Commander's Report

A year has passed. Time to look back on the year we had. The Color Guard had a good turnout in Boston for Congress in July and another good turnout for Fall Leadership in KY. My wish list of places to see this year and next is Yorktown on October 19th, the Battle of Great Bridge in Norfolk, VA, Cowpens in January 2017 and Guilford Courthouse in March. As time goes by, I hope to make other events near me such as the Crossing of the Dan in 2017. The next big event for the Color Guard is the Spring Leadership Meeting in KY. We will be voting for the next Gold Color Guardsman of the year. Nominations for the National Color Guardsman of the Year must be submitted to the National Commander by e-mail or U.S. mail no later than December 31. Please see the rules on page 19 of the Color Guard Handbook. We already have one new nominee to bring to you - Dr Rudy Byrd.

I look forward to Congress where Mark Anthony will take over as Color Guard Commander. It has been a long six years. My wife Susan and I have met many new people all over America. The Color Guard has put in place new events for the Guardsmen to earn the Silver Color Guard Medal. We have made inroads with the Ladies of Mount Vernon to come back next year. We hope to see the Color Guard get bigger at each event and more ladies to come out to help their men folk.

David Wayne Hoover, National Color Guard Commander, Maryland Society

Vice Commander's Dispatch

The SAR Color Guard Handbook has been updated and should be posted to the National SAR web site in the near future. All guardsmen should take the opportunity to review the handbook which contains items on the history of the color guard, the protocol of the color guard and other useful information.

Frizzen Covers, Flash Guards and Safety Requirements

This article will discuss the importance of having a frizzen cover and flash guard on your flintlock and safety requirements.

It has been brought to my attention that some of our Color Guardsmen still do not have frizzen covers and flash guards on their flintlocks. Color Guardsmen without this safety equipment should not be permitted to fire. It is our obligation and duty to provide a safe environment for all participants. Accidents do happen and that brings on litigation.

Your firelock should have safety equipment. This means it should have a flash guard and a frizzen cover. The flash guard is brass and is sold by muzzle loading equipment companies, although you can make your own. The frizzen cover is leather and also can be purchased, but most owners choose to make their own. The frizzen cover needs to be tethered to your flintlock.

I contacted Frank Doughman, Superintendent of the George Rogers Clark National Historical Park in Vincennes, IN and asked about the Park's regulations regarding frizzen covers and flash guards. He wrote "Received your call, The NPS does require both Flash guards and Frizon [sic] Covers."

The following information is from the National Muzzle Loading Rifle Association's Safety Manual.

- At no time is a shooting demonstrator to surrender control of their small arms to a member of the public.

- The demonstrator may let a viewer feel the heft of the shoulder arm while the demonstrator holds on to the sling and the barrel remains vertical.
- Likewise, edged weapons must remain under control of the demonstrator.
- Any weapon that fails in inspection is automatically excluded from a firing demonstration.
- Weapons may be offered for re-inspection if needed adjustments or repairs have been completed.
- The demonstrator approaches the demonstration area carrying the weapon in a safe and military fashion with the muzzle skyward.

Musket Inspection Checklist

Beginning inspection:

- The weapon is confirmed to be unloaded by springing the rammer.
- Your overall first impression is favorable.
- Weapon equipped with a hammer stall (frizzen cover) and a flash guard.

The Stock:

- No cracks or splits.
- Butt plate, trigger guard, etc. fit tightly.
- No burrs on butt plate or trigger guard screw heads that would snag clothing or hands.
- Barrel bands shall be secure.
- If pin-fastened, pins all there, tight, wood not splintered.
- No charring is evident around the top of the lock.
- Generally, no splinters or rough edges.
- Two-piece stocks have sections securely joined.

The Lock:

- Lock works smoothly.
- The hammer or cock fits tightly on the tumbler.
- All positions are firm and solid.
- The half-cock (safety) position works properly.
- When trigger pulled, it lets off smoothly without catching on half cock.
- Trigger pull is proper, not too heavy, not "hair" trigger.
- If a set trigger, it is adjusted properly and works smoothly.
- Lock fits properly into the stock and snugly against the barrel.
- The cock screw works smoothly, jaws use lead or leather to grip flint securely.
- The flint is in good condition and set at a proper angle.
- The steel (hammer, frizzen) is in good condition, not gouged and functions smoothly.
- The pan is clean and fits snugly against the barrel.

The Barrel:

- Barrel fits the stock properly.
- Free from visible dents or cracks.
- The flint is not striking the barrel.
- The muzzle is not dented or worn.
- The touchhole is clear and of an acceptable size.
- No signs of heavy corrosion around the touchhole.
- The sights are complete and operable.
- The barrel bands or pins hold the barrel securely.
- The ramrod is straight, fits the stock properly, and if equipped with threads at the lower end, threads are clean and free of burrs.

From the Editor

Welcome compatriots.

I want to thank all of the color guard Commanders and members who took the time to submit photos and content for this issue.

This issue has 18 state societies submitting color guard activity from the last 3 months. This is good to see. I'm sure that every state with a color guard, either at the state level or the chapter level, will have some Fall activities to report for the Winter issue. These could include Veterans Day parades, Wreaths Across America events, battle site commemorations, or any of the other 13 events listed elsewhere in this issue. I will look forward to having those state color guard commander absent from this issue submitting something for the Winter issue.

I was pleased to have content from some states submitting duplicate copies of the same content from different SAR members. This is a good thing in that members feel comfortable enough to send something in.

So that it will be easier for me to collect, compile, and format the issues in the future, let's review the preferred steps:

- Chapter color guard commanders, or a chapter officer, should submit their content to the state color guard commander for him to review and forward to me. This ensures that the state color guard commander is kept informed of chapter activities - Chain of command issue.

- The preferred method of submissions is by e-mail with attachments.
- Please do not embed photos into any document (WORD, e-mail, or PDF) - submit photos separately from accompanying document. Embedding a photo reduces the resolution and limits the photo size that I can use in this publication.
- Pictures should have accompanying them a list of those in the picture and who took it. Ex: 'Photo-img-1234 is of event X, with members X,Y, & Z. Photo by ABC'

When submitting content (photos and text) please consider this. The Colorguardsman is for spreading the news about color guard activities. Whenever your state or chapter color guard does something, that event information is what should be submitted. State or chapter presentations not involving the color guard are more appropriately submitted to the SAR Magazine. When compiling the issue, I look for and select those color guard activities over chapter non-color guard presentations.

Thank you for your help. Please forward this issue to your state's chapter color guard commanders for dissemination amongst their color guard members.

Mount Vernon Vigil

On 17 September 2016, ten Compatriots from four states gathered at Mt. Vernon, Virginia to honor our first Commander in Chief. The National Color Guard Event, "Washington Vigil" as it has been known, takes place each year in mid September. Compatriots meet at the Administration building, march across the estate, and stand guard at General Washington's Tomb, conducting a changing of the guard ceremony every 15 or 30 minutes depending on the weather. An opportunity to visit the estate and museum plus a Colonial Market, boat ride on the Potomac River make for a full day.

Wearing of Medals

A photo showing a color guardsman wearing his medals at a public event has recently been brought to our attention via an e-mail message. From this instance it appears that Color Guardsmen may not be aware of the policy concerning the wearing of medals. In reading the salient portion of the Color Guard Handbook regarding the wearing of medals one will note that there is a distinction between indoor SAR events and public events.

The policy was established, in part, as a response to concerns raised that members that the public might become confused as to how soldiers looked during the Revolution. The concern was that no medals were ever worn by American soldiers during the Revolution and in fact the only prominent award was the Purple Heart which was only awarded to three individuals for gallantry. These were all issued by General George Washington himself. This was offset by the concerns raised by other members that the only time they get to wear their medals was when they wore their uniforms to meetings and events since that was the only outfit they wore to meetings and events.

The National Color Guard Committee discussed these issues and a sub-committee recommended the policy that was adopted. This policy allows for some latitude in the wearing of medals on uniforms at internal meetings and events on the chapter and state level. The expectation is that medals and neck ribbons should and would not be worn at public chapter and state level meetings and events. The caveat was that the local chapter or state color guard commander would have the discretion to make a final decision when it came to public meetings and events. With respect to national meetings and events, the bottom line was that no medals or neck ribbons would be worn at any time. This was seen as a reasonable compromise which has turned out to be the case.

So the take-away from this is that color guardsmen and their commanders should be aware of this information and conduct themselves accordingly. As taken from the Color Guard Handbook page 12:

COLOR GUARD BEHAVIOR AT EVENTS

Wearing Medals. If a Color Guardsman insists on wearing SAR medals on his uniform because he would not otherwise have an opportunity to wear them, then they may be worn only during SAR internal events such as chapter, state and national meetings where the general public is not present. In any case, the Color Guard Commander in charge makes the final decision on the permission to wear medals on the Color Guard uniform during SAR internal events. It is the policy of the National Color Guard Committee that no medals or other decorations will be worn at official National Society events.

All Color Guardsmen are encouraged to familiarize themselves with not only this policy but also the SAR Color Guard Handbook which provides salient information about the history, policies and procedures of the SAR Color Guard.”

Keeping Hydrated

Heat Stress

This summer as we plan and prepare for outdoor events, don't forget to think about heat stress since many of the factors that increase our risks to heat related emergencies may be present.

Environmental

- High Temperature and Humidity
- Direct Sun Exposure
- Limited Air Movement
- Heavy Clothing and Equipment
- Physical Exertion Physical
- Low Fluid Consumption
- Physical Conditioning and Heat Tolerance
- Some Medications for Blood Pressure or
- Antihistamines
- Advanced Age and/or Health Problems

Heat stress can result in heat stroke, heat exhaustion, heat syncope, heat cramps, or heat rashes. Heat can also increase the risk of injuries as it may result in sweaty palms, fogged-up glasses, fatigue, lethargy, and dizziness.

Heat Stroke

Heat stroke is the most serious heat-related disorder. It occurs when the body becomes unable to control its temperature: the body's temperature rises rapidly, the sweating mechanism fails, and the body is unable to cool down. When heat stroke occurs, the body temperature can rise rapidly within 10 to 15 minutes. Heat stroke can cause death or permanent disability if emergency treatment is not given.

Symptoms of heat stroke include:

- Hot, dry skin
- Chills
- Throbbing headache
- High body temperature
- Hallucinations/Confusion/Dizziness
- Slurred speech
- Seizures
- Loss of consciousness
- Rapid strong pulse

What you should do:

- Seek medical attention immediately
- Make sure someone stays with you
- Move to a cooler location
- Remove unnecessary clothing
- Lie down
- Reduce body temperature
- Apply cool, wet cloths to as much of the body as possible

Heat Exhaustion

Heat exhaustion is the body's response to an excessive loss of the water and salt, usually through excessive sweating. The most prone to heat exhaustion are those that are elderly, have high blood pressure, and those working in a hot environment.

Symptoms of heat exhaustion include:

- Heavy sweating
- Cool, clammy, moist skin
- Pale or flushed complexion
- Extreme weakness or fatigue

- Muscle cramps
- Dizziness, confusion
- Nausea
- Slightly elevated body temperature
- Fast and shallow breathing
- Rapid weak pulse

What you should do:

- Tell someone
- Have someone stay with you
- Move to a cooler location
- Remove heavy clothing
- Sip cold water or sports drink
- Sit or lie down
- Apply cool, wet cloths to head and neck
- If you have vomited, or symptoms persist seek medical attention

Heat Syncope

Heat syncope is a fainting episode or dizziness that usually occurs with prolonged standing or sudden rising from a sitting or lying position in a heated environment.

Symptoms of heat syncope include: Light-headedness, dizziness, and/or fainting.

Many injuries are sustained due to falls after fainting. Do not lock your knees when standing, move frequently, drink lots of water, and immediately take a knee or sit down when you first begin to feel light headed. Keep an eye out on your buddy and assist them to a cooler area as soon as you see them start to wobble.

Factors that may contribute to heat syncope include dehydration and lack of acclimatization.

Heat Cramps

Heat cramps are muscle pains usually caused by physical exertion in a hot environment. They are caused by the loss of body fluids and salts during sweating. Replace fluid loss by drinking water, sports drinks, and snacking. Seek medical attention if cramps do not subside within an hour, you are on a low sodium diet, or if you have heart problems.

Heat Rash

Heat rash is the most common problem in hot environments. It is caused by sweating and looks like a red cluster of pimples or small blisters. It appears on the neck, upper chest, arm pits, elbow creases, and in the groin. The rash area should be kept dry. Application of powder products may increase comfort. Ointments and creams or anything that makes the skin warm or moist may make the rash worse.

Prevention

In the words of Benjamin Franklin, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Prevention starts well before the event and includes the following:

- Exercise regularly.
- Gradually increase your heat tolerance exposure.
- Eat regular meals before and try to snack during the event.
- Get plenty of rest the night before.
- Don't wait until you are thirsty to drink.
- Drink plenty of fluids, water, juice, and sports drinks before and during the event.
- Avoid alcohol, and drinks with large amounts of caffeine or sugar.
- Be aware that heavy clothing or equipment may increase the risk of heat stress.
- Wear and re-apply sunscreen
- Take frequent breaks – seek shade and remove heavy clothing for short periods.
- Monitor your physical condition and that of your compatriots.
- Don't exceed your personal limitations.

Summary

Preparation is paramount to reducing the risks of heat stress. Begin hydration 24 hours before the event. Provide cool drinks and shade immediately before and during the event. Have a cooling area, along with first aid and medical treatment plans in place. Pre-plan the method you will use to call for help and be able to provide patient location and best access information to first responders.

Remember our goal is to have fun and be safe.

Cordially,

Brian Stephens, Color Guard Commander

Constitution Week in Arizona September 20, 2016

The Arizona Society of the Sons of the American Revolution Partnered with the Children of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution to present eight programs during Constitution Week at two schools. The first school was at the Heritage Academy Gateway Campus in Queen Creek AZ on September 12. The second was at the Canyon Ridge school in Surprise on September 16. Eight SAR members reenacted the program which covered the Declaration of the Independence, Battle of Yorktown, 1783 Treaty of Paris, Shays Rebellion, Annapolis Convention, Constitutional Convention, Federalists Papers, Anti Federalist Papers, Anti Federalism, and the United States Constitution. Those Reenactors were, Wayne Hood as Nathaniel Hood his ancestor, Matt Scott as Patrick Henry and Daniel Shay, Dr. Bill Baran as Samuel Adams, Ed Steinback III as George Claybourne his ancestor, Jan Huber speaking on the Constitutional Convention, Allen Nash as James Madison, Steve Miller as Philip Woodring his ancestor and Steve Monez as George Washington and Narrator. Over 500 students attended and Pocket Constitutions were available at the end.

While the reenactment was taking place Lezlee Alexander ASDAR and CAR Honorary State President accompanied by Barbara Cook ASDAR American History Chair and Elizabeth Wiegelt DAR White Tank Mountain member held seminars in the classrooms sharing the many programs offered by SAR, DAR, and CAR. They handed out brochures and answered questions so students could get a good understanding of the opportunities available to them.

The Chapters received many thank you cards from the students. Christopher Raso the History teacher responsible for setting up the program at Canyon Ridge said his students were still talking about the reenactment on September 20, 2016.

Kami Tietjen, the parent teacher who arranged the program at Heritage Academy said the children in the classroom really appreciated the information they received from Ms. Alexander and Barbara Cook.

The parade tradition began on July 4, 1904, when Huntington Beach commemorated the arrival of the first electric passenger train linking the area with Long Beach and Los Angeles.

The Orange County and Harbor Chapter Color Guard members joined forces once again marching in the parade. This was the 28th year the compatriots of the Orange County and Harbor Chapters participated in the parade, having first appeared in the 1988 parade. This year's lineup included (L to R) Brian Merrell (Harbor Chapter), Jim Blauer (Orange County Chapter), Kent Gregory (OC), Jim Klingler (OC), and Luke Merrell (Harbor).

The World's Record for the Largest Muster

The record was set in 1976 and recorded by the Guinness Book of World Records. This folk tradition has brought fifers and drummers from across the world together every year since 1953. The Deep River Ancient Muster is the oldest and largest gathering of fife and drum participants and enthusiasts in the world and has been referred to as "The Granddaddy of All Musters". The earliest recorded gathering in Deep River was for a Field Day on May 13, 1879, when musicians came together to honor the history of the fife and drum in America's Revolutionary War militia service. President General Tom Lawrence Makes History Visiting Connecticut

By Damien Cregeau, Vice President, CTSSAR

Both President General Tom Lawrence and the Connecticut Society of the Sons of the American Revolution made history in May of 2016 when PG Lawrence visited Connecticut, making him the first president general to visit the Nutmeg State in many decades, or as long as any living CTSSAR compatriot could remember.

What immediately struck PG Lawrence was that the Connecticut Society is unique among all 50 of the U.S. state societies in owning historic properties, much as the DAR typically does. Not only does the CTSSAR own property, but actually three historic properties. Two of those are 18th-century schoolhouses where Connecticut's state hero, Captain Nathan Hale, taught just before the American Revolution - one in East Haddam and the other in downtown New London. The third is the Governor Jonathan Trumbull War Office in Lebanon. The East Haddam schoolhouse and the War Office are each in rural, scenic locations, whereas the Hale Schoolhouse in New London generates thousands of visitors each year and is located near the three ferries to Block Island, Fishers Island and Montauk, Long Island. This location is also across the street from the future home of the U.S. Coast Guard Museum of History.

It was U.S. Coast Guard history that brought PG Lawrence to Connecticut. An OCS graduate who served in the USCG in Houston, he created the Alexander Hamilton Award about nine years ago. This was designed to pay homage to Hamilton as the founder of the Revenue Cutter Service in 1790, which later became the U.S. Coast Guard. The award is presented each year to a graduating cadet who composes the best senior thesis.

This year, that cadet was Caroline Miller, who majored in government studies and who wrote her thesis on the Coast Guard's role in counterintelligence, and whose mother qualifies for and is interested in joining the DAR, so perhaps there is a prospective compatriot in the family. A New Jersey native, newly commissioned Ensign Miller will begin her career serving in San Diego and hopes to pursue a career focused on intelligence.

Before attending the USCGA's Convocation on May 17th, PG Lawrence arrived at Hartford's Bradley International, and was driven by VP General, New England District Doug Wood to historic and bucolic Lebanon, Connecticut, which served as one of the nerve centers of Connecticut's contributions to the Revolutionary War effort, as it was home to Governor Jonathan Trumbull and was a large town at the time. To this day, Lebanon possesses a rich collection of 18th-century homes and other historic buildings. It also happens to be the town of one of the patriots of the author of this article, Sgt. Richard Lyman, who was an orderly sergeant to Major General Israel Putnam.

PG Lawrence was welcomed by a large contingent of CTSSAR's Color Guard led by Col. Dave Perkins. Lawrence was given a tour of CTSSAR's Trumbull War Office, which was recently restored to its 19th-century interior layout and boasts an amazing array of accurate reproductions of wooden barrels, muskets, shoes and other supplies for soldiers. It was in this building that many American and French generals met over the course of the Revolution to discuss provisions and conduct meetings of Connecticut's Committee of Safety.

The tour of the War Office was followed by tours of the adjacent properties owned by the CTDAR - Gov. Jonathan Trumbull's house as well as the horse stables built for Col. Jeremiah Wadsworth (namesake for a CTSSAR branch) and relocated to the Trumbull property in the 1950s. Numerous interesting items are in the Trumbull collection, including the Bible owned by Trumbull's daughter, Faith, and her accomplished husband, Brig. General Jedediah Huntington. The Wadsworth Stable includes a rare Federal-era sleigh used by Colonel and Mrs. Wadsworth. One of the darlings of the CTDAR includes Jennie Rehnberg, who served the past three years as curator for the NSDAR's museum near the White House in Washington, D.C.

That evening PG Lawrence was welcomed to the home of CTSSAR VP Damien Cregeau and his wife, Pamela (CTDAR), which was the home of BG Jedediah Huntington and built in 1765 in historic Norwich. (insert picture of leaders by front door?) The visit included a quick tour of the cemetery across the street, where Gen. Huntington and his wives, as well as his brother, Maj. Gen. Ebenezer Huntington (namesake for a one-time CTSCAR chapter), Signer Samuel Huntington and Col. John Durkee (one of the three Connecticut leaders of the Sons of Liberty) are all buried. A dinner for 20 CTSSAR leaders and color guardsmen as well as several wives included candlelight with chicken and side dishes reminiscent of colonial cooking, followed by a lively performance by neighbor and Connecticut State Troubadour Tom Callinan. During the Revolution, visitors to General Huntington's house included General Washington, the Marquis de Lafayette and the famous painter John Trumbull. CTSSAR President Ethan Stewart and Trustee Dave Perkins presented PG Lawrence with a check for $3,035.00 towards his annual Alexander Hamilton Award presented at the USCGA.

Following the USCGA presentation, PG Lawrence was taken down the road to downtown New London to see the charming schoolhouse where Captain Nathan Hale taught when war broke out in 1775. Given Hale's spy mission and status as Connecticut's state war hero, numerous informational panels on the first and second floor detail both Hale's life as well as the those he knew such as Major Benjamin Tallmadge, who was the case officer for the famous Culper Spy Ring of Long Island and New York. The Hale Schoolhouse is currently undergoing window renovations and receives the most visitors of the three CTSSAR-owned properties, given its proximity to the busy harbor of New London and the Amtrak and Metro North Train Station across the street.

Just across the Thames River from New London, PG Lawrence was able to enjoy the panoramic water view and rare, original 18th-century earthworks of Fort Griswold and the site where British forces detached from General Benedict Arnold's command in New London massacred dozens of Groton-area militia, most famously their leader, Col. William Ledyard, for whom the nearby town of Ledyard is named.

Hopefully, PG Lawrence's visit will encourage increased appreciation for Connecticut's important role in the American Revolution and will result in future Presidential General visits in the years leading up to the 250th of the Revolutionary War beginning in 2025.

On Independence Day, Connecticut SAR (CTSSAR) Color Guard members fired musket salutes in front of the graves of Gov. Oliver Wolcott, Sr. and Col. Benjamin Tallmadge at East Cemetery in Litchfield.

The Mary Floyd Tallmadge [Litchfield] Chapter of the DAR holds this ceremony annually. The Charles Merriam Society of the Children of the American Revolution, and the First Litchfield Artillery Regiment also participated in the event.

Oliver Wolcott, Sr. was the 19th Governor of Connecticut and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He was the second of three generations of Wolcotts to serve as Governor of Connecticut.

Benjamin Tallmadge was a senior intelligence officer under Gen. Washington and the leader of the Culper Spy Ring. Upon learning that Maj. John André had been arrested with a pass for getting through the American lines and a set of papers detailing West Point's defenses hidden in his stocking, Tallmadge suspected Benedict Arnold to be André's accomplice. Tallmadge's actions led to the exposure of Benedict Arnold's treason. Maj. John André was found guilty of being a spy and he was sentenced to hang.

On Independence Day, Connecticut SAR (CTSSAR) Color Guard members presented the flag of each of the original 13 states at the Let Freedom Ring ceremony on the Green in historic Litchfield, Connecticut. Prior to the ringing of the bells of four churches that surround the Green, the First Litchfield Artillery Regiment performed a ceremony during which, using two cannons, they fired salutes to each of the original 13 states in the order that they ratified the Constitution of the United States of America. SAR Color Guard members carried and presented each of the state flags of the thirteen original states as the cannons saluted each state. At 2:00 PM, just as the smoke cleared from the last cannon salute, the church bells began to ring - 13 times in honor of the thirteen original states. The ringing of bells celebrating Independence Day was foreseen by John Adams in July of 1776, when he wrote to his wife saying: "I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated, by succeeding Generations, as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance by solemn Acts of Devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with Pomp and Parade, with Shews, Games, Sports, Guns, Bells, Bonfires and Illuminations from one End of this Continent to the other from this Time forward forever more.” In 1963, two Connecticut men, Eric Hatch and Eric Sloane, proposed the idea that bells across the nation, including the Liberty Bell, ring out at the same moment on Independence Day each year. Hatch and Sloane’s idea was featured in an article entitled “Make Freedom Really Ring” which appeared in the February 17, 1963 issue of This Week magazine. The two Erics obtained the endorsement of Connecticut Governor John N. Dempsey and Abraham Ribicoff, a U.S. Senator from Connecticut. Senator Ribicoff took their idea to Congress and the nationwide ringing of bells, now known as Let Freedom Ring, was adopted by Congress on June 26, 1963 and recorded as Senate Concurrent Resolution 25 [S. Con. Res. 25].

Eric Hatch was a resident of Litchfield and one of the co-founders of the First Litchfield Artillery Regiment. This year, the regiment celebrates its 52nd anniversary. It was chartered as a Private Military Force of horse drawn artillery under Connecticut Statute Chapter 505, Section 27-102 in July of 1964. Coincidentally, in 1973, Eric Hatch died on Independence Day (as did John Adams and Thomas Jefferson), but not until after the regiment had finished his ceremony that day. The current commander of the First Litchfield Artillery Regiment and two more of its members are also members of the SAR.

Eric Hatch - best known for his books 1101 Park Avenue, (which became a hit film under the title My Man Godfrey) and The Year of the Horse (which was adapted as a Disney comedy with the title, The Horse in the Gray Flannel Suit). He was a veteran of both WWI and WWII.

Tampa Chapter Meets Honor Flights

On June 7 and again on September 20, the Hillsborough River Camp met the return flight of the Honor Flight of West Central Florida Missions # 26 and 27 at the St. Petersburg/Clearwater Airport.

Attending both events, in uniform, were the following members: Alan Bell (Commander), David Bryant, David Chestnut (St. Petersburg) and Dick Young. They joined the Clearwater Chapter DAR and Clearwater Harbor Society C.A.R. in welcoming home 75 or so veterans from WWII, Korea and Vietnam from their all day trip to Washington DC.

To quote the Honor Flight website

Honor Flight Network is a non-profit organization created solely to honor America's veterans for all their sacrifices. We transport our heroes to Washington, D.C. to visit and reflect at their memorials. Top priority is given to the senior veterans – World War II survivors, along with those other veterans who may be terminally ill.

There are more than 130 Honor Flight hubs in the US (nine in Florida) that took over 20,000 veterans to Washington DC in 2015.

ILLINOISPatriot Abner Powers Grave Marking Ceremony

The members of the Fox Valley Chapter, Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution dedicated a plaque for Patriot Abner Powers on July 30, 2016 at the Lily Lake Cemetery in rural Kane County. The dedication was well attended by SAR and DAR Chapters, American Legion, VFW and SUVCW. There were 7 guest speakers, bagpiper, rifle and cannon volleys with refreshments and cake provided by the DAR.

Abner Powers began his military service in 1776 at age fifteen. He served as drummer in the Battle of Bennington and the Battle of

Saratoga and shivered through the long, cold, miserable winter of 1777-1778 with General George Washington's army at Valley Forge. Abner was promoted to corporal and fought in the Battle of Yorktown. Abner Powers died in Kane County, Illinois on September 25, 1852 at the age of 91 years, 9 months and 10 days. He is buried here in Lily Lake Cemetery.

On September 10, 2016 the Fox Valley Chapter participated and spent the whole day at Revolutionary War Day's in Cantigny Park in Winfield, IL. The Fox Valley Chapter has been to this event for 6 years. We set up a table with our banner and SAR information handouts and pass them to potential recruits and answer questions about SAR. We set up our table by the re-enactor battlefield to get the best traffic at our table. We have had new members come out of this event. There are also many students that attend this event and ask questions about our organization for their homework assignments. This is a great opportunity to talk to these students about the Knight Essay and Rumbaugh Oration programs. This year we had the CAR come out to share our table.

MONTANAThe Montana Color Guard

The Montana Color Guard has been very active this year. In January the Guard took part in the induction of former Doolittle Raider, David Thatcher. David was the first charter member of the new Liberty Tree Chapter in Missoula. Unfortunately we lost David in June.

NORTH CAROLINA

Summer is a time for relaxation and vacation for most people. The North Carolina Color Guard however has been busy. Five members from North Carolina traveled to Boston and participated in the National Color Guard for the 2016 Congress. Back home, Colorguardsmen fanned out across the State taking part in ceremonies from the middle of the State to the Tennessee border.

The Tryon Resolves were written in 1775. They were one of the first declarations vowing resistance against the British and calling for independence.

Three events during the summer were celebration of battles fought in 1780 during the American march to Virginia following the Battle at Kings Mountain. American forces, low on supplies after the Battle at Kings Mountain, moved North to Virginia where they could resupply and get reinforcements. During the entire march, British forces under the overall command of General Charles Cornwallis, attempted to cut off the Americans. During the march, battles were fought at Colson's Mill, Ramsour's Mill and Sycamore Shoals.

In 1781, a battle between Loyalist and American Militias was fought at the Alston House, known as the House in the Horseshoe.

NEVADANorthern Nevada Chapter

On Flag Day, June 14th, the Northern Nevada SAR Chapter Color Guard, led by its commander Paul Hicks, participated in festivities at the Nevada Veterans Memorial in Carson City, hosted by the Nevada National Guard. This was an observance and celebration of Flag Day and the birthday anniversary of the US Army. At the event, there was an exhibit of Nevada's first

US Flag, a handcrafted artifact made in 1864, on loan from the Nevada Museum for the occasion.

During the ceremonies, color guard member David Hess displayed this flag, in its presentation case, for the audience. Color Guard members present for this occasion were Paul Hicks, Rob Stoecklin, David Hess, and Roger Linscott.

Later, the color guard attended another Flag Day ceremony in Reno at the Idlewild Park, hosted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Truckee Meadows Post 3819. The color guard posted armed forces service flags for the event, representing the various services as their respective service songs were played. Afterwards, refreshments and meals were offered to the attendees without charge. Color Guard members present for this event were Rob Stoecklin, David Hess, and Roger Linscott.

On July 4, the Northern Nevada SAR Chapter again hosted its annual bell ringing event at the Nevada State Museum, introduced by music of the Fifes & Drums of Nevada, followed by a reading of the Declaration of Independence by members of the chapter's color guard. This was followed by tolling Nevada's Liberty Bell for each of the original 13 colonies, and the opportunity for attendees to toll the bell for their favorite state or colony. The N. Nevada Chapter then traveled the Virginia City, Nevada, to participate in its annual 4th of July parade, where hand held American flags were distributed along the parade route to spectators.

During the weekend of Sept 10 and 11, the N. Nevada SAR Chapter participated in the Nevada City, California's 50th annual "Constitution Weekend". The N. Nevada SAR Chapter, and its Fifes & Drums of Nevada, were hosted at the event by the reenactors of the Haslet's Delaware Regiment and the California Consolidated Drum Band, at the venue for Revolutionary War Living History at Pioneer Park.

At the event, David Hess and Marcia Baldwin, fifers of the Fifes & Drums of Nevada, practiced their music with members of the California Consolidated Drum Band; members of the N. Nevada SAR Chapter's color guard Paul Hicks, Brian Worcester, John Ryland, Rob Stoecklin, and Roger Linscott were drilled by the Haslet's Delaware Regiment in musket usage and firing demonstrations, which later included several reenactment skirmishes.

On the afternoon of the second day, members of the N. Nevada SAR Chapter's color guard were invited to march in the annual parade with California SAR Gold Country Chapter, and fifers David Hess and Marcia Baldwin, representing the Fifes & Drums of Nevada, marched in the parade with the California Consolidated Drum Band.

Historic downtown Nevada City was the site of the parade, which opens with a symbolic reenactment of the signing of the US Constitution, presented by the Nevada Lodge No. 13, F&AM. Thanks to Haslet's Delaware Regiment, and the California Consolidate Drum Band for making this such an enjoyable and educational event.

On Sept. 17, the Signers SAR Chapter again hosted its annual Constitution Day Dinner at the Las Vegas National Golf Club, this year co-hosted with the Silver State DAR Chapter, NVSDAR. The event this year celebrated not only the signing of the US Constitution (Sept 17, 1787), but also included the 25th Anniversary celebration of the Silver State DAR Chapter's founding.

Dr. Gene Butler, President of the Signers SAR Chapter, opened by introducing Debbie Carroll, Honorary Silver State DAR Chapter Regent, who gave the invocation and Constitution Day prayer. This was followed by the presentation of the colors, performed by the combined NVSSAR Color Guard consisting of members of both the Signers and N. Nevada chapters, under the direction of Nevada Color Guard Commander Gary Parriott. The fife & drum music for the color guard was provided by drummer Dr. Kent Gregory and fifer David Hess; members of the color guard were Leonard Becker, Steven Fields, and Joe Harris of the Signers Chapter, and Paul Hicks, Roger Linscott, and Brian Worcester of the N. Nevada Chapter.

Dr. Butler offered greetings from the Signers SAR Chapter and introduced Kathy Lowe, Regent of the Silver State DAR Chapter, and both welcomed the assemblage, expressing their organizations' wish that in succeeding years the Constitution Day Dinner will be held as a joint event, to be hosted between both the Signers SAR Chapter and the Silver State DAR Chapter. Introduction of guests followed, which included DAR Honorary Vice President General and Honorary State Regent Joan Dimmitt, whose past term as Nevada State Regent included the founding of the Silver State DAR Chapter, organized in 1989.

The evening's keynote speaker was Dr. Kent Gregory, the immediate CASSAR past president, CA Trustee, and current Registrar for the Orange County SAR Chapter. His topic for the evening was Music During The Revolutionary War, and he was accompanied by his wife, Lisa Gregory, who is an accomplished violinist, as they both demonstrated various music from the period. David Hess, N. Nevada SAR's Fife & Drums, played his fife to demonstrate several camp calls for Dr. Gregory's presentation.

Dr. Gregory is an Assistant Professor of Education at the University of Southern California's Master of Arts in Teaching program, and has been a California music educator for over 35 years. Kent's wife, Lisa Gregory, is a professional violinist who has performed with the St. Matthew's Chamber Orchestra, the Santa Monica Symphony, the Pacific Symphony, the Long Beach Ballet, and Fullerton Civic Light Opera. Between Kent's accomplished fifeing, drumming, and singing, and Lisa's wonderful violin performances, the audience enjoyed a very special evening of entertainment.

Behind the scenes planing for bringing in the Colors.

The venue for this Constitution Day Dinner although spacious a colorguard that was 3 Color guardsmen wide and the lower edge the roof's supporting rafters was 7'4" above the floor. A flag pole 6'10" was used for the National Flag and the Guardsmen Carried their Arms rather than shouldering their Arms. A direct path to the Podium and flag stand was created by carefully placing the dinning tables. Given the unique setting and the number of Guardsmen involved everyone needed to have a point of reference for where they would be standing for the presentation of colors. This was accomplished by providing additional flags to either side of the Podium. To the left, three flags were used: a Betsy Ross Flag, a Gadsden Flag and a Moultrie Flag. To the right of the SAR and DAR Banners were placed an Army and Navy flags. The maneuvers required to get everyone into position defied standard commands so several of the "steps" required autonomous movements in response to some "descriptive but general commands. Luckily we had an opportunity to practice before hand and the distribution of the "Cheat Sheets" by e-mail was beneficial. Everything considered, bringing in the Colors with a Fife and Drum plus 6 Muskets went relatively smooth.

Battle of Great Cane Brake

The Battle of Great Cane Brake was a skirmish fought on December 22, 1775, during the American Revolutionary War in what was then Ninety-Six District, South Carolina, modern Greenville County.

With the coming of the American Revolution, the patriot government in Charles Town was opposed by a large concentration of "King's men" in the upcountry. Both sides recognized the need to cultivate the friendship of the Cherokees in a nearly lawless area of the state; and both sides promised to provide the Indians with ammunition and powder for hunting.

In October 1775, the patriot Council of Safety in Charles Town sent 1,000 pounds of powder and 2,000 pounds of lead to the Indians, but a force of loyalists under the command of Patrick Cunningham intercepted the wagon train. Following an unsuccessful attempt to retake the munitions, the Charles Town leaders determined to break the strength of upcountry loyalism by raising an overwhelming force of militiamen under the command of Colonel Richard Richardson. Heavily outnumbered, the King's men fell back toward the Piedmont. By late December, Richardson had perhaps as many as 5,000 troops under his command and had captured the major loyalist leaders.

On December 21, Richardson ordered 1,300 men under Major William "Danger" Thomson to pursue the loyalists into Indian territory. Thomson marched 25 miles through the night to a camp where loyalists had been sheltering from cold rain and snow flurries in a "Brake of Canes." Because the ground was wet and the loyalists had been burning cane stalks that popped and crackled, Thomson's men nearly managed to surround the camp before being discovered as they attacked at dawn. Cunningham escaped on an unsaddled horse and without his breeches, shouting for every man "to shift for himself." The patriots recaptured the munitions intended for the Cherokees, and they took 130 prisoners, forcing them to sign a document promising not to take up arms again. Only five or six loyalists were killed, though Thomson had to restrain his men from harming the prisoners, some of whom were sent off to Charles Town in chains.

Despite the Patriot success, an unusual, heavy snowstorm occurred the following day, which caused considerable suffering among the militiamen, who had been called to duty on short notice with inadequate clothing and without tents. Some were permanently injured by exposure and frostbite. Thereafter the episode was known as the "Snow Campaign." Richardson believed that his victory had pacified the upcountry, but the Cherokees soon joined the loyalists in what became a brutal civil war on the South Carolina frontier.

The exact location of the skirmish is unknown, although it took place near the Reedy River approximately 7 miles southwest of Simpsonville, South Carolina. There is a state historical marker on Fork Shoals Road south of Old Hundred Road (County Road 565).

The Snow Campaign was one of the first major military operations of the American Revolutionary War in the southern colonies. An army of up to 3,000 Patriot militia under Colonel Richard Richardson marched against Loyalist recruiting centers in South Carolina, flushing them out and frustrating attempts by the

Wreaths Across America

The Arlington Story

Morrill Worcester, owner of Worcester Wreath Company of Harrington, Maine, was a 12 year old paper boy for the Bangor Daily News when he won a trip to Washington D.C. His first trip to our nation's capital was one he would never forget, and Arlington National Cemetery made an especially indelible impression on him. This experience followed him throughout his life and successful career in business, reminding him that his good fortune was due, in large part, to the values of this nation and the Veterans who made the ultimate sacrifice for their Country.

In 1992, Worcester Wreath found themselves with a surplus of wreaths nearing the end of the holiday season. Remembering his boyhood experience at Arlington, Worcester realized he had an opportunity to honor our country's Veterans. With the help of Maine Senator Olympia Snowe, arrangements were made for the wreaths to be placed at Arlington in one of the older sections of the cemetery, a section which had been receiving fewer visitors with each passing year.

As plans were underway, a number of other individuals and organizations stepped up to help. James Prout, owner of local trucking company Blue Bird Ranch, Inc., generously provided transportation all the way to Virginia. Volunteers from the local American Legion and VFW Posts gathered with members of the community to decorate each wreath with traditional red, hand-tied bows. Members of the Maine State Society of Washington, D.C. helped to organize the wreath-laying, which included a special ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The annual tribute went on quietly for several years, until 2005, when a photo of the stones at Arlington, adorned with wreaths and covered in snow, circulated around the internet. Suddenly, the project received national attention. Thousands of requests poured in from all over the country from people wanting to help with Arlington, to emulate the Arlington project at their National and State cemeteries, or to simply share their stories and thank Morrill Worcester for honoring our nation's heroes.

Unable to donate thousands of wreaths to each state, Worcester began sending seven wreaths to every state, one for each branch of the military, and for POW/MIAs. In 2006, with the help of the Civil Air Patrol and other civic organizations, simultaneous wreath laying ceremonies were held at over 150 locations around the country. The Patriot Guard Riders volunteered as escort for the wreaths going to Arlington. This began the annual "Veterans Honor Parade" that travels the east coast in early December.

The annual trip to Arlington and the groups of volunteers eager to participate in Worcester's simple wreath-laying event grew each year until it became clear the desire to remember and honor our country's fallen heroes was bigger than Arlington, and bigger than this one company.

In 2007, the Worcester family, along with veterans, and other groups and individuals who had helped with their annual Christmas wreath ceremony in Arlington, formed Wreaths Across America, a non profit 501-c3 organization, to continue and expand this effort, and support other groups around the country who wanted to do the same. The mission of the group is simple:

Remember. Honor. Teach.

Wreaths Across America would not be successful without the help of volunteers, active organizations and the generosity of the trucking industry. We thank them for working with us to remember the men and women who served our country, honor our military and their families, and teach our children about our freedom and those who protect it.

Chapter fundraising and Wreaths Across America

This is a wonderful opportunity to help your chapter and do good at the same time. The wreaths purchased are placed on the gravesites in December of each year, of our country's fallen heroes, from any war. When anyone donates to the chapter $15 earmarked to buy a wreath, the group receives $5 back for each wreath.

Wreaths Across America's mission, Remember, Honor, Teach, is carried out in part by coordinating wreath laying ceremonies a specified Saturday in December at Arlington, as well as veterans' cemeteries and other locations in all 50 states and beyond. They also organize a week of events including international veteran's tributes, ceremonies at State Houses and a week-long "Veteran's Parade" between Maine and Virginia where they stop along the way to spread the message about the importance of remembering our fallen heroes, honoring those who serve, and teaching our children about the sacrifices made by veterans and their families to preserve our freedoms.

This week of events is made possible by thousands of volunteers who organize local ceremonies, raise funds to sponsor wreaths, and participate in the events. They receive no government funding. The cost of their programs is paid by individual wreaths sponsors, corporate donors and volunteer truckers.

They also coordinate veteran services and recognition through a variety of programs, and provide schools with teaching aides for projects throughout the year.
