United States government.

President Hoover has promised to visit Kings Mountain at the time of this celebration, and special official committees of the House and Senate have been appointed to attend. Preparations are rapidly moving toward making this a great historical occasion.

The credit for rescuing from oblivion the actual locality of the Battlefield is due to the Daughters of the American Revolution of the Kings Mountain Chapter at York, who secured from congress the guardianship of this historic spot, and they are being officially recognized in the plans for the program of celebration. The North Carolina Society Sons of the American Revolution will also be prominently identified with the celebration and no doubt North Carolina will be a mecca for many patriotic pilgrims next October.

Among the more ambitious plans is the project of securing a more elaborate and appropriate monument to Major Patrick Ferguson, the hero of this battle. There is now a small granite stone at Major Ferguson's grave, and in the beginning, in order that the spot might not be lost, it was covered with a small pile of loose stones. During the years, visitors to the battlefield, many hundreds of them from all sections of the country, have added stones one by one until the pile is now a large one. Recently there has been discussion as to whether these stones were tossed on Ferguson's grave in a spirit of contempt or through a desire to keep the spot properly marked. Old residents of the section are authority for the statement that these stones were cast on the grave of the British soldier out of a feeling of respect and not of contempt. Ferguson's bravery and great fairness, exemplified by his refusal to shoot in the back an American soldier who, he learned later, was General Washington, have created for him a high place in the minds and hearts of Americans.

An opportunity is being offered the British Government to erect this proposed monument; in the event of refusal, other plans will be perfected.

An invitation will be extended by the celebration committee to the British ambassador and his staff to officially represent the British government at the celebration on October 7, at which President Hoover will be the principal speaker.

A Presentation Speech

"Every native of a republic is a citizen; every native of a monarchy is a subject. Fundamentally there is a broad difference in the meaning of the two words. The citizen assists in making the government; the subject submits to a government made by the king. The citizen owes an obligation of loyalty to the will of the people as expressed by the majority; the subject owes allegiance to the titular head of the government.

"The qualities of citizenship therefore are of far greater importance than those of the subject. The main quality of the subject is submissive obedience to the orders of the monarch; the main quality of the citizen is a sympathetic intelligence, which shall enable him, not only to think straight, but to FEEL straight with reference to his country. Education in letters is essential to citizenship, but literary education alone will not make or perpetuate free government—a government which is based upon the reasonable freedom of the citizen. The promotion of right FEELING is therefore a necessary part of the education of the citizen, as much as right THINKING.

We are quoting above from the presentation speech of Compatriot L. B. Russell, of Comanche Texas, when he presented to the winning boys and girls of the schools of his city on May 16 the Good Citizenship Medals of the Sons of the American Revolution. Compatriot Russell in his brief address expresses so well the idea and purpose of this Award that we cannot resist giving his remarks this extension.

In the Comanche schools through Mr. Russell, the presentations were further emphasized by the preparation and presentation of a Certificate in addition to the Good Citizenship Medal, and as all original ideas of value in this work may be useful and suggestive to others the editor is happy to call particular attention to this feature of the ceremonies as carried out at Comanche.

To continue our quotation:

"For the promotion and cultivation of the right feeling deemed essential to the highest type of American citizenship, the National Society of the SONS of the AMERICAN REVOLUTION has adopted a plan of awards and devised a medal of appropriate design and artistic finish to be awarded to the one pupil of grammar schools who shall be voted by the class and by the faculty as possessing the qualities of GOOD CITIZENSHIP in the highest degree. It is known as the GOOD CITIZENSHIP MEDAL. The class, by secret ballot of each member, names five members who the voter believes should receive the medal, and from these five the faculty selects the one adjudged by them to be most worthy of it. It goes without saying that to be one of the five so selected by their class is in itself a signal honor of which any pupil and parent may justly be proud. In offering the medal, therefore, which can be awarded only to one pupil, we have added another feature to the scheme of the Society; we have devised a neat certificate to be given to all five of the candidates for the medal. Thus we certify to the fitness of the holder to have received a medal if there had been more than one to be awarded, and the evidence of this certification is delivered to be kept among the prized trophies of the school days. It has been my good fortune to have been selected to deliver these certificates as well as the medal itself, with an address of proper explanation and presentation.

"First, therefore in order, it becomes my duty and pleasure as well as a distinguished honor, to present the certificates to the five elected by the class. These certificates define the qualities upon which the award of the medal is based, which are:

"1. DEPENDABILITY, as evidenced by the record of the pupil in punctuality, truthfulness, honesty, loyalty, trustworthiness and self-control.

"2. Co-OPERATION, as evidenced by the record, in respect for lawful authority, respect for the rights of property, respect for the personal rights of others, and general courtesy.

"3. LEADERSHIP, as evidenced by what the pupil has done to help make the school a better school.

"4. PATRIOTISM, as evidenced by loyalty to and knowledge of, the purpose expressed in the preamble to the Constitution of the United States.

"5: No pupil can receive the GOOD CITIZENSHIP MEDAL of the Sons of the American Revolution who is not CLEAN in SPEECH and PERSONAL HABITS.

"I call especial attention to the fact that these qualities of good citizenship depend very largely upon RIGHT FEELING as well as upon RIGHT THINKING.

"I now present each of you with the certificates mentioned, with the fervent hope that the beautiful character which is now certified to be yours as only half grown children, may expand and unfold with all the inexpressible loveliness of a fullblown rose as each of you advances into full womanhood and manhood; and that future generations may be permitted to witness its preservation and rejoice in the good and glorious name you have achieved who have gone before them, and in the faith that your lives have made the world a better world to live in.

"And now, the medal itself. It becomes my inexpressible pleasure and honor to present this beautiful medal to you, Nan Shelton, as chief among your equals for the possession of the qualities named, on behalf of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, as an humble member of said Society, with the faith and hope that the character which it signalizes may never be spattered or stained with a dishonorable act, and my confidence in you and in the high character of your parents is so solidly firm, that I deem no exhortation necessary to keep you in mind of the future responsibilities which rest upon you in maintaining and perpetuating the qualities for which it has been awarded; may your future life grow richer and more abundant in the graces which have been adjudged to be yours, and be prolonged to the utmost limit of nature, and your happiness increase with the years to the farthest limit allotted to men."

A VALUABLE LOAN

A wonderfully fine contribution to our National Headquarters Library has been made through the generosity of our Compatriot Honorable Harry B. Ayer, of Saco, Past President of the Maine Society. Upon the occasion of the visit of the Secretary General to Portland as guest of the Maine Society for the February 22nd celebration, Judge Ayer presented as a loan two valuable Revolutionary Orderly Books, so-called, namely, "Nathaniel Nason's Book" kept by said Nathaniel Nason, Lt. and Q. M. of the First Massachusetts Regiment, commanded by Col. Joseph Vose, commencing at Morristown, February 26, 1781; also "Nathaniel Nason's Book of Returns and Orders of the Commander in Chief, while at the Southward," kept by said Nathaniel Nason, Lt. of said Company, and aforesaid Col. Vose's Regiment of Light Infantry, under date of 1782.

These valuable books are to be safely kept for the use of the Library or our Society as a LOAN, with the understanding and agreement that upon written request at any time hereafter, the Society agrees to return said property to Judge Ayer, his heirs and assigns.

With the above most interesting relics were also given "A Record of the Services of the Commissioned Officers and Enlisted Men of Kittery and Eliot, Maine," 1775-1783, by Lieut. Oliver P. Remick, Engineer Corps, U. S. Revenue Cutter Service; and "Soldiers of the American Revolution of Lebanon, Maine," by George Walter Chamberlain, B. S., Member of the Maine Historical Society, 1897.

We are deeply indebted to Judge Ayer for this valuable addition to our library. The two Orderly Books, yellowed with age and with bindings worn and shabby, but with the ink still clear and the hand writing perfectly legible, are precious relics which will be carefully housed in the safe at National Headquarters. So valuable are they and of such historic interest that the privilege of having them photostated for the benefit of the State Library at Hartford was accorded Vice President General George S. Godard, State Librarian, who was present when Judge Ayer presented the books to Secretary General Steele.

Events of State Societies*

California Society.—The Annual meeting of this Society took place on the afternoon of Saturday, April 26 at the Commerical Club, San Francisco. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Edwin E. Cox, Los Angeles; Vice Presidents, Wesley G. Cannon, Ralph S. M. Boyce, Orra E. Monnette, Peter M. Weddell; Secretary-Registrar, Leon French; Treasurer, John R. McKee; Historian, F. Howard Seely. Managers: Allen H. Wright, Marshall Hale, Herbert M. Lee, Hugh Thomas Dyer, and Thomas A. Stetson.

A reception and banquet followed in the evening at the Western Woman's Club, the guests of honor, in addition to President General and Mrs. Howard C. Rowley, in compliment to whom the reception was given, included His Excellency, Compatriot C. C. Young, Governor of California; Mayor James Rolph, Jr.; Major General John L. Hines, Commandant 9th Corps Area U. S. A.; Mrs. Theodore Hoover, State Regent D. A. R., Cassius M. Jay, President, Sons of the Revolution in California; Hon. Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Vice President of the same organization; Professor Charles M. Gayley, Governor of the Mayflower Society in California; and Rev. C. S. S. Dutton of the 1st Unitarian Church of San Francisco. Retiring President Paul Stinchfield, of the California Society S. A. R. presided at the banquet and introduced the guests and following the formal presentation of Colors, the Pledge to the Flag and the National Anthem, the honor guests were introduced and briefly responded. Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Vice President of the Society of the Sons of the Revolution in California was the speaker of the evening and his subject "Worthy Sons of Honored Sires." Vocal solos and Concert singing completed the program, which was followed by dancing.

At the business meeting earlier in the day, the Society took action to incorporate the state Society, the transition to be effected immediately. Reports showed the society had exceeded the quota of new members assigned to it early in the year, and was in fine condition financially. A plea for gifts of books of family history and genealogical records for the State Society's Library was made by Secretary French, and resolutions of sympathy on the death of Compatriot Charles S. Greene, an active and devoted member were adopted. Compatriot Greene had been active in organizing the Alameda County Chapter.

Vice President General Herbert M. Lee reported an unofficial joint meeting of the governing boards of the S. R. and S. A. R. which was held on April 12 at Atascadero, on which occasion resolutions were passed recognizing and emphasizing the unity of the aims of the two societies and urging the utmost cooperation.

Two resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted by the Society at this meeting, the first advocating friendly conferences and economic, social and moral cooperation with foreign nations, but recognizes the necessity of resisting efforts to limit our full liberty of decision in international affairs. The second affirms the loyalty of our Society to and its support of the National Defense Act, and expresses whole-hearted support of Citizens' Military Training Camps and similar activities. Lack of space prevents the publication of the full text of the above, but copies will cheerfully be furnished from National Headquarters upon request.

At the April meetings of the California Chapters throughout the state new officers were elected as follows:

President Edmund E. Freeman presided and after a brief business meeting, introduced the speaker, Mr. C. C. Hemenway, editor of the Hartford Times, whose subject was John Fitch, inventor of the steamboat who operated a steamboat in 1790 which made more than thirty successful trips between Philadelphia and Trenton carrying freight and some passengers, following a long series of experiments on the Delaware River. Mr. Hemenway cited much conclusive evidence of Fitch's priority in this invention, so generally credited to Robert Fulton, including the fact that Congress had both declared Fitch to be the inventor of the steamboat and had appropriated money for a monument in his honor which stands at Bardstown, Kentucky. John Fitch was a Revolutionary soldier and with his four brothers had much to do with the founding of several of Connecticut's communities.

The JEREMIAH WADSWORTH CHAPTER planned also for its June meeting, to be held on the 6th, and for representation at the National Congress at Asbury Park.

Ely, after which the War Service Medals of the Society were presented with formal ceremony under the direction of Compatriot S. S. Williamson, to ten members of the society and to Major Lytle Brown, to whom the medal was given on behalf of the Tennessee Society, of which he is a member. A most enjoyable evening was the verdict of all present.

On Sunday, May 18, the society held ceremonies at the Congressional Cemetery, Washington, in dedication of Five Revolutionary Graves upon which the Official Grave Markers of the Society were placed. On Saturday, June 7, a Pilgrimage to Mount Vernon on the Steamer Macalester and the placing of a wreath on the Tomb of Washington concluded the series of special occasions in this anniversary observance.

The Golf Committee of the District of Columbia Society arranged for a spring tournament at the Congressional Country Club on May 28. Indiana Society.—A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Indiana Society was held on May 6 to elect delegates to the National Congress at Asbury Park and to adjust many details which needed attention due to the prolonged illness of former secretary Clearwaters.

The Indiana Society has been one of the state societies which has adopted the Good Citizenship Medal Plan for the first time the past year and much interest and enthusiasm has been aroused by these awards. About nineteen medals were awarded in Henry County under the auspices of PATRICK HENRY CHAPTER, and through the personal activity of President Koons of this chapter. Medals were also given by the State Society to the number of twenty-one in Indianapolis and for the second time, Compatriot Henry Bertsch has given the medal to the schools of his own community, Centerville. This year the medal was won by Jimmie Hiatt.

Secretary Clarence Smith of the PATRICK HENRY CHAPTER has secured one of the Official Grave Markers of the National Society for the grave of his ancestor John Shafer, a private in the Maryland Troops, who is buried at Frederick, Maryland. On June 7, the SERGEANT LAWRENCE EVERHART CHAPTER of Frederick will hold special exercises in dedication of this marker on behalf of Compatriot Smith.

Iowa Society.—The annual meeting of this society took place on April 18 at Ames and was very well attended by compatriots from all sections of the state. Vocal and instrumental music added to the enjoyment of the evening which was further enhanced by the concert of the Men's Glee Club of the College which followed the address.

Reports of the condition and work of the society as made at the business meeting showed an excellent year, with an increase of ninety-four new members, the largest in the history of the society.

Kansas Society.—THOMAS JEFFERSON CHAPTER, Topeka, met in regular session April 19th, at Hotel Kansan with good attendance and several prospective members as guests. In the forced absence of Chapter President C. B. Merriam, the State President Hon. William A. Biby occupied the chair for the evening's banquet and program. A feature of the evening was for each member and guest present to arise and announce his Revolutionary ancestor, at the same time stating some outstanding event or a characteristic connected with said ancestor. This proved to be very interesting, and revealed that many members have as their ancestors, individuals of National reputation.

The address of the evening was given by our beloved and Nationally honored member the Hon. Robert Stone, Vice President General of the South Mississippi District. He had for his subject "Civilization through Revolution," and presented history from remote periods to the present to substantiate his masterly address.

Kentucky Society.—This society will have to its credit this year the organization of another new chapter, plans for which have been under way under the inspiration of President C. A. McMillan for some months. On Thursday, May 8, the new GEORGE ROGERS CLARK CHAPTER No. 3, at Winchester, Kentucky, was formally chartered, President McMillan and Compatriots W. B. Ardery, State Historian, and M. H. Bedford of Bourbon Chapter No. 1, being present to assist. The officers of the new chapter include President John M. Louisiana Society.—President Kernion of this society represented his society and gave greetings to the Louisiana Daughters of the American Revolution at the opening of their 22nd annual state Conference.

On Washington's Birthday, President Kernion broadcasted two addresses from New Orleans in honor of this anniversary, the first in the name of the Louisiana Society S. A. R. upon "Washington, His Life, Aims and Accomplishments," and the second, on behalf of the National Security League, was on the theme, "Washington and National Preparedness."

The state officers of the Louisiana Society were special guests at a reception on April 4 at the Country Club, New Orleans, given by the Colonial Dames of America in honor of Mrs. James P. Andrews, National President.

The Society is interested in the organization of the New Orleans Genealogical and Historical Society under the auspices of the Institute of American Genealogy, and two members of the Louisiana S. A. R. will be the President and Secretary respectively, namely, Compatriot James Dinkins, and Mr. Kernion. Col. C. Robert Churchill, Honorary Life President of the Louisiana Society, has been appointed to represent the society as State Director of Correspondence and Safety, for the National Committee.

The Society is cooperating in the splendid work of Compatriots J. Fair Hardin and C. Evans Hardin of Shreveport who are on the state commission for the marking of historic sites in Louisiana, and mention of which has appeared before in these pages. It is hoped to properly mark all important historical points, and to secure the reservation for National Parks of appropriate sections.

Through the personal efforts and cooperation of President Kernion with Chairman Hull of the National S. A. R. Committee on Observance of Flag Day, leading New Orleans merchants and the Association of Commerce of that city cooperated splendidly in the observance of this anniversary, June 14. A notable display of flags throughout the city was the result and beautiful window displays by the merchants of the city placed the city in gala attire. The New Orleans Public Service Corporation contributed generously to this cause by carrying a placard, printed at its own expense, in every street car throughout the city, calling attention to "June 14—OLD GLORY DAY—REMEMBER the FLAG and DISPLAY it." This company also printed 100,000 folders distributed throughout its cars calling attention to Flag Day and to the fact that the Sons of the American Revolution first inaugurated this observance and fosters it.

President Kernion has also secured the cooperation of the New Orleans Item-Tribune, which publishes daily a patriotic announcement, taken from the Patriot's Radio Calendar prepared by President Ben W. Palmer of the Minneapolis Chapter, and including reference to the Louisiana Society, S. A. R. Station WDSU also broadcasts each day at 11 A. M., the Patriot's Radio Calendar in the name of the Louisiana Society S. A. R.

Maine Society.—The Maine Society has become the owner of a piece of land in the town of Wells, in trust, to be known as the Storer Garrison Park, through the kindness, loyalty and generosity of William E. Barry, of Kennebunk. The land and a bond of $500 is given the Society in trust for the care of the Park for use of the people of Wells and to have the flag flying on the 10th and 11th days of June in each year, and other dates the Society may decide upon.

These dates in June are those of the siege of 1692, during "King William's War," when the French and Indians besieged the town of Wells. The Community, hard pressed, had sought protection here and in their lesser strongholds when the country to the eastward had been laid desolate and waste by the savage enemy.

During seventy years following the stout defense of the Post the stockades and one or more of the bastions were maintained as a memorial of it and the rocks of the latter structures relaid as an enclosure for the premises at the roadway.

The Maine Society has accepted this trust and appointed a committee in charge. A new flagpole will be erected and a general clearing up of the Park is planned.

Maryland Society.—SERGT. LAWRENCE EVERHART CHAPTER, Frederick. On June 7, this chapter placed two Official Grave Markers for soldiers of the American Revolution buried at Frederick. The first was an act of courtesy in behalf of Compatriot Clarence H. Smith, Secretary of the PATRICK HENRY CHAPTER at New Castle, Indiana, whose ancestor, John Shafer, a private who served in the Maryland Troops, is buried here. Compatriot Smith purchased the marker for his ancestor, and secured the kind offices of President Lewis A. Rice and the compatriots of Frederick in having it properly placed and dedicated. The second Marker was placed at the grave of Elias Williahr (Willard), 2nd Lieutenant in the 34th Battalion of Maryland Troops, under Captain George Poe.

SERG. LAWRENCE EVERHART CHAPTER has been deeply bereaved in the sudden death on April 29 of Mr. Edward D. Shriner of Frederick. Mr. Shriner has been active in the chapter since its formation several years ago, and instrumental in its organization. He was Vice President of the Maryland State Society at the time of his death and has been a regular attendant at the Congresses of the National Society for a number of years. He will be greatly missed by his hosts of friends throughout the organization both at home and at large.

Massachusetts Society.—The Forty-first Annual meeting of this state society was held on April 19 in the town of Weymouth with an excellent attendance, during which meetings, the dedication of the splendid Memorial Cross, to the remembrance of all who have paid the great sacrifice in all wars since the War of King Philip took place. The Massachusetts Society in these ceremonies dedicated the tablets commemorating the services of 323 Patriots from the Town of Weymouth who served in the American Revolution. The service was most impressive. Reports of officers showed the society in excellent condition financially though with a heavy toll of death on the membership roll.

President Richard C. Stacy reported attendance at all meetings of the Board of Managers during the year, and formal visits to most of the chapters throughout the state.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Richard H. Stacy; Vice Presidents, Willis D. Rich, Walter K. Watkins, Edward Drake; Treasurer, Frederick

W. Holden; Secretary, Frank W. Tucker; Registrar, Arthur R. Taylor; Historian, Albert Bushnell Hart; Chaplain, Rev. Russell H. Stafford, D. D.; Curator, John F. Streeter; Marshal, Morgan H. Stafford; Trustee for three years, Frederick W. Holden. Managers, Fred L. Butler, Harry C. Robinson, Joseph Atwood, Francis S. Beckford, Gilbert C. Brown, Ross H. Currier, and George B. Joslyn.

The Society took charge, upon invitation of the Mayor of Boston of the dedication of the Tablet commemorating the Evacuation of Boston on March 17, at State and Chatham streets. With the S. A. R. Colonial Guard as escort the members marched from the headquarters to the Court House and were there joined by other military and historic societies who marched to the point of dedication in a blinding snow and rain storm.

The Massachusetts S. A. R. Bulletin for April publishes the list of 323 Revolutionary soldiers from the Town of Weymouth mentioned above, to whose memory the society paid tribute at the time of the state meeting; this is a valuable contribution for those who may need these references.

GEORGE WASHINGTON CHAPTER, Springfield. At the February 22nd meeting of this chapter, always the outstanding event of the winter's program, the following officers were elected: President, Francis E. Seybolt; Vice Presidents, Harry R. Seabury, Martin L. Dinsmore, Dr. H. F. Budington; Secretary, Irving S. Brooks; Treasurer, Leland F. Bardwell; Chaplain, Rev. Herbert E. Thayer; Historian, Ernest N. Bagge; Registrar, J. Stuart Kirkham; Auditor, Dr. Frederick S. Hopkins; Treasurer of Permanent Fund, Henry A. Field. Resolutions of sympathy for the passing of deceased members of the chapter were adopted, and the acceptance of a gift of old records of the chapter from Mrs. Henry A. Field went on record and the papers placed in safe keeping. Retiring President Henry A. Booth was given a special vote of appreciation for his long service to the chapter as Secretary for nineteen years and President for two.

FRANCIS LEWIS CHAPTER, Walpole. The winners of Good Citizenship medals presented by President Isaac N. Lewis of this chapter for this year are Leo Casnorelli, Ruth G. Gillmore, Annie Sozuck, and Isabel Smith. A feature of the Banquet was the presentation of War Service Medals and the address of the evening was given by Hon. John L. Zurbrick, Director of U. S. Immigration at Detroit, his subject being "The Menace from Within." A large attendance, including ladies, greeted the speaker, whose subject was of deep interest. Vocal and instrumental music increased the pleasure of the evening.

The business meeting preceded the banquet and reports from officers and committees showed the society to be active and in splendid financial condition. The membership committee and the committee on New Chapters reported a good increase and progress. Reports from the several chapters in Michigan were of interest and showed much activity. The State Society has sponsored a scholarship of $600 for two years in the University of Michigan.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Milton E. Osborn, Lansing; Vice Presidents, Dr. Stephen H. Knight, Detroit, and William L. Jenks, Port Huron; Secretary, Raymond E. Van Syckle; Treasurer, Frank G. Smith; Registrar, Clarence M. Burton; Historian, Dr. Wilbert B.

Hinsdale; Chaplain, Rev. John Dysart; National Trustee, Col. Thomas H. S. S. Schooley. Managers: A. Jerome Bosley, Dr. Ray Connor, C. W. Dickerson, J. Randolph Kennedy, F. T. Ducharme; Frederick T. Harvard, Pierre M. West, Joseph H. Wasson, W. H. Krichbaum, Henry O. Chapoton, Walter B. Ford, George H. Kimball, Frank Stone, A. S. Driscoll, Elmer P. Sutton. KENT CHAPTER, Grand Rapids. KENT CHAPTER has met monthly throughout the winter, at the homes of members, with excellent programs of interest, and held its final meeting for transaction of annual business, at the home of Compatriot Don A. Cawthra on May 7. Reports showed an excellent financial condition and an increase of seventeen members for the year. Interest in the presentation of Good Citizenship Medals for two or three years past has been outstanding. The chapter presents to the schools of Grand Rapids and vicinity, an average of fifty medals annually. A committee from the chapter presents the medals to the winning boys and girls personally and it was decided to gather those who had won the medals recently for a special meeting and personal contact with the members.

The chapter voiced with pride its endorsement and support of its distinguished member Professor Lee M. Hutchins as candidate for the office of Vice President General of the National Society.

The speaker of the evening, introduced by President Wibert Spence was the Hon. John L. Zurbrick, in charge of the U. S. Immigration Service at Detroit who told of his experiences and the many problems besetting his Department.

Charles Scott Justice, Claud T. Dodd, John James Wolford and George F. Person are the new Compatriots of this chapter. The death of Compatriot Henry Harrison Sumner of Dawson, Minnesota and a member of this chapter, on January 30th, 1930 occurred on the same date that the board of managers of the Minnesota society granted him life membership. Compatriot Sumner was the grandson of Daniel Sumner, Revolutionary Soldier.

Missouri Society.—A special meeting of the Board of Managers of the Missouri Society was held April 3, at the home of the President, Dr. Geo. C. Trawick, St. Louis, and, following a custom inaugurated two years since, the Chairmen of the various committees recently appointed were also present and participated in the discussion. The Budget for the ensuing year was submitted by the Ways and Means Committee and adopted. Besides provision for the routine expenditures, allowance was made for the activities of the Committee on Patriotic Education.

Observance of Lexington and Concord Day, April 19th, and of Flag Day, June 14th, was unanimously authorized; the latter by attendance on Sunday, June 15th, in a body at Fountain Park Congregational Church, invitations to the local

D. A. R. Chapters to join our Society in the services, being extended, our Past President, Rev. Frank G. Beardsley, preaching the sermon appropriate to the occasion.

The Society celebrated the One Hundredth and Fifty-Fifth anniversary of the Battles of Lexington and Concord, by a luncheon at the Jefferson Hotel, April 19th. President George C. Trawick introduced Officers and Committee Chairmen, who stated plans for increase of membership and the furtherance of the objects of the Society. The speaker of the occasion was Mr. Edward J. The several local chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution had been invited to participate in this observance. There are five chapters D. A. R. in St. Louis and St. Louis County. June 14th, the natal date of Old Glory, marks the 153rd anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes, and the 40th annual observance of that day as a part of the patriotic program of the Sons of the American Revolution. The success and influence of this patriotic endeavor on the part of the S. A. R. has progressed with the years and during the past few years nearly every chapter throughout the country has arranged and conducted suitable commemorative exercises.

England, former state chaplain and chaplain of ABRAHAM CLARK CHAPTER, of Roselle, gave a stirring address on the need of the S. A. R. in the life of the people and the responsibilities each member should assume in maintaining the ideals of the founders.

Several of the officers were re-elected, those chosen for the new year being Frederic D. Hahn, President; Louis Sherwood, H. Warren Baker, Russell B. Rankin, Vice Presidents; David L. Pierson, Secretary; Treasurer, Ray E. Mayham; Registrar, Frank S. Reynolds; Genealogist, Dr. Arthur L. Johnson; Historian, John Willis Weeks; Chancellor, Judge Cornelius Doremus; Chaplain, Rev. George P. Eastman; R. B. Rankin, Librarian; National Trustee, Thomas W. Williams.

In his annual report Secretary Pierson announced that during the year the smallest number of members had been dropped from the roster for non-payment of dues since 1920, and that the society was in a fair way to achieve its 2000th member before the end of the fiscal year.

The first meeting of the new Board of Managers was held at the headquarters, on May 9, at which time committee assignments were announced by President Hahn, and the activities of the Society are now well under way. Engrossed resolutions were presented to Compatriot Richard Hartshorne, retiring president in 1929. A valuable acquisition to the Society library was presented by Dr. Arthur L. Johnson, the Order Book of Lieutenant-Colonel Francis Barber, deputy Adjutant of the Third Regiment New Jersey Troops, serving with the Western Army under General Sullivan, May 26 to September 6, 1779.

A handsome dress sabre, the annual award of the New Jersey Society to the most efficient soldier of the junior class of the R. O. T. C. of Rutgers University, was presented to First Sergeant Frederick T. Kent, Jr., on May 16. President Hahn officiated in behalf of the Society.

JERSEY CITY CHAPTER, No. 18, was duly organized on April 4, at the home of Dr. Harold A. Koonz, the founder, with twenty-seven charter members, all vitally interested in the work of the chapter and Society. The handsomely engrossed charter was presented by President Hahn and the charge to the chapter was made by Secretary David L. Pierson. Compatriot Louis Sherwood presided at the election for officers, the following being chosen: President, Dr. Harold A. Koonz; Vice Presidents, Jacob R. Wortendyke and George D. Baker; Secretary, Albert W. Howerter; Treasurer, William V. Toffey; Registrar, James N. Elliott; Historian, Irving Underhill.

Brief remarks were made by a number of the compatriots attending and Rev. George P. Eastman, Chaplain of the State Society, offered the prayer of inauguration. President Koonz presented the chapter with a handsome silk Flag of Stars and Stripes. One of the first things done by the president was to inaugurate a column, under the title, "America for Americans," in a local newspaper, having a large circulation, and published in the Saturday edition. Items of general information, historical, genealogical, etc., are briefly mentioned. Other newspapers have requested a similar service, and it is probable that the plan will have wide use in the course of time.

So successful was the conference of the Board of Managers of the State Society with the chapter officials last June that it was repeated this year, at the Hotel Palmer, East Orange on June 13. A dinner was first served and after a brief business meeting discussion took place upon the general theme of increasing the usefulness of the organization throughout the State.

Compatriot C. Symmes Kiggins, who had a wide acquaintance in the State and national Society, having attended the annual Congress as trustee from New Jersey for many years, passed to the larger life on March 13. He had achieved a fine record of service under the American Flag, was a good man and true to the principles of our Society.

Dr. Arthur L. Johnson, President of Elizabethtown Chapter, has restored the Chapter to one of the most active in the State, during the year of his administration which closed on June 9. At this time the annual meeting was held and reports were made of the most encouraging character. Dr. Johnson has been designated Historian of the eastern end of the Oregon Trail Centenary, which will be observed this summer. He is writing the biographies of twenty-three Jersey men who participated in that famous movement across the Plains, 100 years ago, then inhabited by savages and wild animals. Dr. Johnson is also giving his personal attention to the securing of new members, having sent in over ten applicants during the first two months of the fiscal year. He arranged the observance of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Connecticut Farms, a settlement a few miles to the westward of Elizabeth, and now known by the name of Union. The exercises were held on Saturday afternoon, June 7, at the Presbyterian Church, which was standing at the time of the engagement. The historical address was given by Secretary David L. Pierson.

ORANGE CHAPTER gave a very successful card party on April 29, the proceeds being used for the S. A. R. work. The chapter held a very interesting meeting on May 15, when Colonel Frederick A. Snyder, of East Orange, who was in command of the 103d U. S. Engineers, Chief Engineer of the 28th Division, and who served under the Canadian, French and British colors, during the four years of the World War, was the speaker. He told of his experiences in the firing zone and of the fine spirit displayed by the American troops on every occasion. President H. Warren Baker presided.

The chapter enjoyed an historical tour about the Oranges on June 14, Flag Day, when David L. Pierson conducted the chapter and guests to a number of historical places in the community and gave a brief account of the history attached thereto.

NEWARK CHAPTER presented an American Flag to the Market Street High School, Newark, on April 11, the affair having been arranged by President Willard S. Muchmore, assisted by Compatriot Sylvester H. M. Agens. The latter presented the emblem which was accepted by Harrison B. Webb, principal. Rev. M. S. Waters, of the State Board of Managers, gave a stirring address, telling the students the thrill it gives one to be identified with a great organization, which the S. A. R. has proved to be. The boys and girls were profoundly impressed and each one was given a leaflet, "Our Government—How Founded," besides a printed program, and which contained the Society's pledge to the Flag.

automobiles to the Dey Mansion, at Preakness, near Paterson, where an address was given by D. Stanton Hammond, on the history of the house and Washington's connection with it. He made his headquarters there during a part of the summer of 1780. Efforts have been made by Compatriot Hammond and others associated with him in the CAPTAIN ABRAHAM GODWIN CHAPTER to secure the purchase of the mansion and grounds by the State and have it preserved as a museum. A bill was enacted into a law, providing for this diversion, but the Legislature failed to place the item in the appropriation act, which leaves the property in the hands of the Passaic County Park Commission, which will hold it till the purchase price is forthcoming from the State.

CAPTAIN ABRAHAM GODWIN CHAPTER, S. A. R., and the Ramapo Valley Chapter, D. A. R., were also participants in the outing. Resolutions of appreciation of the splendid administration of retiring President Robert W. Humphreys were adopted, to which Mr. Humphreys responded with feeling. An invitation to hold the next annual meeting at Temple, Texas was accepted.

The compatriots of San Antonio were hosts at a delightful luncheon following the business session at which there were present the officers and members of the local Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Since the report of the above meeting and just as the magazine was going to press, word was received of the sad death of Compatriot E. L. Porch, newly elected President of the Texas Society. His death will be a very great loss to the society. First Vice President, Edward M. Polk of Corsicana will serve.)

Utah Society.—The Utah Society will tender a banquet in honor of the thirty-five Governors of the United States, who will be holding their Congress in Salt Lake City in late June. The banquet will be held at the Utah Hotel, Salt Lake City, Monday evening, June 30th, and will be nationally broadcasted. It is expected that forty million citizens will be listening in over the radio, this estimate being given by the National Broadcasting Companies.

Governor George H. Dern, of Utah, will be the Toastmaster and each Governor present will speak for two minutes at the banquet and over the radio. A very strong committee is in charge of the banquet and is headed by Chauncey P. Oldfield, former Director General. It was Compatriot Oldfield who conceived the idea of the banquet, which promises to be not only most interesting, in every manner, but also of exceptional value throughout the Nation to our Society and will be attended by one thousand of the most representative citizens of the west in addition to the visiting Governors and their staffs.

Virginia Society.—Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, President of the Virginia Society has placed four special objectives before the members of his organization for the coming year, including: An important increase in Membership; the effort to secure historical and genealogical data from private and personal sources, of which Virginia has undoubtedly a vast amount; a special effort to push the movement for an adequate state library for Virginia; and an increase of local chapters of the society throughout the state. The first and last of these objectives are purely and decidedly S. A. R. projects, and the second and third equally if not quite as important to members of our society as the other two. The successful promotion of all four will be a great stimulus to the interests of our society not alone in Virginia, but generally. President Eggleston has also stressed the part Virginia S. A. R. should and must take in the Bi-Centennial Commemoration of George Washington's Birth, and urges much activity in plans for this event.

As a beginning, a new chapter has already been organized at Suffolk to be known as the NATHANIEL BACON CHAPTER. This was organized on March 27 and the formal charter was presented at the hands of President Eggleston, who with the Secretary and Registrar W. MacJones, and other officers of the State Society attended the organization meeting. The President of the new Chapter is Col. J. C. Sprigg and the Secretary and Treasurer, W. E. MacClenny. An excellent attendance constituted the first meeting and the district will cover Nansemond, Isle of Wight, Surry, Sussex and Southampton counties.

THOMAS NELSON JR., CHAPTER, Newport News. The annual meeting of this Chapter was held the last week in May and the following officers were elected: President, Walter B. Livezey; Vice Presidents, Dr. C. P. Jones, F. H. Hall, H. S. Cunningham; Secretary-Treasurer, G. Guy Via; Historian, W. T. Stauffer; Chaplain, Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin; Chorister, H. S. Cunningham; Managers, J. A. Willett, P. P. Peebles, G. D. Chenoweth, F. T. Hayward, and J. A. Luttrell.

The chapter has undertaken to restore the graves of Miles and William Carey, revolutionary patriots, buried in Warwick County. It is hoped that the State Conservation Commission may be persuaded to memorialize the cemetery in which these graves are located with one of the historical markers. The officers of the chapter have also arranged with a local wellknown historian, J. L. Kibler, to prepare for publication the biography of General and Governor Nelson, for whom the Chapter is named. Recently a number of private papers of Governor Thomas Nelson, Jr., have been located, and as information concerning him has been greatly lacking, it is felt that this will prove to be a real public service.

In anticipation of the celebration at Yorktown next year, the Chapter has had presented at its meeting a series of historical papers dealing with important persons who participated in the Yorktown Campaign, American, British and French, which will later be mimeographed for distribution.

RICHMOND CHAPTER. On Saturday, April 10th, there occurred a most unique gathering at the Westmoreland Club, Richmond—the occasion being a "Birthday Party" tendered by the RICHMOND CHAPTER to two of the Past Presidents of the Virginia Society: Dr. Joseph A. White, who was 82 years old on the 19th of April, and Major Elmore Delos Hotchkiss, whose 80th birthday occurs April 23d.

President Philip St. George Cooke, of the RICHMOND CHAPTER, presided. The invocation was offered by Rev. Solon B. Cousins of the 2d Baptist Church, and W. Mac. Jones, Genealogist General of the National Society, acted as toastmaster.

Loving Cups, suitably inscribed, were presented to each of these patriarchs,—Dr. Beverley Tucker presenting the cup to Dr. White and Mr. George C. Gregory presenting the cup to Major Hotchkiss. Both of these gentlemen responded in a happy manner. Among others who spoke were: Dr. Wm. T. Oppenheimer, Chief Surgeon of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway; A. P. Gilbert, who succeeded Major Hotchkiss as Freight Traffic Manager of the C. & O. Railway; Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, President of the Virginia Society, Sons of the American Revolution; Mr. R. Henry Harwood; Col. J. C. Sprigg, of Smithfield, President of the NATHANIEL BACON CHAPTER, S. A. R.; and Dr. W. H. T. Squires, of Norfolk, the distinguished historian.

Especially gratifying not only to the two distinguished guests of the evening, but to the many members of the RICHMOND CHAPTER present, was the attendance of the following officials of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway: W. C. Hull, C. S. Lake, E. M. Thomas, Geo. D. Brooke, Dr. W. T. Oppenheimer, Meade T. Spicer, C. C. Michie, T. H. Gurney, A. P. Gilbert, Jno. A. Hancock, Thornton Lewis, Jno. W. Nokely.

Washington State Society.—This Society held its annual meeting on February 22 at the Chamber of Commerce, Seattle, at which time the following officers were elected: President Arthur Hooker, of Spokane; Vice Presidents, Leavenworth Kershaw, Ben L. Moore, Howard H. Allen; Secretary-Treasurer Clarence L. Gere; Registrar, Walter B. Beals; Assistant Treasurer, Shields K. Wertman; Historian, John C. Gregory; Chaplain, Rev. Alfred H. Bailey; Genealogist, Harry Denton Moore. Managers, Howard Allen, Thomas M. Askren and Ernest B. Hussey. Retiring President Ira C. Brown was nominated as National Trustee.

West Virginia Society.—The fourth annual meeting of the West Virginia Society took place at the Hotel Frederick, Huntington, on the evening of April 17. At the business meeting preceding the banquet the following officers were elected: President, Mathias W. Dugan; Vice Presidents, Roy R. Hornor, Merriman S. Smith; Secretary, Franklin L. Burdette; Treasurer, W. A. Markell; Registrar, W. Guy Tetrick; Historian, J. C. McWhorter; Chaplain, Rev. M. F. Compton; National Trustee, Benjamin B. Burns. Managers, J. Hornor Davis, C. W. Thornburg, H. Clay Warth, Carl R. Varnum and E. G. Smith.

President George W. Bowers presided and special guests at the banquet included the Regent of Buford Chapter, D. A. R., Miss Frances Burgess, and Mrs. H. J. Spelman, Director of the George Donally Chapter of the C. A. R., who were briefly introduced, together with the President General of the GENERAL ANDREW LEWIS CHAPTER S. A. R., Mr. Carl R. Varnum. Buford Chapter, D. A. R., has cooperated splendidly with the local S. A. R. Chapter in the presentation of the Good Citizenship Medals, and indeed was sponsor for these awards before the organization of the West Virginia State Society S. A. R., which has since taken up this work also, and this year through the generosity of retiring President, George W. Bowers, has given 250 medals throughout the state.

Judge H. Clay Warth was the speaker of the evening who gave a forceful discussion on "The Constitution."

GENERAL ANDREW LEWIS CHAPTER, Huntington, held its annual meeting on April 10 at which time it was voted to include the title of General preceding the name of the chapter so that in future the chapter will be known as named at the beginning of this paragraph. Officers were elected as follows: President, W. J. Harvie; Vice Presidents, George S. Patterson, J. M. Beale; Secretary-Treasurer,

C. C. Harrold; Historian, Frank L. Burdette; Registrar, H. O. Aleshire; Chaplain, Rev. J. S. Thornburg.

The following Good Citizenship Medals were awarded in the Huntington Public Schools at the close of the year: Huntington High School, presented to Witcher McMillen by M. W. Dugan; Douglass High School, to Arnold Morris by Cyrus Van Bibber; Douglass Junior High School, to David Walker, by Cyrus Van Bibber; Cammack Junior High School, to Joe Ingham by Cyrus Van Bibber; Central to William Taylor by F. L. Burdette; Lincoln Junior High School, to Oakley Junior High School, to David Tobin by T. W. Peyton; Enslow Junior High School, Smithers by Cyrus Van Bibber; Vinson Junior High School, by a member of the faculty to Kyle Bial; West Junior High School, to Donald Neal by Franklin L. Burdette.

Rapid progress is being made toward the organization of a Chapter at Parkersburg. Mrs. George W. Johnson, an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is assisting in the organization and in the preparation of membership applications. An enthusiastic meeting of prospective members has been held and a temporary organization effected.

Wyoming Society.—The annual meeting of this Society was held on February 22 at the Hotel Conner, Laramie, with President Henry R. Butler presiding. Reports showed a satisfactory financial condition and the address of the evening was given by Rev. Arthur L. Miller of Laramie whose subject was "Washington and His Enemies."

Resolutions on the death of the late Senator Francis E. Warren, a member of the Wyoming Society were presented and a contribution to the Student Welfare Foundation of the University of Wyoming was authorized, the amount to be determined by the Board of Managers. Compatriot Edward Hagaman Hall of the Empire State Society, now residing at Laramie was a guest and spoke briefly, speaking of some of the early history of the National Society, of which he was one of the earliest members, and with the late Chauncey M. Depew had helped to organize the Empire State Society. Vocal solos completed a pleasant program, and the result of the election of officers was announced as follows: President Cassius M. Eby; Vice President, Harold C. Vaughn; Secretary, George Edwin Knapp; Treasurer, Edward H. Rawson; Historian, Ross B. Moudy. Leslie A. Miller, Henry R. Butler and Edward E. Fitch were elected to the Board of Management.

The residence at Laramie of the new President and Secretary, Compatriots Eby and Knapp, will transfer the headquarters of the society to that city, and there is the probability of the formation of local chapters within this state in the near future.

Through the efforts of the officers of the Wyoming Society, excellent publicity has been obtained in the press throughout the state for suitable observance of Patriot's Day, April 19, which brought a very widespread display of the American Flag and many appropriate ceremonies of remembrance.
