from Carlisle, Pennsylvania

I am pleased with the activities of the various committees.

All appear to be hard at work doing what jobs have been as-have not been assigned specific jobs

are also working diligently. The Bicenbility of a proposed ment of the Signing of the Declaration of Independence during the 1976 Philadelphia

Congress next June.

LT. COL. ROBERT D. SAVAGE PRESIDENT GENERAL

By the end of the next three month period we should see a great deal of progress in all phases of endeavor by all committees. Many are chaired by new men who are just now getting the feel of the job but who have shown a desire to do an outstanding job.

Since my initial assignment to speak at the Cathedral of the Pines in New Hampshire, I have attended a chapter meeting in Baton Rouge and a meeting of the Louisiana State Society in New Orleans. Both included business meetings in addition to the usual social affairs. The hospitality was outstanding. I was the keynote speaker at the Bicentennial Celebration at the Fort Necessity National Battlefield under the National Parks Service of the Department of Interior. Approximately six hundred people from all parts of the country were in attendance. Next I attended the Atlantic Middle States Conference where a very interesting discussion on the importance of publicity and public relations was the theme of the business session. This particular item has been notably absent at the sites of the last two Congresses. The Pennsylvania Society annual Congress was next on the list and was followed by the New England Council meeting at New London, Connecticut. Following this meeting, I was privileged to attend the dedication ceremonies of the Nathan Hale School and the Connecticut Society banquet. I am now finalizing plans for a ten day visit to the western states.

I have had a productive meeting with the Senior National President of the Children of the American Revolution and her Executive Secretary. I hope that this may lead to the enrollment of more of the young men from that organization. Otherwise, enrollment of new members is going on apace and the higher application fee is apparently not a factor in getting new members. It is certainly needed to partially take care of our deficit budget. In addition, your staff is making every effort to conserve where possible in order to also help the budget.

With the world situation getting progressively worse, it is heartening to see that the "How-They-Vote" Committee is still putting on the pressure. Our Chancellor General is also still working to prepare proper guidelines which will permit us to be more outspoken as an organization. In the meantime there is nothing to prevent you, as an individual, from telling those who govern us that we are not satisfied. Members of the Americanism Committee are doing just that in various national periodicals.

In traveling around the country on my visits to the various chapters, state societies and district conferences, I have gotten a rather good insight into some of the things which dissatisfy our members and some of the things which they are doing that are very worthwhile. When I am asked to speak, I have made an attempt to show the dangers of the Communist expansion and our failure to supply an adequate national defense system. We must keep awake to these two important matters or they will destroy us. Let us not be rocked to sleep in the cradle of detente!

We are witnessing an epidemic of oral diarrhea in the condemnation of Spanish Chief of State Francisco Franco by international hypocrites. His crime? He refused to commute the death sentences WARREN S. WOODWARD of 5 terrorists. In EDITOR my book, he should be commended, and his example followed by other national leaders.

After judicial trials, the court sentenced 11 murderers of police officers to death by a firing squad. In his magnanimousness, after reviewing the sentences Franco commuted 6 of the sentences, including those of 2 pregnant wenches. The other 5 convicted assassins were summarily executed.

Then, all hell broke loose, with the bleeding-hearts, hypocrites and outright commies screaming about the injustice of it all. As William Buckley so aptly put it, "You would have thought Franco was executing 5 of Our Lord's 12 apostles for the sin of going about the world preaching faith, hope and charity.

The Common Market countries recalled or withheld their ambassadors to Spain.

Castro's crony, Mexican President Echeverria, asininely demanded Spain's expulsion from that saintly body, the United Nations, and in his immature rage, cut off postal communications with Spain. The irony of his loutish misbehavior is that in 1968, as Minister of the Interior, Echeverria directed the slaughter of several hundred unarmed demonstrating Mexican students.

Sweden's red prime minister, Olof Palme, boasted that he is contributing funds to Spanish opposition groups. Imagine the furor if Franco were to finance anti-Socialist activities in Sweden! But Sweden's attitude shouldn't come as a surprise from this socialist nation where American law-breakers are warmly welcomed, and where a recent poll by the University of Goteborg concluded that Swedes consider the U.S. to be a greater threat than the Soviet Union. Remember that when the Volvo commercial flashes onto vour TV screen! And is Spain really that bloodthirsty?

cuted exactly 8 persons in 14 years. Compare that with the records of some of his pious accusers. Where was the outcry when "Big Daddy" Field Marshal Idi Amin of Uganda playfully tossed 4 cabinet ministers and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to the crocodiles, plus a paltry 75,000 of his political opponents murdered. And silence reigned supreme when millions of innocents were slaughtered in Russia, Red China, Cambodia, the Central African Republic, Cuba and Barundi. It's just further evidence that the left can do no wrong, but nothing is right with the right Millions visit Spain each year, and enjoy the warm hospitality and order that prevails. Perhaps if we had judges who were more concerned for the victims than the criminals, the streets of our nation's capital would be as safe as those of Madrid.

Of course, most of us are aware of the real reason for the worldwide condemnation. FRANCO HAS NEVER BEEN FORGIVEN FOR DEFEAT-ING COMMUNISM, AND PRE-VENTING THE POLLUTION OF ITS REEMERGENCE.

REVOLUTIONARY MEDICINE

"THE ACCOMMODATION of the sick and the preservation of men's lives are the first and great objectives...," General George Washington told Congress in a letter from Valley Forge.

Washington knew a medical department was crucial not only to the success of an army in battle but to its survival in the field. Beginning with the Revolutionary War, the Army concentrated heavily on improving the state of military medicine. In the process, it contributed in many ways to the health of the entire nation.

The Continental Congress established an Army Hospital Department on July 27, 1775, and Dr. Benjamin Church of Boston was appointed its Director General and Chief Physician. However, the newly organized medical system suffered with supply and organization problems and lack of medical facilities.

There were about 3,500 physicians in the colonies in 1775. Of these, fewer than 400 actually held medical degrees. Dr. John Morgan. who established America's first medical school in Philadelphia in 1765, was appointed director general of hospitals in the Continental Army. He tried to bring the nearly autonomous regimental surgeons under general Army control, but Congress would not reorganize the system. Dr. Morgan was dismissed from his post in 1777. His suggestion, however, was later adopted by the Army.

Another leader in the medical profession serving in the Continental Army was Dr. Benjamin Rush. A member of the 2d Continental Congress and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, Dr. Rush was appointed surgeon general of the Continental Army in 1777. He worked to improve the crowded conditions of military hospitals and later wrote America's first textbook on psychiatry. America's first textbook on military surgery was published in 1776 by John Jones, a surgeon's mate in the Continental Army. Jones described his experiences in the French and Indian and Revolutionary Wars including a commentary on camps and military hospitals. (See photo.)

for the future of medicine in the United States was the Continental Army's request in 1776 for women to care for the wounded. The use of women in nursing marked a departure from the practice of employing male hospital corpsmen exclusively.

The women selected for nursing duties did not become part of the uniformed military establishment, but in fact were mothers, wives and sisters of hospitalized soldiers. Their presence had such beneficial effects on the health and morale of patients that many years later women took their place in the nursing profession partly on the basis of this experience.

The first pharmacopeia, a book describing drugs, chemicals and medicinal preparations, was prepared for the Continental Army at Valley Forge. The 32-page book was written in 1778 by Dr. William Brown.

The medical department of the Army was disbanded in 1784 and it was not until 1818 that Congress decided to establish a permanent Medical Department of the U.S. Army under direction of a Surgeon General.

But perhaps the single greatest contribution any practitioner of medicine was to make during the Revolutionary War occurred on April 18, 1775, when Dr. Joseph Warren, as Major General of Massachusetts Bay and the head of the Committee of Safety, sent Paul Revere and Ebenezer Dorr on their historic ride to rouse the citizenry of Lexington and the surrounding countryside.

Your SAR Magazine staff recommends that state societies appoint a qualified compatriot to assemble and transmit ready-to-print material to the office of the Editor. Cooperation by such state societies will obviously enable us to accord them a maximum of representation within these pages.

Do not send newspaper clippings or chapter notices, instead of readyto-print resumes of activities.

Many situations necessitate the editing of submitted copy, and we reserve the customary editorial prerogative of condensing or omitting that which circumstances justify.

Due to limited space, the text of speeches and essays cannot be published.

Submitted photographs must be black and white glossy prints, for satisfactory reproduction, and must be "SAR subject-related."

Do not send photographs or material which are of such value that their return is necessitated. A service charge of $1 will be made for each photo or item that must be returned. Any news material that predates the last previous deadline will be considered too outdated for publication, and will be rejected.

ALASKA SOCIETY

A highlight in the history of the Alaska Society took place in June when then-President General M. Graham Clark and Mrs. Clark visited our Northernmost state. The visitation, the first in SAR history by a President General, included a gala reception at the home of Anchorage Chapter Pres. James C. Wardlaw and a tour of Elmendorf Air Force Base, which included a meeting with Maj. Gen. Gamble. Commander of the Alaskan Air Command, a visit to an active fighter squadron, an inspection of On-Base school facilities and luncheon at the Officers' Mess. An air tour of the Anchorage area was furnished by Chapter V.P. Ward Gay, a skilled pilot who is President of Airmotive. During the flight, Pres. Gen. and Mrs. Clark flew over Knik Glacier, Lake George and Matanuska Valley. The Matanuska Valley boasts 100 lb. edible cabbages and 10 lb. turnips. In addition to the aforementioned, the Clarks enjoyed a motor tour through the area, including a visit to Community College.

During preparations for the Clarks' visit, the Anchorage Chapter was involved in assisting the "Young Alaskans for America'' with their projected patriotic trip to Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. The Chapter may well be proud of its role as a sponsor for these fine American youngsters. The project is truly a meaningful and productive Bicentennial accomplishment.

On July 4, the District of Columbia Society sponsored its traditional ceremony honoring Elbridge Gerry, the only Signer of the Declaration of Independence buried in the District, with a military honor guard and participation by the DAR, CAR and other patriotic organizations. The speaker, Admiral John S. McCain, paid high tribute to Gerry, who lived up to his statement, "I hold it to be the duty of every citizen, though he may have only one day to live, to devote that day to the good of his country." Gerry, as Vice President, died of a heart attack in a carriage enroute to the Capitol to open the Senate.

On Sept. 10, the D.C. Society held a Ladies Night Dinner at the Army & Navy Club. The speaker was Rear Admiral Francis Garrett, until recently, Chief of Naval Chaplains, who gave a highly inspirational talk on the question, "Is the Spirit of '76 Alive in '75?" Describing the Spirit of '76 as a grim, unyielding determination to be free, he emphasized that our country was founded, not on a social, economic or

THE SPIRIT OF '76

Colonel G.I. Epperson, U.S. Cavalry-Retired

Chairman, Americanism Committee, SAR

For a century, this unique painting, "The Spirit of '76," has typified the devotion, the self-sacrifice, and the intensity of ideals upon which these United States were founded. In the words of General John J. Pershing, "The most inspirational patriotic picture ever painted."

Yet, few know the story of the wagon painter who conceived this stirring picture and finished it for showing in the Centennial Year of 1876. From that year through 1916, the artist painted "The Spirit" at least five more times — each one individually different.

Now the battle has been joined concerning the reproduction of the painting on a Bicentennial Commemorative Stamp. While trying to avoid the crossfire in identifying the true "original," we wish to capsulize the history of Mr. Willard and his heroic picture. We also take the opportunity to present the remarkable character of a man who involved himself and his fortune in patriotic pursuits with one of the paintings.

ARCHIBALD M. WILLARD Herrick Memorial Library

THE ARTIST

Archibald MacNeal Willard was born in 1836 at Bedford, Ohio, and early displayed a natural love for drawing. He was encouraged by his grandfather, one of the Green Mountain Boys of Revolutionary War fame. Willard's early crayon sketches, found on barns and other flat surfaces in and around his home, dealt primarily with frontier and warlike subjects.

immortal spirit so vividly portrayed.

There was a significant contrast between the second and first painting. On May 25, 1876, the Cleveland Plain Dealer cabled a report on the painting direct from the Centennial in Philadelphia with the following notation: "The dying soldier is lifting his weak hand to once more wave his cap, opening his lips for one more weak hurrah." It is noteworthy that Willard depicted the fallen soldier as being alive in all subsequent paintings of "The Spirit."

So great and sweeping was the fame of "Yankee Doodle - The Spirit of '76," following the Exposition it was exhibited in New York, Cleveland, Chicago, San Francisco, and other cities where public enthusiasm demanded before it eventually came to rest in Ryder's galleries. After the showing at Boston, "Yankee Doodle" was dropped from the title and it has been known as "The Spirit of '76" ever since.

As an artist, Mr. Willard never sought nor did he receive the highest of rank, but as the creator of an inspiring interpretation of patriotic American spirit, he has won everlasting fame. He was many times the civic guest of our leading cities and states. He died in 1918 at the age of 82.

THE PAINTINGS

There are perhaps seven or eight original versions of "The Spirit of '76" in existence today. Subsequent to 1876, Willard painted the same subject with variations in each rendition. The differences appeared in the position of the wounded soldier in the foreground, the crippled cannon carriage, and accent These examples of artistic license have "Spirits." #### ANOTHER PATRIOT

Born in 1880 at Terre Haute, Ind., Bucklew served with the 3d U.S. Cavalry in the Spanish-American War, 1898. From 1899-1901, he fought the fanatical Moros with the 38th U.S. Volunteer Infantry during the Philthetically, a younger battery com-

Harry S. Truman, who later became President.

Bucklew's present occupation is that of orchardist, raising mangos and avocados. In his ninety-fifth year, he fell off a ladder while pruning trees and broke six ribs. While being taped up, he remarked wryly in his parade ground voice, "If I had known that I was going to live this long, I would have taken better care of myself!" This uncommon man, who is visited frequently by the author, has never retired.

When Captain Bucklew heard that the Thomas painting was available for purchase, he thought he might promote some patriotic education by lecturing and exhibiting the picture in schools throughout the country. For some years he did this at his own expense, traveling to audiences to bring them the precious graphic illustration of a noble virtue. The toll of age and the financial burden forced him to sell his beloved "Spirit" recently.

Since 1963 Captain Bucklew has distributed over 100,000 jumbo postcard pictures of "The Spirit." These chromos are sent to schools, Congressmen, and various organizations in the United States, England, and Australia. Old-soldier Bucklew's message printed on each picture reads, "Youth and age cooperating; and portraying initiative, independence, integrity, devotion, dependability, and duty. You can help revive that spirit."

As our Bicentennial observance quickens, need we say more?

When Bucklew sold the Thomas

painting, it went to another grandnephew of the artist, Lieutenant Colonel Willard F. Gordon, USAF-Reserve, who for a number of years has been cataloging the artist's works. Colonel Gordon continued Captain Bucklew's program, exhibiting the painting throughout California, and making numerous presentations before civic, social, and school groups. As with Bucklew, the limitations of time and finances also made their toll.

In June 1975, Colonel Gordon informed this writer that the Thomas painting was resold to an undisclosed New York corporation that will hopefully have the resources to promote the Spirit of '76 theme for our nation's 200th birthday.

Captain (SAR Compatriot) Leslie Leroy Bucklew. A grin like the flag.

If the Thomas painting is placed aboard the Bicentennial Freedom Train where it can be viewed by millions, it will be a fitting fulfillment of Captain Bucklew's dream.

Every SAR Compatriot Should Investigate Himself

Ask yourself sincerely these questions:

If every member attended the Chapter meetings as regularly as I do, what would the attendance be? If every member boosted the Chapter as I do, what would my Chapter's reputation be?

If every member greeted officers and new members as I do, what would my Chapter's fellowship be?

If every member participated in the Chapter's activities as I do, what would the life of the Chapter be?

If every member paid dues as I do, what would the Chapter's financial standing be?

If every member gave the same thought and effort that I do in bringing new members into the Chapter, what would the membership be? Think this matter over very seriously and go on "active duty" for those new members who should belong to the SAR—NOW!

OUR NATIONAL SAR LIBRARY page does not appear in this issue because too few books of genealogical character were donated during the past three months.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

At the recent National Trustees' Meeting, a suggestion was tendered that this magazine be renamed "The Patriot."

Much discussion ensued, some urging retention of the present title. Other names presented were "The SAR Patriot," "The Minute Man," "The SAR Minute Man."

Some attenders pointed out the following as their argument for retaining the present name, "SAR Magazine":

The publication of the VFW: "VFW Magazine"

The publication of the DAR: "DAR Magazine"

The publication of the CAR: "Children of the American Revolution Magazine"

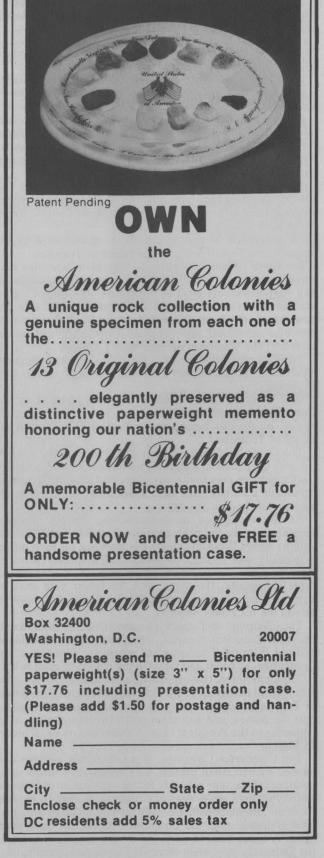

The publication of the American Legion: "American Legion Magazine"

The publication of the Air Force Assoc.: "Air Force Magazine"

Those advocating a change feel that another name would be more prestigious and meaningful. The Americanism Committee favors "The Patriot."

In any event, the National Trustees felt that, before any action is taken by them, the membership should be polled. Therefore, you are invited to fill out and return the form below.

Our forefathers left us a free government which is a miracle of faith—strong, durable, marvelously workable. Yet it can remain so only as long as we understand it, believe in it, devote ourselves to it, and, when necessary, fight for it. It is up to each of us to keep the house of liberty in good repair.

During this Bicentennial period, there is a renewed awareness of our native heritage. American Indian jewelry is a unique and beautiful possession that reflects the culture and religion of this proud people. Its increasing value, due to a growing scarcity of qualified craftsmen and native raw materials, constitutes a sound investment.

We have now made avaliable to the DAR and SAR, these genuine American Indian hand-wrought works of art, high in quality but modest in price. The money-back guarantee reflects a confidence that you will be more than satisfied.

YOU ARE INVITED

Dear Compatriots and Guests:

It all began in Philadelphia on September 5, 1774 when 56 delegates from 12 colonies met in Carpenters' Hall. Their purpose was to petition the King of England to intervene to settle a long standing dispute with Parliament. These men were residents of disparate colonies, bent on possible conciliation with their mother country. On October 26, when the group disbanded, the colonies were united and Philadelphia was well on its way to becoming the capital of Revolutionary America.

This was the First Continental Congress, father of the Congress which produced the Declaration of Independence in 1776. Philadelphia is where it all began and now, preparations are in full swing in Philadelphia to commemorate and celebrate these historic events in 1976. And Philadelphia is happy to welcome the members and guests of the SAR next June to join in this celebration.

The Pennsylvania Society of the SAR, host for the 86th Annual Congress, plans to make your visit to Philadelphia a truly memorable occasion. The Benjamin Franklin Hotel, headquarters for the Congress, is located in "America's Most Historic Square Mile" and just 3 blocks from Independence Hall. Also within walking distance are the Betsy Ross House, Benjamin Franklin's grave, charming Elfreth's Allev-the oldest continuously occupied street in the United States, and Society Hill, the original colonial residential area of the city.

Our traditional Sunday Memorial Service will be held in old Christ Church, where Washington and many other patriots worshiped and where 7 signers of the Declaration of Independence lie buried in the cemetery and churchyard. Many of the pews are marked with name plates of these famous Americans. Other historic churches in the area are St. George's Church, the oldest Methodist Church in America; Gloria Dei (Old Swedes') Church, built in 1700; and St. Joseph's Church, possibly the only Roman Catholic Church in the U.S. in which Mass has been celebrated continuously for more than 200 years.

Among other historic sites in "America's Most Historic Square Mile" are the First Bank of the United States, probably the oldest bank building in the U.S.; Carpenters' Hall, built in 1770; Congress Hall, which served as the meeting place for the Federal Congress from 1790 to 1800; Franklin Court, site of the handsome brick home of Benjamin Franklin; and the restored house where Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence.

A delightful tour is planned to Valley Forge Country, site of the rugged, fateful winter encampment that was the turning point of the American Revolution. Here we shall visit the Washington Memorial Chapel and Bell Tower, the Museum of the Valley Forge Historical Society, the Bake House, the National Memorial Arch and Washington's Headquarters. Located in a picturesque setting is the famous Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

Philadelphia and the surrounding area abound in other historic shrines for those with additional vacation time. Be sure to bring your cameras and, as a last suggestion, consider having lunch or dinner at Philadelphia's Old Original Bookbinders.

The Pennsylvania Society, SAR is indeed proud to be the host for our Bicentennial Congress and extends a most cordial invitation to all of you to join with us in 1976.

> Sincerely, Warren G. Hayes, Jr. State Chairman

Greetings to the Ladies:

The Women's Committee of the Pennsylvania Society is eagerly looking forward to the opportunity to entertain you at the 86th Annual Congress of the SAR in Philadelphia in 1976. We are truly excited about our plans. There will be a special Flag Day program on Monday morning, followed by the traditional Continental Breakfast and Fashion Show on Tuesday. We have a real surprise program for Wednesday. It is so unusual that none of you will want to miss it.

Our aim is to make your stay in Philadelphia a most enjoyable one. So, do come and let us all have a wonderful time together, enjoying one another's friendship.

> Most sincerely. Betty Haves (Mrs. Warren G. Hayes, Jr.) Distaff Chairman

Book Review

'TWAS A FAMOUS VICTORY by Benjamin Colby, Arlington House, 81 Centre Ave., New Rochelle, N.Y. 10801, $7.95, hard cover, 221 pages.

Thousands of books have been written on the theme that World War II was a "holy war," necessary for lasting peace and the security of mankind. General Eisenhower described it as a "crusade." However, Churchill later wrote, "... after all the exertions and sacrifices of hundreds of millions of people and of the victories of the Righteous Cause, we still have not found Peace or Security, and . . . we lie in the grip of even worse perils than those we have surmounted.'

Mr. Colby has unfolded the propaganda prelude to war, the secret war in the Atlantic, the Atlantic Charter deception, the tight lid on Soviet war aims, the coverups of Russian atrocities and the lies about Yalta. He has revealed Hollywood's role in creating hatred of Germans and enthusiasm for our Communist "allies."

Space does not permit the coverage of deception, whitewashing and outright mass murder that is contained in this revealing book. The author has meticulously documented his source material, and deserves the attention of serious and open-minded readers. Messrs. Roosevelt. Churchill, Stalin, Eisenhower, Wallace, Morgenthau, Luce and Pulitzer do not emerge as fair-haired boys.

This book is long overdue for those who seek the truth.

Present SAR National Headquarters

It is becoming increasingly difficult for the National Headquarters staff to operate efficiently because the present facilities, originally designed as a private home, are no longer adequate. With the mounting work load, together with a growing inventory of genealogical volumes and museum items, we must have more space for offices, records, library and museum. The practical and most economical solution is the construction of an ad-

Newly-elected officers of the New Jersey Society pose proudly with Pres. Gen. Robert D. Savage (4th from rt) at the recent Annual Meeting.

A MESSAGE FROM THE NATIONAL MEMBERSHIP CHAIRMAN

One of the questions most often asked by those working on membership is, "How do we get prospects?" Every man that we meet in our daily lives, socially, or in business is a potential prospect. All we have to do is find out if he is eligible and ask him to join our organization. The approach must be worked out by each individual and must be one that he is comfortable with.

I personally like the direct approach. At someplace in the conversation, I mention that I have been fairly active in the SAR. This is generally all that is necessary to get a reaction and will generate any number of answers, all the way from my mother was a DAR to my parents came from Poland. This is where salesmanship begins.

If you belong to an active organized chapter that has interesting programs, your work is much easier than if you belong to a chapter that meets once a year and does nothing.

Remember that the forerunner of the SAR, The Sons of Revolutionary Sires, was founded in California just about 100 years ago for the purpose of celebrating the Centennial. With the Bicentennial coming up and the liberal state of affairs that our nation is in, those who in the past might not have been anxious to join the SAR are changing their minds. They feel that if they don't do something positive now, there won't be anything left to do anything about. If there were ever a time for getting new members and reinstating old ones, it is now.

In addition to the above, there are several things that you should do. If you have a business telephone, for a small additional fee you can get an extra listing in the white section under Sons of the American Revolution with your address and phone number. There are many people who just don't know how to contact members of the SAR.

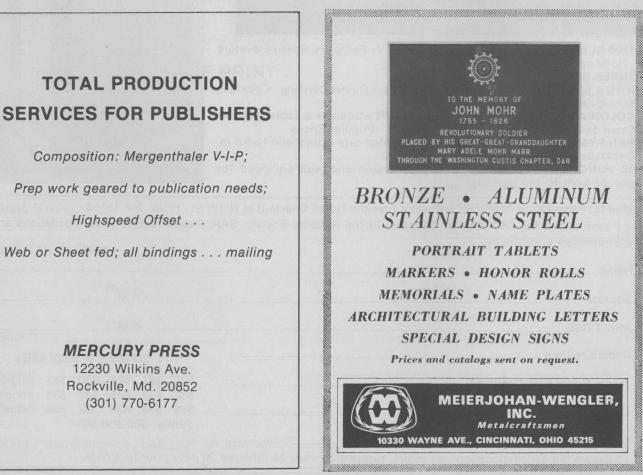

Be sure that your relationship with our sister organization, the DAR, is maintained at the highest level. We can help each other very much and should do so. At least two joint meetings a year should be held.

Newspaper publicity is very important and to get it you must be active and do something newsworthy. The awarding of Law Enforcement medals and Oration Contest prizes will often get good coverage.

Participation in civic affairs where booths are given to historical and patriotic organizations is a fine way of getting our name before the public. We should take every opportunity to let the public know there is an SAR.

The National Membership Committee is conducting a program though the State Membership Chairman, whereby red, white and blue plastic pennants are being awarded to members that obtain new members. These pennants are worn under the SAR rosette or bar. Chapter Membership Chairman should contact their State Chairman for these pennants. They in turn should contact Vice Chairman for Pennants, Cecil Bothwell, for their supply. There is no charge for this. 833 N. Magnolia Av., Orlando, Fla. 32803.

Renewed Patriotism Needed in America

PATRIOTIC societies from one end of our country to the other report an alarming decline in membership.

A nation's real home is its inner spirit, summed up in the word "patriotism." Every internal and external enemy we have knows the advantages of destroying this. They are as old as the Trojan Horse.

A nation cannot be stronger than its beliefs. A nation must not only want something, it must believe in something. It does not run on natural resources, factories, mines, farms, universities. A nation runs on motivation. It can advance only behind shared views and love of country.

Its beliefs cannot be manufactured to suit a moment, a partisan government, a policy or a person. These beliefs become the animating values. And America must not give up the endless effort to be faithful to them.

Our patriotic societies protect and enhance these animating values. But these societies, like all of us, are the victims of an attack so systematized, diverse and relentless that its purpose is obviously the destruction of our country.

PATRIOTISM means to stand by our country. Yet sometimes it is even made to sound like a dirty word. Well, if we do not stand up for our country, who will?

When challenged for the definition of patriotism in the context of our times, Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai E. Stevenson replied: "Patriotism is not a short, frenzied outburst of emotion but a steady dedication of a lifetime. That is a mighty assignment.'

Our heroes died at Concord and Ticonderoga, at Manassas and in Cuba, in Flanders' Fields "where poppies grow," on Battan and in Europe, on the high, mournful ridges of Korea, in the paddy fields of Vietnam and even with the magnificent rescue of the U.S. ship Mayaguez.

We are their heirs. They have no others.

But countless millions-feeling like strangers in their own America-wonder whether the American spirit has been mouse-trapped like General Custer at Little Big Horn. Is this still the America which sacrifices built and which we love?

There is a clear decline in the intensity of religious feelings. We live under the emblem "In God We Trust." The church is to a man or a woman what a harbor is to a ship. We are blessed with 312,000 churches. We have 360,000 ordained ministers, priests and rabbis: the shepherds of the flocks. But church membership has by no means kept up with our population growth.

Not more than 50 per cent of the approximate 130 million avowed church members attend church regularly or with frequency. A large percentage attend church with no frequency at all.

There is a clear decline in accepted standards. The sophisticated name for this is "permissiveness." But where has all this permissiveness gotten us, anyway? If "anything goes" everything goes. There is nothing new about using filth to blast all virtues, values and national standards. But why should our great media promote it?

The Neanderthal standards of our great national TV networks are so low that no wonder millions across our country ask suspiciously: What's going on here? And in the book field, nearly any four-letter hack can produce what Balzac called a "literary offal"-provided his offal is "angry" enough at the United States and he writes as though our country were a substandard orphanage.

A DEMORALIZED nation is a country where the individual feels isolated. He is confused within himself by the

A few years ago I came upon a Rising Sun Pub in Salisbury England. I was intrigued therefore when Guidepost Magazine-October 1974-told a true story of Revolutionary Patriots and of a Rising Sun Tavern near Whitemarsh, north of Philadelphia, near General Washington's camp. This was the meeting place of Lydia Darrah and Captain Craig of the General's staff. Here she told of British plans for attack at dawn on seven December. These plans, she overheard in her Philadelphia home, used from time to time by British conference groups. In keeping with their Quaker faith, her family did not bear arms, but her strong enthusiasm for the Continental cause made her risk a traitor's death to convey this vital information when it would save lives. (Yes, the British tried and found Americans waiting. After a brief skirmish they returned to Philadelphia, murmuring about security leaks. Lydia was questioned, but stated firmly that her family were "in bed.") leaders, events and institutions around him. This is disintegration. And it comes when patriotism is slain and people find themselves unsupported by tested and honored convictions they believe in, rally to and respect.

With our history we can proudly say, "I am an American." For this is the country Lincoln long ago described as "ours to enjoy, ours to preserve, ours to transmit."

Are we a public born to be deceived, to know it, and to put up with it? There must be a new growth in the number of people anxious to support our patriotic societies. What this country sorely needs is a Patrick Henry, a rebirth of our patriotism and a revival of our sense of values that get through to us all.

-HENRY J. TAYLOR

The Reverend LUTHER F. GERHART, D. D. Chaplain General

In Philadelphia, the Constitutional Convention had completed its labors. The moment had come for signing and submission to the states, compromises and all. Benjamin Franklin had delivered what turned out to be his last major public statement. He was at his best.

While the last members were signing, Franklin looked toward the President's chair. On the back of it was painted a rising sun. He observed to a few members near him that painters had found it difficult to distinguish, in their art, a rising from a setting sun. "But now at length, I have the happiness to know that it is a rising and not a setting sun," he declared.

It is this rising sun which it is our privilege and responsibility in this Bicentennial year, to welcome and salute for our nation to maintain the Constitutional standards and safeguards, in the halls of our elected representatives. Also, these safeguards must be everpresent in the social and economic fabric of our people.

As we gather in SAR Fellowship at some "Rising Sun," we hear and know of hostile ideas and plans and persons. We must pass on our information to proper sources. Only as we are awake, stay awake, and act awake with vigor, can our Nation's Sun continue to Rise to its glory and full strength.

announces an exciting gift for new donors to the SAR Building Fund.

To commemorate the Bicentennial of the Birth of our Nation, the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution has adopted, as the official Bicentennial project of our organization, the erection of an addition to our National Headquarters in Washington, D.C. Our need for this building is critical, and all Compatriots and friends of the SAR are urged to participate in this worthy program.

As a token of our appreciation to those who donate, a pure silver ingot measuring approximately  $1'' \times 2''$  will be presented to contributors of fifty dollars or more. Each will bear a registry number, and only one thousand will be struck. This exclusive memento of the Bicentennial will portray the profiles of Washington, Jefferson and Franklin, with the reverse side picturing our projected building.

Please contribute fifty or more dollars today, and your numbered SAR ingot will be sent promptly . . . a gift from your Society as a token of its gratitude to one who cared enough.
