The First Priority

(The following are excerpts from President General Warren Alter's Installation Speech.)

What should you expect from me as President General for the coming year? Perfection? I sure hope not because you will be sorely disappointed. A hard worker who believes in and supports SAR with his heart and soul—yes. What have I learned in 20 years in the SAR? A lot, but mostly just how little I know. But I am a lifetime learner. I have been in leadership positions throughout my career in law enforcement, in other nonprofits and in SAR. The most important thing I have learned is that how successful you are as a leader is directly related to how approachable you are, how much you listen and how willing you are to see the issue from the other's point of view. It is often a matter of perspective. How many times have you and a friend discussed an event you saw and both of you saw something different? Neither one is lying; neither one is mistaken from their perspective, but neither one is entirely right. Both would argue that what they said was the truth and 100 percent accurate. A favorite author of mine, Steven Covey, has two quotes I love:

"Most people do not listen with the intent to understand; they listen with the intent to reply" and, "Two people can see the same thing, disagree, and yet both be right."

My point: Your members can make or break you, and almost all have a different perspective or view. We are an organization of volunteers. We need to treat each other and our staff with respect. I want to use a term I learned about here in Texas—but I have to be careful because it is trademarked, so I am giving credit to the originator, Texas A&M. It is the "12th Man." Now, I am certain all Texas A&M fans, and many sports enthusiasts, recognize the term. For others, a football team has 11 players on the field. The 12th man is the crowd, the fans, the supporters. They must be ready to run in and take over for an injured or failing player. They can make the difference between winning and losing. I want all our members, their families and their friends to be that 12th Man. At National, the general officers and staff both need the "fans' support and help. If something is floundering or broken, can you help fix it? Can you offer assistance or suggestions to help save the day?

Some of you heard about one such person earlier in our Congress meeting, former PG Nathan White. Texas had a failing chapter, down to two or three members. They were inactive, and nobody was willing to do anything to save it; the recommendation was to close the chapter. Nathan chose to be the 12th Man. He became the chapter president and helped rebuild the chapter. He ran in to not only save but build the chapter. That chapter now has more than 50 members, less than two years later.

Districts, chapters and states can be the fan base, making the difference between success and failure. States, are you having difficulty filling offices or committees, the chapters, and members needed to be the 12th Man? Chapters, your members and potential members need to be the fan base. But it works both ways. The National Society, districts and state societies should support and be the fan base for the chapters, for their fellow states and districts, etc. We are in a symbiotic or interdependent relationship. We need to work together and support each other, not tear down and destroy. What can you do to make it better? Let us be each other's fan base, to offer solutions and help.

The focus of my term will be improving the SAR and getting back to having fun and growing our organization by focusing on six areas: Communication, Membership Growth and Retention, Educational Outreach, Public Service Recognition, Veteran Recognition/Support, and Youth Awards and C.A.R.

ITEM 1 – COMMUNICATION

I want to improve communication at all levels. Do we have your email address? If not, please go on the member database and give it to us. Do we have the correct address? Currently, only about 65 percent of our members have an email address listed.

Communication will include sharing information. Committee and officer reports will be available through Sharefile. Read them and learn about what we are doing. Committees need to meet and continue their work between Leadership and Congress meetings. I will regularly hold meetings or teleconferences with the Executive Committee, the General Officers and the VPGs. Communication also includes websites. Chapters, states and districts need to have up-to-date information on their websites. Each website should have a current calendar with upcoming events.

Communication doesn't just include members; it also includes staff. I am going to work with the executive director and the team at headquarters to try and improve communication with our customers (you). But when dealing with staff, I also want to impress upon members that our staff does not report directly to you; they report to the executive director, who in turn reports to the PG. You may indeed make a request of staff, place an order or conduct regular business, but if there is a problem, no compatriot, chair or member of any level should treat staff with disrespect or anger. If you have a problem, contact Executive Director Don Shaw or a General Officer Liaison. Our team works hard. Let's make their job easier, not harder.

ITEM 2 – MEMBERSHIP GROWTH AND RETENTION

The Membership Committee, under the continuing leadership of Rev. Dr. Randy Moody of Florida, will continue to spearhead efforts toward membership growth and retention. PG Guzy challenged us to reach 64,000 members by 2026 and the 250th Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and I will continue his efforts. Retention is an essential part of this project, and communication will help there, too. Mentoring is a critical element of retention. Take the time to talk to the new member. Make them aware of the programs and events your chapter is doing. Find out why they joined, what interested them. Invite them to come with you to an event.

ITEM 3 – EDUCATIONAL OUTREACH

Educational outreach plays a vital role for our organization. I strongly support all four parts of the educational mission that our Education Committee has identified and discussed at the Spring Leadership Meeting: Local Education Programs, National Education Programs, the Center for Advancing America's Heritage, and the SAR Education Center and Museum (the Solid Light Project) in Louisville.

We will continue to develop, create and promote through Solid Light more than just a bricks-and-mortar museum, a state-of-the-art educational outreach center that will complement our educational mission. You will hear more about the SAR Educational Center and Museum and the progress we are making at the Fall Leadership Meeting. Let us join other groups in promoting our Patriots' history. We are not in competition with these other facilities; we are all working for the same purpose and need to collaborate. With your help, we will move this project forward. I will also research ways of finishing the buildout of the second floor and rooftop garden so that we may start utilizing those areas to resolve some of the donor recognition issues and develop a revenue source to support the building and our educational outreach.

ITEM 4 – PUBLIC SERVICE RECOGNITION

To encourage chapter and state participation in this area, I am offering this incentive.

Any chapter or state society that presents at least one LE Commendation, one Fire Safety Commendation, one EMS Commendation Medal, and one Medal for Heroism and/or one SAR Life Saving Medal (a minimum total of four different categories of medals) and reports the presentations to the Public Service and Heroism Committee for publication in its annual booklet will receive a special streamer at the California Congress next July. Any chapter or state society that presents all five public safety medals and reports the presentations to the Public Service and Heroism Committee for publication in its annual booklet during this time period will receive the streamer and a $50 cash award from the President General (limited to one $50 award per chapter or state society during the time period listed). To qualify for this award, the medals must be presented between Jan. 1, 2018 and June 1, 2019 and reported to the national chairman of the Public Service and Heroism Committee.

ITEM 5 – VETERAN RECOGNITION AND SUPPORT

Veteran recognition and support are critical in thanking our military for their dedication and the sacrifices they have made. I encourage each of our chapters to ensure they poll their membership and find who among them are veterans or are currently serving in the military. Once identified, it is crucial that chapters recognize these members. One easy way is with the War Service Medal or the Military Service Medal, whichever is appropriate. There are many ways to support our military veterans. Contact the Veteran Committee or Veteran Recognition Committee for ideas or suggestions. Track your efforts, but remember: whatever we do for our veterans, it is not for the medals or awards; it is to show our thanks and love to these amazing men and women who have sacrificed so much.

ITEM 6 – YOUTH AWARDS AND C.A.R.

I am encouraging chapters and states to expand support of our youth awards: Americanism Poster and Brochure contests, C.A.R., Rumbaugh Orations, Knight Essay, Eagle Scout, JROTC/ROTC and American History Teacher. Identify one or more of these programs to start, if you are not already doing so, or expand your support of these programs. Each time we reach a child or young adult through our contests and events, we help educate them about the American Revolution and our heritage. We may spark an interest in history that could last a lifetime. I can't say enough about expanding our support of C.A.R. I have always found that working with and supporting our youth not only helps them but makes you realize just how positive our future is. Nobody can watch a C.A.R. meeting—with children of all ages making reports, leading their society and learning to be the leaders of tomorrow—and not be impressed. We want to find ways to get members interested and stay SAR members. Get members working with youth. It will renew your outlook on life and our future. Engage your members and help our youth at the same time.

CONCLUSION

I am asking that you work with me, your general officers, your committees, your trustees, your states and societies, and our fantastic SAR staff to make our organization better and more prominent. I have provided you with many areas in which I wish to see you grow or improve. I have suggested several areas that your districts, states and chapters may select or choose to support within the SAR. Some, like communication and growth and retention of members, are basic and critical to our survival. Others, like educational outreach and the SAR Education Center and Museum (Solid Light Project) expand our mission. Supporting and helping public safety and veterans are a powerful way to say, "Thank you for your service, your sacrifices, and our country." Supporting our Youth Awards and C.A.R. is a way mentor and preserve our country's future and keep us young at heart. Let us work together and help each other by supporting each level of the SAR and by continuing to show the world we are honoring our Patriots' memories. God bless the USA, and God bless the SAR.

I am announcing my candidacy for the SAR Foundation Board to continue my service to the SAR and the SAR Foundation. For the past three years, my duties have included being an Ex Officio member of the SAR Foundation Board; first as TG, then SG, and now as President General and Chairman of the Foundation. I have always been a strong advocate and supporter of the SAR Foundation, both financially and in working with its members and staff. As an elected Board Member, I will continue to make the Foundation better and stronger to support the SAR and its mission. I am a proven leader with a collaborative philosophy, willing to listen to members and share ideas with others to strengthen communication. A man of integrity, able to make informed decisions, and work efficiently with a wide range of constituents and diverse groups. # Lone Star State Hosts Congress in Houston

The 128th Congress, hosted by the Texas Society July 14-18, attracted 271 compatriots and many dignitaries and guests to the Memorial City area of Houston. Most of the events were held at the Westin Memorial City Hotel. The Texas Society Welcome Reception was held at the George Ranch Historical Park, which was about 30 minutes from the hotel. The reception featured a Texas longhorn, Bluegrass music, barbecue and a branding demonstration.

Prior to the official opening of Congress, there were numerous trips and social events, including tours of NASA Command Center and the George H.W. Bush Presidential Library.

The Sunday Memorial Service was held at the Memorial Drive Presbyterian Church in honor of the 630 compatriots who passed away during 2017. Those receiving special mention included Jacques de Trentinian of France, Douglas Stansberry of Georgia and Timothy Wayne Berley of North Carolina. Former First Lady Barbara Bush, a Texan and the wife of a compatriot, was also acknowledged.

Under the direction of Chaplain General Rev. Dr. John C. Wakefield, the service featured the SAR singers and a combined color guard of more than 150 members. The readings were made by numerous Presidents General and other members of the Chaplains Committee.

Paul R. Callanan, chairman of the NSSAR Congress Planning Committee, and Thomas I. Jackson, chairman of the Texas SAR Planning Committee, directed the event, which included numerous special breakfasts and high-level committee meetings.

The opening session included the posting of colors, a benediction and greetings from numerous Texas dignitaries, including the governor, senators and mayor. Representatives from France and Spain sent greetings.

DAR President General Anne Turner Dillon addressed Congress for the third time. Others bringing greetings included the Children of the American Revolution, the Sons of the Revolution, the General Society of the War of 1812, the Daughters of the Republic of Texas and the Sons of the Republic of Texas.

The afternoon session opened with the presentation of the Gold Good Citizenship Medal to James "Mattress Mack" McIngvale, who most recently received national attention for opening his large Gallery Furniture stores as shelters to Houstonians displaced in 2017 by Hurricane Harvey and for using his trucks to rescue victims.

The 128th Annual National Congress

July 14 – 18, 2018

President General Larry T. Guzy inspected the National Color Guard prior to the Sunday Memorial Service in the Azela Grand Foyer of the Westin Memorial City Hotel.

Virginia Compatriot Michael J. Elston were elected to the SAR Foundation Board's two open seats from a three-candidate field. Elected by acclamation were President General Warren M. Alter (Arizona), Secretary General John T. "Jack" Manning (New Hampshire), Treasurer General Davis Lee Wright (Delaware), Chancellor General Richard "Dick" Bryant (Missouri), Genealogist General James W. Faulkinbury (California), Registrar General C. Bruce Pickett (Alabama), Historian General John O. Thornhill (North Carolina), Librarian General Douglass T. Collins (Kentucky), Surgeon General Darryl Addington (Tennessee) and Chaplain General John Conrad Wakefield (Tennessee).

President General (2017-18) Larry T. Guzy attempted to run for a second term from the floor, but was ruled out of order based on the rules of the 128th Annual Congress by a vote of 112-102. "Candidates nominated from the floor must have provided all required disclosure documents prior to being nominated." PG Guzy had filed the paperwork following the 127th Congress but later announced he was no longer running for a second term. With his surprise re-nomination, the disclosure documents were apparently not re-filed "prior" to the nomination. During a break, PG Guzy re-filed, the documents and the acting chair—then-Treasurer General Manning—ruled that PG Guzy had rectified the situation and could run, if re-nominated. After the decision of the chair was appealed, the Congress delegates overruled Manning's decision by a vote of 114-108.

Later named to the Executive Committee were Paul Callanan of Michigan, Kent Gregory of California, Edward Ragle Sr. of Georgia, William "Tony" Robinson of Ohio and President General (2016-17) J. Michael Tomme Sr.

BUSINESS SESSIONS CONCLUDED

Two Presidents General not in attendance were mentioned. Prayers were requested for Dr. William C. Gist Jr. (1995-96), who was recovering from a fall at his home in Louisville and congratulations were sent to Howard F. Horne Jr. and his wife, Nancy, on their 70th wedding anniversary.

The eight Presidents General in attendance offered comments, the senior PG being Nathan E. White (2006-07) of Texas. Others present included: David N. Appleby (2008-09), Edward F. Butler Sr. (2009-10), Stephen A. Leishman (2012-13), Joseph W. Dooley (2013-14), Lindsey C. Brock (2014-15), Thomas E. Lawrence (2015-16) and Tomme.

The most significant legislative changes were housekeeping in nature, including alterations to National Life Memberships and fees for Memorial Memberships.

A motion to remove former Presidents General and Executive Committee members from being Trustees failed. A proposal to require Chaplain Generals to be ordained ministers was postponed, and a motion to accept "legally decreed adoption" as a basis for membership failed after much debate. Dues and fees remained the same for 2018.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

Tuesday evening's guest speaker was Michael Surbaugh, the 13th Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

Wednesday afternoon attendees had a choice between a tour of the San Jacinto Battlefield or the Houston Museum District Tour. Others chose to take self-guided tours of locations such as the Ima Hogg House Museum and Botanical Gardens.

New Minutemen Inducted

The Minuteman Award is the most prestigious award of The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. The National Executive Committee established the award in 1951. Only those compatriots who have made distinguished and exceptional contributions of service to the National Society may be recognized. The recipient may receive the award only once.

The Minuteman Award was first presented to President General Benjamin H. Powell of Texas at the 1952 National Congress.

The award, given to a maximum of six recipients each year, has been presented to 400 compatriots.

To receive this prestigious award, the compatriot must (if possible) attend the National Congress. A Minuteman who previously has received this award escorts each of the honorees.

Prior to the inductions this year, a moment of silence was observed to honor Minuteman Stanley A. Evans of Tennessee, Minuteman class of 1999, who passed away recently.

The senior Minuteman attending was Jack K. Carmichael of Indiana, representing the class of 1983. Two Minutemen who have attended at least 25 Congresses were in attendance: Barry McKown of Maryland and President General (2006-07) Nathan E. White of Texas.

GREAT SCOT!

SAR Trip to Scotland May 14 – May 21, 2019

President General Warren M. Alter and First Lady Nancy Alter are leading a delegation of SAR and friends to Scotland in May 2019 to honor the service of Scottish Patriots of the American Revolution, specifically Founding Fathers James Wilson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, and Rev. John Witherspoon, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the Article of Confederation and Perpetual Union.

The planned itinerary for this exciting trip begins when participants arrive at the Edinburgh Airport on Tuesday, May 14, where they will be met by Magic Travel staff holding SAR welcome signs. Participants who are planning to arrive in Europe prior to the start of the SAR trip may make arrangements to meet the group at the Edinburgh Airport or hotel. Once everyone has arrived, the bus will depart from the airport and take us to the Radisson Blu Edinburgh, in the heart of the historic Royal Mile in Edinburgh. In the afternoon, there will be a choice between visiting the Scottish Genealogy Society for personal research or a guided walking tour of Edinburgh's Old Town, to familiarize participants with the many key attractions near the hotel. In the evening, there will be an SAR Welcome Reception at the hotel to kick off the adventure in Scotland's magnificent capital city and to possibly meet local officials.

On Wednesday, May 15, we will explore Edinburgh, with emphasis on the American Revolution. We will visit Edinburgh Castle, the Medical Museum (honoring Benjamin Rush, who studied medicine in Edinburgh), the National Museum and the National Library of Scotland, where guides will connect the Jacobite Rebellion of 1745 and Scottish Enlightenment with our Founding Fathers of Scottish origin. Other stops: the John Knox House, St. Giles Cathedral and the Thistle Chapel. After a bistro lunch, there will be more time in the afternoon and evening to explore historic Edinburgh.

On Thursday, May 16, we will set out for Fife and visit the Ceres Parish Church—the closest location to the birthplace of Founding Father James Wilson—where we will lay an SAR wreath to commemorate Wilson's birth in 1742. We will journey through Cupar, where Wilson had an apprenticeship, en route to Charlton House, built in 1759, and the residence of St. Clair Knut Harald Jöns Bonde, Baron of Charlton. Because his ancestor was attainted in 1715 during the Jacobite Rebellion, he was deprived of being the 21st Lord St. Clair. His ancestor, William St. Clair, built Rosslyn Chapel in 1446, which was popularized by Dan Brown's The Da Vinci Code. After a three-course lunch with Baron Bonde, we will continue to historic St. Andrews, visiting the ruins of St. Andrews Cathedral and St. Andrews Castle as well as the University of Edinburgh, which Wilson attended. After returning to Edinburgh, there will be time for shopping, dining and further genealogical discoveries.

On Friday, May 17, we will set out for East Lothian and visit the town of Gifford, the birthplace of Presbyterian Minister John Witherspoon in 1722. In addition to signing the Declaration and the Articles of Confederation, Rev. Witherspoon was president of the College of New Jersey (now Princeton University) and the convening moderator of founding the First General Assembly of the

Founding Father James Wilson

Presbyterian Church in the United States. After returning to Edinburgh, we will have time for lunch, shopping, sightseeing and genealogical research. In the evening, we will have our Farewell to Edinburgh Reception and Dinner at Gosford House, a neoclassical mansion built around 1790, the ancestral home of James Charteris, the Earl of Wemyss and March. Gosford House has an incredible private art collection, including a marble eagle bust thought to have been the inspiration for the U.S. seal. We will have a guided tour of the mansion, followed by cocktails and dinner.

On Saturday, May 18, we will have our final breakfast at the Radisson Blu before leaving Edinburgh. We will drive to Glasgow, the historic hub of trans-Atlantic trade and immigration. We will have lunch in a fabulous bistro before checking in to the Grand Central Hotel, in the Glasgow city center, which was originally built in the late 19th century as a British railway hotel. There will be time in the afternoon to explore the fashionable city. In the evening, there will be an SAR Welcome Reception at the hotel, and we will invite local officials to greet the SAR participants.

On Sunday, May 19, we will have a full Scottish breakfast at the Grand Central Restaurant before setting out for Ayrshire, visiting Culzean Castle, the 18th century former ancestral home of Clan Kennedy. The Kennedy family turned over the castle to the National Trust for Scotland but stipulated that the upper apartment be given to Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower for his role in World War II. We will travel to Kilwinning to see the ancient Mother Lodge of Scotland and the ruins of Kilwinning Abbey. After lunch, we will visit the ruins of Kerelaw Castle, once owned by Alexander Hamilton, the grandfather of our founding father, Alexander Hamilton. After returning to Glasgow, we will have time to explore the city and find a wonderful restaurant for dinner.

On Monday, May 20, we will set out for our Scottish Patriot Day breakfast at the Grand Central Restaurant. There will be an SAR ceremony at the Stow Brae Kirk and then a SAR wreath-laying ceremony at the statue of Rev. John Witherspoon on the grounds of Paisley University. We will visit the university's art center, which was formerly a church in which preached. After returning to Glasgow, we will have the afternoon free to visit St. Mungo's Cathedral and the Glasgow Necropolis, go shopping or visit the Mitchell Library to work on personal genealogy. In the evening, the Farewell to Glasgow Dinner will be held at the House for an Art Lover, designed by Glaswegian Charles Rennie Mackintosh. We will have cocktails and a fabulous dinner to round off our Scottish Patriots Adventure.

On Tuesday, May 21, we will have our final breakfast at the Grand Central Restaurant. Participants will then be taken to the airport for their flights home, or they may choose to continue with the optional post-trip to London, England (details will be published soon).

The SAR Trip to Scotland is $2,998 per person (with two people sharing double accommodations), with a $685 single supplement. Airfare is not included. If you are interested in attending the SAR Trip to Scotland in May 2019, please contact Magic Meetings & Global Incentives at 1-888-279-1343 or SAR@magicglobal.com. # King's College London Partnership

BY GABRIEL PAQUETTE

I had the honor of serving as SAR visiting professor at King's College London for the 2017-18 academic year, and I am profoundly grateful to the SAR for this tremendous opportunity. How many historians can claim that they walked up to the gate of Windsor Castle and were granted full access to George III's personal correspondence, including that with a shadowy network of spies? As a historian of international relations and empire in the 18th century, I went to the Royal Archives to learn more about the international history of the American Revolution; that is, how the alliances forged by both the Patriots and the British government influenced the outcome of the war.

As a scholar of the Spanish Empire, I am particularly interested in Spain's role in the American Revolution. Historians tend to emphasize the importance of the French alliance, and for good reasons. We recall the role of Lafayette and the formal alliance that the French government offered to the Patriots, then engaged in an unprecedented struggle to create a new state in the bowels of a crumbling empire. But focusing on the French contribution to independence can cause us to lose sight of the key roles played by European states, notably Spain, which affected the outcome of the American Revolution. Take, for example, the siege at Yorktown and the French Navy's famous contribution to preventing Cornwallis from receiving aid and reinforcements by sea. The French presence was only possible because France and Spain coordinated their operations. The Spanish Navy protected French colonies and shipping in the Caribbean while the French fleet concentrated its forces on the eastern seaboard of the soon-to-be USA.

The French Navy also brought with it a crucial monetary donation from Cuba, then part of Spain's empire, supplying Washington with hard currency just when the Patriots' supply had reached dangerously low levels. The Revolution, then, was one aspect of a larger, world-spanning war among rival empires, the results of which was the birth of our nation. Ours is a nation bequeathed by the Revolution, but the Revolution itself was forged in the crucible of a war among European powers that competed for dominion across the globe.

American independence would have been impossible without Spain's involvement, but Spain was not a direct ally of the American Patriots. This statement might appear contradictory and therefore deserves a word of explanation. In 1779, France realized that it needed another European ally in order to defeat Britain. Spain and France signed a treaty by which Spain agreed to enter the war and not make a separate peace with Britain, or to make peace at all, until American independence was secured. This treaty is the closest Spain came to an alliance with the revolutionaries. It really was a treaty with France to support its alliance with the American revolutionaries against Britain. France, in return, agreed to support Spain's long-sought objectives: first, recovering Gibraltar and Minorca, which were then occupied by Britain; and, second, to the extent possible, reducing the threat Britain posed to Spain's empire in the Americas.

In the short run, France gained access to Spain's navy. The combined Franco-Spanish navy in 1779 had 121 ships-of-the-line, compared to 90 for Britain; in 1780, it had 117 such ships to Britain's 95; and in the decisive year of 1781, the Franco-Spanish navy had 124 ships-of-the-line versus Britain's 94. Historian Larrie Ferreiro, in his splendid recent book, Brothers at Arms, has captured the shortsighted nature of Britain's policy with regard to Spain: "In the space of just one year, Britain had gone from fighting what it thought was a minor civil war in a distant colony to waging a full-scale world war against its two mightiest adversaries. By rejecting Spanish mediation, Britain had in effect sacrificed the American Colonies for that pile of rocks called Gibraltar."

Given the disadvantages of Spain's involvement, why would Britain cling so intransigently to Gibraltar and not do everything possible to remove Spain from the conflict? This is one of the questions that I wished to answer as SAR visiting professor. I went to Windsor Castle to search for an answer in George III's personal papers. There was nothing inevitable about Spain's involvement. Many leading British statesmen were certain that Spain did not wish to remain belligerent. Spain sought certain objectives, but humiliation of Britain was not its chief objective. Spain happily would have exited the war in exchange for Gibraltar, even without recovering Minorca.

George III easily grasped the scope of Spain's ambitions and was willing to contemplate the cession of Gibraltar, as were many of his key allies. He wanted Puerto Rico in exchange for Gibraltar. As George III stated explicitly in September 1782, "Puerto Rico is the object we must get for that fortress [Gibraltar]." Two months later, George III remained disposed to cede Gibraltar, but his asking price had risen. He now demanded "the compleat restitution of every possession Spain has taken during the war" in addition to Puerto Rico, calling such a hypothetical exchange "highly advantageous to this kingdom." The British Cabinet, however, was animated by different ideas. It informed the king that proposed swaps for Gibraltar had generated little enthusiasm. Nevertheless, George III maintained that Gibraltar was expendable if its cession could bring the war to a close and secure a lasting peace. "I am ready to avow," he said, "that peace is not complete unless Gibraltar be exchanged with Spain."

How and why was it that George III reached a different position than that of his ministers? Any answer to this question is speculative (and I am not a practitioner of psychohistory), but a possible answer is that he was privy to his own independent sources of information, drawn from correspondents, whether fellow royals or his unofficial network of shadowy informants. The richness of the Georgian Papers held at Windsor Castle permits a better glimpse into the cabinet debates of 1781-1783 and what we might term the "informational milieu" in which they transpired.

George's personal correspondence with members of the royal family provides some clues. Prince William, Duke of Clarence, traveled on a ship accompanying and protecting a British merchant fleet bound for the Mediterranean in January 1780 and visited Gibraltar en route. The prince's letters are filled with indignation toward France and Spain. He pledged that Britain's "enemies, who have undertaken this war upon such unfair grounds, may suffer for their temerity." In a subsequent letter, the prince elaborates on those unfair grounds, expressing hope that "those who have so unjustly taken up the war to assist rebellious subjects may feel the effects of our arms." But more than providing insight into the specific causes of grievance against Spain, Prince William made clear to George III that Spain's military prospects were not promising: "The idea of the Spaniard was to take Gibraltar by famine, but, as long as we keep a superiority at sea it is impossible. To take it by storm would be hardly practicable, for it is too strongly fortified, both by nature and art." Prince William was prescient, as Spain's repeated efforts to lay siege to Gibraltar in the early 1780s failed.

Such intelligence was complemented and corroborated by other sources. One unknown source, before the Georgian Papers Programme began, was "Aristarchus," a correspondent who appears to have been based in London (certainly his letters are dated from London) but was plugged into a sprawling network that extended to Continental Europe and perhaps North Africa. We do not know his real name, but the provenance of his pseudonym was, of course, the ancient Greek astronomer and mathematician. We know little else about him: Was he a single spy, a conduit for many spies, or even the collective pseudonym for several spies? A great deal of the intelligence he furnished pertained to Spain. In March 1781, Aristarchus' informants suggested the extreme weakness of Spain in the Mediterranean: "Beyond the possibility of refutation, that on the bare appearances of one ship or at the most two battleships before the town of Ceuta, that healthy and important key to the Mediterranean would be delivered up to your Majesty's forces without bloodshed."

Through Aristarchus, George III gained insight into the fractious and uneasy relationship between France and Spain, a tension that undermined their joint naval strength: "such is the jealousy between the two courts that neither of them will hazard the possibility much less the probability of weakening its respective naval force." And from Aristarchus, George III learned of a plan to create a "commercial company" that is "acceptable to the King and also to government" and which had established a committee, composed of "statesmen" and "merchants," and that had met "with the greatest possible secrecy and privacy." The "primary object" of this commercial company was "to force and establish a beneficial trade in Spanish South America," for which a military force of 5,000 would be sufficient. Aristarchus' correspondence with George III, then, suggests that offensive maneuvers against Spain previously unknown were under active consideration at the highest levels of government, a grand Spanish American design, to turn the conflict over retention of rebellious Colonies into a struggle for hemispheric dominance.

George III maintained a journal of sorts, also held in the Royal Archives and kindly made available to me, entitled "George III Secret Intelligence, 1779-1782." It appears to have been drawn from northern European intelligence reports as well as intercepted correspondence from France (including letters by the highest echelons of the French government). It consists of snippets of information that crossed George III's desk and that he considered of strategic value. For example, from a February 4, 1780 entry: "The Spaniards all eager to get back Gibraltar, but don't wish that Jamaica shall fall into the hands of the French"; or, from March 14 of the same year: "The prevailing influence of France at Madrid is kept up with difficulty."

From the Royal Archives in Windsor Castle, then, thanks to the Georgian Papers Programme, we gain new insight into the informational milieu in which George III was immersed, which undoubtedly informed his thinking beyond the previously known record of official channels and which perhaps account for his own approach to negotiations with Spain during the American Revolution. I had the honor of presenting some of what I encountered in the Royal Archives in a public lecture delivered in March in the Great Hall of King's College London, which was a thrilling experience. I am grateful to the SAR for this magnificent honor and opportunity.

TV Personalities Visit SAR

Mike Rowe, best known as the host of the Discovery Channel's Dirty Jobs and CNN's Somebody's Gotta Do It, recently spent several days in Louisville, home of the SAR Headquarters and the SAR Library.

"When Jessie [Hagan] learned I was going to be in town for a few days, he offered to trace my family roots back to the American Revolution and present me with the results before I left," Rowe said. "I was intrigued but too busy to reply. I also know how much work it takes to assemble that kind of detail and didn't want to casually accept such a generous offer. Well, Jessie decided to proceed anyway."

Mike Rowe

If Rowe had known Hagan, who works as a staff genealogist, a little better, he might have realized that the long-time employee doesn't take "no" easily and might have made a worthy subject for Somebody's Gotta Do It, which highlights unique individuals and their respective passionate undertakings.

"He compiled no less than 50 pages of marriage certificates, birth certificates and death certificates, along with census records, population schedules and all sorts of documents," Rowe said after Hagan met his plane at Bowman Field, a small, private airport on the city's east side. "I'd just spent the day shooting a new episode of Returning the Favor [in West Virginia] and he presented me with a veritable compendium of genealogical goodness."

How Hagan came to meet Rowe at the tiny airport when he landed is where he proved his true detective skills. "I posted a short video from Mercer Field in West Virginia," Rowe continued. "Jessie noted the tail number of my plane, went to a website and accessed my flight plan. He then drove to the airport to present me with my family tree that goes back into the 1600s. Extraordinary. And fascinating."

Hagan has been a staff genealogist for 27 years and has researched applications for everyone from U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell to Academy Award-winning actress Jennifer Lawrence.

As for 56-year-old Rowe, a Baltimore-born actor best known as a television host and narrator, Hagan traced his family to James Forbes, from Charles County, Maryland. A member of the Continental Congress, Forbes served from 1779 until his death in 1780. "Rowe's online post has been shared thousands of times, and one person asked if Rowe had any horse thieves in his family tree," Hagan said. "I responded that it was possibly worse—I'd found a politician."

Renowned genealogist Mary Tedesco visited the SAR National Headquarters in Louisville on Aug. 15. She is a professional genealogist, speaker and author, and is a co-host/genealogist on the PBS television series Genealogy Roadshow. Tedesco also is the founder of Origins Italy, a genealogical research company specializing in Italian genealogy and heritage travel to Italy. In addition to her Italian ancestry on her father's side, she has deep American roots on her mother's side of the family.

Tedesco is a proud member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is the first vice regent of the Paul Revere Chapter NSDAR in Boston, Massachusetts and a member of the America 250! Membership Task Force. She serves as the senior state historian of the Massachusetts Society Children of the American Revolution.

She was the featured speaker at Celebrate America Night at the 2016 NSDAR Continental Congress and the featured speaker at the Registrar General's Forum at the 2018 NSDAR Continental Congress. Tedesco was named the Paul Revere Chapter's Outstanding Junior in fall 2017. She holds a certificate in genealogical research from Boston University's Center for Professional Education and a bachelor of arts degree in mathematics from Boston University. She also is a councilor of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Mary and her mother, Sally Tedesco, were in Louisville to attend the Kentucky Society Daughters of the American Revolution Summer Workshop, at which Mary was a keynote speaker. Her presentations included "Seeking Patriots; Research Strategies for DAR Applications & Supplementals" and "Minorities & Women in the American Revolution." KSDAR State Regent Leslie Miller arranged for the Tedescos to visit the NSSAR during their stay.

Tedesco received a tour of SAR, beginning in the library by Library Director Joe Hardesty. Education Assistant Director/Archivist Rae Ann Sauer shared the early SAR applications of President Theodore Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, as well as other artifacts in the SAR collections.

Progress and Promise: A Report from the SAR Foundation

BY SARAH STRAPP DENNISON AND JOSEPH W. DOOLEY

Bold and determined. These words may be used to describe the spirit of our patriot ancestors. They can also be used to describe the work of the SAR Foundation over the past year. President General Warren M. Alter has asked the SAR Foundation to report on some of our accomplishments and what we plan for the future.

New Staff

In August 2017, the SAR Foundation hired a full-time fundraiser. Sarah Strapp Dennison brings energy, enthusiasm and expertise to the SAR Foundation as the fundraising manager. Under her guidance, the SAR Foundation has implemented professional practices to protect donor confidentiality. We have seen growth and change that have positioned us for future success. Sarah looks forward to helping the SAR Education Center and Museum become a reality. If you have not had a chance to meet Sarah, please look for her at the Fall Leadership Conference and introduce yourself.

New Technology

The SAR Foundation had not invested in technology for many years, and the systems we were using no longer suited our needs. At the 2018 Spring Leadership Conference, the SAR Foundation Board authorized approximately $28,000 for technology upgrades. The technology upgrades were accomplished for $1,700 less than the authorized amount.

The most visible part of these technology upgrades is the complete redesign of the website, sarfoundation.org, which was presented to the delegates at the 2018 NSSAR Congress in Houston. The new sarfoundation.org was designed to have a streamlined user experience and to help donors support SAR programs conveniently and securely. Donations made through the website have digital tracking to ensure accuracy. Sarfoundation.org now has options: in addition to one-time gifts, you may schedule monthly giving to support all of the SAR youth programs, the 1776 Campaign, and other efforts to build out the SAR Education Center and Museum (often called “The Solid Light Plan”). The new site went live the week before the 2018 NSSAR Congress and will be updated as needed. If you have not yet seen the new sarfoundation.org, please visit the site. (Test the online donation feature by making a donation to your favorite SAR program!)

While less visible, the SAR Foundation also underwent a database conversion to a cloud-based system called DonorPerfect. With this new tool, the SAR Foundation will be able to meet the needs of donors more securely and efficiently. DonorPerfect allows the SAR Foundation to track donations in ways that were not possible before, offers robust reporting features and allows for large-scale email communication.

New Projects

No report about the past year for the SAR Foundation would be complete without discussing the success of the Patten Challenge. At the 2017 NSSAR Congress, Pennsylvania Compatriot Lanny Patten issued a challenge: If the SAR raised $300,000 in new money for the Solid Light Plan, he would match those donations with a personal gift of $100,000. More than 850 donors the SAR rose to the challenge and gave more than $400,000 in five months! If you were one of those donors, thank you! Your gift truly made an impact and helped the SAR to move closer to the completion of the planning stage for the SAR Education Center and Museum. We need less than $140,000 to complete the next phase of the Solid Light Plan, and if you have not yet done so, I invite you to support the project with your donation. If you would like to see the most up-to-date version of the Solid Light Plan, please visit sarfoundation.org.

As you can see, the SAR Foundation has accomplished a great deal in the past year. It would be easy to dwell on these successes, but instead, the SAR Foundation looks forward. With a bold and determined spirit, we, like our Patriot ancestors, will continue to rise to meet the goals set for us by the Trustees. Let us all work together to honor the past, to ensure success in the present and to plan for the future.

SARAH STRAPP DENNISON IS THE FUNDRAISING MANAGER OF THE SAR FOUNDATION, INC. PRESIDENT GENERAL (2013-14)
JOSEPH W. DOOLEY IS THE PRESIDENT OF THE SAR FOUNDATION.

NOTICE OF REPATRIATION OR SALE BY AUCTION OF APPROVED NSSAR ARTIFACTS

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Board of Trustees of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution (NSSAR) previously authorized the deaccession and repatriation and/or sale by auction of certain artifacts currently in the NSSAR's possession.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that in connection with the directive from the Board of Trustees, the NSSAR Museum Board has listed and reviewed each of the 569 artifacts from the SAR Museum Collection that will be repatriated or sold at auction. This list identifies each artifact by: category, name and identification number. A description of the artifact is also included. The list of artifacts that will be repatriated or sold at auction can be accessed at: <http://sar.org/news-deaccession-artifacts>.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Museum Board is seeking to connect with each artifact's donor, or a family member if the original donor is deceased, to determine the donor's (or the donor's family's) wishes with respect to the artifact.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that artifacts not repatriated prior to November 1, 2018 will be sold at auction.

A separate notice identifying those artifacts to be sold at auction and providing the date of such auction will be available after November 1, 2018. Proceeds from the auction will be allocated for the development, and placed under the direct care, of the SAR Museum Collection.

For additional information or repatriation requests, please contact M. Kent Gregory, chairman, SAR Museum Board at drkentgregory@earthlink.net.

NAVAL AWARDS

At the Humanities and Social Sciences Awards Ceremony at the U.S. Naval Academy on May 23, the following awards sponsored or supported by the SAR or a member of the SAR were presented to their recipients:

- The National Society Sons of the American Revolution Prize, presented to Third Class Midshipman Marlyn A. Hyland, who wrote a paper on Thomas Jefferson.
- The Sons of the American Revolution Founders of America Award, presented to Midshipman Zachary N. Toole, who wrote a paper on Francis Marion, “The Swamp Fox.”
- The General Horace Porter Award by the John Paul Jones Chapter, SAR, in Annapolis, presented to Midshipman First Class Ryan F. Menke.

Midshipman Marlyn A. Hyland and President General (2007-08) Bruce Wilcox.

IRA Contributions to the SAR 1776 Society

Those of you 70½ or older may now instruct your IRA custodian to transfer any amount, up to $100,000 per year, directly to the SAR Foundation for the 1776 Society. This distribution would not be in your taxable income but will fulfill any required minimum distribution requirements and would not produce an income tax deduction.

Such gifts can be made at any time in 2018 and in future years without expiration, as the U.S. law has been permanently extended.

— LANNY PATTEN

HOW TO RE-CREATE YOUR PATRIOT'S COMPANY

CASSAR – MOSES SOULE'S COMPANY OF MINUTEMEN

When I joined the SAR in 2008, Compatriot Jim Young was the registrar of our newly formed Mother Lode Chapter. Thus, Young was knowledgeable of the content of my SAR application and had read information I had provided him on my Patriot—including the excerpt from the “Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolution War” (MS&SRW). A few years later, when he was preparing a supplemental application for himself, his memory-mind connected the dots, and he discovered that our two Patriots were in the same minuteman company!

That minuteman company, in faraway western Massachusetts, like so many others at the time, assembled days after the Lexington-Concord Alarm. The record in the MS&SRW reads that Capt. Moses Soule's company, from New Marlborough, “marched April 21, 1775, in response to the alarm of April 19, 1775.” Jim and I imagined that our Patriots could have walked side-by-side, Moses Adams and Obadiah Brown, heading east 150 miles from Boston. The common travel allowance at that time was 20 miles a day, meaning they were a week away. These were the minuteman companies, all marching toward the conflict, which would ultimately form the Siege of Boston.

For compatriots who are blessed with living in the same region as their Patriots, this coincidence is probably not that surprising—but for two compatriots living in the foothills of Northern California's Sierra Mountains, who had never even been to Massachusetts, it is absolutely remarkable.

Soon after learning of the connection between our two Patriots, I traveled to the Berkshire region in Western Massachusetts for the first time. My Patriot had died at Valley Forge. His young wife appears to have died about the same time; she never applied for a pension, and a probate court record shows that her sons were given over to another family. I was desperate for any information. I joined the Berkshire Family History Association and the Western Massachusetts Genealogical Society, and I met with staff and members seeking information, including any report on Capt. Moses Soule's minuteman company coming out of the region. I could find nothing on minutemen or militia companies.

A few years later, during an SAR Leadership Meeting in Louisville at the Massachusetts Society's information table before the 2016 Congress, I was lamenting about my lack of information regarding my Patriot to the knowledgeable Dr. David Schrader of MASSAR. MASSAR Society President Steven Perkins and Tom Vincent, president of the Pomeroy Chapter, were also at the table and joined in our conversation.

One of them mentioned having heard of a Massachusetts compatriot who had compiled the roll of their local militia by painstakingly searching for members while reading through the entire set of 17 volumes of the “Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolution War: A Compilation From the Archives” (MS&SRW). That is an impressive achievement.

Shortly after talking to them, I began to think that I might take on the same task. Then I recalled that the MS&SRW has been digitized—and if the “find” search capability worked, I could actually do this in my own lifetime!

As soon as I reached home, I tried the search function, and it worked! If your Patriot was from Massachusetts, the members of his minuteman, or militia, company can be found in the MS&SRW. (I am going to depend on others to develop a process for the other Colonies.)

In Massachusetts, you could use the following method to recreate a unit serving under a particular officer, or for large-scale efforts such as reconstituting a town's “honor roll” of Revolutionary War Veterans. That is exactly what I, Tom Vincent (MASSAR), Buck Turner (retired army officer) and James Parrish (NPS historian) are doing for the Town of New Marlborough, Massachusetts.

Here are the steps:

- Begin by downloading (one at a time) one of the 17 volumes of the “Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolution War: A Compilation From the Archives” (MS&SRW), published in 1896. Source: <http://archives.lib.state.ma.us/handle/2452/122025>. The documents will in PDF format.
- First identify the town(s) of origin of soldiers and sailors who define the scope of your “honor roll,” or a specific commander your Patriot served under. That is what you will be searching for.
- Enter “Ctrl-F,” or click on the magnifying glass icon, to bring up the Window's search box, and then insert your search words in the command box and click next. (For this article, the search argument was “Moses Soul.”)
- I recommend you create an Appendix of the extracts from the MS&SRW of the members of the “honor roll,” “militia” or “minuteman company” you are creating.
- I recommend you set the final edited extract font to Georgia and 10 point. This will result in the extract appearing in a readable and printable form.
- I recommend you manually edit the extracts for OCR errors in copying (e.g. w often comes out vv). Common editing: m = in; mitil = until; Jmie = June; West Pomt = West Point; a?so = also; includmg = including.
- I recommend you append the source document reference to the extract. Show the actual page in the MS&SRW the extract came from, plus the PDF page, such as: MS&SRW Vol 1 pg 63/104.

- Extract all the members that appear as the result of your search from all 17 volumes and compile a list for the Appendix in the MS&SRW default “Last Name, First Name order”—occasionally followed by town of origin and rank.
- Consider adding an “Honor Roll” column, and manually reformat the default “Last Name, First Name order” into “Rank–First Name Last Name.”
- The “Honor Roll” list is your final product ... Congratulations!

That is the process. It just takes time. But I am delighted with the results of the process: 57 Men of Capt. Moses Soule's Company of Minutemen have been identified! I had also created an Appendix of the MS&SRW extracts of the company members (22 pages), which contains the description of service of each of the listed men. Here is a sample of an extracted record:

Adams, Zebadiah, New Marlborough. Private, Capt. Moses Soule's co. Col. John Fellows's regt., which marched April 21, 1775, in response to the alarm of April 19, 1775, from Sandisfield and New Marlborough; service, 17 days; also, muster roll dated Aug. 1, 1775; enlisted May 8, 1775; service, 3 mos. 1 day; also, order for bounty coat or its equivalent in money, dated Camp at Dorchester, Nov. 1, 1775. Source: MS&SRA Vol I pg 83/125.

Jim Young and I are so pleased with the outcome that we have proposed a quasi-society: “The Descendants of Capt. Moses Soule's Company of Minutemen.”

Please look over the Muster Roll of the Capt. Moses Soule's Company (below). If your Patriot is listed, won't you join us?*

FOOTNOTE: As I completed this draft, I decided to test our proposal to form “The Descendants of Capt. Moses Soule's Company of Minutemen.” Using the SAR 2015 Membership Directory, I attempted to contact the descendants of Capt. Moses Soule. The results were encouraging and enlightening! One of Capt. Moses Soule's descendants, Joe Cox, TXSSAR, showed great interest in helping us “muster” the descendants. If you believe you are a descendant, please contact me, Tom Adams, tomadams1776@yahoo.com, and join your compatriots. Our numbers are growing. By the end of October 2016, there were already eight of us!

Along the way, I have already learned four things that caused me to revise this draft.

(1) The MS&SRW most often referred to the company captain as Moses Soul, not Moses Soule. However, his descendants refer to him as Moses Soule, plus his Mayflower ancestor was George Soule. So, I revised his name to Soule;

(2) I learned from military historians that though the MS&SRW most often referred to minute-men, “minutemen” is now a more acceptable spelling;

(3) I realized from reading the source records, the phrase is either “Company of Minutemen” or “Minuteman Company,” and “Company of Minutemen” was far more common;

(4) I also learned from military historians that there is a difference between a minuteman company and a militia company so I make that distinction. Consequently, our name became: “The Descendants of Capt. Moses Soule's Company of Minutemen.”

Reenactor and Living History Committee

One of the purposes of the Reenactor and Living History Liaison Committee is to give public recognition to Revolutionary War period historical reenactment and living history organizations for their work in public education.

On March 10, Committee Chairman Brett Osborn of the Col. James Wood II Chapter, Virginia SAR, presented a National Society Certificate of Recognition to Joseph Wagner of the Continental Line of unit the 1st Virginia Regiment for recognition of his support in furthering education on the Revolutionary War period. The presentation was made at the 1st Virginia Regiment annual meeting in the American Legion Hall, Alexandria, Virginia.

During the presentation, Chairman Osborn learned that for the period 2017-18, Joseph Wagner and four members of the 1st Virginia Regiment had done presentations to schools, churches and civic groups for 2,500 students in Virginia, Maryland and California. Apparently, one member of the team spent his vacation doing presentations out west. The majority of the school presentations in Virginia were for fourth graders, as this is part of their school curriculum for Virginia history. An impressive effort by Wagner and the 1st Virginia team!

Graves of Our Founders: Recent Southern Trips

THIS IS THE SECOND IN AN OCCASIONAL SERIES ON THE FINAL RESTING PLACES OF OUR FOUNDING FATHERS. THE FIRST PART APPEARED IN THE WINTER 2018 ISSUE OF THE SAR MAGAZINE.

BY LAWRENCE KNORR (#152547), JOE FARRELL AND JOE FARLEY

“Poor is the nation having no heroes; shameful the one that having them, forgets.”

– Marcus Tullius Cicero

Since the publication of our “Call to Action” article in the prior edition of The SAR Magazine, many have reached out with thank-yous, suggestions for other Patriots to include, and requests to speak at chapter meetings. Thank you to all for your heartfelt responses. They energize us as we continue our survey of the graves of our founders.

One such response was regarding the lack of information in the article about the preponderance of Patriots in South Carolina. We informed the writer that we were well aware the Charleston area is home to the second-most founders’ graves, only Philadelphia claiming more. In the period since our last article was submitted until this writing (early March), we have made three trips: one to Mount Vernon, another broad swing through the South, and a third to the greater Charleston, South Carolina area.

Our experience at the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon was transcendent. The docent at the site must have sensed we were there for more than just a casual visit, especially since it was a cold, windy December day.

When we told him what we were doing, he was kind enough to open the tomb and permit us entry. We were deeply moved and were humbled to stand before it. A picture of Washington’s sarcophagus is included with this article. Washington’s sarcophagus looks new, and the setting at Mount Vernon makes this one of the finest graves we have visited.

The broad swing through the South was a very different experience. Motivated by the birth of his nephew in Gulfport, Mississippi, Lawrence Knorr headed to the Gulf Coast and then back through Tennessee and Kentucky before heading east through Ohio to Pennsylvania. Patrick Henry’s estate was the first stop. The Patriot and former governor’s grave was found on his plantation, a modest farmstead in rural Virginia. The only complaint about this site is its location—relatively far from other sites in Virginia.

Next on to Knoxville, Tennessee, to the grave of William Blount, a signer of the Constitution. Knoxville’s growth has crept up and around the little Colonial-era cemetery above the river. Blount’s grave was well-worn and contained no additional markings. A small historical marker along the street mentioned he was interred within. A couple blocks down the street, also crowded by modern construction, is the Blount home. It is well-preserved and would make a nice location to move the grave of our founder, should it be possible or desirable.

Our farthest-flung founder is none other than Continental Congressman Richard Smith, who signed the Continental Association. In 1803, to regain his health, he traveled through the South. In Vicksburg, Mississippi, he became ill and died. Some accounts have him buried in the Natchez City Cemetery. Knorr visited the cemetery and spoke to someone in the office.

"Can I help you?" she asked in her sweet Mississippi accent.

"I am looking for the grave of one of our nation's founders, Richard Smith," said Lawrence.

"We have a founder buried here?" she asked, puzzled.

At that point, Lawrence knew he was in trouble. No one had any idea where Smith was buried. It was also learned that many of the oldest graves at City Cemetery had been moved in the 1820s from a churchyard in the old part of town. After a visit there, Knorr knew no more than when he arrived about the actual location of Richard Smith. A subsequent search of newspaper databases found several ads in the 19th and early 20th centuries seeking information about the grave. Clearly, it has been lost for some time! Anyone with information about the possible location of Richard Smith's grave would be invaluable. It is time we know where he is.

After paying homage to Andrew Jackson at the Hermitage, near Nashville, Knorr headed to Louisville to the grave of George Rogers Clark. Cave Hill Cemetery was well maintained, and Clark's grave was well-marked. Also found there were the graves of Muhammad Ali and Colonel Sanders. Imagine the three of them around a table! Clark is honored also by a beautiful memorial at Vincennes, Indiana.

The most recent trip, focused on Charleston, began at the tomb of "Light Horse Harry" Lee, the father of Robert E. Lee, at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia. What a beautiful campus! While Robert is clearly the focus of the chapel tomb, father Harry was found in the basement with many other family members. A splendid little museum on the bottom level recounts much about father and son. The docent and staff were incredibly helpful. The last office of Robert E. Lee was also fascinating.

At the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park, the graves of two Patriots, John Penn and William Hooper, were easily located. Both had been moved there when the park was established more than 100 years ago. They share an impressive courtyard with a fabulous bronze equestrian statue of Gen. Nathanael Greene that is well worth the visit. It is a splendid example of what can be done to honor our founders whose graves may be in inferior situations.

Cornelius Harnett, Continental Congressman, was found in a small cemetery in Wilmington, North Carolina. It could certainly use a little more tender loving care.

Something should be done to permit more access, however.

It was an interesting trek to get to Francis “The Swamp Fox” Marion. This grave is in a rural area, more than a mile from a major road. A long lane leads to the small park, which contains the graves of Marion and other family members, located on the grounds of his former Belle Island Plantation, which burned long ago.

Likewise, Thomas Sumter is in a small park near Dalzell, South Carolina. This was a nice little park with additional information about Sumter. It is also relatively remote.

The grave of William Richardson Davie was disappointing. At first, it was exciting to come upon the mother and brothers of Andrew Jackson at the Old Waxhaw Presbyterian Church Cemetery, but it was disquieting to find Davie, in a brick enclosure marked by the SAR, locked to the public. We could get a picture only by bending over the 5-foot wall.

The trip concluded with a stop at Mount Hebron Cemetery in Winchester, Virginia. The grave of Daniel Morgan was easily found and Seven founders are in the historic area of Charleston, South Carolina. At the Saint Phillips Episcopal Church Cemetery, Charles Pinckney and Edward Rutledge were found in the section around the church. Christopher Gadsden was found in the cemetery extension across the street. Unfortunately, the church-side portion was closed to the public due to the danger of falling roof tiles. Lawrence was able to talk his way in for photographs, but subsequent visitors may be frustrated by this closure. Anything that can be done to assist this church in reopening its cemetery so the two founders can be honored would be appreciated.

Richard Hutson and John Mathews were buried at the Circular Congregational Church. Hutson’s crypt was easily found, but Mathews’ is missing! Anyone with more information about the location of the grave of founder John Mathews would be most appreciated.

Saint Michael’s Church is the location of Charles Cotesworth Pinckney and John Rutledge. Both graves were easily found and were typical of many such graves. They could both use improvement.

The adventures in the South Carolina countryside were more eventful. Henry Middleton’s grave could not be found or accessed at the Saint James Goose Creek Cemetery. Apparently, this small chapel is undergoing renovation. While the grounds are well maintained, we could not access the locked cemetery. It was also not apparent from afar which grave was Middleton’s.

Arthur Middleton, the son of Henry Middleton and signer of the Declaration of Independence, rests at Middleton Place, an impressive plantation with expansive gardens that is open to the public. The Middleton tomb is modest but well marked. It was difficult to get in for a photograph and is relatively expensive to visit. However, the tour of the grounds and house is well worth it.

Henry Laurens rests at Laurens Family Cemetery near Cordesville. The chapel and its grounds are locked, and access is not permitted. Nearby, there was a sign warning of alligators in the area! We did not risk life and limb for a picture of Laurens’ grave, which is likely a cenotaph. It is said Henry was cremated and “buried on his plantation.”

has been marked by an updated stone. However, the grave of Gen. Daniel Roberdeau, Continental Congressman and signer of the Articles of Confederation, lies under a well-worn slab without any further adornment. Something more must be done for Roberdeau.

In summary, we have now visited more than 40 percent of the founders’ graves, including many in the South as far west as Mississippi and Kentucky. The story regarding the condition of these graves is much the same and certainly has not improved. Since our last article, we have launched a website, www.AdoptAPatriot.com, detailing the graves and our findings. You can see whom we have already visited and who remains to be found. We have implemented a rating system to assist us in scoring the condition, location, accessibility and information present at these graves.

After visiting each grave, we record the score and derive a composite that will help determine where to focus our attention in the future.

Over the next few years, we will continue our travels, speaking and writing about what we find to increase awareness of the condition of these graves. We are planning three books in the Graves of Our Founders series. We hope to continue to update you with our findings in future editions of The SAR Magazine.

Lt. Sarah Hartwell Shattuck, 1738-1798

“Minute-woman” of “The Company of Prudence Wright’s Guard” – 1775

Sometimes, it seems, a girl’s just gotta do what she’s gotta do.

We’re all pretty much familiar with the story of “The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere,” thanks to the poetry of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow ... but fewer of us, I suspect, are familiar with the “rest of the story” (with apologies to Paul Harvey).

When Revere, Prescott and Dawes spread the word that British troops had departed Boston for the environs of Concord and Lexington on the night of April 18, 1775, local militia units from all over that part of Massachusetts picked up their best muskets, powder horns and shot and headed for pre-determined rallying points that would place them in positions to confront the oncoming King’s Grenadiers. The Company of Col. William Prescott of Pepperell was no exception. Both David Wright of Pepperell and Job Shattuck of Groton bid their respective families farewell and marched off to encounter their destinies, leaving their wives, children and aged parents behind.

When news of the skirmishes at both Lexington and Concord began to filter back through the Massachusetts countryside in the days immediately following the “shot heard around the world,” groups of the women who had been left behind began to gather at one another’s homes and on the village greens of the small farming communities along the course of the Nashua river, and to earnestly air their concerns that the main “highway” between British Canada and the British garrisons at and around Boston provided likely routes for local Tories and other royalists to send messages that might prove counterproductive to the fates of their absent citizen-soldier husbands, sons, brothers and fathers.

Clearly, something needed doing.

Betwixt the hamlets of Groton and Pepperell was a bridge that the local ladies considered to be in need of “defending.” Led by Mrs. David (Prudence Cuming) Wright and her friend, Mrs. Job (Sarah Hartwell) Shattuck, the ladies of the vicinity decided that they would don their absent husbands’, fathers’, brothers’ and sons’ clothing and pick up their “second-best” muskets and powder horns, and post sentries at the bridge (now known as “Jewett’s Bridge” and a more magnificent structure now than it was then).

The “company” (estimated to number between 30 and 40 women in strength) quickly elected Prudence Wright to be their “captain” and Sarah Shattuck to be her lieutenant and second in command.

The thought was that if local royalist sympathizers, or Tories, were to attempt mischief, or if British soldiers should show up in the vicinity, they might be intimidated into retreating until word could be sent to the closest militia units that they were needed.

A couple versions of the story of what would become known as “The Prudence Wright Guard” emerged in the years following the war and have been reproduced below.

The earliest version of the story comes from the book History of the Town of Groton, published in 1848, which states:

“After the departure of Col. William Prescott’s regiment of ‘minute men,’ Mrs. David Wright of Pepperell, Mrs. Job Shattuck of Groton, and the neighboring women, collected at what is now Jewett’s bridge, over the Nashua, between Pepperell and Groton, clothed in their absent husbands’ apparel, and armed with muskets, pitchforks, and such other weapons as they could find, and having elected Mrs. Wright their commander, resolutely determined, that no foe to freedom, foreign or domestic, should pass that bridge. For rumors were rife, that the regulars were approaching, and frightful stories of slaughter flew rapidly from place to place and from house to house. Soon there appeared one on horseback, supposed to be treasurably engaged in conveying intelligence to the enemy. By the implicit command of Sergeant Wright, he is immediately arrested, unhorsed, searched, and the treasonable correspondence found concealed in his boots. He was detained prisoner and sent to Oliver Prescott, Esq., of Groton, and his despatches were sent to the Committee of Safety.”

Decades later, in 1899, Mary L. P. Shattuck gave a speech at the Pepperell Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, during which she presented two versions of the story collected from the descendants of Leonard Whiting and Prudence Wright:

“The report of the fight on Lexington Green and at Concord came to the town later. The women knew that their townsmen had helped chase the British and were now with ‘other minute men’ near Boston, and that more serious action was imminent. Spies were reported as passing between the British in Canada and those in Boston. One direct road from Canada to Boston ran through Pepperell.

Nehemiah Jewett Bridge, photographed by Frank O. Branzetti for the Historic American Buildings Survey, Oct. 17, 1940

“For the women there was all the anxiety and dread uncertainty with none of the excitement of the assembled forces nearer Boston, but when they knew there was a possibility of doing something they seized the opportunity, and in the spirit that animated the ‘minute men,’ acted at once. Word was sent from house to house in Pepperell, for the women to assemble. We know that some from Groton also responded. Hollis women may have been represented in the gathering.

“Their rendezvous was Jewett’s bridge over the Nashua River, in Pepperell, the place where a person coming from the north would be obliged to cross, unless he forded the river. The ‘Guard’ assembled at dark one night a few days after the nineteenth of April, when they heard the rumor that British messengers were expected to cross the town. There were pine trees on one side of the river near the bridge, but no houses very near. The bridge at that time was an open one. The road, then as now, curved around high land on the north side so that the bridge was not visible until it was nearly reached by a person coming from the north.

“How long the women waited there was not remembered by our grandmothers in their story, but they were excited, so the story runs, as told by a descendant of Leonard Whiting, for when two horsemen approached from the north they heard the women’s voices before they came in sight, and the captain’s voice above the others. One of the horsemen recognized it as that of his sister, whose fearless, determined spirit he knew full well.

*‘Not one further step I ride!
One who rode with Whiting cried
’Tis my sister Prue! Alas,
She would never let me pass
Save when her dead body fell!
I turn back from Pepperell.’*

— poem by Annie V. Cuthbertson, published in Turner’s Public Spirit, Jan.15, 1898, Ayer, Mass.

“And, from that hour, her brother Thomas was never seen by his family or townsmen, so this tradition runs. Capt. Whiting being a military man, was not so much impressed by the voices of the women, and rode on into the midst of the ‘Guard’ before he realized the nature of the force he had to face.

“The women surrounded him, seized his horse, and at the command of ‘Capt. Wright,’ compelled him to dismount and submit to search. In his boots were found treasonable papers. The women marched their prisoner to the middle of the town, probably up Main street to the tavern kept by one Solomon Rogers. They were entertained a substantial supper no doubt and guarded their prisoner until morning, when they marched him to Groton and delivered him into custody. The papers were sent to the committee of safety at Charlestown.”

Here is a slightly different version of the story as told by a descendant of David and Prudence: Soon after her son Liberty died, Prudence went to her Hollis home, and one afternoon heard her brother Samuel, and Leonard Whiting make plans to meet a force of English and lead them to Groton. She succeeded in leaving Hollis without exciting their suspicion and returned to Pepperell, where she called together the women, who dressed in their absent husband’s clothing and proceeded to the bridge near Jewett’s fordway, prepared to defend it in the absence of their husbands and brothers.

“Soon after nightfall, horses were heard approaching, but instead of the force of British expected, only two horse men approached. Prudence, as chosen leader, ordered a halt. They turned to fly, but the women seized their horses. Leonard Whiting drew his revolver and was about to use it when Samuel Cumings made him lower it, saying: ‘I recognize Prude’s voice and she would wade through blood for the rebel cause.’ The men were dismounted and searched, and despatches from the British forces in the field, to the British General in Boston were found upon them.

“The prisoners were taken to Groton to the committee of safety, and the next day were given their liberty on condition that they would leave the colony. They departed in the direction of New York. Samuel Cumings never returned. Samuel was the favorite brother of Prudence, and his loss was a life-long grief to her. At the time when Leonard Whiting was delivered into the custody of Dr. Oliver Prescott, a member of the committee of safety in Groton, his daughter Annie was twelve years old, and the doctor’s son Oliver, of the same age. Some years later she became the wife of Dr. Oliver Prescott, Jr., who built for his bride the Jacobs house in Groton, where they lived until they removed to Newburyport.”

It is not clear if the two men arrested that night ever served time for their alleged crimes, and there is no definitive proof that the documents they were carrying were indeed “treasonable papers.”

According to the book, History of the Town of Hollis, the men, and many of their associates, were deemed suspicious numerous times in the months that followed but were eventually cleared of any wrongdoing due to a lack of evidence. When Thomas Cummings was indicted on a new charge shortly after, he fled the country with his brother, Samuel, and Leonard Whiting’s brother, Benjamin, following shortly behind. Their estates were later confiscated, and they all died in exile.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have a chapter in Massachusetts named for Prudence Cumings Wright. At the gravesite of Sarah Hartwell Shattuck in the “Old Common Bury” at Groton is a plaque placed by the same D.A.R. chapter honoring her service to our nation in the earliest days of the American Revolutionary War. It reads:

*“Sarah Hartwell Shattuck
Lieut Company of Women
Who Captured a Tory Carrying
Dispatches to British Army
Boston 1775”*

STATE SOCIETY & CHAPTER EVENTS

News stories about state and chapter events appearing here and elsewhere in the magazine are prepared from materials submitted through a variety of means, including press releases and newsletters (which should be directed to the Editor at the address shown on page 2). Please note the deadlines below. Compatriots are encouraged to submit ideas for historical feature articles they would like to write. Each will be given careful consideration.

DEADLINES: WINTER (FEBRUARY) DEC. 15; SPRING (MAY) MARCH 15; SUMMER (AUGUST) JUNE 15; FALL (NOVEMBER) SEPT. 15.

ALABAMA SOCIETY

Tennessee Valley Chapter

The Tennessee Valley Chapter presented Bronze Good Citizenship medals to two second-grade teachers on March 15 at Barkley Bridge Elementary School in Hartselle, Alabama. The teachers, Kimberley Powell and Amanda Godsey, were awarded the medals for teaching Revolutionary War history, and they have a unique way of doing it. They teach it not in a history class but in their reading class.

From the books Secret Soldier and George Washington's Socks, students learn about Deborah Sampson, the young girl who enlisted in the army as a man, and how Gen. George Washington and his army marched through the snow at Valley Forge without shoes and socks.

Unfamiliar or difficult words are pulled from the text and placed along with their definitions, in the student's vocabulary books. Thus, from their reading class, the students are learning to love books and the history of their country while also broadening their vocabulary.

Who knows, maybe Powell and Godsey are developing future Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution.

After the presentation, Alabama SAR President Bob Anderson described the uniform for the students and explained to them the difference between the lives of children today and those during Revolutionary times.

ARIZONA SOCIETY

Phoenix Chapter

The Phoenix Chapter inducted Harold Archie Darling into the SAR on his 90th birthday on April 5. Harold, a World War II Navy veteran, was sponsored and his fees paid by his nephew, Michael Darling of the Delaware SAR. Stephen Miller, Arizona SAR trustee, conducted the ceremony at Harold's home, along with Chuck Howey, Phoenix Chapter secretary, who presented him with the certificate and an Arizona SAR challenge coin. Making the deadline for presentation on his birthday was made possible by the efforts of his family, the Arizona SAR and the SAR genealogy staff.

CALIFORNIA SOCIETY

Orange County Chapter

The Orange County Chapter Color Guard, under the command of California Color Guard Commander Mark Kramer, took part in the 110th annual state conference of the California Society DAR. March 15-17 in Irvine, California.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA SOCIETY

2018 DCSSAR Public Safety Awards Announced May 4

Officer Euri Hernandez received the SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Award during the District of Columbia Metropolitan Police Department awards program on March 27, held at the THEARC in southeast Washington, D.C.

On June 1, Hernandez and his partner were called to Saint Elizabeth's Hospital for a combative patient who was armed with a large makeshift weapon. When they confronted the patient, they found him extremely agitated, and he demanded that the officers shoot him. In law enforcement parlance, this is considered an attempted suicide by cop. Hernandez was trained in the sort of crisis intervention required to abate the situation with the use of little or no force. The officer successfully calmed the patient down, and he self-disarmed. Through his patience and persistent efforts, the officer successfully de-escalated the situation without any harm to the patient, hospital staff or other police officers. Police Chief Peter Newsham attended the awards program.

D.C. firefighter Jeff Beach received the SAR Emergency Medical Services Award during the District of Columbia Fire and Emergency Management Services awards program on April 27, held on the campus of Gallaudet University.

While off duty and in his personal vehicle, Beach witnessed a late-evening motor vehicle accident on MLK Highway and Lottford Vista Road in Lanham, Maryland on May 9, 2017. He stopped to render aid and found Brittnee Crouell trapped inside her overturned vehicle. Beach gained access to Crouell by using a pocketknife and his hands to cut through the windshield. He found that the victim's arm had been amputated at the elbow. Relying on his EMS training, he used his belt and applied it to the severed limb as a tourniquet. Upon the arrival of paramedics, the victim was cut from the vehicle and flown to a local trauma center by the Maryland State Police Medivac helicopter. Beach was credited with saving the life of Crouell as well as her arm. Crouell and Fire and EMS (FEMS) Chief Gregory Dean were in attendance for Beach's award presentation.

Firefighter Deangelo Bunch received the SAR Fire Safety Commendation Award. On Sept. 1, 2017, while assigned to Engine 23, Bunch responded to the Foggy Bottom Metro Station for an unconscious person. While he and other members of Engine 23 were tending to the unconscious person, they observed another person who appeared to be under the influence of an unknown substance on the platform. The person apparently lost his balance and fell from the platform, tumbling into the track bed and landing on a running rail.

Bunch and another firefighter ran toward opposite ends of the platform to engage the emergency shut-off button to kill the third rail power. Simultaneously, the platform warning lights began to flash, signaling the approach of an oncoming train. Bunch and another member of the team disregarded their personal safety and put themselves under extreme personal risk by leaping down on the track bed and removing the unconscious victim to the platform before the oncoming train arrived. Both firefighters also received the FEMS Class 1 Bronze Bar for Valor.

The District of Columbia SAR awarded the Honor in Service Cross to U.S. Rep. Michael Thomas McCaul Sr. during its annual Holiday Dinner on Dec. 6, 2017 at the Capitol Hill Club in Washington, D.C.

The Latin phrase honor in officio, which appears at the center of the Honor in Service Cross medal, expresses esteem for those who perform acts of benefit beyond themselves. DCSSAR awards its Honor in Service Cross for outstanding and patriotic service of local and national importance. The medal is awarded to both members and nonmembers, for service to the community in civil or military areas, religion, education, philanthropy, business, professions and other fields.

Congressman McCaul is serving his seventh term representing Texas' 10th District in the United States Congress. On Jan. 3, 2013, the beginning of the 113th Congress, McCaul became chairman of the House Committee on Homeland Security. The committee has oversight of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) ensuring it is able to carry out its core mission of protecting the American people from terrorist attacks. As chairman, McCaul prioritizes the threat of international and domestic terrorism, cybersecurity, airport security and fixing dysfunctional management within DHS. McCaul also prioritizes border security and elevates this as a national security issue.

Prior to his election, McCaul served as chief of counterterrorism and national security in the U.S. Attorney's Office, Western District of Texas, and led the Joint Terrorism Task Force charged with detecting, deterring and preventing terrorist activity. McCaul also served as Texas deputy attorney general under current U.S. Sen. John Cornyn and as a federal prosecutor in the Department of Justice's Public Integrity Section in Washington, D.C.

McCaul and his wife, Linda, have five children: Caroline, Jewell, and triplets Lauren, Michael Jr. and Avery.

In addition to receiving the Honor in Service Cross, McCaul will be inducted into the DCSSAR. He is the fourth-great grandson of Revolutionary War Patriot Lt. William Addington.

FLORIDA SOCIETY

On Saturday, April 7, the 241st anniversary of the Battle of Thomas Creek was commemorated in Jacksonville, Florida at Seaton Creek Historic Park, with more than 100 attending. David Ramseur, past chapter and Florida SAR president, presided over the ceremony. Greetings were brought from the City of Jacksonville by Assistant General Counsel Susan Grandin, who was the former local director of the Trust for Public Land and, in that office, began working on this land-preservation acquisition a decade ago. Grandin involved David Ramseur seven years ago with the mayor's office and the city council in acquiring these 846 acres, which contained battlefield artifacts, for preservation. Also, the City of Jacksonville is planning a $1 million enhancement of the park, including boardwalks, a pavilion, an overlook tower, a kayak launch and trail signs.

Greetings were also brought by Florida and Georgia SAR chapters and DAR and C.A.R. chapters. A large, patriotic chorus sang, and the Boy Scouts assisted in the ceremony.

The featured speaker and award-winning Compatriot Dr. Roger Smith, reminded the crowd that the Battle of Thomas Creek was not just another border skirmish but an attempt to make northeast Florida the 14th colony. An SAR musket salute honored the Patriots who fought and died at Thomas Creek.

Clearwater Chapter

Cadet Austin Dziejdzic, Gulf High School NROTC, was presented the SAR JROTC Award by Chapter President Pat Niemann at the Gulf High School Awards Ceremony, May 2.

Jonathan Vincent, the newest member of the Clearwater Chapter of the SAR, was inducted by President Niemann during the March meeting held at the Dunedin Golf and Country Club. Vincent has been attending the chapter luncheons for some time, accompanying his grandfather, 98-year-old Compatriot Hal Miller, who had the honor of placing the SAR pin on his grandson's jacket.

Tampa Chapter

Noted historian Dr. Roger Smith spoke at the Tampa Chapter's March meeting on Colonial Florida history. He currently represents Colonial Research Associates, Inc. and speaks across the South on his Revolutionary War research. He has provided historical research for Super Music Vision, the music production company for the AMC series, Turn.

Smith was featured discussing Florida's Revolutionary War history in the PBS documentary, America: The Prequel, a four-part series on the 450-year history of the city of St. Augustine, Florida, as well as on an episode of the PBS series Secrets of the Dead entitled "Secrets of Spanish Florida."

GEORGIA SOCIETY

Joseph Belknap Harris, Ph.D., was presented a Lifetime Achievement Award on May 5 for his distinguished service in numerous activities in his native Wilkes County, Georgia, one of the most notable being the preservation of the Kettle Creek Battlefield site. When he retired to Wilkes County, the battlefield consisted of 12 ½ acres purchased by the DAR in 1900. Harris mobilized the community and many interested parties to preserve the site for posterity by organizing the Kettle Creek Battlefield Association (KCBA). He became, and remains, the chairman of its board of directors.

The KCBA has facilitated the preservation of the site, working closely with the CSRA Regional Commission to obtain a grant with the Georgia Department of Natural Resources to develop a master plan. To further these plans, the Carl Vinson Institute was hired to design a conceptual plan. A botanical survey was made by the University of Georgia, which found many unusual and rare species.

Following these efforts, a grant from the Georgia SAR, together with local funds, acquired an additional 60 acres. The Civil War Trust, supported by the American Battlefield Protection legislation, and funds from the Sarah Giles Moore Foundation and the Watson-Brown Foundation added 180 acres of adjoining property in 2017.

In the last few years, hundreds of school children, preservationists, lovers of history and botanical enthusiasts have toured the battlefield site.

The award was given by the Washington Wilkes Chapter GASSAR, and it coincided with the grave-marking ceremony honoring Dr. Harris' Revolutionary War Patriot ancestor, Owen Fluker. Harris was also a charter member of this SAR chapter and has previously served terms as vice president and treasurer.

Two Washington Wilkes County High School band members participated in grave-marking ceremonies by the Washington Wilkes Chapter and the Kettle Creek Chapter NSDAR on Saturday, May 5. Erin McLeroy, sophomore, and John Michael Miller, junior, shared their musical talents to honor Patriots John Callaway and Owen Fluker at two grave markings. John Michael drummed the Georgia SAR Color Guard on and off the field. Erin played Taps to close the service. Their musical tributes added to this solemn ceremony.

Eight compatriots from the Wiregrass Chapter and Brier Creek Chapter traveled to Midway Cemetery for the dedication of grave markers commemorating the service of five Patriot soldiers: Thomas Bacon, John Osgood, Joseph Quarterman, Josiah Osgood and William Way. Members attending the ceremony were Chip Durden, Ruskin Powell, Steve Burke, Lee Smith, Dess Smith III, Christian Cotton-Dixon, Charles Cotton-Dixon and Casey Cotton-Dixon. Also attending was Jane Durden, a member of the Gov David Emanuel/Adam Brinson Chapter, DAR.

Six Georgia SAR chapters sponsored this event: the Athens, Brier Creek, Captain John Collins, Marshes of Glynn, Robert Forsyth and the Wiregrass chapters. This event was in conjunction with the St. John's Parish Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution.

President Lee Smith presented the Brier Creek Chapter wreath, and Dess Smith III presented the Wiregrass Chapter wreath. Ruskin, Dess, Christian, Charles and Casey fired their Pennsylvania Flintlock long rifles eight rounds, and Steve and Lee fired their 6-pounder naval cannon three rounds.

Colonel William Few Chapter

On May 19, the Col. William Few Chapter sponsored a grave marker dedication ceremony in Augusta, Georgia for Georgia's three signers of the Declaration of Independence: Button Gwinnett, Lyman Hall and George Walton. Co-sponsoring chapters were the Button Gwinnett Chapter SAR, Lyman Hall Chapter SAR and the George Walton Chapter SAR. The Augusta Chapter DAR and College Hill Chapter DAR prepared food for a reception after the event.

On hand was the Georgia SAR Color Guard, with the Elijah Clarke Militia providing a three-round musket volley and artillery fire with a replica 6-pound naval cannon. Georgia SAR President Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Donald Burdick dedicated the new grave marker at the Signer's Monument located at the intersection of Greene and Monument streets. The Signer's Monument was dedicated in 1848.

ILLINOIS SOCIETY

Fox Valley Chapter

The Fox Valley Chapter honored Patriot Daniel Burroughs on May 19 in Griswold Cemetery in rural Kendall County. The chapter hosted the ceremony, with special thanks to the Kishwaukee Chapter and Fort Dearborn Chapter compatriots and the Fox River Valley DAR.

Burroughs was born May 28, 1755 in Windsor, Connecticut. In 1775, while residing in Alstead, New Hampshire, he volunteered as a private in Col. John Stark's regiment and served three months before being discharged by proclamation. He volunteered again in 1776 and was appointed corporal in Col. Bidel's regiment. The regiment marched to Fort Ticonderoga, where Burroughs was stationed for five months before being discharged. Volunteering again in 1777, Burroughs was promoted to first sergeant, and he served at Fort Ticonderoga until the fort was evacuated by the Continental Army on July 6, 1777.

Remaining with the militia, Burroughs took part in the pivotal Battle of Saratoga in October 1777. Here, American Gen. Horatio Gates led the Continental Army and militia units to victory over a British force of some 7,000 men. A month later, Burroughs was once again discharged by proclamation, and he returned home to New Hampshire.

Nearly three years later, Native Americans allied with the British set fire to the town of Royalton, Vermont. Burroughs enlisted with a regiment that was dispatched to pursue them. He was on duty with this expedition for two months as a sergeant before being discharged.

After the war, Burroughs settled in Williamstown, Vermont for 17 years. Following this, he resided in Shalersville, Portage County, Ohio. In 1837, he came to Kane County, Illinois with his son, Daniel Burroughs Jr., who was a veteran of the War of 1812. Burroughs passed away at the age of 88 on Oct. 18, 1843. He is buried in the Griswold Cemetery in Plano, Illinois.

General George Rogers Clark Chapter

Five members of the Gen. George Rogers Clark Chapter, Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution, paid tribute to their chapter's namesake on May 26.

Chapter President Charles Dobias, Vice President Robert Ridenour, Registrar Jim DeGroff, and Compatriots Philip Bailey and Richard Ruedin traveled to Vincennes, Indiana to participate in ceremonies at George Rogers Clark National Historical Park, sponsored by the Indiana SAR to honor Clark. DeGroff represented the chapter in placing a wreath in front of the statue of Clark.

George Rogers Clark, a surveyor and militia officer during the Revolutionary War, was the highest-ranking military officer on the northwestern frontier. He is best known for leading a small force of about 175 men across the freezing Illinois countryside to capture the British-held Fort Sackville at Vincennes in February 1779. After two days of fighting, Gov. Hamilton and his 600 British and Native American troops surrendered to Lt. Col. Clark's force.

General Joseph Bartholomew Chapter

The General Joseph Bartholomew Chapter held its annual recognition banquet at the Bloomington Country Club on April 12. The faculties of the 20 high schools in McLean and Woodford counties selected an outstanding senior student for recognition. Two of the students were awarded $1,000 scholarships for their participation in activities demonstrating their dependability, cooperation, leadership, patriotism and scholarship. In addition, several individuals were selected from the community for notable services in activities to preserve our American heritage.

The keynote speaker was Dr. Davis M. Gerlach, president of Lincoln College, who directed his comments to “The Intersection of Dr. Martin Luther King and Mahalia Jackson at Lincoln College: Honoring Their Legacies.”

This is the 19th year the program has been held since its inception in 2000. During this time, 361 high school seniors have been recognized and $17,800 in scholarships awarded. There were 102 attendees, including the SAR members, student nominees, high school representatives, parents, members of the community for their notable services and honored guests, which this year included David Chamblin, president elect of the ILSSAR; Mark Jontry, regional superintendent for Dewitt, Livingston, Logan and McLean counties; Patrick Durley, regional superintendent for Woodford, Tazewell and Mason counties; Mrs. Robert Bowen, pianist; and Don Hyland, GJB SAR treasurer and photographer.

The student nominees and their high schools were: Nathaniel Jacob Parson, Bloomington; Seth Seiler, Calvary Christian Academy; Ryan C. Thomas, Central Catholic; Christiaan Whittier Noyes, Cornerstone Christian Academy; Cheyenne Elizabeth Carr, El Paso-Gridley; Natalie Rose Bardwell, Eureka; Linnea Genevieve Nordstrom, Fieldcrest; Matthew Robert Schultz, Heyworth; James M. Spencer, LeRoy; Katherine Taylor Cheever, Lexington; Taylor Belle Laible, Lowpoint-Washburn; Christopher Michael Leanos, Metamora Township; Yates R. McLaughlin, Normal Community; Luke William Gentry, Normal Community West; Rebecca Ann Kath, Olympia; Jacob Sidney Leman, Prairie Central; Katherine Isabel Dowling, Ridgeview; Ellyn Ruth Sauder, Roanoke-Benson; Brock Nathaniel Ward, Tri-Valley; Molly Elizabeth Day, University High School.

The citizens recognized for notable services were:

- Ed Pyne, editor of The Normalite weekly newspaper, for the support and publicity his paper has provided the GJB SAR Chapter and our events—presented by Dr. Virgil Short.

- Patrick Durley, regional superintendent for Woodford, Tazewell and Mason counties, for his support of the GJB SAR Outstanding Good Citizenship Program—presented by Bill White.

- Jeffrey S. Kretlow, GJB SAR Chapter vice president and chairman of the Flag, Law Enforcement, Fire Safety, EMS and Heroism committees—presented by Bill Hammitt.

The individuals from the community and students were presented with the SAR Good Citizenship Certificates, SAR pins and pocket U.S. Constitutions, with two students awarded the $1,000 scholarships. Those students were Natalie Rose Bardwell of Eureka High School and Molly Elizabeth Day of University High School.

Long Knives Chapter

The Long Knives Chapter held a Patriot grave-marking ceremony at St. John’s Cemetery in Union County, Illinois on June 9. Four Revolutionary War soldiers are buried in the cemetery—Peter Meisenheimer, Adam Clapp, Christopher Lyerle and Jacob Hileman. The chapter worked for more than a year to complete this project.

Quite a bit of research and fundraising went into the effort. On the day of the ceremony, despite rainy weather, about 50 descendants attended. The chapter color guard provided a musket salute, and Boy Scout Troop 44 carried the colors. The ceremony was well received, and attendees expressed their deep appreciation to the chapter afterward.

INDIANA SOCIETY

The George Rogers Clark Memorial Wreath-Laying Ceremony celebrating the 239th anniversary of the capture of Fort Sackville, was held May 26 at the George Rogers Clark Memorial, George Rogers Clark National Historical Park in Vincennes, Indiana. This was the seventh year for this annual National SAR event.

Dr. Theodore Rex Legler II, past Vice President General, Central District, was the presiding officer. The invocation and benediction were given by Robert P. Cunningham, also a past Vice President General of the Central District.

James C. Arnold, Indiana SAR, commanded an excellent color guard, which presented and posted the colors. Color guard participants included compatriots from Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, New Hampshire and the Germany Society.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Allen G. Manning, Indiana Society Clifty Creek Chapter secretary, and April A. Legler, National Ladies Auxiliary parliamentarian, led the singing of the national anthem.

Welcome and opening remarks were made by Frank W. Doughman, superintendent of the George Rogers Clark National Historical Park.

Greetings were brought by VPG Robert B. Fish, Central District; Robert C. Pfaff, president, Indiana SAR; Chris Cunningham, president, Indiana Ladies Auxiliary; and Cynthia Frederick, Southern District Director Elect, Indiana DAR.

John R. Fish, George Rogers Clark Chapter president and Indiana District 4 vice president; Gavin T. Fish, grandson of John Fish; and Cunningham escorted participants presenting wreaths. In total, 33 wreaths were presented, and flag streamers were awarded to all presenters.

During the weekend of the wreath-laying ceremony, the Indiana SAR hosted a tent on Saturday and Sunday at the 42nd Spirit of Vincennes Rendezvous. Compatriots dressed in Colonial attire recruited prospective members for the SAR.

Compatriots interested in attending or participating in the Saturday, May 25, 2019 ceremony, please contact Cunningham, event coordinator, by email at rpcunnin@indiana.edu.

Jeremy Kreps serves in the U.S. Army at Fort Campbell and is a dual member of the Valentine Sevier Chapter, Tennessee SAR, as well as a member of the Continental Chapter, Indiana SAR. He attended the annual George Rogers Clark Memorial Wreath-Laying Ceremony, a National Sons of the American Revolution event that took place on May 26 in the rotunda of the Clark Memorial at the George Rogers Clark National Historical Park in Vincennes, Indiana.

Jeremy's son, C.A.R. member Collin James Kreps, was escorted by his father, mother Joyce, sister Kenna Kreps, DAR grandmother Janet Kreps and SAR grandfather Mark Kreps, Continental Chapter, Indiana SAR member.

The Indiana SAR Northern Command Color Guard participated in the annual DAR Youth Award Ceremony. The event was held on March 8 at the First Presbyterian Church in Muncie, Indiana.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY

Memorial Day in the United Kingdom: Staying true to the ideals of the SAR and in recognition of our World War II veterans who never made it home, Malin Hayton laid a wreath on behalf of the International Society at the North Pickenham, Norfolk memorial in remembrance of the lives lost by airmen of the 491st and 492nd bomb groups. He then went on to the Cambridge American Cemetery where, among the other 110 other floral tributes, he laid a wreath on behalf of the SAR.

It was a true family affair, as Malin presented for the SAR; his wife presented a wreath for the Virginia Founding Fathers; and Malin's mom, Leda Hayton, laid a wreath for the Walter Hines Page Chapter DAR. All the wreaths were made by members of the Hayton family.

IOWA SOCIETY

Central Iowa Chapter

On April 3, members of the Iowa Society of the SAR and the General Society of the War of 1812 in the state of Iowa joined the public in greeting and listening to a presentation by former U.S. Army tomb guard and Iowa native Tom Tudor.

A 1966 graduate of Roosevelt High School in Des Moines, Tudor earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Iowa in 1979. Tudor has been a business entrepreneur for more than three decades and is also a five-term Rotary International Club President. He resides in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Tudor's presentation was on the history of Arlington National Cemetery and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and included a section on Iowans in Arlington.

The night was made even more special by the attendance of two additional former tomb guards and Iowa natives.

KANSAS SOCIETY

The Kansas Society Sons of the American Revolution held a special event commemorating the membership and life of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The Kansas Society hosted an SAR grave-marking ceremony on the grounds of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Presidential Library, Museum and Boyhood Home in Abilene, Kansas, on Saturday, June 2. President General Larry Guzy delivered the memorial address.

President Eisenhower joined the SAR through the Empire State Society (New York) and was member No. 65450, utilizing his great-great-grandfather, John Peter Eisenhauer, as his Patriot ancestor. The elder Eisenhauer supplied grain and forage to the army at Valley Forge. Eisenhower also filed one supplemental application for his great-great-great-grandfather, John Mater/Matter, who fought with Washington's troops at the Battle of Long Island.

Food vendors were on the grounds throughout the day. The event ended with an evening of music from the First Infantry Division Band, followed by the Salina Symphony.

KENTUCKY SOCIETY

Son of Virginia – Father of Kentucky

A tribute to Judge Samuel McDowell took place on Sept. 23, 2017 in Danville, Kentucky on the bicentennial of his death. The event, which included the unveiling of a new gravestone for Samuel and his wife, Mary McClung, was attended by some 45 of McDowell's descendants, members of several chapters of the DAR and SAR, the American Legion, the Boyle County Historic Trust, the McDowell House, and Danville and Boyle County officials.

Judge Samuel McDowell was a son of Virginia and a father of Kentucky. He fought in two Colonial wars (Braddock's Defeat and Lord Dunmore's War at the battle of Point Pleasant) and was colonel of the Rockbridge County Virginia Militia during the Revolutionary War, which fought with distinction at the battle of Guilford Court House. McDowell was later an early settler of Danville. He also was appointed as one of the first federal judges in the Virginia District of Kentucky by George Washington. As a leading citizen in the area of Virginia west of the Alleghenies, McDowell was elected president of nine of the 10 conventions that resulted in Kentucky's statehood.

Blue Licks Chapter

Daniel Joseph Goderwis II watched his father accept, on behalf of his wife, Sharon, Julian Wills and Janie Whitehead, the Blue Licks Chapter Flag Certificate.

Colonel Stephen Trigg Chapter Chapter

The Col. Stephen Trigg Chapter held its fourth annual reading of the Declaration of Independence on July 4 at 10:15 a.m. in a parking lot beside the Trigg County Justice Center. Kentucky SAR President Geoff Baggett of Cadiz was the reader.

The event is an exciting living history opportunity for Trigg County citizens. Attendees are transported back in time to the late summer of 1776, when riders carried the newly approved Declaration to cities and towns in each of the 13 states and read the text in the public squares. Listeners are encouraged to hiss and boo at every mention of King George III and his tyranny, and to cheer at each statement of independence and freedom. At the end of the event, after the ceremonial tolling of the Independence Bell, each person is invited to add his or her signature to a parchment copy of the Declaration.

Chapter President Steve Mallory stated, "This is a uniquely American holiday. It truly is a special way to commemorate our independence."

Like many SAR events, compatriots dress in 18th-century uniforms and attire and there is an array of colorful Revolutionary War flags and a flintlock musket salute. This year's experience offered a "dress-up station" where kids could don Revolutionary War clothing and hats.

The Col. Stephen Trigg Chapter is one of the most active chapters of the SAR. It has been recognized for its record growth and impressive program of activities over the past five years.

MARYLAND SOCIETY

Westminster Chapter

MISSOURI SOCIETY

The Missouri Society held its 128th Annual Convention on April 27-28 at the Embassy Suites in St. Charles, Missouri. It was hosted by the Fernando de Leyba Chapter of St. Charles, Missouri. In attendance were President General Larry T. Guzy and Vice President General, South Central District Robert N. Capps Jr. The Lewis and Clark Fife and Drum Corps of St. Charles, Missouri marched in with the Missouri Society Color Guard at the opening ceremonies and performed several numbers.

The Annual Convention was well-attended, including the pre-convention educational seminars. A silent auction raised over $2,500 for the Missouri State Society Children of the American Revolution. A Youth Awards Program luncheon was held, presenting awards to winning students and educators in all but one of the SAR Youth Award programs. It was noted that the Missouri Society Arthur M. and Berdena King Eagle Scout Award awardee, James M. Donovan, is the national awardee. Eagle Scout Donovan was sponsored by the Christopher Casey Chapter of Jefferson City, Missouri. An awards and installation banquet was held that honored women who support the SAR and also honored members for their service to the Missouri Society and the SAR. Newly elected officers for 2018-2019 were sworn in by President General Guzy.

Interesting programs were presented by Stephen L. Kling Jr., attorney and author of the book The Battle of St. Louis, the Attack on Cahokia, and the American Revolution in the West, and Marine Corps Sgt. Maj. Lance Nutt, founder and president of Sheep Dog Impact Assistance. The Annual Convention was closed with a state color guard commander Change of Command ceremony. The outgoing state color guard commander is William "Bill" Groth, and the incoming state color guard commander is Doug Neff. During the Board of Directors meeting held during the Annual Convention, the board approved having a book published for the 130th anniversary of the Missouri Society to supplement the centennial book published in 1989.

The Missouri Society has an interesting history. Missourians who were descendants of American Revolution soldiers formed the Missouri Society of the Sons of the American Revolution on April 23, 1889 in St. Louis, Missouri. At this meeting, Josiah Fogg, Esq. was elected its first president (1889 and 1890), and Gaius O. Paddock was elected to be the Missouri Delegate to the National Meeting in New York. The meeting to form the new national organization was held on April 30, 1889 in New York City at Fraunce's Tavern. The Missouri Society was represented by Gaius O. Paddock, ancestor of our recently deceased Missouri Society compatriot, Milan A. Paddock. The National Society was formed with 18 state societies, including the Missouri Society. Missouri Governor David R. Francis was elected as one of its Vice President Generals, and Gaius O. Paddock was elected Treasurer General.

Missouri was well represented in the National Society from the very beginning. Francis became the president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, which was informally known as the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair. The NSSAR held its National Congress at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904.

Plaque Dedication at the National Churchill Museum in Fulton, Missouri

If it were not for Westminster College President Franc L. McCluer (known as "Bullet"), there may not have been an "Iron Curtain Speech" by Sir Winston Churchill. We have him to thank for inviting Churchill to visit Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri.

It's an interesting story of a small college president in 1946 who had the boldness to ask Sir Winston Churchill to visit his college; of a Westminster College alumnus (Harry Vaughan) with access to the president of the United States (Harry S Truman); of a president with the willingness to endorse the invitation; and of a recently defeated British prime minister with the shrewdness to recognize an opportunity. Franc McCluer and Harry Vaughan traveled to Washington, D.C. for the sole purpose of asking President Truman to support their effort, and President Truman, after reading the letter of invitation, said, "This is a good idea," and added his personal, hand-written endorsement to the letter.

According to the Westminster College's website, on March 5, 1946, Churchill visited Westminster College as the Green Lecturer and delivered "Sinews of Peace," a broadcasted message that went down in history as the "Iron Curtain Speech: From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic an 'iron curtain' has descended across the continent."

In 1961, Friends of Westminster College and the St. Louis Chapter of the English-Speaking Union began a conversation in the office of College President Robert L. D. Davidson (also known as Larry Davidson) that would lead to the establishment of the Winston Churchill Memorial & Library. College Trustee Neal Wood agreed to chair the project committee that would ultimately bring a bombed-out Christopher Wren church from London to Fulton, Missouri to house the memorial and to serve as the college chapel. This has become known as the National Churchill Museum.

On March 10, 2018, the Missouri Society dedicated a plaque commemorating the "Iron Curtain Speech" and honoring Compatriots Churchill and Truman at the National Churchill Museum in Fulton, Missouri. The NSSAR George Washington Endowment Fund Distribution Committee approved funds to assist in placing the plaque. Participating in the plaque dedication were Vice President General Robert N. Capps Jr., South Central District; and Vice Present General T. Brooks Lyles Jr., International. Twenty-one Color Guardsmen from Missouri and Kansas participated in the dedication ceremonies.

Sir Winston Churchill

Sir Winston Churchill served as Great Britain's prime minister during World War II, 1940-1945, and again during 1951-1955. Churchill was born on November 30, 1874 at Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, England. His full name is Winston Leonard Spenser-Churchill. Churchill presented his "Sinews of Peace" at Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri on March 5, 1946.

Churchill's mother, Jeanette "Jennie" Jerome, later known as Lady Randolph Spenser Churchill, was an American from Brooklyn, New York. Through Churchill's maternal grandfather, Leonard Jerome, sometime proprietor and editor of The New York Times and known as "The King of Wall Street," Churchill had at least two forebears who fought against the British in the American War of Independence: one great-grandfather, Samuel Jerome, served in the Berkshire County Militia, while another, Major Libbeus Ball, of the 4th Massachusetts Regiment, marched and fought with George Washington's army at Valley Forge. Leonard Jerome's maternal grandfather, Reuben Murray, served as a lieutenant in the Connecticut and New York regiments, while his wife Clara's grandfather, Ambrose Hall, was a captain in the Berkshire County Militia at Bennington, Massachusetts.

In 1963, U.S. President John F. Kennedy, acting under authorization granted by an act of Congress, proclaimed Churchill the first Honorary Citizen of the United States.

Churchill joined the SAR in 1964 under his ancestor Lt. Reuben Murray, who served in the 17th Connecticut Regiment and 7th Albany Regiment, New York Militia.

Churchill was proud of his heritage through his American mother and wrote a volume on U.S. history in his A History of the English-Speaking Peoples. Churchill referenced his Revolutionary War ancestors in a speech during his visit to Colonial Williamsburg in the 1940s. During a joint session of the United States Congress on Dec. 26, 1941, Churchill made reference to his American ancestry.

Churchill died at home on Jan. 24, 1965 at the age of 90. By decree of the queen, his body lay in state in Westminster Hall for three days, and a state funeral service was held at St. Paul's Cathedral. This was the first state funeral for a non-royal-family member since 1935. He is buried in the family plot at St. Martin's Church, Bladon, Oxfordshire, England, not far from his birthplace at Blenheim.

President Harry S Truman

President Harry S Truman became the 33rd president of the United States and served from 1945-1954. Truman was born in Lamar, Missouri on May 8, 1884. He served in the U.S. Army during WWI. He saw action in France, was discharged from service as a captain, and later served as a senator for Missouri and as vice president of the United States. Upon completing his second presidential term in 1953, President Truman returned home to Independence, Missouri and wrote his memoirs. As we know, President Truman accompanied Churchill at the "Iron Curtain Speech."

Several of Truman's ancestors who served during the Revolutionary War have been identified. Revolutionary War Patriots on his mother's side were Michael Goodnight, John Gregg, William Scott and Jacob Young. Revolutionary War Patriots on his father's side were Richard Shipp, James Holmes and Robert Taylor. Records have not been found to document the Revolutionary War service of William R. Truman Sr.

Truman joined the SAR in 1967 under his ancestor, Lt. James Holmes of the 2nd Regiment of the Virginia Militia, who served from 1777 to 1781. Truman is one of 16 U.S. presidents who became members of the SAR.

In 1967, at Truman's home in Independence, SAR president General Lee Young Smith presented the former U.S. president with his SAR membership certificate, SAR membership insignia badge and SAR Gold Good Citizenship Medal.

Truman died in Kansas City, Missouri on Dec. 26, 1972 at the age of 88. At the request of his wife, Bess, the funeral service for Truman was held in the President Harry S Truman Library, and the burial was in the courtyard at Independence, Missouri.

The Missouri Society of SAR considers it a privilege to be able to place a plaque at the National Churchill Museum honoring Compatriot Sir Winston Churchill and Compatriot President Harry S Truman. The Missouri Society is very appreciative of the National Churchill Museum permitting a plaque to be placed honoring these two compatriots. For more information, visit www.nationalchurchillmuseum.org.

MISSISSIPPI SOCIETY

Joseph Warren Chapter

Edward Campbell, president of the Joseph Warren Chapter of Vicksburg, Mississippi, presented the Bronze

Roger Sherman Medal and Certificate to member and Chapter Historian Chad Couth.

Couth was presented the award because of his enthusiasm and hard work in helping to reactivate the chapter. He currently has six supplemental Revolutionary ancestors on which he is working. Compatriot Campbell was also awarded the Silver Roger Sherman Medal and Certificate for his efforts in reactivating the chapter.

NEBRASKA SOCIETY

The two chapters of the Nebraska Society, Lincoln and Omaha, continue with their monthly meetings. At the April meeting of the Omaha Chapter, Compatriot Roy William "Bill" Prather Jr. from Liberty, Missouri was a guest of past North Central Vice President General Fred Walden.

Prather is the father of Fred and Janet Walden's pastor at the First Baptist Church of Omaha, Nebraska and was visiting his son. Also attending the Omaha Chapter meeting from Lincoln, Nebraska was Nebraska State Secretary John Reinert.

NEVADA SOCIETY

Signers Chapter

The Signers Chapter participated in 26 ROTC/JROTC awards programs this year, including 21 at high schools in the Las Vegas area, three at high schools in Pahrump, Nevada and St. George, Utah, and two at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. Donald Hotchkiss, chapter president, was the keynote speaker at Dixie High School's JROTC awards program in St. George on May 4. Compatriots Leonard Becker, Jay Chapman, Michael Gravitt, Jeff Gutting, Don Hotchkiss, Bill Jones, Larry Kesler, Dan Orr, Gary Parriott, Antonio Reyes, Charles Smith, Tommy Thompson and Douglas Walker presented the awards. Michael Gravitt served as ROTC/JROTC awards chair for 2018.

NEW JERSEY SOCIETY

Colonel John Rosenkrans Chapter

The Col. John Rosenkrans Chapter, NJSSAR participated in the April 21 grave-marking ceremony for Pvt. Matthew Davis at the Old Newton Burial Ground, Newton, New Jersey. Davis was born on April 30, 1745 in New York. He married Phebe Wells, and their children included Matthew Livingston Davis and George Davis. Patriot Davis died on Sept. 24, 1780. He served during the Revolutionary War, first as a private in the 3rd Company, "The Line," 3rd Regiment of the New York Troops under Col. James Clinton; and then as quartermaster in Col. John Lasher's Regiment, New York Militia.

Monmouth Chapter

The Monmouth Chapter's Annual Memorial Day Service was held at the grave of Maj. Thomas Seabrook in Fairview Cemetery in Middletown, New Jersey. Along with Clark McCullough, past New Jersey SAR president, were descendants of Seabrook: Patricia Walling Conwell (DAR), fifth-great-granddaughter; Christopher Walling, sixth-great-grandson; Mason Walling, seventh-great-grandson; and Gary Walling (SAR), fifth-great-grandson.

NEW MEXICO SOCIETY

Gadsden Chapter

The Gadsden Chapter, Las Cruces, New Mexico sponsors the RAF Alconbury, England, Air Force Base's JROTC Program each year.

John R. Pardo Jr., Col., USAF (Ret.), senior aerospace science instructor, and 2nd Lt. Ymir Eboras presented Cadet Mariana Szukala the NSSAR JROTC medal and certificate on June 2.

The Gadsden Chapter is honored to recognize the cadets stationed overseas with their military and civilian families.

On April 30, National Trustee and Vice President General Andrew Lyngar, and Chapter President David Curtiss presented congratulatory certificates and letters to Troop 53's newest Eagle Scout, Kenneth Gunnar Smith, below, at an Honor Court.

Eagle Scout Smith is now eligible to compete for the National SAR Scholarship.

The chapter established a Veteran Recognition Program at the Village at NorthRise Assisted Living, Rehabilitation, and Alzheimers Facility in Las Cruces. Compatriots meet quarterly with U.S. military veterans to thank them for their service and recognize their sacrifices for America and freedom. All of the veterans received Gadsden challenge coins. Spirited discussions of shared military service experiences took place.

EMPIRE STATE SOCIETY (NEW YORK)

Historic Roadside Marker Program

The Empire State Society (ESSAR), in partnership with the William G. Pomeroy Foundation, is pleased to announce the Revolutionary War Sullivan-Clinton Campaign of 1779 Historic Roadside Marker Program. The goal of the program is to commemorate the upcoming 250th anniversary of the Sullivan-Clinton Campaign in New York State. We are inviting 900 local historical societies located in the area impacted by the Sullivan-Clinton Campaign to apply to the ESSAR and the William G. Pomeroy Foundation for grants for historic roadside markers that celebrate their local Sullivan-Clinton Campaign history.

This is a multi-year program. The William G. Pomeroy Foundation has generously agreed to provide up to 100 roadside signs. These signs have been specially designed for this program and will include the ESSAR logo. The Foundation is providing the roadside marker and pole free to qualifying organizations, which will, however, have to incur any costs associated with the installation of the markers.

Interested local historical societies with 501(c)(3) certifications are encouraged to apply for signage provided under this program. The local historical groups will be responsible for determining where signs are needed, providing the necessary historical documentation of the event or location using primary sources, identifying locations of sign placement, developing the text to go on the signs, applying for the signs, obtaining permission from property owners, obtaining funding for installing the signs, holding dedication ceremonies of signs and providing future sign maintenance.

Even if historical societies don't apply in the first-year round of grants, they should be encouraged to apply in future rounds.

Fellow compatriots, we need your chapter's help to make this important program a success. Your chapter can help by:

- Encouraging local historical societies to apply for signage.
- Directly applying for signage in those areas where signage is needed, in the event that the local historical society is not interested in applying.
- Participating in the sign dedication ceremonies as they occur in your area.

This opportunity to ESSAR is dedicated to sustain and preserve Revolutionary War history right here in our state! Please make this program one of your chapter's main efforts until we get 100 historic signs placed.

You are encouraged to discuss this wonderful opportunity at your next chapter meeting to help the ESSAR celebrate the upcoming 250th anniversary of the Revolutionary War in 2029. Color copies of the brochures are available upon request from William G. Pomeroy Foundation (paula@wpgfoundation.org). Consider planning a summer outing with your chapter to visit points of interest pertaining to the Sullivan-Clinton Campaign in your area to generate interest in this program within your chapter. Invitations have been sent to the 900 local historical societies to give your chapter some time to prepare for this program. If your chapter is interested in participating, please designate a program chairman and provide his contact information to Dave Powell or Robert Gang, Sullivan-Clinton Historic Roadside Marker Campaign co-chairman.

Long Island Chapter

President Joseph Vermaelen of the Long Island Chapter recognized Compatriots Gregory Franz and Julian Franz on their elevation to Eagle Scout. The Franz brothers, below, have been proud members of the SAR for many years, joining as junior members. They represent the highest ideals of scouting and are the future of our society. This event was celebrated with their friends and family.

Syracuse Chapter

The Syracuse Chapter presented Army and Air Force NSSAR ROTC awards on March 9 at Syracuse University. The Army ROTC Award was presented to Cadet Patrick Ducey by Jerry Orton, and the Air Force ROTC Award to Cadet John Higgins II was presented by Craig Williamson.

On Jan. 20, the Syracuse Chapter presented the Silver Good Citizenship Award to Compatriot William G. Pomeroy. He is the founder and former owner of CXtec and TERACAI, two technology companies in Syracuse, N.Y. employing nearly 300 people. After receiving his diagnosis of acute myeloid leukemia (AML) in 2004 and receiving a life-saving stem cell transplant, Pomeroy established the William G. Pomeroy Foundation.

The foundation helps diversify the Be The Match marrow registry, enabling more people to find a matching donor and receive a transplant. Registering more than 25,000 potential donors through marrow drives, 67 donor-patient matches have already been produced. The foundation has also made significant naming gifts to the Crouse Hospital College of Nursing, patient patio, and the expansion and renovation of Crouse's emergency department, tripling its size. Additionally, the foundation has established an endowed fund for AML Research at the Dana-Farber Institute in Boston.

The foundation also offers historic signage grant programs, focused on Historic Roadside Markers, National Historic Landmarks, and Legends and Lore. Over 625 signs have been placed, to date. As an avid genealogist, Pomeroy created the American Pomeroy Historic Genealogical Association (APHGA) to promote interest in and the study of American history through genealogical research.

The Pomeroy Anvil Trail, a project of the APHGA, celebrates the American spirit through the progress and movement of one family. Twelve monuments have been erected in New York, Ohio, Massachusetts and Maine, and the trail is always expanding!

Pomeroy serves on several boards, including the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. For more information on the William G. Pomeroy Foundation and the APHGA, please visit www.wgpfoundation.org and www.americanpomeroy.org.

NORTH CAROLINA SOCIETY

On March 28, the North Carolina SAR inducted North Carolina Gov. Roy Asberry Cooper III and his brother, Judge Pell Carlton Cooper, into the SAR. The 3:30 p.m. ceremony was held in the historic House chambers on the second floor of the State Capitol in Raleigh. The governor was accompanied by First Lady Kristin Cooper.

Gov. Cooper and Judge Cooper were eligible for membership in the SAR due to being descendants of Revolutionary War Patriot Marcom Cooper, who served as both grand juror and petit juror during the war (1778-1779) in what is now Nash County.

N.C. Mountain Region Vice President Bill McEntire was instrumental in initiating and conducting the research necessary to prove Gov. Cooper and Judge Cooper's lineage.

The induction ceremony began with opening remarks from Raleigh Chapter President Bob Sigmon, which was followed by an invocation from State Treasurer Sam Powell. State President George Strunk administered the SAR oath and presented Gov. Cooper and Judge Cooper with their membership certificates. Sigmon presented the new members with badges. Others in attendance included State Sr. Vice President Jim Becker, Secretary and National Trustee Gary Green, State Historian and Governor's Sponsor Joe Sam Queen and Co-Sponsor Glenn Sappie. N.C. Assistant Secretary for Veterans Affairs James Prosser was also in attendance. Both the governor and Judge Cooper will be members of the Raleigh Chapter.

Halifax Resolves Chapter

Grave Marking for Compatriot James C. Harris

The Halifax Resolves Chapter conducted a grave-marking ceremony for Compatriot James Carlos Harris at the family cemetery at Buxton Place, in the Inez community. David B. Gammon, chapter president, was the master of ceremonies. The invocation and benediction were given by HRC Chaplain Rev. Duncan H. Jones. The presentation and retrieval of the colors were conducted by the combined NC SAR Color Guard under the command of state Color Guard Commander Ken Wilson. The pledges were led by Compatriot J. Rives Manning and President Gammon. The marker dedication was conducted by Gammon and the Rev. Jones.

Harris was born Aug. 30, 1909 in Warren County, the son of Ernest Linwood Harris and Mary Miles "Mamie" Bobbitt. When he joined the SAR, he was the youngest charter member of the Harrison-Macon Chapter of the North Carolina SAR. He was 18 when he applied for membership in the SAR in May 1928. Harris was made an honorary member of the Virginia SAR during the Yorktown Celebration in 1931.

At the outbreak of World War II, he tried to enlist in the U.S. Army but was rejected due to a slipped disc and went to work for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

At the conclusion of the war, he returned to Buxton Place (listed on the National Historic Registry) and raised livestock. He married Francis Hall Reams in Warren County on April 6, 1946. They were blessed with three children: James Carlos Jr., Ernest Boyd "E.B." and Francis Ann.

Harris passed away Dec. 5, 1991 in Franklin County, N.C. and is buried in the family cemetery at Buxton Place in Warren County, N.C.

RRPD Captain Awarded SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Medal

Past Chapter President Ken Wilson and Compatriot E.C. Bobbitt presented Roanoke Rapids Police Department Capt. Bobby Martin with the SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Medal at a recent city council meeting.

"Captain Martin serves on various committees and boards to help serve not only the citizens of Roanoke Rapids, but the citizens of Halifax County. He takes the lead in reaching out to the youth in our community by inviting them to the early morning basketball games on Tuesday and Thursday at TJ Davis Recreation.

"Another example on how Bobby is trying to bridge the disconnect between law enforcement of our youth [is that], two young men were caught smoking marijuana and instead of arresting them or citing them with criminal charges, he spoke with the parents of the young men and learned that they were good kids and were doing good in school. Bobby took these young men under his wing and has been providing a mentorship to them; they have helped the police department on various community events on their own time. Instead of marking their lives in a negative way he has had a positive impact with them."

RRPD Officers Awarded SAR Medal for Heroism

Two Roanoke Rapids police officers were recognized by Halifax Resolves Compatriot E.C. Bobbitt and Past Chapter President Ken Wilson at the June city council meeting for their actions during an incident in December 2017.

"Officer Joe DeSare conducted a traffic stop of a vehicle for a violation in the 1000 block of Franklin Street and during the stop he noticed an odor of marijuana coming from inside the vehicle. Officer Matt Hunsucker arrived to back up Officer DeSare on the stop and at this time a passenger jumped from the vehicle, attempting to run away but was caught by Officer DeSare. Almost simultaneously a second subject attempted to run away, but was apprehended by Officer Hunsucker.

"During Officer DeSare's foot pursuit of the first suspect, Officer Hunsucker was calling in the direction of the foot pursuit for Officer DeSare, relaying the area where DeSare was while continuing to watch the other three occupants of the vehicle. Once DeSare caught the suspect, the suspect continued to fight. During the struggle, DeSare dropped his flashlight and the suspect tried to pick it up and use it against him. The suspect also continued to reach for his pants until finally [he was] subdued by DeSare and taken into custody. During a search of the suspect a handgun was located inside the suspect's pants along with narcotics. It was learned that the suspect was out on bond on a murder charge."

RRFD Deputy Recognized by SAR

Deputy Chief Michael Clements was recently recognized by the Halifax Resolves SAR chapter for his 30 years of service with Roanoke Rapids Fire Department during a city council meeting. Compatriot E.C. Bobbitt and Past Chapter President Ken Wilson made the presentation.

SAR Recognizes Eagle Scout Valliani

Haziq Valliani of BSA Troop 144, Lewis-Deanes District, East Carolina Council, was awarded the rank of Eagle Scout at a recent Court of Honor. He was awarded the SAR Eagle Scout Recognition Certificate by Halifax Resolves Chapter Past President Ken Wilson "for outstanding achievement and exceptional leadership and citizenship evidenced by his attainment of the rank of Eagle Scout."

SAR Celebrates the Halifax Resolves

The chapter hosted a ceremony on April 12 celebrating the adoption of the Halifax Resolves on April 12, 1776. Chapter President David B. Gammon assumed the role of master of ceremonies following the welcome given by Historic Halifax Site Manager Karl Burke. President Gammon welcomed the dignitaries that included President General Larry T. Guzy, NSSAR South Atlantic Vice President General James H. Wood, NC SAR President George K. Strunk, VASSAR 2nd VP Bill Schwetke, NCSSAR President Daniel L. Hopping, National Society C.A.R. Southeastern Region VP Mary Lee Howell, and NC C.A.R. President Megan Benedict. Tony Brown, Halifax County manager, also greeted the participants, and Halifax County Board of Commissioners Vice Chairman J. Rives Manning read a proclamation from the board in support of the event. SAR and DAR chapters from North Carolina, Virginia and South Carolina were in attendance, as were the fifth-grade students of Halifax Academy, all of whom participated in the ceremony. The Combined NC SAR Color Guard, under the command of NC SAR Color Guard Commander Ken Wilson, presented and retrieved the colors. PG Guzy was the keynote speaker presenting "Because We Remember" to the gathering.

A pre-event reception in honor of the PG was held the preceding evening in Roanoke Rapids, N.C., and a post-event luncheon was held at the Halifax UMC, Halifax, N.C.

OHIO SOCIETY

Cincinnati Chapter

The Cincinnati Chapter Nolan Carson Memorial Color Guard marched in the Blue Ash 2018 Memorial Day Parade on Monday, May 28. Participating were Compatriots Jeff, Jacob and Emma Hartman, Brad Jarard, Bob Bowers, Rev. Ed Bonniwell, Mark Idle, Clay Crandall, Chuck Rodgers, Mike Gunn, Cincinnati SAR President Jack Bredenfoerder and Cincinnati SAR Nolan Carson Memorial Color Guard Commander Lee Wilkerson. Many thanks to the City of Blue Ash for inviting us to be a part of this patriotic tribute to those Patriots who have given the ultimate sacrifice to secure and maintain our nation's freedom!

PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY

The Pennsylvania SAR commissioned and procured a bronze bust by sculptor Pierre Lefebvre of the Comte de Rochambeau and gifted it to the Fine Arts Department at Lafayette College in Easton, Pennsylvania.

The bust was delivered to the college on April 18 by the sculptor and Compatriots Lanny Patten and Don Drewry.

Lafayette College Curator Michiko Okaya, Artifacts Curator Diane Shaw and Olga Anna Duhl, a member of the school's French faculty, accepted the bust to add to its collection of fine art and artifacts from the life of the Marquis de Lafayette and French participation in the American Revolution. The bust is to become a major item in a new public exhibition at the college.

General Anthony Wayne Chapter

General Anthony Wayne Chapter President Ron Bruce attended the Boy Scouts Court of Honor dinner for the Moraine Trails Council in Butler, Pennsylvania.

He presented 55 SAR certificates of recognition, including 17 that went to newly awarded Eagle Scouts.

Compatriot Bruce wore the uniform of a Continental soldier of a Pennsylvania Line artillery regiment. Ray Tennent, Moraine Trails Boy Scout executive director, was the chapter's sponsor. Craig MacCullough is chairman of the SAR Lawrence County, Pennsylvania Eagle Scout Committee.

Somerset-Cambria Chapter

On Saturday, May 26, the Somerset-Cambria Chapter gathered in the Ankeny Square Cemetery in Somerset to honor four Patriots of the American Revolution: Peter Ankeny, Henry Stahl, J. George May and John Bateman Webster, a member of the Society of Cincinnati.

Ankeny was one of the founding fathers of Somerset. He was born on March 6, 1751 in Clear Spring, Washington County, Maryland, west of Hagerstown. During his lifetime, he donated the land known as Ankeny Square for use as a church and cemetery. In 1781, he achieved the rank of captain of the 5th Company, Bedford County Militia. He died in Somerset on Dec. 23, 1804. His wife, Rosina Bonnet, was born Sept. 17, 1757 and died Feb. 5, 1834. She was the daughter of Jean Bonnet, owner of the tavern now located in Bedford County at the intersection of U.S. Route 30 and Pennsylvania Route 31. Rosina outlived Peter by 30 years and is buried alongside him in their Ankeny Square plot.

Stahl was born on Feb. 3, 1752 in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. In 1777, 1778 and 1780, he served as a private in Capt. James Young's Cumberland County Militia. The Pennsylvania Archives show a Henry Stahl as a captain of the Bedford County Militia in 1792, a major in 1794 and a colonel of the Somerset County Regiment in 1798. He is believed to have served in 1814 as a staff officer in the War of 1812. He married Rosina Stemple, who died in 1815 and may be buried in Ankeny Square with him. Henry died in Somerset on April 1, 1816.

May was born Oct. 20, 1757 in the Northkill region of Berks County, Pennsylvania, a month after the famous Hochstetler Massacre of Sept. 20, 1757. Three members of the Hochstetler family were killed, and three were captured. The Blue Mountains were in flames. May came to Somerset from the Northkill, where he served in the Berks County Militia and may have participated in the Battle of Brandywine. He achieved the rank of captain in the 3rd and 4th Battalions of the Berks County Militia. He married Catherine Wagner (1760-1830) in about 1784. The stone beside May's is believed to be that of Catherine. They came to the area shortly after the war, since he is listed in the Septennial Census of Providence Township, Bedford County, Pennsylvania in 1786. He died in Somerset on Dec. 26, 1827.

Webster was born March 4, 1753 in Yorkshire, England. He originally settled near Carlisle in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. He first married Eleanor Graham (1768-1815). John and Eleanor came to Somerset shortly after the end of the Revolutionary War. He was a tavern keeper and a leading citizen of the town. He also was an appointed excise tax collector and served for many years as postmaster. He was a member of the Episcopal Church.

After Eleanor's death, he married her sister, Agnes Graham (1750-1832). She is also buried beside John.

He served as captain and lieutenant of the Pennsylvania Artillery in 1777. He also served as quartermaster of the 4th Artillery Regiment of the Pennsylvania Line under Col. Thomas Proctor. He was commissioned as a captain on Oct. 12, 1781. He served from November 1773 until November 1783. He died on March 9, 1834.

Webster was a member of the Society of Cincinnati. His membership certificate, which was signed by George Washington, his sword, family Bible and snuffbox were all left to his youngest daughter, Lucretia Webster Neff, who gave them to her grandson, Ferguson Graham Parker, who lived in Johnstown. With the exception of the snuffbox, all were lost during the 1889 Johnstown Flood.

The Society of the Cincinnati was founded in 1783 by Gens. Henry Knox and George Washington after the end of the war. Its members were former officers of the American army during the war. The society is named for Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus, who was a Roman patrician, statesman and military leader of the early Republic and who later became a legendary figure of Roman virtues. The basis for the creation of the society was to provide ongoing fellowship for the officers of the Continental Army and to develop charitable funds to assist the families of original members. This society also acted on behalf of the army's officers to help secure military pensions for surviving Revolutionary War veterans. It is the nation's oldest Patriot hereditary organization. Today, the society is a nonprofit educational organization devoted to the principles and ideals of its founders. Members can trace their ancestry to one of the officers of the American Revolution.

WPA burial records indicate that at least four War of 1812 veterans are also buried in the historic Ankeny Square Cemetery: James Akins, Jacob Finecy, Jacob Cook and Jacob Quig. The SAR also acknowledged their service.

Washington Crossing Chapter

The Washington Crossing Chapter was honored to march in the oldest continually running Memorial Day parade in the U.S.A.—celebrating its sesquicentennial. For 150 straight years, Doylestown Borough in Bucks County, Pennsylvania has remembered the soldiers, sailors and marines who have given their lives in defense of our nation and liberties.

Participating in this historic event for the first time this year, the SAR was represented by Chapter President Ray Minich as well as Richard Shindell, Neil Samuels and Clint Gardner. The event included more than 2,000 participants and was viewed by 15,000 spectators along the mile-long parade route.

The Margaret Gale Thornton Chapter DAR and the Washington Crossing Chapter SAR held their annual DAR-SAR National Defense Dinner on March 14.

Lt. Col. William Tucker, U.S. Air Force (Ret.), spoke on his experiences in Vietnam. A quartet of singers from the Bucks County Gilbert and Sullivan Society sang patriotic songs to begin the evening. Compatriot Timothy Ghebeles played Taps on his trumpet to end the evening. An SAR member, family members and guests who served in the military were honored. Special awards and recognition were given by the DAR and SAR. Michelle Lewicki of the DAR awarded Tucker with a Certificate of Appreciation for his meritorious service. Compatriot Bill Hampton awarded Compatriot Joseph Celano with the SAR Military Service Medal for 30 years of honorable service in the U.S. Navy. Ghebeles was awarded the SAR Service to Veterans Medal for his many years of voluntary work as a bugler with Buglers Across America and the Guardians of National Cemetery. It was a patriotic evening as all veterans in attendance were honored for their service. Our next joint DAR-SAR event will be a picnic at the Historic Moland House after the Flag Day celebration on June 10.

SOUTH CAROLINA SOCIETY

The South Carolina Society met for the 129th annual meeting at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Greenville, April 20-21.

The event began with the Rumbaugh Oration Contest, with four contestants from Waccamaw High School on Pawleys Island.

The president's reception and dinner followed, with Dan McMichael portraying Gen. Nathanael Greene.

The business session took place the next morning, followed by a memorial service honoring compatriots who had passed away since the previous annual meeting.

Chapter and member awards took place that morning, followed by the Youth Awards Luncheon and officer installation. Howard Knapp is the new president, and Nathan “Nat” Kaminski is the new senior vice president.

Cambridge Chapter

The Cambridge Chapter sponsored a wreath ceremony at Ninety Six National Historic Site Saturday afternoon, April 7. The site of a battle in 1775 and Gen. Nathanael Greene’s siege to dislodge the British in 1781, the star-shaped fort at Ninety Six played a key role in the Southern Campaign of the American Revolution.

The assembly was called to order by Gerald Y. Pitts, vice president of Cambridge Chapter. After extending greetings and a welcome, Pitts introduced Superintendent John Slaughter of the National Park Service. Slaughter, himself a member of the SAR, oversees the management of the Southern Campaign Parks Group: Ninety Six National Historic Site, Kings Mountain National Military Park, Cowpens National Battlefield and the Overmountain Victory Trail.

Following the invocation by Chapter Chaplain Ted R. Morton Jr. and pledges led by Cambridge Chapter member and retired NPS Ranger Eric K. Williams, Park Ranger Vanessa Smiley introduced the keynote speaker, Dr. Marvin Cann.

Cann, retired professor of history at Lander University, spoke on the theme, “Why Historic Preservation and Celebrations are Important.” Cann is the author of a historical guide, Old Ninety Six in the South Carolina Backcountry—1700-1781. Cann signed books before and after the wreath program.

Cann served with the group led by the late Bruce Ezell that sought to preserve the fort, which had survived from Revolutionary War days. Their efforts resulted in National Park Service protection and development as a national historic site.

Following acknowledgements by Williams, the ceremony concluded with a benediction by Chaplain Morton and the recitation of the SAR Recessional led by Samuel Davis, chairman of Cambridge Chapter’s Americanism Committee.

Colonel Matthew Singleton Chapter

Frank Holloway, below, of the Col. Matthew Singleton Chapter prepares to fire a mortar salute April 21 in honor of the brave American Patriots who fought and died at the Battle of Fort Watson April 23, 1781. This victory broke one important link in the British chain of communications and supply outposts between Charleston and Camden.

General Francis Marion Chapter

The South Carolina Society commemorated the 238th anniversary of the Battle of Waxhaws, better known as Buford’s Massacre, May 26, at the battle site near Buford’s Crossroads about 9 miles east of Lancaster, South Carolina.

The event began at 10:30 a.m. with a formal wreath-laying ceremony and guest speakers. Many guests wore period dress, including Continental and militia attire. The story of Buford’s Massacre was told as the bravery of the Patriots was commemorated and the fallen were honored.

Col. Abraham Buford was the commander of a Virginia infantry regiment and a company of artillery comprised of about 300 men.

On May 29, 1780, British Lt. Col. Banastre Tarleton pursued Col. Buford from Nelson’s Ferry to Buford, near the Waxhaws District.

Col. Buford attempted to surrender, but a bloody battle ensued, with American casualties numbering 113. Even more were taken prisoner, and 150 of the 187 prisoners were wounded. Tarleton became known as “Bloody Ban,” and “Tarleton’s Quarter!” became a rallying battle cry for southern Patriots until the surrender of Gen. Charles Cornwallis at Yorktown.

Compatriot Greg Ohanesian has organized this public commemoration for the last 14 years and noted that despite the rain, this year’s event drew about 110 members of the public, at least 25 of those being children, hailing from many states and including descendants of those buried at the site.

Governor Paul Hamilton Chapter

At the March 23 meeting of the Governor Paul Hamilton Chapter, held at the Hilton Garden Inn, Beaufort, South Carolina, a flag streamer for the 237th Anniversary of the Battle of Cowpens was presented.

Brady Randolph “Randy” Atkins was inducted as a new member.

Two Eagle Scouts received chapter scholarship awards: for 2016, Thomas Clark Henderson (Citadel Cadet); and for 2017, Jacob Denton.

Our meeting speaker was author Randell Jones, who presented “Saving Col. Williams - Battle of Kings Mountain.”

VIRGINIA SOCIETY

April 7 was a cold day, with intermittent snow flurries, when about 120 compatriots, DAR members, and guests from Virginia and Tennessee gathered to honor Robert Vicars, Patriot of the Revolution, by marking his grave in the Old Vicars Cemetery at Grassy Creek in Russell County, Virginia. There were a large number of Robert Vicars' descendants at the ceremony, including Virginia SAR First Lady Jennifer Kelly and master of ceremonies Larry Underwood of the Tennessee SAR. As part of the ceremony, Virginia SAR President Pat Kelly inducted Robert Corey Vicars, a descendant of Robert Vicars, into the SAR and the Overmountain Men Chapter.

After the ceremony, a reception hosted by the Russell County Historical Society was held at the Old Russell County Courthouse.

TENNESSEE SOCIETY

Gov. Archibald Roane Chapter

On April 16, the Gov. Archibald Roane Chapter of Nashville hosted the Tennessee SAR Color Guard at the dedication of new flagpoles outside the recently renovated Cordell Hull building. The Tennessee General Assembly moved there this year. Chapter President and Senate Majority Leader Mark Norris spoke. Past TNSSAR President John McCutchen presented Lt. Gov. Randy McNally with an American flag. Later that day, the Color Guard posted the colors in the Senate Chamber as the week of Patriot's Day was commemorated. President-Elect Johnny Head addressed the Senate.

TEXAS SOCIETY

Plano Chapter

On Monday, May 28, several members of the Color Guard from the Plano Chapter participated in the Plano's Memorial Day Parade. Participants included Compatriots Dan Reed, Terry Holden, Jerry Cope and his grandson, Don Sielert, Howard Roach and Larry Melton.

Seven Virginia SAR Chapters mustered at Graves' Mountain Lodge in the Blue Ridge Mountains and conducted a ceremony to gather and bless Virginia soil, to be spread on the mass grave of Virginians at Waxhaws, S.C. Tom Hamill, president of the Culpeper Minutemen Chapter, conducted the ceremony; Dale Corey, president of the Col. William Grayson Chapter, collected the soil; and Father Henry Minich of the Thomas Jefferson Chapter blessed the soil. Virginia SAR President Pat Kelly took charge of the soil and transported it to the Commemoration of the Battle of Waxhaws on May 26, where he spread the blessed Virginia soil on the mass grave. At Waxhaws, Hamill and Gary Hall of the Dan River Chapter escorted Kelly as he spread the soil on the mass grave.

Colonel James Wood II Chapter

On Saturday, May 5, Marc Robinson, Don Dusenbury and Dale Corey of the Colonel James Wood II Chapter were present for an event that brought seven SAR chapters together. During the meeting, the group collected Virginia soil to present at the graves of fallen Virginians who fought at the Wixhausen Battlefield on Graves Mountain in South Carolina.

Patriot Thomas Allen's grave was recognized by the Col. James Wood II Chapter on April 14.

Stephanie Kent, a fourth great-niece of Thomas Allen, watched as Col. James Wood II Chapter President Dale Corey conducted the dedication. The ceremony was held in the Millar Family Cemetery on the grounds of Randolph Macon Academy and included a wreath laying, a memorial stone dedication and a musket salute. The flag was presented by the RMA Honor Guard.

In attendance were Col. Frank Link of Randolph Macon Academy; Deborah Corey, a representative of the DAR; Jim Heflin; Ann Simmons; and Patrick Corey. Compatriots Marc Robinson, Raleigh Watson, Larry Johnson, Rob Andrews, Paul Christiansen and Jim Simmons were also in attendance.

Culpeper Minutemen Chapter

The Culpeper Minutemen Chapter helped honor our nation's fallen heroes at Culpeper National Cemetery on Memorial Day, with the aid of compatriots from the Colonel William Grayson and Fairfax Resolves chapters. A crowd of nearly 200 people gathered for the program, organized by VFW Post 2524 and Post Commander Compatriot Keith Price. The keynote speaker was Culpeper Minutemen Chapter Vice President Charles Jameson, a Vietnam veteran and Purple Heart recipient, and a descendant of David Jameson, a lieutenant in the 1775 Culpeper Minutemen who fought at Great Bridge.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Mid-Columbia Chapter

Lawrence Clay, Kelly Schultz and Larry Flint attended the March 24 Eagle Scout Awards meeting in Pasco. Clay, who is our BSA and GSA coordinator, spoke to the scouts about the SAR Eagle Scout essay contest. Schultz spoke about his Patriot ancestor and Colonial clothing. Clay also spoke about the SAR, his Patriot ancestor, Minuteman garb and the Charleville Musket. Most of the rest of the meeting was dedicated to the giving out many scouting awards and merit badges. Elijah Saba, one of our Knight Essay contestants, was there, along with his father and brother, Levi.

WEST VIRGINIA SOCIETY

John Beckley Chapter

The SAR's newest chapter held its organization dinner and inducted 29 charter members on Saturday evening, April 14, at the Holiday Inn and Suites on Dry Hill Road.

The John Beckley Chapter was chartered on Jan. 27, 2018. The charter namesake, John Beckley, was born in London, England and was sent to Virginia as an indentured servant at age 11. He graduated from the College of William and Mary, where he was an early member of the Phi Beta Kappa scholastic honor society. He was a distinguished Virginia statesman before the Revolution, being three times elected mayor of Richmond and serving as clerk of both houses of the Virginia legislature.

During the formative years of the United States government, Beckley authored the Oath of Allegiance of July 6, 1780, obliging "the members of the General Assembly to give unequivocal proofs of their attachment to the cause of America." He was elected first clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives in 1789 and served in that capacity until 1797. Beckley was appointed by President Thomas Jefferson as the first librarian of Congress and served from 1802 until his death on April 8, 1807. He is buried in the public cemetery in Georgetown, Washington, D.C. Beckley's son, Alfred, founded the county seat of Raleigh County, Virginia (created in 1850) and named the town after his father.

The guest speaker was J. David Sympson, former (2010) President General of the SAR. Robert B. Fish Jr., Vice-President General of the SAR Central District, officiated as master of ceremonies.

The chapter inducted 29 charter members. Inductees were Isaiah B. Allen, Delbert R. Bailey, William P. Ballengee, Floyd D. Bonifacio, Scott A. Burchett, J. Paul Chapman (president), Jerry L. Clyburn, Merle T. Cole, Russell L. Compton, Glenn A. Conrad, Jesse A. Farley, Charles D. Field, Gerald W. Godfrey (treasurer and historian), Lynn A. Halstead (chaplain), George E. Hunter (registrar), Dexter L. Jones (vice president), Andrew E. Landis Jr., Charles R. Mann, Scott A. McKinney, Daniel W. Moye, James M. Owston, Zachariah T. Phillips, Wendell L. Salyer, Truman L. Sayre, Eli B. Shleser, Jonathan W. Truax and Michael L. White (secretary). Richard C. Whitman, Jeremiah M. Allen and Nathan N. Adams were inducted as junior members.

President Chapman accepted the chapter charter. He expressed appreciation to William H. Lester, president of the West Virginia SAR, and Calvin W. Hannah, registrar for the SAR Ralph Stewart Chapter (Oceana), for major roles in recruiting new members. Chapman also praised the Captain James Allen Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for their support in recruiting and activating the chapter and for decorating the dining room in a patriotic theme. The West Virginia SAR Color Guard, commanded by Edward A. Cromley IV, posted and retired the national and state colors.

The John Beckley Chapter meets the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m., at Trinity Presbyterian Church on East Whitby Road in Shady Spring. Interested parties are invited to attend.

Welcome New Members

NSSAR membership as of August 20, 2018 is 36,399. Numbers indicate total new members since last issue. Patriot ancestor is identified after new member's name.
