The PRESIDENT GENERAL'S MESSAGE

From Columbus, Ohio

EUGENE C. MCGUIRE
PRESIDENT GENERAL

It will be interesting for you to know the results of the membership reports for the first nine months of our fiscal year. We are encouraged with a ten percent increase in new members and a twenty-five percent increase in reinstatements, compared with the same nine months of last year. This indicates that many people are at work for the Society and that we can improve our membership roster.

We have placed membership high on our priority in every state society and believe we should give those states credit who have noticeably helped in this effort. The first five states in number of applications are Texas, Florida, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Illinois, in that order. Louisiana shows the greatest number of reinstatements and is high on the new member list. We must compliment many other states who have improved their position and comment in general that there are many people who desire to be asked and will join this Society.

There will undoubtedly be a change in the final reports for the year and Florida appears to be approaching a new position in national rank, with Texas coming up in the standings. The next three months present a great opportunity for the continuance of our membership efforts and we hope for an excellent year.

Membership is followed by money in importance and in our financial report, we find the Society in a solid position with the best record we have had for some time. It is always a pleasure to present information which signifies that progress is being made. We can also report that our Memorial Library Fund now exceeds fifty thousand dollars and awaits your help for the final realization of this much needed development.

Our first six months of visitations have brought us close contact with several state societies and some mixed emotions. There are many more visits scheduled. Among them will be found situations that must be revised to really give the National Society the help that is required to earn the greatness it deserves.

It is at the chapter level that achievement has to start if success is to be attained. We try to emphasize this point in our speeches and in our travels. We have found most favorable reports where chapters are active and we are reminded there is always the national project idea in our minds which can only work through chapter participation with strong support across the nation. State societies that have chapters must sincerely study their organization problems for better end results.

It is the business end of this Society that we endeavor to improve and this must be done. All State and Chapter officers should review their fiscal matters as well as the pattern of their organization to assure a smooth and harmonious result. In some cases, facilities have been maintained that are unnecessary and costly. We are fully aware of the generous work that goes into the operation of this Society, and we are very thankful for the results of this effort. Time has a way of changing conditions and study and preparation should be made to meet any situation that might arise. We want to assure you that conditions of this nature have been recognized in several areas and changes have been made or are in process. We have made some recommendations which we hope will be helpful, but our principal request is that you continue the active and sincere help you have given to achieve a greater success.

It is essential that you should know that we are making an effort to correlate our activity with that of the Government in the Bicentennial Commission. Progress has been slow and serious effort has been made. At this time, the National Commission is placing most of the planning in the hands of state organizations where we must eventually have our members involved. So far there is no commitment from the Government for a primary project. There is always the possibility that we may have a closer relationship than is now apparent with our National Society.

We look forward in anticipation to the Congress at Indianapolis in June with tremendous interest, and it will be one of the greatest. Plan to be there!

EDITORIAL

WARREN S. WOODWARD
EDITOR

In my opinion, the American Man of the Year is our Vietnam Veteran. I gratefully salute him.

This young man has been maligned, ignored, misunderstood and betrayed.

He has bravely faced a bestial enemy, handicapped in being denied his right to victory, although he has clearly proven that his combat ability is superior to that of the godless enemy. He has coped with drugs, insidiously introduced by the Red Chinese barbarians. He has been maimed and killed by weapons and ammunition supplied by false allies of the free world, reaping their thirty pieces of silver. He has withstood a torrid climate, with temperatures to 105°. He has been maligned by hostile and unfair news media, fully as unsupporting as that of the foe. He has been rightfully embittered by gutless vermin who have fled to Canada and Sweden, forsaking the nation that made them the most privileged citizens on earth. He has seen American traitors flaunt the enemy's flag on the very steps of the U.S. Capitol.

When he returns home, there are no parades, celebrations or public honors. Thousands of his crippled and maimed comrades languish in Veterans' Hospitals, ignored by their fellow-Americans.

His G.I. benefits are but a pitiful fraction of his Korean War and World War II counterparts.

The Labor Department reports that 320,000 Vietnam veterans are currently seeking employment. Their unemployment rate is 35% higher than that for the total labor force. Do employers prefer slackers and cowards?

... But, in spite of all this, he has kept the scourge of communism from the South Vietnamese people, and has upset the Red timetable.

I cannot speak for all Americans, but I firmly believe that most of my SAR compatriots honor the Vietnam veteran as our Man of the Year ... or should I say, our Forgotten Man of the Year?

This editorial reflects the opinions of the Editor and is not to be construed as the official view of the Sons of the American Revolution.

GOVERNMENT NOTABLES ATTEND NATIONAL TRUSTEES RECEPTION

A colorful reception for the National Trustees, hosted by President General and Mrs. Eugene C. McGuire, was held on Friday evening, Oct. 15th at our SAR National Headquarters in Washington. The Compatriots and their ladies enjoyed an exotic repast, and were privileged to meet five of the finest patriots in American public life.

A Gift From Admiral de la Houssaye

Past President General Arthur A. de la Houssaye of New Orleans, Louisiana, has generously donated original copies of THE REPUBLIC, a New York City weekly newspaper, dated March 5, 1890.

It is deeply gratifying to note the attitude of the news media at that time, when patriotic societies received the press coverage that they have always deserved. A photograph of Dr. William Seward Webb, then President General, occupied 7" x 8½" at the upper center of the front page. The entire remainder of the front page is given to an account of the Society's first National banquet. The detailed account of the gala event, which took place at the world-famous Delmonico's in New York City, continued on into the interior of the newspaper for a total of three full-sized pages.

Unfortunately, space does not permit a full account of the grandeur of the occasion. Compatriots, many of whom were some of the most distinguished Americans of their day, attended the event from all over America. Special private railroad cars were dispatched from Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati to bring guests from the West and South. The printed menu had been prepared by Tiffany & Co. Delmonico's great banquet hall was bedecked with American flags, and it is reported that their prominence almost hid the large orchestra from view.

In addition, Admiral de la Houssaye donated a copy of the May 19, 1914, Syracuse (N.Y.) POST STANDARD which contained prominent and detailed accounts of our 25th Annual Congress at that city.

When these historical newspapers have been properly protected for handling, they will be available for viewing by Compatriots and friends visiting our National Headquarters.

The National Society is truly indebted to Admiral de la Houssaye for his generosity and thoughtfulness.

Think about this for a moment: You have a plain bar of iron worth about $5.00 to start with. Made into horseshoes, it is worth $10.50.

Made into screw drivers or kitchen cutlery, it may be worth $250.

Made into needles, it is worth $3,250.

Made into balance springs for watches, it is worth $250,000.

The same thing is true of another kind of material—you.

Your value is determined by what you make of yourself.

Is Your Name on Page 31?

Pusher's Payoff

Police in Philadelphia raided a suspected pusher's pad, only to find in the plush $235-a-month apartment, 30 suits, 18 pairs of shoes, 135 shirts, purchase papers for an $8,500 Cadillac, enough narcotics to indicate that he was grossing $10,000 a week . . . and (are you ready?) an uncashed welfare check made out to the suspect in the amount of $69!

One wonders whether the sympathetic welfare department will continue his stipend in jail.

THAT THE TRUTH MAY PREVAIL

by William H. Wilbur

For almost two hundred years, George Washington's glorious example of total integrity has inspired Americans to be more courageous, more honest, more patriotic and more industrious. Yet individuals have appeared who have tried to destroy the Washington image. We have derived some consolation from the fact that, in every case, thorough examination has proven that the charges had no basis whatever, in honest fact.

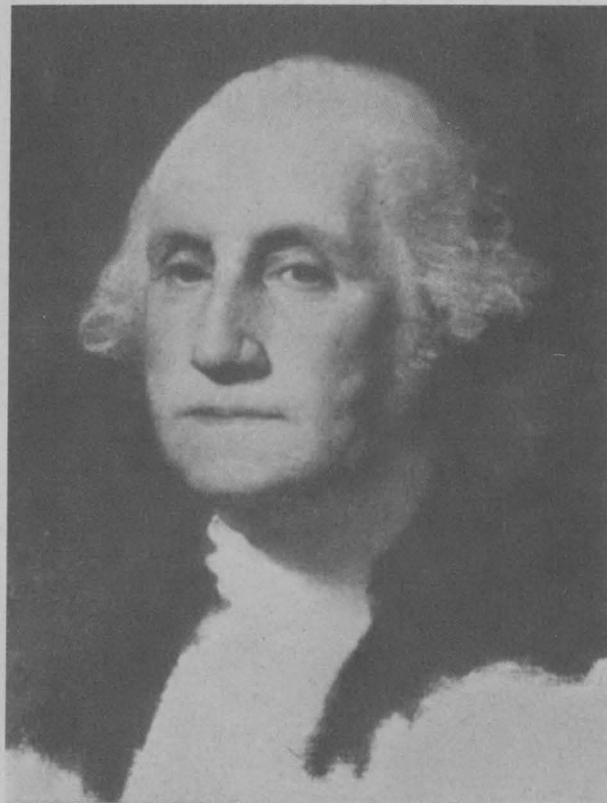

Now, a new attack has appeared: a book which is both an assault on George Washington's character and an affront to all our honored standards of honesty and rectitude.

The author of this travesty achieves the appearance of veracity by printing in the first part of the book a facsimile of Washington's expenditures during the Revolution. Many pages later, he has concocted a supposed detailed analysis of the account. In doing this, the author has brazenly changed most of Washington's entries to others which are as much as eight times as large as the figures which Washington submitted.

Although it seems unbelievable, many readers have been misled into thinking that Washington padded his expense account. This is perhaps natural, for the average reader does not suspect inaccuracy, so does not check the correctness of the author's figure on any given page against Washington's figure sixty pages earlier. When we make such a check, we find that the author has made a host of unsupportable statements, and that Washington made none.

When the reputation of a person of great integrity is attacked by an unknown author, our first reaction is to decide to ignore the attack. We say we will not dignify such totally incorrect statements and insinuations. We tell each other that if we preserve a disdainful silence, the book will achieve its own destruction. Wishfully, we hope that the book will attain the oblivion which it so completely merits. Unfortunately, this kind of wishful thinking does not neutralize the misleading impression which the book continues to spread.

No, the book must be answered. Faithful, honest, true-blue Americans must not be left to wonder if there is perhaps some truth in the accusations. If those who know the truth remain silent, such doubts grow to beliefs.

The perceptive reader of the book will find a large number of errors. He will also find cleverly contrived inferences and innuendoes as well as attempts to prove guilt by association through recounting the dishonest or dishonorable actions of others who may have had no more contact with Washington than the fact that they lived during the early period of our history.

On the first page of the book, we find Washington's statement that he would serve without pay, would only ask that the government reimburse him for his expenses. The record is clear that by this refusal Washington gave up a salary of $500 a month. For the eight years of the war, this would have reached a total of $48,000.

It is worth while to determine just how much of a sacrifice, if any, Washington made. This can be done by selecting out from Washington's expenditures the items which can be properly charged as personal. If we do this, we find that they reach a total of less than $15,000. Thus, the author's statement that Washington made money by refusing a salary of $48,000 for eight years is seen to be completely false. The truth is the government made a very advantageous deal; its profit was something over $33,000.

The most bizarre fabrication in the book is the statement which reads: "For the eight years of the war General Washington turned in an expense account of $449,261.51."

The correct figure, clearly stated by Washington at the end of his accounting, was 16,311 Pennsylvania Pounds. Expressed in dollars, this amounted to $54,370.00, a far cry from the erroneous figure given in the book.

Many reviewers, we regret to say, have accepted the book's figures and have printed favorable reviews. One such review was headed "A Cool Half Million". Thus it seems clear that the most damaging misstatement in the book is the monumental exaggeration, the brazen substitution of nearly a half a million dollars for the actual, correct figure of less than 55 thousand dollars.

"But," someone will promptly, and correctly, say,

"55 thousand dollars is a lot of money for a personal expense account!" We would agree, but in the same breath invite attention to the fact that the expenditures included in the accounting which Washington submitted covered much more than his personal expenses. They embraced:

1. All the disbursements for the very successful secret intelligence system which Washington maintained for eight years. As a result, Washington was always ahead of the British, never fell into any of the many traps they set for him.

2. Expenses incident to official travel by officers of his staff.

3. The necessary expenses involved in sending out groups to reconnoiter the enemy or the terrain.

4. The expenses incurred in feeding visitors at headquarters, including members of Congress, representatives of foreign governments, and a constant stream of American commanders visiting headquarters.

5. The account even includes other very proper expenditures which Washington made, such as those to win the help, or sometimes the neutrality, of Indians.

If we turn to the individual items on which the author bases his completely incorrect total of nearly a half a million dollars, we find that each one has been blown up to a figure far beyond the amount stated in Washington's accounting. This becomes very evident when we look at some of the specific items.

In the original accounting, we find, entered in George Washington's own handwriting, a record of the expenditure, on June 22, 1775, of 55 Pennsylvania Pounds for the purchase of "a light phaeton bought of Dr. Renaudet". (We would call it a light carriage.)

This same item is included in the author's analysis. But there we find it entered as, "To a light phaeton bought of Dr. Renaudet, $1,430.00."

Under his formula for changing pounds to dollars, the author has multiplied the pounds by 26. The correct conversion figure should have been based on the fact that one pound equalled three and one-third dollars. Based on such a correct ratio, we find that 55 pounds equalled $183.15.

Thus we see that the padding cannot be charged to Washington.

The author's analysis goes on through some 170 repetitive pages. It takes up, in succession, each one of the two hundred and ninety-one entries which Washington submitted. In every case, the figure has been changed from that submitted by Washington.

The author was not content to exaggerate merely the figures that Washington submitted. For example, he has the unbelievable effrontery to tell the reader, "In terms of today's dollars, the Renaudet phaeton is the equivalent of roughly twelve Cadillac broughams." The truth is just the reverse, for one second-hand Cadillac costs twice as much as twelve phaetons would have cost. The author may have thought that this ridiculous exaggeration was a devastatingly funny remark, but most of us will not be able to find the humor.

The book also contains many deliberate attempts to twist Washington's motives, and to belittle him. For example, very early in the account, we find items of expense for secret intelligence. Thus, on July 15, 1775, we find a charge of "333-1/3 dollars given to to induce him to go into the town of Boston to establish a secret correspondence for the purpose of conveying intelligence of the enemy's movements and designs." (This item, the author has calmly blown up from 333-1/3 dollars to $2,600.)

Washington was careful to add a footnote which explained the reason why the name of the spy was omitted. It reads: "The names of persons who are employed (in spying) within the enemy lines and who may fall within their power cannot be inserted."

Washington's effort to protect the identity of the spy would seem to have been an intelligent and proper thing to do; for, once discovered, such informers were classed as spies and executed.

The author uses the nameless entry as an excuse to find fault with Washington. His soggy humor consists of scolding Washington for selfishly refusing to identify the spies, thus depriving these courageous patriots of the credit which is rightly due them.

Another measure of the book's Americanism may be found in the fact that, on several occasions, it refers to Washington's valiant soldiers as "Hippies".

Lastly, let us look at the book's major deception. In it, the author has first engaged in a lengthy, complicated discussion of the conversion of depreciated currencies to hard coin, or as he states, into "terms of today's dollars". This discussion of currencies is very successful in concealing the fact that he has multiplied Washington's paper currency figures by some figure (frequently 26) instead of dividing as he, of course, should have done. The result in each case is an enormous and totally incorrect figure which has no basis in fact or logic.

This explains how the author was, for example, able to achieve the hocus-pocus of changing Washington's figure of 333-1/3 dollars for intelligence services to $2,600.00.

Similarly, as we have seen, the modest item of 55 Pennsylvania Pounds (which Washington recorded as the amount paid to Dr. Renaudet for his phaeton) has been blown up to the ridiculous figure of $1,430.00.

When the author added up all the grossly enlarged, single items, he obtained the incredible total of $449,261.51. This, as we have seen, is the amount which the author then claimed that Washington had received

Rather than accusing Washington of improper accounting, the author could have better spent his time in a factual statement of the very considerable financial contribution which General Washington made to the patriot cause. This included:

2. A very considerable sum which Washington spent to purchase U.S. Loan Office Certificates (The Liberty Loan Bonds of the day) during 1778, '79, '80, perhaps the darkest days of the war. The value of these certificates depreciated tremendously. This depreciation was so great that Washington suffered a loss of well over $50,000.

A. Loss of pay	$33,000
B. Depreciation of U.S. Loan Certificates	50,000
C. Losses on farm	40,000
Total	$123,000

WASHINGTON is the mightiest name on earth—long since mightiest in the cause of civil liberty, still mightiest in moral reformation. On that name no eulogy is expected. It can not be. To add brightness to the sun, or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible. Let none attempt it. In solemn awe we pronounce the name, and in its naked splendor leave it shining on.

The disturbing consequence of the publication of this book is the fact that many readers, especially the young, may acquire, and forever retain, an incorrect picture of the Father of our Country. Let us therefore make it certain that the truth shall prevail; let us spread the correct facts far and wide so that Americans of today, and Americans of the future, can always stand up proudly, and say with complete conviction, "No, you are wrong! George Washington never padded his expense account—not one single penny!"

IN CHAPTERS AND STATE SOCIETIES

Your SAR Magazine staff recommends that state societies appoint a qualified compatriot to assemble and transmit ready-to-print material to the office of the Editor. Cooperation by such state societies will obviously enable us to accord them a maximum of representation within these pages.

Do not send newspaper clippings or chapter notices, instead of ready-to-print resumes of activities.

Many situations necessitate the editing of submitted copy, and we reserve the customary editorial prerogative of condensing or omitting that which circumstances justify.

Due to limited space, the text of speeches and essays cannot be published.

Submitted photographs should be black and white glossy prints, for satisfactory reproduction, and should be "SAR subject-related."

Do not send photographs or material which are of such value that their return is necessitated. A service charge of $1 will be made for each photo or item that must be returned.

Any news material that predates the last previous deadline will be considered too outdated for publication, and will be rejected.

DIST. OF COLUMBIA SOCIETY

At the Oct. 13 luncheon of the D.C. Society, held at the Army and Navy Club, Washington Metropolitan Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson was awarded the SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Medal in recognition of his handling of the Mayday demonstrations in Washington. Chief Wilson then addressed the group, speaking on the crime situation in the Capital and, in turn, awarding to Police Officer Phillip E. Stein, a guest at the luncheon, a citation as Police Officer of the Month, as a result of his apprehension of two armed robbers shortly after they had held up a Washington bank.

In lieu of a luncheon in November, compatriots and their wives met for an evening reception in the beautiful ballroom of the Washington Club on Dupont Circle.

FLORIDA SOCIETY

The Miami Chapter, along with the 13 Greater Miami DAR Chapters, had a very successful Constitution Week celebration. This year, we had the voluntary services of a professional Public Relations Counsel, Mrs. Mori Fremon, who did a splendid job in securing newspaper, radio and TV publicity. She also produced and directed all of the radio and TV programs.

The week commenced with the presentation of a proclamation by Mayor Stephen Clark, of Metropolitan Dade County to Chancellor General Carl K. Hoffmann and Chapter President George A. Sprinkel. We were also instrumental in obtaining a Proclamation from Florida Governor Reubin Askew.

Carl Hoffmann, Hume Morris, Betty Root and Esther Poppell participated in an hour long discussion pro-

Radio Station WKAT presented a "Call-In" program. The participants were Carl Hoffmann, John Thomason and Esther Poppell. Many of the callers stated that it was one of the most interesting and informative programs the station had ever had.

During the same week Carl Hoffmann, John Thomason, June Morris and Esther Poppell taped a segment of the Bill Smith Show on National Education Network Station Channel 2. The show was televised twice.

The News Director for Station WKAT, David Blount, had a four hour telephone interview program honoring Constitution Week. Compatriots Carl Hoffmann, Robert Bell and others participated.

Advanced stories and photographs appeared in the Miami News, The Beach Sun, Miami Beach Reporter, Diario Las Americas and the Coral Gables Times.

The Joint luncheon with the 13 DAR Chapters of the Greater Miami area was held at the Miami Womens Club, September 18. Judge Hoffman has consistently declined to speak or write about the case because he deems it inappropriate for a Judge to speak about cases in which he participated except for such observations as he may choose to make from the bench. During and after and since the conclusion of the trial of the "Infamous Seven," the judge has received thousands of letters and other messages from individuals in all walks of life as well as from bar associations, State legislatures and faculties of the most distinguished universities of the world. The Illinois Society considered Judge Hoffman's appearance on September 24 as a signal honor.

IOWA SOCIETY

Iowa Society Pres. George M. Sheets proudly announces the organization of a brand-new chapter with 16 charter members, to be known as the Central Iowa Chapter. The organizer of the new Chapter is Comp. John K. Runyon.

On Dec. 1, President Sheets presented the first DAR Law Enforcement Commendation Medal in the State Society's history to a distinguished police official, Chief George J. Matias of the Cedar Rapids Police Dept. The impressive award took place during a City Council meeting, with Mayor Donald L. Canney presiding. Coverage by the news media was outstanding.

KANSAS SOCIETY

The Thomas Jefferson Chapter held its Fall meeting on Sept. 18 by visiting the historic Beecher Bible and Rifle Church near Alma. This Church was founded more than 100 years ago by settlers from New England. Tradition states that supplies arrived from the East in cases which contained both Bibles and rifles packed together. The Beecher portion of the name is in memory of Henry Ward Beecher, and Chapter Pres. Bernard H. Christian reports that the Church is listed in the National Register of Historic Sites.

NEVADA SOCIETY

On Sept. 17, a joint dinner meeting of the SAR and DAR observed Independence Week, and was a huge success. Mr. Harold E. Campbell, Jr., head of the F.B.I. in Nevada, spoke on "The Constitution and Citizenship". His stirring address was well received by the large assemblage.

The outgoing President of the Southern Nevada Chapter, Commander Richard H. Johnston, USN (Ret.), received the Silver Good Citizenship

Medal from his grateful compatriots for a job well done. Comp. Johnston is a gradate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, as were his father, a Naval Captain, and his grandfather, an Admiral. His uncle and brother were also Annapolis graduates and naval officers; and his son, who graduated from the Naval Academy, too, is a naval aviator. Truly, Comp. Johnston is a Navy man in every sense of the word. After graduating in the Academy's Class of '43, he served with distinction in surface and submarine forces in World War II. Upon his retirement in 1962, Comp. Johnston accepted a position with the Atomic Energy Commission, Nevada Operations, where he is presently employed.

ATTENTION! CHAPTERS & STATE SOCIETIES

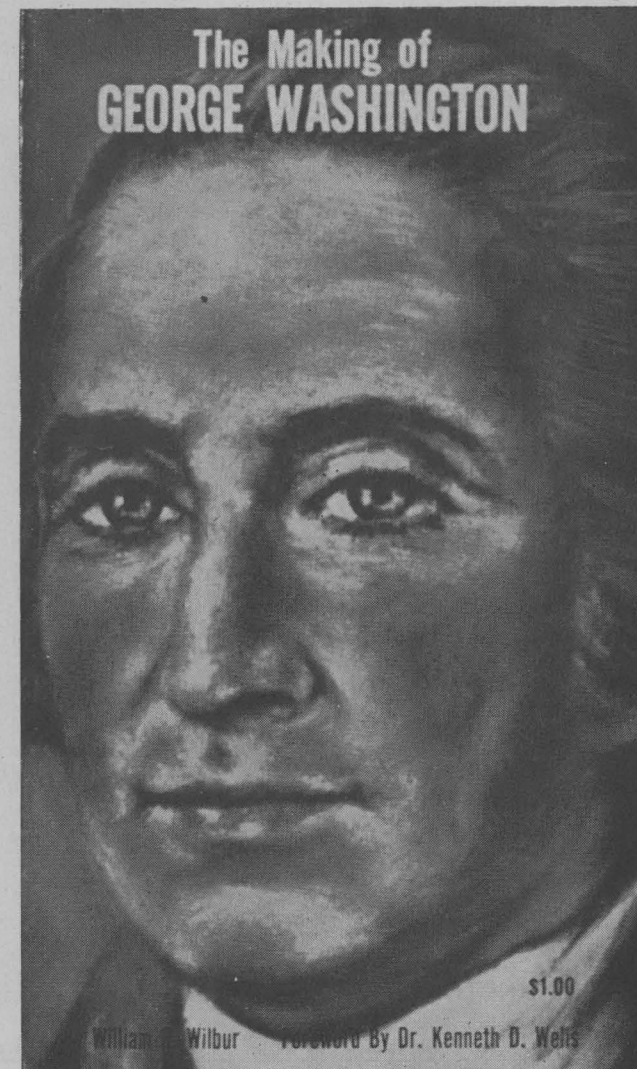

This paperback book isn't just another story of the life of the Father of our Country. It's a new refreshing approach, dwelling upon the youth and formative years of George Washington . . . the training and experiences that made him what he was. This thrilling easy-to-read book will inspire American youth at a time when such inspiration is critically needed.

Here is a suggested plan of action: Compatriots should contact businessmen, within or without SAR ranks, suggesting that they allocate fifty or a hundred dollars of their advertising funds to the purchase of these books. Businessmen will appreciate the fact that they will be given the benefit of a reduced price (perhaps $75 per 100 books). They would then be invited to stamp their advertising message or, at least, their identity in the inside of the front cover. For example: "Compliments of John Doe, Insurance—or First National Bank." If these books are presented to all members of the local high school graduating class, the program can reoccur each year. Employers could also present them to all their employees, especially those with children.

The distribution of this book could well be responsible for helping to reduce theft and wanton destruction, if children try to emulate George Washington's honesty, obedience, industry, modesty and religious respect. It should not be too difficult to find concerned patriotic businessmen to participate in this worthy program. In their realization that America is in dire peril, they will appreciate an opportunity to help in improving these dangerous conditions. Furthermore, contributors should remember that their participation is tax-deductible, as a legitimate advertising expenditure.

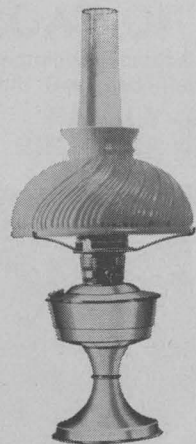

For quantity prices, see the price list on page 35.

On Oct. 26, the Memphis Chapter awarded the SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Medal to the Criminal Investigation Division of the Memphis P.D. The award was made because of a unique strategy they devised and employed in apprehending a number of criminals that had been burglarizing local businesses and homes, and selling their loot through shops dealing in that type of merchandise. The Police Dept. set up its own shop in an appropriate location, staffed by its own people, and started dealing in the stolen goods. In this manner, they were able to identify known stolen items with respective criminals. The program resulted in making approximately 20 arrests. The Memphis P.D. was widely acclaimed for their tremendous success with this innovation.

Fisher, holder of the SAR Good Citizenship Medal awarded by the Huntington Chapter, was the featured speaker. Cong. Fisher, 2nd ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee, compared the Constitution to a "rugged ship sailing through turbulent waters." Citing "uncontrolled demonstrations" and "gangs of degenerates in the streets," he blamed the U.S. Supreme Court for "usurping the duties of the legislative branch." As a preface to his talk, he recalled that the official observance of "Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23," was brought about by the efforts of the SAR in 1917. Cong. Fisher was introduced by Comp. The New England Council held its 26th Annual Fall Conference at the Riverdale Inn, Peterborough, N.H., Sept. 25. On the 26th, the Council sponsored the 26th anniversary service of the dedication by the SAR of the Cathedral of the Pines at Rindge. Past Chaplain Gen. Final action was taken on the advertisement for new members to be placed in "Yankee Magazine" for 6 issues, beginning in Nov. Most of the members of the Council arrived Friday night, and stayed at the Inn until it was time to leave for the Cathedral Sunday morning. Others attended the meeting, and stayed for the excellent group luncheon, returning for the church service on Sunday. The weather cooperated.

CONNECTICUT SOCIETY

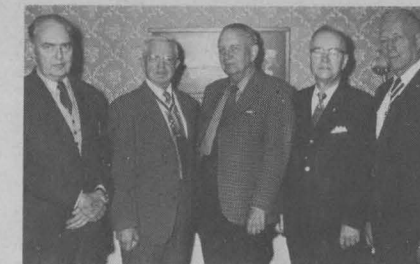

Jonathan Trumbull was elected Colonial Governor of Connecticut. All other colonies were governed by appointees of the King. It is, therefore, quite fitting that Gov. Trumbull should have had a large share in the pursuit of the Revolution. He was Quartermaster General. Without him, the War was lost. He operated from his own "Counting House" in Lebanon, and it became known as "the War Office." All of the important officers of the American Army stopped there frequently.

The "War Office" needs general repairs. The Connecticut Society will concentrate on it as their major Bicentennial project, for Lebanon bids fair to become the focal point of Connecticut's Bicentennial observance. The SAR must keep the "War Office" in repair, and much work is needed. A Committee composed of Past State Presidents James R. Case and Orrin C. Fritz will meet with counterparts of the Lebanon DAR and Lebanon Historical Society to help raise the funds and plant the work. Hopefully, sufficient funds can be raised to put the interior back to the form of a "Counting House" as it was used by Gov. Trumbull, who was also a leading merchant of his day. Funds collected will be handled by the Connecticut SAR Treasurer, thus they are tax-exempt. Readers are invited to donate. Any surplus will enter an endowment to maintain the "War Office" in perpetuity, for the Conn. Society considers it to be the third most important Revolutionary structure, ranked only by Independence Hall and Faneuil Hall in Boston. It should be enclosed in a larger building.

The State Board of Managers met in Waterbury Oct. 23, accepted 11 new members, and heard Mrs. Robt. H. Black, DAR Regent, discuss the needs of the "War Office" in Lebanon, which she and her ladies have opened to the public for many years.

It was decided to pay tribute to Miss Jane E. Hardy at the Annual Banquet to be held Feb. 19 at Vallee's in West Haven. Jane is National President of the C.A.R., a resident of Lordship, Bridgeport, and daughter of Comp. (& Col.) Louis B. Hardy, retir-

On Citizenship Day, Nathan Hale Branch #6 and Capt. Matthew Mead Branch #11 held meetings. History Prof. George Mugge of New London's Mitchell College gave a group of 50 at the Officers' Lounge of the Coast Guard Academy a most comprehensive history of the Constitution. In Greenwich, plans for the year's activities followed their discussion of the Constitution.

Nathan Hale Branch met again Nov. 18. Pres. G. Potter Darrow introduced 3 new members, and the parents of a 4th—a C.A.R. "graduate" studying in a Midwest college. Retired Adm. David W. Bell introduced Capt. Charles S. Carlisle, USN, Chief of Staff for Commander, Submarine Flotilla #2, who compared the progress of our ships of war with the Russians, using pictures taken of the latter, principally in the Mediterranean. Among the guests honored were Past Pres. Gen. Howard E. Coe; Past Pres. Gen. Walter R. Martin; Mrs. Robt. H. Black, DAR Regent; R. I. Society Pres. Webb W. Wilder; and Fred W. Reichard of the Lebanon Historical Society.

Gen. David Humphreys Branch #1 began its monthly meetings in New Haven in Oct. This past month, the compatriots heard about "Radio 1971" from the manager of the local station. Branch Pres. Charles E. Hughes, Secty. Robert McVey and State V.P. Norris C. Andrews are planning the Feb. 19 Banquet which their Branch will host.

On Oct. 23, Col. Jeremiah Wadsworth Branch #7 of Hartford met at the Club in goodly numbers. They were entertained by a friend of Pres. McCormick, Prestidigitator Endee.

Gov. Oliver Wolcott, Sr. Branch #10 enjoyed an illustrated lecture on Oct. 24. The subject was "Connecticut Historic Sites" by Herbert C. Darbee, Executive Secty. of the Conn. Historical Commission.

RHODE ISLAND SOCIETY

The Rhode Island Society has had monthly meetings on the 4th Thursday at Cranston's Duncan Fyffe. Speakers have included Mr. Robert Adams, American Airlines; Comp. (& Cmdr.) Thomas Hall, who spoke on Rochambeau in R.I., and his march to Yorktown; Past Pres. Gen. Walter R. Martin, on membership trends in the National Society; Comp. Elisha C. Mowry, a National V.P. of the English-Speaking Union, on our English Inheritance, and his recent conversation with Queen Elizabeth. Compatriots have attended with many guests, and meeting attendance (from 38 to 67) is gaining momentum. Closer acquaintances have been fostered, and a new spirit has been kindled.

On Sept. 30, the Constitution Week Dinner was held at the famous Squantum Club with 148 attending. Rosettes were presented to 17 new members. Guests included the ladies, making the occasion especially pleasant. Present were: Mass. State Pres. and Mrs. Henry A. Sawin; Miss Helen Malmstead, V.P. Gen., New England Dist., NSDAR; Mrs. John Howieson, R.I. State Regent, NSDAR, and Mr. Howieson; and the speaker, R. I. Comp. Maxwell Mays, artist, businessman and raconteur.

The Rhode Island Society is working with the R.I. Historical Society to finance the editing and publishing of the Gen. Nathaniel Greene papers. A further project is the raising of funds to provide proper preservation and maintenance of the Nathaniel Greene Homestead in Coventry, R.I. About $1200 has been raised, and matching funds are available from other sources. The R.I. Society is hopeful that some societies in Georgia and other

As A New Chapter Officer Do You Know Your Job?

Now, at the outset of a new year in chapters, when officers elected may not all be familiar with the job they have assumed, must be the time for senior past officers to carefully indoctrinate their successors. It is also recommended that every SAR officer at Chapter, State and National level have his own personal copy of the SAR Handbook. These are available from National Headquarters (2412 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008) for 50¢ each. With a thorough knowledge of his duties, each officer will be in a position to foster growth of the chapter.

Now is the time to assure the membership that they will have an active program and a consistent increase in membership. Losses from the rolls reduce the effectiveness of all programs from the chapter thru all levels of activity in our Society.

We must not permit our membership to forget for one minute that Patriotism supports the American Dream. "Duty, Honor, Country" is still our obligation, and each of us must do something every day to show that we believe that.

PUBLIC RELATIONS AND THE SAR's

There never has been a better time for SAR's to promote the activities of our chapters and state societies. The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission is spearheading national programs to celebrate our 200th birthday in a few years. Radicalism of the type that destroys our country—and revolutionaries of the likes of the SDS, Black Panthers, etc.—are paving the way for more interest in SAR's and our programs.

Here's what a state society or a chapter can do to promote the SAR.

First, it is important that each chapter and state society have an active public relations chairman. I know this is not the case now. As a matter of fact, I doubt that there are many chapters that have anyone attending to publicity and general promotion for their local chapters, let alone on the state level.

Second, visits should be made by the PR chairman or chapter president to the local newspaper, radio, and television people to determine what kind of material they will use and how they prefer it to be written. Most newspapers, for example, like the copy written on standard 8 x 10 white paper, double-spaced, and always tightly written with the "who, what, when, where, and why" put, if possible, in the first paragraph, or at least in the first several sentences of the story.

Third, the PR chairman or the chapter president should not take the negative attitude that the media will not promote SAR's. On the contrary, most media are inclined to look hard for copy to "show the other side," especially now that they are being criticized for bias and "left leaning." This feeling of media bias is beginning to affect the attitude of many readers of newspapers and viewers and listeners of television and radio programs. Several books published recently—THE NEWS TWISTERS and THE LEFT LEANING ANTENNAE, for example—have given the general public much factual evidence to use in supporting their belief that the press is not reporting the facts "straight." Consequently, the media is anxious to prove their critics wrong and are, I believe, much more inclined to print SAR news and opinions.

Fourth, we should consider promoting the positive side of our programs: the awards we give to outstanding students, teachers, policemen, and other prominent citizens. This gives us the kind of image we need to attract new and younger members.

Fifth, try to always think of something of news value to report from each meeting of your chapter. The best way I know to determine what is newsworthy is to ask yourself if it would interest anyone other than a fellow compatriot, and how much interest would another person have in the terms you are considering for news.

Finally, if you consider all of these points in trying to get better public relations for the SAR and still cannot get coverage in the local newspapers and on the radio and TV programs, then it may be that you should make a serious reappraisal of the programs you are seeking to promote. There is no reason during these upcoming American Revolution Bicentennial years that we cannot be a major part of the news coverage of our 200th birthday anniversary.

We—as SAR's—are the antithesis of the left-leaning movements in the country today. Most of the country is ready to listen to, and read about, what SAR's are doing. It is up to us to promote what we are doing—the positive side of a positive organization.

DONALD W. BALDWIN
National Public Relations Chairman

At the December visitation of Pres. Gen. Eugene C. McGuire to the Illinois Society, Past Pres. Gen. Len Young Smith smiles approvingly as Compatriot McGuire is congratulated by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley after receiving honors from both the Governor and Mayor.

Hats Off to Mean Mothers!

"I had the meanest mother in the whole world!"

"While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs and toast. When other kids had Cokes and candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. As you can guess, my dinner was different from other kids, too."

"My mother insisted on knowing where we were all the time. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted that if we would be gone for an hour, that we be gone for an hour or less."

"I am ashamed to admit it, she actually had the nerve to break the child labor law. She made us work. We had to wash all the dishes, make the beds, learn to cook and all sorts of odd things. I believe she lay awake nights thinking of mean things to do to us. She always insisted on us telling the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

"By the time we were teenagers, she was much wiser and our life became even more unbearable. None of this tooting the car horn for us to come running. She embarrassed us no end by making our friends and dates come to the door to get us."

"I forgot to mention that my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 and 13, but my old-fashioned mother refused to let me date until I was 15."

"My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested. And who do we have to thank for this terrible way we turned out? You're right! Our Mean Mother!"

"Look at all the things we missed. We never got to take part in a riot and a million and one other things our friends did. She made us grow up into God-fearing, educated, honest adults."

"I am trying to raise my children to stand a little taller, and I am filled with pride when my children call me mean."

"You see, thank God, He gave me the meanest mother in the world—from this I would say the country doesn't need a good 5 cent cigar. It needs more mean mothers and dads."

This is the beginning of a new day. God has given me this day to use as I will. I can waste it or use it for good.

What I do today is important, because I'm exchanging a day of my life for it. When tomorrow comes, this day will be gone forever, leaving in its place something that I have traded for it.

I want it to be gain, not loss; good, not evil; success, not failure; in order that I shall not regret the price I paid for it.

Here's a Washington's Birthday Crossword Puzzle

that will be especially challenging to our Revolutionary War buffs (and most of us are). Our late Compatriot Clarkson N. Guyer, M.D., a member of the Colorado Society Board of Managers, created this puzzle in 1925, and it was prominently published in Colorado newspapers for Washington's Birthday of that year. Comp. Guyer constructed this puzzle for purposes of promoting interest in the Colorado Society's gala Washington's Birthday Banquet of 1925, which took place at Denver's Shirley-Savoy Hotel, and was a resounding success.

Present SAR National Headquarters

Projected Addition

It is becoming increasingly difficult for the National Headquarters staff to operate efficiently because the present facilities, originally designed as a private home, are no longer adequate. With the mounting work load, together with a growing inventory of genealogical volumes and museum items, we must have more space for offices, records, library and museum. The practical and most economical solution is the construction of an adjoining building, to be built upon our adjoining side lot. The building has been authorized by the National Trustees and the 77th Annual Congress . . . subject to our ability to raise the necessary funds.

Exhibit the spirit of sacrifice displayed by your Revolutionary forebears, and join the distinguished ranks below. Your tax-deductible donation may be dedicated to the memory of a loved one. Please act today.

The following list acknowledges those who have donated $100 or more to the Memorial Library Building Fund. Due to the space factor, listing of donors of lesser amounts will be printed but once, in the magazine issue following the donation.

Dear Compatriots:

Enclosed please find my personal check for the amount of $50.00 as my donation to the Memorial Library Building Fund. I feel that this is just one little thing that every member should do to strengthen the organization, and to show his pride in our Society.

I find that since I became a member of the Sons of the American Revolution (May 28, 1971), there has developed within me an even greater pride in being an American and a Citizen of the United States. I cannot explain it, but perhaps after the genealogical research I have done to become an SAR, I now realize more fully that a part of me helped to establish our freedom and nation. In my opinion, we tend to value more highly something that we have helped to create.

Fraternally,
KARL H. LUCAS

Your Patriotic Education Committee At Work

The action of the National Society, SAR, at its 1971 Annual Congress, in promoting patriotic education, has brought significant results.

The Standing Patriotic Education Committee that was authorized by the National Society has been at work under the chairmanship of Ralph Bowles of DeLand, Florida. State Societies and local chapters, which were urged to work co-operatively with Patriotic Education, Inc. of DeLand, Florida, are swinging into action; and the SAR Magazine, authorized to promote the publications of Patriotic Education, Inc., has published its first article in the Fall 1971 issue of the Magazine entitled "A New and Promising Alliance for America—The SAR and Patriotic Education, Inc." This second article explains some of the activities since the 1971 SAR Annual Congress.

The National Patriotic Education Standing Committee sent to the presidents of all state societies, suggested programs for carrying forward (1) adult patriotic education activities in a number of areas in their respective states, and (2) in promoting the distribution of Patriotic Education, Inc. publications in the schools of their states. Only a limited number of suggested activities in the adult and school fields were included. The state societies were encouraged to promote other activities which would be timely and of special interest and value for the patriotic education programs in their respective states.

Responses have been received by Chairman Bowles from a number of state societies. Many have already started patriotic education programs and report progress in a number of areas.

Chairman Bowles, in a recent letter to state presidents, called for a "Patriotic Education Week", the date to be decided by the respective state organizations. This Week would be designated by State Governors' proclamations and, hopefully, by a proclamation from the President of the United States. Many favorable replies have been received. It appears that a "Patriotic Education Week" will become a reality in 1972 at an appropriate time in keeping with the theme "Patriotic Americanism."

ing with the theme "Patriotic Americanism."

During coming months, the National Committee will work closely with state civic organizations and service clubs in an effort to bring about a close association with SAR in promoting patriotic education activities. Also, a closer and more meaningful association will be developed with the respective state organization officials. Chairman Bowles has expressed confidence that 1972 should be a banner year for the promotion of the SAR patriotic education program. He has invited out-of-town State SAR officials and local chapter officers to visit Patriotic Education, Incorporated's headquarters when they vacation in "Sunshine Florida".

The Florida Society, SAR, at its May 1971 meeting, adopted, in substance, the resolution adopted by the National Society, SAR, at its 1971 Annual Congress and took immediate steps to work toward a comprehensive project.

Col. C. L. Hewitt appointed a state Florida Patriotic Education Committee naming Col. Roy Foster as Chairman. A regional representative from each of the four SAR regional areas of the state society were named as members of the committee. The Florida committee began work immediately and, within a few months, had prepared "Guidelines" and "Suggested Plans and Procedures" for implementing a state patriotic education program. These were used at State Societies Board of Management Meetings, at a conference of the local members of the Florida State Patriotic Education Committee, and will be distributed later to the chapters. At the meeting of the local members, work, which has been underway by the committee, was reviewed (phase I), and plans were made for phases II and III of the program to be carried forward during the first part of 1972.

The three phases of activities are as follows.

Phase I: Adult speaker programs relating to "Our Constitution"—during Constitution Week.

Phase II: Youth speaker programs based on the plan of the Douglass G. High Historical Oration Contest. Youth speakers from high schools will appear before veterans organizations, service clubs SAR and DAR, speaking on patriotic subjects. These speakers will then appear in a final contest, at which the public will be invited, to be held on or about the time of Washington's birthday.

Phase III: Patriotic activities for Flag Day (June 14), Independence Day (July 4), and pre-bicentennial (1976) planning and/or programs. Included in plans for recognition and celebration of these events will be youth patriotic pageants, "We Love America" programs, and talks before local organizations and clubs.

A number of State SAR Societies have communicated with Chairman Bowles indicating interest in forming a patriotic education committee; however, many have not yet responded to the request for such action.

If the SAR is to accomplish the purpose of the National Society's resolution adopted at the 1971 Annual Congress, state and local societies must co-operate to the fullest with the National Patriotic Education Committee.

Suggestions will be appreciated by Chairman Bowles. This is no time for procrastination!

The Red Carpets of the Albuquerque Chapter (N.M.) are rolled out for 4 visiting V.I.P.s (l to r): Mrs. Tarbox, Past Pres. Gen. George E. Tarbox, Pres. Gen. Eugene C. McGuire and Mrs. McGuire.

Approved the dates of February 11 and 12, 1972, for the next meetings of the Executive Committee and Board of Trustees respectively.

A Message from the National SAR Bicentennial Chairman

This Committee and its Chairman, William Y. Pryor, has explored the field of effort at American Revolution Bicentennial Commission Headquarters in Washington, as set up by Congress several years ago. This is hereafter referred to as Federal to avoid confusion with our own efforts.

We have also explored the Local Chapter and State Society efforts of our own SAR units in a number of areas and had much advice and thought to guide us.

Your Chairman finds that the Federal Commission has clearly indicated that the Celebrations shall be (1) National in scope, (2) The Bicentennial Era, as a period for Commemoration of events, which led up to and through the Revolution and to the formal founding of the Nation in 1787, with the creation of the Constitution. That the historical period to be celebrated would include the years 1770-1787, with a focal date of course set upon 4 July 1776!!! (3) The Bicentennial will be a time for review and affirmation of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" and the concept of man's equality, of which our countrymen need to be reminded from time to time.

The Federal Commission is intensely interested in each of the fifty states developing their own activities and has even recently indicated a fragmentation of the nation into several convenient geographical centers.

Our twenty-odd thousand Compatriots are a potent force taken together. If they will only work to encourage the various local and State Bicentennial Commission in their own areas they will do much to aid the national effort. Each State or local project should be aided by the SAR members to such a program as seems best suited to their respective historical backgrounds.

Fortunately many of our Compatriots are members of their State or Local Commissions. More should seek out such activity, as we, as a group are peculiarly qualified to aid by temperament and patriotic associations.

There are many histories that should be written or brought up to date; there are numerous historical or scenic areas that should be preserved for all time or at least marked!! While admittedly the Eastern States may have many more historical places of Revolutionary War vintage, still the other States have many historical places which make up the woof and warp of our historical background as a nation, and the same must be preserved, for future use and enjoyment. Historical or archival centers could be constructed in our several State Capitols where matters pertaining to the nation as a whole or of local interest could be preserved, so that our citizens could inspect the various documents or see dioramas of the historical scenes that are so instructively used in many of our museums today.

It is necessary that all Americans are made to revere or at least understand the civil and constitutional liberties that we have firmly secured to our selves and our posterity by actions of generations long gone, as well as those of a later and nearer date that have sacrificed their lives and their wellbeing for us. I conceive the Bicentennial celebration as a Nation wide series of patriotic events that will be calculated to make us think and honor our past, that it may be an example and guideline for our future.

A Message from the National Constitution Week Chairman

With more complete reports in, it can be said that Constitution Week was well observed in over a dozen States with special recognition to the California and Florida Societies with several others doing particularly good work. As usual, cooperation with the DAR was excellent and numerous proclamations were obtained from Governors, Mayors and City Councils. Florida was especially successful in getting coverage by TV, radio and press, including some editorials. Chancellor General Hoffman took part in several SAR-DAR panel programs aired on TV and radio. This included a four hour telephone call-in program over WKAT with Compatriot Hoffman and others answering questions about the Constitution.

The 1971 observances were fine, and we hope that all chapters and societies will "plan ahead" for next year and have luncheons, dinners, school contests, panel discussions, radio and TV spot announcements, news releases, etc. to remind the young, and not so young, of how and why we became a great (not necessarily wealthy) nation and our responsibility to pass it on to our children.

With the compliments of the British Army, the Gun that cost them America.

The Brown Bess during the American Revolutionary War was the principal arm of both British and Americans. To commemorate the Bicentennial of the Revolution, the American Bicentennial Company is producing a limited edition of hand-made examples of this historic flintlock musket. Each one endorsed and certified as authentic by the famous Royal Welch Fusiliers — the regiment that stormed Bunker Hill and successfully held Fusiliers' Redoubt at Yorktown until the surrender of Cornwallis in 1781. Only 811 muskets are to be available in this remarkable limited edition — one for each man who served in the Regiment during the war. The Welch Fusiliers had to hand over their muskets to Washington in 1781. They are going to do it again now. So the British can't be all bad. Each gun hand-made, fully working and guaranteed. Walnut stock. Engraved Fusiliers badge with the name of the owner inscribed on it — a tradition of the Fusiliers. Second model 42 inch barrel. The gun that "fired the shot heard round the world." And cost the British an empire. Exclusive and superb collectors' investment piece. $585 with personal signed certificate from the Colonel of the Regiment at Caernarvon Castle, Wales.
