The PRESIDENT GENERAL'S MESSAGE

From Columbus, Ohio

EUGENE C. MCGUIRE

where the work is most necessary and where the increase in numbers is so important to our future. Membership is the essential objective and we ask you to apply yourselves with new fervor and zeal in this endeavor.

As the bicentennial year approaches, we shall see evidence in the market place and in the press that recall the Revolutionary War period that is cause for our existence, and what better relativity could be introduced to the public than activity and membership in the S.A.R. There is evidence now that will support increased interest in our society.

In order that we may succeed in any program, communication is a most necessary element, and we feel that we are now in a better position to aid the state societies and chapters with information to bolster their work. A new handbook is available for instructions to all compatriots for a better knowledge of our society. New material will be available for medals and awards. Our magazine has and will provide you with information on our activities.

Many of our state societies are adopting modern practices in their annual reports and have computerized their membership rolls. A central or coordinated system might be advantageous. Our financial procedures at all levels of our society might well be reorganized to attain better business results. At the National Headquarters, we are examining our format to assure the best accounting practices. We should always remember that there must be a solid financial

The honor of serving you as President General is accepted with humility and gratitude. We are aware of the obligations and responsibilities that are required. We know also that for a full realization of our aims and objects, it will require the cooperation and assistance of our entire membership.

To a great degree, it is at the member level background to support our work, particularly in these inflationary times.

Over the years, there has developed an acute need at our National Headquarters for the Memorial Library Addition to our present building. Your help in providing funds for this has been advocated for some time. We must expand our activities and it will require the facilities proposed by this building. We have now reached the limit on space for library purposes as well as that required for meetings and reception of guests. We believe it is vital to our future public image and in keeping with the new buildings that have enhanced the Massachusetts Avenue area.

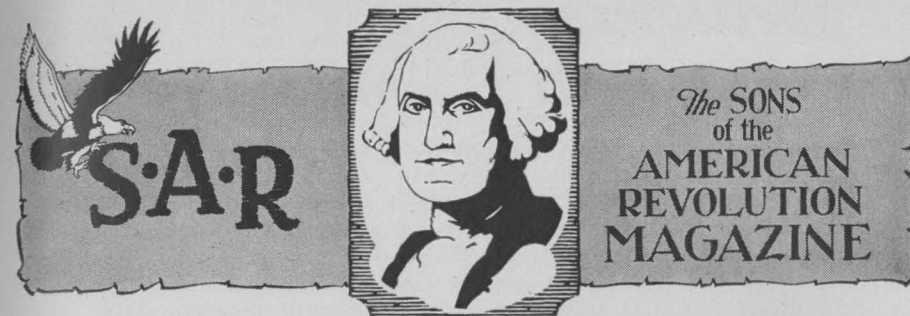

With due regard for the many details that confront us, there is always that definition of the work of this society. We request that you again enlighten yourselves about our constitutional prerogatives. Under the law, we have limitations as an organization which prevent us from political activity. At the same time, we enjoy the privileges of tax exemption to pursue those objects that are patriotic, historical, and educational to which our founders dedicated their efforts. Within this framework, many chapters and state societies have found and engaged in projects of which we are proud. It is the individual member who can create the image and perform the role that symbolizes the place of our society in the history of the day.

There is strength and enthusiasm in our membership, and you will be encouraged to know that many young men are engaged in our activities. It is invigorating to work with them and to know our future is in good hands. We are beginning to show many young applicants joining our society and with the adjustment made this last year in our statistics, we look forward to a very good year ahead. It is hoped that our visitations will permit us to talk to you in person about more than membership and money, never forgetting these are the essentials that keep us active.

Finally, we report that our Congress at Atlantic City was a most satisfactory one that we all enjoyed. The officers with whom we will be associated are capable and will be of great assistance in our progress. The work of the Congress was fruitful and our resolutions need your careful appraisal and active support. It is you, the member, that makes it possible to attain our objectives and we earnestly solicit your support.

Across the miles, we clasp your hands with warmth and God's blessings.

Eugene C. McGuire

Medicine During The American Revolution

by David B. Davis, M.D., Surgeon General, SAR

Wars have not always been won by force of arms. In all major conflicts up to World War II, disease caused more casualties than shot and shell.

Early War Department figures have indicated that over 392,000 men served in the army, navy and marine corps. However, it should be remembered that these figures included names of men who served 2 and sometimes 3 enlistments. Size of fighting units was small for Washington never had under his command more than 17,000 men at any one time and frequently fought battles with only seven or eight thousand.

Even these small units required the services of medical officers. When the war began there were approximately 3500 physicians practicing in the colonies, 1400 served in the army and navy as hospital surgeons, surgeons and surgeons mates. The word 'surgeons' was a military title and did not refer to surgery. Surgeons mates were usually younger physicians who had recently completed their training. In addition to acting in the capacity of physicians, more than 50 doctors fought in the line. Perhaps the most notable was Dr. Joseph Warren, a major general of militia, who was killed at the battle of Breed's Hill. Nine physicians took part in the fighting on the 19th of April at Lexington.

Prior to the Revolution, there was no organized medical department to serve the armed forces, such as militia. A few physicians had served as regimental surgeons in the various provinces after receiving a temporary appointment from the colonel in charge.

After Washington became commander in chief of the army on July 3, 1775, he took over his responsibilities at Boston. One of his first tasks was an inspection of camps and military units. He then wrote to the 2nd Continental Congress pointing out the immediate need for establishment of a medical department. A medical committee, one of 100 congressional committees, was appointed, and following a report by the committee, Congress, on July 27, 1775, established a hospital (a word used in place of department—it did not refer to a building) for an army of 20,000. Figures for numbers of surgeons, surgeons mates, apothecaries and nurses in the report were soon found to be woefully inadequate. In actual practice, surgeons and surgeons mates were appointed regimental surgeons and traveled with troops, hospital surgeons worked in general hospitals which were located near large winter camps in the North. No Southern medical department was in operation until late in the War.

Eighteenth century physicians were usually trained by serving an apprenticeship of from three to seven years with a doctor in an established practice. He then received an M.D. degree if he could pass an examination by three physicians who were appointed by the medical society in the province in which he resided. Few had ever attended a medical school and only an occasional man (there were no women physicians in those days) crossed the Atlantic to study at University of Edinburgh's famous medical school. Three physicians, Doctors Morgan, Rush and Shippers, who served in the war and were faculty members at the Medical School of Philadelphia, later University of Pennsylvania, had studied there. Colonial physicians were as well educated as most medical men of that era.

High death rate in those who were wounded or ill was due to primitive medical knowledge of the day. Causes of infection were not known and no asepsis was practiced. Laennec had not yet invented the stethoscope (his results were reported in 1818) and the now commonly used hypodermic syringes were not in evidence until 1853; all glass syringes were introduced by Luer in 1896, and medical thermometers did not come into general use until 1868.

According to Col. Boatner, there were never more than 500 casualties (wounded, dead and missing) in any one battle of the war. To one killed in action, in 18th Century warfare, there were three to four wounded. Official figures give a total of 4435 battle deaths, and John Adams stated that ten men died of disease to one in battle. Most wounds were caused by small arms, few by artillery, as cannon could not be used to advantage in heavily wooded country. In contrast, World War II and Korean War records show that 92% of wounds were due to fragments from grenades, mortar and artillery shells.

Surgical treatment in the years of the Revolution was limited to probing for bullets; amputations for fractures of bones in arms and legs, particularly compound fractures, and suturing of abdominal wounds. Ends of cut tendons were approximated and held in place by immobilizing the extremity in plaster.

Most journals written by physicians and some soldiers include descriptions of all the common ailments experienced by troops. Four—diarrhea, dysentery, rheumatism and small pox caused greatest morbidity and mortality rates with typhus a close runner up. Diarrhea was an extremely frequent disorder due to contaminated food and improper care of cooking and eating utensils. Often referred to as bloody flux, dysentery was caused by then unknown bacterial infection transferred from one soldier to another.

Rheumatism was a general term for various bone and joint disorders, but from descriptions, most cases in this category would now be classified as Acute Rheumatoid Arthritis. Small pox was transferred from soldier to soldier in field and hospital. Early in the war, men were inoculated from one who had the disease, supposedly giving the recipient a mild form of the disease with subsequent immunity. But it didn't work that way, for the vigorous life in the field caused many to develop a severe form of the disease; so many died that General Washington issued an order to discontinue the practice, with threat of court martial for noncompliance. Doctors Senter and Merrick gave vivid descriptions of the suffering from small pox which was probably the major cause of defeat in the Canadian Campaign. In July, 1781, British officers proposed the use of this disease in germ warfare by sending infected negroes to rebel plantations near Petersburg, Virginia, with the idea that the disease would spread to American troops.

Typhus, which has been the scourge of armies throughout history, was listed as ship, jail or camp fever. Soldiers feared entering a hospital with a minor wound or illness as they were aware that many had developed the fever and treatment for this dreaded disease.

Three forms of medical treatment, bleeding, purging and the production of emesis probably did more harm than good, but were used in accord with medical thought of the day. We know that drugs were used as a list was compiled by Dr. William Brown, Physician General of the Middle Department, and published in 1778 as the first Pharmacopoeia in this country. Some medicines listed, such as Opium, Calcium Carbonate (listed as Chalk), Peruvian Bark (now Quinine) and Paregoric, to mention a few, are in common use by physicians of the present day, so not all the medicines used in that eight years of war can be called 'simples'.

Much of the confusion, inefficiency and poor organization of medical services experienced in the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812 were not eliminated until an Act of Congress in 1818 appointed a Surgeon General as head of the Medical Staff with power to issue orders. Physicians in the Revolution were limited in their efforts to relieve suffering because of lack of medical knowledge and supplies, but few were the complaints as to their diligence.

The President General and First Lady visit the Capitol

An air of cordiality prevails on Capitol Hill in Washington during a visit by President General and Mrs. Eugene C. McGuire to the office of U. S. Congressman Joel T. Broyhill. During the visitation, the President General (left) presented Compatriot Broyhill, a member of the Virginia Society, with the SAR Legislators' Award.

... and how about your will, Compatriot?

On many occasions when we are talking to our fellow Compatriots about bequests for our Society, the S.A.R., we are asked just who are a person's heirs. Maybe you have wondered, too. The answer depends largely on whether you prepare a will or whether you do nothing and let the legislature of your state write one for you. A review will show you the difference.

One person whom you just can't ignore when you consider disposing of your estate at your death is your wife. You can't leave her out of your will unless she agrees to it. Try it and she can still come in and take one-third of your estate in the hands of your executor if you have children, or she'll get one-half of this property if you have no children. Under your will you can leave her more but you can't leave her less without her consent. If you have no will then the laws spell out exactly what she is to receive, no more and no less. She'll get one-half of your estate held by your executor if you have a child, grandchild, father, mother, brother, sister, nephew, niece or cousin. If there are none of these then she'll get it all. This works the other way as well, so she can't ignore you, either.

You can leave your children out of your will if you want to. You don't even have to give them a dollar. Of course, with a will you can always leave your child more, and you can make the amounts unequal among your children. If you have no will then your children share equally in your probate estate — splitting one-half if your wife survives, or splitting all of it if she doesn't.

A legally adopted child will be treated the same as your natural child but a stepchild will be forgotten. Remember this if you have a child around your home and you're not the natural father.

Father, mother, brother, sister, nephew, and niece can share in your probate estate only if you name them in your will or if you die without any children. If your wife survives but there are no children, then these people will split one-half; but if you have no wife and no child, then they will split it all. If your wife survives you and then dies, nothing will go to your family—all of it to hers—unless, of course, she has a will.

Just how much each of these may get after your wife and children is too involved for us to be able to set out the ground rules here. Working it out is a job for the lawyers. However, in some of your meditating moments you might contemplate some of your relatives—or some of your in-law—who can wind up with your property if you don't do anything.

One "heir" you can be sure you won't have unless you draw a will... the S.A.R. Make our Society your heir even if the amount is small—or if its position in line must come after your wife and children. Why not see your attorney soon and have him draw up your will as YOU want it.

Many situations necessitate the editing of submitted copy, and we reserve the customary editorial prerogative of condensing or omitting that which circumstances justify.

Due to limited space, the text of speeches and essays cannot be published.

Submitted photographs should be black and white glossy prints, for satisfactory reproduction, and should be "SAR subject-related."

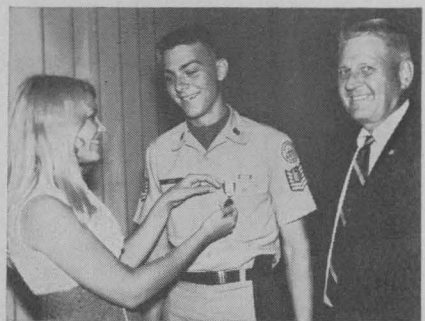

Do not send photographs or material which are of such value that their return is necessitated. A service charge of $1 will be made for each photo or item that must be returned.

A highlight of the Convention was the State SAR Oration Contest, the winner being David Feaster of St. Petersburg. David represented the Florida Society at the 81st Annual Congress at Atlantic City, and was a credit to his sponsors. The State Contest Chairman was Comp. Phil Gott. The Convention was a resounding success, and special credit is accorded Mayor James Leavitt of Ft. The Fort Lauderdale Chapter held its April meeting at sea, aboard Vice President Jim Moore's palatial yacht. Nineteen members cruised the intracoastal waterway to Hillsboro Inlet. Pres. Matthew B. Sellers won the anchor pool, conducted for benefit of the Chapter treasury, the prize being a miniature Revolutionary cannon, donated by 2nd V.P. John Dye. At the Chapter's March meeting, Lt. Cmdr. Wier, commanding the Naval Ordnance Lab, spoke on the activities of his command. This is a test facility for mines, torpedoes, and related ships and equipment.

The Tallahassee Chapter has stepped in with leadership, interest and organization, saving from abandonment the South's oldest festival, the Tallahassee May Party, which commenced in 1833. The well-attended event took place at the traditional location, under the boughs of an ancient huge oak, estimated to be well over a thousand years old. Twelve children of SARs participated in the colorful ceremonies. The Tallahassee Chapter is to be commended for salvaging this event of Americana, with particular credit directed to Pres. Homer Brinkley and Chairman David A. Avant, Jr., who was the Chapter's first President.

At recent ROTC ceremonies, Comp. Paul B. Worley of the Tampa Chapter, presented an SAR scholarship and honor medal to Cadet Richard Baldwin. At the same time, SAR-ROTC Medals were being presented at 2 other Tampa high schools by Chapter members.

On June 1st in the Verandah Room of the City Club in Baton Rouge, the Gen. Philemon Thomas Chapter convened and heard a stirring address by Louis E. Jenkins, Jr. The active spirit of this Chapter is reflected in a recent adopted resolution supporting Mr. J. Edgar Hoover and the F.B.I. The presentation was so outstanding that it was reprinted in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD by U.S. Congressman Rarick.

MINNESOTA SOCIETY

The Minnesota Society, led by Chaplain Gen. Joseph B. Head, is waging a fight against the recent action of Gov. Wendell Anderson in ordering that the U.N. flag be flown alongside the American flag at the main entrance of the State Capitol. It is significant that the U.N. flag is, by far, the larger of the two. In a further action, that has been labeled unconstitutional, the Governor has signed a "Declaration of World Citizenship," imposing "World Citizenship" upon the citizens of Minnesota. Compatriot Head has challenged Gov. Anderson to a referendum on the issue.

On June 2nd, Past Chaplain General Mott Sawyers departed this life, shortly before his 101st birthday. Dr. Sawyers was a familiar figure at all National Congresses and was active in SAR affairs to the end of his distinguished life.

MISSISSIPPI SOCIETY

The Joseph Warren Chapter hosted the Mississippi Society 62nd Annual Meeting at Vicksburg, and is credited with a highly efficient and interesting program. Outgoing President W. E. Belt greeted Past Presidents General Walter R. Martin, Horace Y. Kitchell and James B. Gardiner. President Tullius Brady assumed the gavel, and

During April and May, 15 SAR-ROTC Medals were awarded by the State Society at Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC units at the Univ. of N.M., N.M. State, Eastern N.M., and N.M. Military Institute. All have developed excellent units and, in keeping with SAR tradition, medals are awarded for leadership quality and all-around excellence. Personal conversation with some boys has revealed that their ROTC training has resulted in a renewed interest in education, and in at least one instance avoided a dropout.

EMPIRE STATE (N.Y.) SOCIETY

The Empire State Society held its annual meeting and banquet at the U.S. Hotel Thayer at West Point on April 17. The event honored Maj. Gen. William A. Knowlton, Supt. of the U.S. Military Academy. ASTRONAUT SHEPARD HONORED

Portrayed at the bestowal ceremonies, following presentation of the SAR Good Citizenship Medal, are (l to r): Rear Admiral Allan B. Shepard, Jr.; President General Eugene C. McGuire; New Hampshire President Donald G. Barton, M.D.; and Vice President General David V. Prugh of the New England District.

Rear Admiral Alan Bartlett Shepard, Jr. was the recipient of our National Society's highest award on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of his parents at a reception held at the Nashua County Club on June 30, 1971. The award given by the New Hampshire Society, the Gold Good Citizenship Medal, was first presented by State President Donald G. Barton to President General Eugene C. McGuire, who made the actual presentation of the Medal and a Citation to the Admiral. In his remarks, Mr. McGuire commended Admiral Shepard for his pioneering as America's First Astronaut into the realms of unlimited outer space, for overcoming adversities that threatened to keep him from taking part in the very successful Apollo XIV mission to the Moon in January of this year, for his setting an example to the free world, and particularly the younger generation, of the same kind of initiative that was exemplified by the founders of our Country. Mr. McGuire quoted the S.A.R. inscription on the gold medal: "Our inspiration is from the past; our duty is in the present; our hope is in the future."

4. The backbones who get under the load and do most of the work.

Over 1,500 American men are missing in Southeast Asia. The families of these men are in distress. WON'T YOU HELP!!

The wives, children and parents of these men do not even know if they are alive or dead. North Vietnam has never officially released any names of men they hold prisoner. The Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam signed, clearly specifies that all prisoners will be completely identified—that all sick and injured prisoners will be immediately released—that POW camps will be partially inspected and that POW's should be allowed to write not less than 6 cards and letters per month. The North Vietnamese REFUSE to honor any of these provisions.

What Can You Do?

North Vietnam does not believe that we as Americans are concerned about the fate and inhuman treatment of "only 1,500 men." YOU can help prove to them that ANY AMERICAN'S well being is the concern of ALL OF US by spending a few minutes and 20c and writing to:

THE NORTH VIETNAM EMBASSY
PARIS, FRANCE
(Air Mail Postage is 20c)
(1st Class Postage is 13c)

and DEMANDING that they:

1. Identify all POW's they hold.
2. Release all sick and injured POW's to a neutral power.
3. Allow impartial inspection of POW facilities.
4. Allow free exchange of mail by POW's and members of their families.

Prisoners of War are guaranteed basic human rights by International Law. Their families have the right to know if they are alive—and to communicate with them if they are.

Think of these American boys so far away from their families and think of their families who do not know if their sons, husbands, fathers, are even alive.

The Independent Individual

The social unit is the independent individual; the more individual and independent he is, the more able is he to cooperate, and the stronger the society he creates. Cooperation is possible only amongst independent individuals; amongst others, there may be regimentation but no creative cooperation. Society is a vast, natural, complex, intentional, and yet largely unconscious cooperation amongst those able to stand on their own, and, in the exigencies of life, lend a hand.

The Horseneck Uprising

Every red-blooded American knows that in 1775, the colonists of Lexington, Massachusetts fired the shots against the British which triggered our American Revolution. Few people, however, are aware that thirty years earlier, a revolt took place in New Jersey which probably was the first act of armed resistance to English tyranny anywhere in the thirteen colonies.

The "Horseneck Uprising," as this revolt was called, was the result of a land dispute between the colonists and the Crown. In 1744, the East Jersey Proprietors, representing the British Government, suddenly announced that any deeds for purchases of Indian land were worthless. What's more, they demanded that settlers living on such land either "repurchase" it from them or be dispossessed.

Settlers in Horseneck (today's Livingston-Caldwell area) were furious. Pay the Crown for land they already owned? Never! They had bought the land tract from the Indians for 130 pounds in 1702. By every legal and moral right, it was their property and they wouldn't budge from it.

That was all the English Proprietors needed to hear. They immediately singled out one of the most prominent Horseneck farmers, Samuel Baldwin, had him arrested and thrown into the Newark jail as an example. The charge? Cutting logs on his own land after refusing to re-buy it.

News of the outrage spread like wildfire. Within a few hours, 300 angry Horseneck farmers, armed with cudgels, blunderbusses and clubs, marched to Newark, broke into the jail, overpowered the guards and freed the prisoner. Not a shot had been fired; not a man had been harmed. But, most important, the settlers had the first successful resistance against British tyranny, resistance which was to continue until the winning of the American Revolution would finally give them their freedom.

Today, no plaque or monument marks the spot where this brave action took place, nor is the story told in many history books. Nevertheless, the Horseneck Uprising should stand out as a momentous event in our Country's struggle for freedom.

RESOLUTIONS

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, at its 81st Annual Congress, assembled from June 6th through June 9th, 1971, at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, New Jersey, adopted by unanimous vote, the following resolutions:

Resolution No. 1

WHEREAS, the 80th Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution meeting in Houston, Texas, in June, 1970, adopted a resolution expressing unequivocal support of voluntary Bible reading and prayers in our public schools; and

WHEREAS, more than a hundred resolutions have been introduced in the United States Senate and House having as their purpose amending the Constitution to allow voluntary Bible reading and prayers in public schools; and

WHEREAS, many thousands of signatures have been presented in support of such efforts; and

WHEREAS, all efforts to amend the Constitution have failed to reach the floor of Congress because of the inaction of the respective Congressional Committees:

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution recommends amending the United States Constitution to accomplish voluntary Bible reading and prayer in public schools; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be forwarded to members of both the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States.

Resolution No. 2

WHEREAS, the UN Genocide Treaty is a dangerous document that may become the law of the land, and if ratified by the Senate of the United States could nullify the freedoms our forefathers fought for; and

WHEREAS, the treaty could abrogate the United States Constitution and would impose World Court Jurisdiction over the acts of United States citizens, including military personnel, who could be tried by foreign tribunals without the protection of the Bill of Rights; and

WHEREAS, ratification of the treaty would ban irrevocable surrender of our Republic and its form of government to One-World United Nations Government:

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in Congress assembled this 9th day of June, 1971, oppose ratification of the Genocide Treaty in any form whatsoever by the United States Senate; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be presented to each member of the United States Senate.

Resolution No. 3

WHEREAS, there has been considerable discussion in the United States Senate concerning the jurisdiction over the Continental Shelf; and

WHEREAS, there are valuable mineral resources on the Continental Shelf; and

WHEREAS, the International Court of Justice said in 1969 that "those rights in our submerged land continent are inherent rights by virtue of our sovereignty over the adjacent land," and

WHEREAS, there has been an effort to limit the sovereignty to submerged land only 200 meters deep; and

WHEREAS, if we agree to the 200 meters depth the United States will lose many thousand square miles of submerged land;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in Congress assembled that the United States insist on retaining sovereignty over all of our Continental Shelf regardless of depth, until it plunges into the deep ocean.

Resolution No. 4

BE IT RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution at its 81st Annual Congress assembled that the local, states and national societies, Sons of the American Revolution, cooperate annually in a "USA Appreciation Sunday," and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the third Sunday in October each year be set aside for participation in local services; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that to implement this Resolution, suitable materials be made available upon request to the Executive Secretary, Chairman of the Americanism Committee, or the Chaplain General; and

IT IS HEREBY RECOMMENDED that where feasible the state societies and local chapters attend church services in a body where recognition is assured by a pastor and the congregation and that invitations be extended to related patriotic organizations to join in the observance.

Resolution No. 5

WHEREAS, the current status of Cuba as a Communist puppet which involves naval, air, and missile threats to the United States is in direct violation of the Monroe Doctrine and existing agreements:

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that foreign Communist governments be presented a United States demand to remove their presence from Cuba, and if they fail to do so the United States stands prepared to introduce its own military posture into the area, including blockade, occupation, or other measures as may be deemed most appropriate and effective to enforce the Monroe Doctrine.

Resolution No. 6

WHEREAS, there is a growing need for the presentation of the historical facts concerning our American patriots; and

WHEREAS, there is a determined effort on the part of subversive elements to undermine and distort the history and background of our country;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in Annual Congress assembled that the problems of Communist infiltration in our public schools is a constant threat to our system of government and that a committee of compatriots will render a valuable service by examining the textbooks used in the schools of our nation and the books which are on the list for supplementary reading.

Resolution No. 7

WHEREAS, the F.B.I. and J. Edgar Hoover and their administrative policies have been under unprecedented attack; and

WHEREAS, there has been increasing attack on all law enforcement agencies in this country; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Hoover and the Agency he heads symbolize law and order to the entire nation; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Hoover is one of the greatest examples of dedication to civil order and to the protection of the rights of the individual and of the Nation as a whole,

BE IT RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution at its 81st Annual Congress assembled that it voices its wholehearted support of the policies and excellent leadership of Mr. Hoover, personally, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation and that a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. Hoover, to the President of the United States, and to the Attorney General of the United States.

Resolution No. 8

BE IT RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in its 81st Annual Congress assembled that the local, states and national societies of the Sons of the American Revolution deplore and condemn the action of those Representatives and Senators who condoned and aided demonstrators in their effort to shut down the operation of the government of the United States and looked with a tolerant eye while every symbol of our Republic was vilified.

Resolution No. 9

WHEREAS, the Congress has on hand a bill to abolish the electoral college, and to elect a president by popular vote, and

WHEREAS, the bill to elect a president by popular vote has been passed by the House of Representatives and is now in the Senate; and

WHEREAS, elections by popular vote would make it possible for 10 states to elect a president; and

WHEREAS, a situation of this kind could bring a chaotic condition to our nation and put it under control of ten of the fifty states:

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution at its 81st Annual Congress assembled that it opposes any action that would abolish the electoral college; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States and to each Senator of the 50 states of the United States, strongly urging each Senator to vote against any and all bills that would abolish the electoral college.

Resolution No. 10

WHEREAS, as a direct result of sanctions imposed against Rhodesia by the United Nations and supported by the United States, the United States now purchases Chromium Ore from Soviet Russia, at a greatly inflated price; and

WHEREAS, Chromium Ore is essential to the production of weapons necessary for our National defense, as well as materials and equipment necessary in our daily lives; and

WHEREAS, Chromium Ore is in such short supply that our Government has recently had to release for domestic use a large part of our strategic stockpile:

NOW, THEREFORE the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution reaffirms Resolution No. 9 as adopted by the 80th Congress of the Society urging the immediate establishment of diplomatic relations and the resumption of trade with the Republic of Rhodesia.

Resolution No. 11

WHEREAS, the Federal flag desecration statute, Title 18, United States Code, Section 700, became effective July 5, 1968, and provides "Whoever knowingly casts contempt upon any flag of the United States by publicly mutilating, defacing, defiling, burning, or trampling upon it shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more

WHEREAS, Title 36, United States Code, Chapter 10 contains a codification of rules and customs pertaining to display of the flag; any use of the flag involving disrespect, although perhaps not involving desecration, would violate these customs and rules. However, the provisions of this chapter do not contain criminal penalties:

NOW, THEREFORE IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in annual Congress assembled that all compatriots and all citizens of the United States be urged to support and seek enforcement of the Flag code and the Desecration Statute in each state and local community.

Resolution No. 12

WHEREAS, legislation is pending in Congress to make it a Federal crime to fly the flag of a country with which we are engaged in hostilities:

THEREFORE BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in annual congress assembled that all compatriots and all citizens of the United States be urged to support legislation that would punish citizens flying the flag of our enemy.

Senator Strom Thurmond (lt) looks on as Chancellor General Carl J. Hoffmann administers the oath of office to President General Eugene C. McGuire (rt).

10, 11, and 12, rather than the last two years as heretofore. He stated that a large majority of the committee approved the change and moved its adoption. The motion was seconded by Compatriot DeWeerd and adopted, with the understanding that any participant not winning may compete in another year.

Compatriot Barton moved that the Board authorize a study of what the Society's tax liability would be and the approximate amount of money involved should our tax-exempt status be allowed to lapse. The motion was seconded and passed by a voice vote. Chancellor General Hoffmann volunteered to act as a committee to one to look into the matter.

A gift to the SAR of historical art

Thanks to the generosity of Mrs. Helen Fay Hester a resident of Mease Manor in Dunedin, Florida, the National Society has acquired an item of historic value. Mrs. Hester's gift, a steel engraving of the famous painting, "Family Group at Mount Vernon," painted by Edward Savage in 1796, was accepted by Hon. Pres. Gen. Harold L. Putnam as the representative of the National Society.

On Feb. 22nd, the "St. Petersburg Times" printed an illustration of the engraving and described it thus: "The Family Group at Mt. Vernon was painted in 1796 by Edward Savage, a Massachusetts-born painter and engraver whose studio was eventually moved to Philadelphia. The original is now owned by the Philadelphia Museum of Art." Depicted are (l to r) John Parke Custis, Washington's stepson; The President; Eleanor Parke Custis ("Patsy," as she was called), Washington's stepdaughter; and Martha Washington, his wife.

Savage did several other studies of Washington, all of which depict "The Father of His Country" in a rather stiff and formal manner, but with meticulous attention to detail, which might be expected from a painter-engraver.

It is hoped that funds for the construction of the greatly needed Memorial Library Building will be forthcoming in the near future, which will provide museum space to display this picture and other historical items.

Present SAR National Headquarters

Projected Addition

It is becoming increasingly difficult for the National Headquarters staff to operate efficiently because the present facilities, originally designed as a private home, are no longer adequate. With the mounting work load, together with a growing inventory of genealogical volumes and museum items, we must have more space for offices, records, library and museum. The practical and most economical solution is the construction of an adjoining building, to be built upon our adjoining side lot. The building has been authorized by the National Trustees and the 77th Annual Congress . . . subject to our ability to raise the necessary funds.

Exhibit the spirit of sacrifice displayed by your Revolutionary forebears, and join the distinguished ranks below. Your tax-deductible donation may be dedicated to the memory of a loved one. Please act today.

The following list acknowledges the generosity of those who have donated or pledged to the Memorial Library Building Fund:

IN MEMORIAM

Compatriot William E. Springer of 5845 E. Indian School Road, Phoenix, Arizona 85018 passed away on March 5, 1971 after a relatively short illness.

Bill applied for membership in our National Society on July 24, 1923. His National number was 73340. He joined the Arizona State Society on May 29, 1951 with #214.

After serving the Arizona Society in various capacities, he was elected to the Board of National Trustees in 1953 thru 1955. He served as Vice President General of the Rocky Mountain District in 1955-56. He was again elected as National Trustee in 1958 and served thru 1963. He served on the Credentials Committee at many Annual Congresses, including the 75th.

He also served on the following National Committees: Independence Day Observance 1955-1956, Bill of Rights Commemorative 1961-1968, and also the First Founders Committee 64, Constitution Day 1968, Implementation in 1952.

On June 20, 1966 Bill was awarded the Minute Man Award by the Board of National Trustees.

Bill was always that mainstay of the Arizona Society. Though he was a success as a cattle feeder, as a business man, and as a banker, he always wanted to be known as a "farmer." He has left a vacuum that cannot be easily filled.

We are sure that all of you wish to join with the Arizona Society in extending our deepest sympathy to Ethyl and their family.
